SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 10, 1957.

The Senate met at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Our Heavenly Father, as we come to Thee on this beautiful day, we thank Thee for all the opportunities that come to us today and we pray that Thy Spirit will guide us in our thinking and in our actions so that we may do Thy will.

As we are entering into this Holy Week, wherein Thou hast given Thy life for us, may we understand the depth of Thy love and may we show our appreciation to Thee by endeavoring to live as Thou dost want us to live.

We ask Thy blessing upon the youth of our great Commonwealth who are standing at the threshold of new careers. May they be inspired by the great heritage which has come to us in our day and is extended unto them in their day. May they so live and work as to continue to build on the great foundation which the founding fathers of our Commonwealth and Nation have laid down for us.

We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I think I have one of the happiest duties today that any Senator could have, because the Members of this Senate can look upon one of the most beautiful girls, or probably the most beautiful girl, in the United States of America, the former Miss Evelyn Aye, now Mrs. Carl Sempier. She and her husband are with us today. Not only has Mrs. Sempier some fame in her own right, but also her husband, Carl, has won fame as a football star for the University of Pennsylvania.

They are from the Seventeenth Senatorial District, and I now present them to the Members of the Senate. With them, too, is their dog. I think you have all seen them. They are from Ephrata, Pennsylvania.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDMENT OFFERED

An Act requiring the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to change the names of certain interchanges on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have quite a few amendments, representing amendments offered by both Republican and Democratic Senators who have asked me to introduce the amendments in order that their particular District will have recognition on the Turnpike in the naming of the Interchanges. However, as a test amendment, I would like to introduce one which I think is very important inasmuch as we are now using the Turnpike to call attention to Pennsylvania's greatness in many respects.

We have in Lancaster County some very fine communities that are known all over the world. I heard them mentioned particularly in a show which appeared on Broadway. I think if we are going to put the Turnpike on the map, we should put it on in such a manner that people will never forget the great State and the great county of Lancaster.

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend House Bill No. 579, Printer's No. 256, on page 2, line 13 by inserting after the word Lebanon the following: "Blue Ball, Bird-in-Hand, Intercourse, Peach Bottom and Paradise Interchange."

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, did I understand the Chair to say that the motion to lay the amendment on the table was defeated?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. No, the Chair said that the "noes" appear to have it.

DIVISION OF THE MOTION

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask for a division of the motion to lay the amendment on the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Those in favor of the amendment, will please signify by raising their hands.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before the vote is taken, I might suggest that if the amendment is going to be laid at all, it will be as well on the table as anywhere else. I ask everybody to vote "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Those in favor of the motion, will please raise their hands.

(Those voting "aye" responded by raising their hands.)

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to make a statement before we pass this bill on second reading. The Minority Leader, Senator Dent, and I have agreed that we will allow this bill to pass second reading without the offering of any amendments. However, it is agreed between he and myself that when we come back, a week from next Tuesday, anyone who has amendments to offer to this bill on third reading will be permitted to offer them.

It is undecided whether or not the Republicans will have any amendments to offer to this bill except one. There is an ambiguity, we understand, in the bill and the controversy is in the Attorney General's office as to whether coal is exempt or taxable under the provisions of the sales tax. It has been our intent, and we have so stated on many occasions, that we do not want coal to be taxable under our sales tax. However, if there is any ambiguity in the legislation, we want it generally cleared up in order for us to help this very sick industry in Pennsylvania. We are in sympathy with the problems of the anthracite field and the bituminous field. We want to do everything possible to see that this industry is aided in every way possible.

We expect and we will probably have ready to present to the Senate, when we come back, an amendment to House Bill No. 1040 which will specifically exempt and exclude coal from the provisions of the sales tax

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?
It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, yesterday afternoon the Senators from Washington and Delaware threw some stuff around in relation to Senate Bill No. 366, and I desire to put in to the record a very brief statement.

As every Member of this Senate knows, the rules and practices of the Senate, the parent body, differ greatly from the rules and practices of its parts, the committees. For whereas the Senate debates and votes under the open skies of an observing press and public, the Senate Committees work behind closed doors, sans press and public. For this reason, this Senator feels that those questions that have a widespread interest in many parts of the State deserve and should have the consideration of the entire membership rather than have the issue finally determined by as few as five or six members of a committee, for all of you know that on the floor, legislation may only pass finally by the affirmative vote of a minimum of twenty-six Senators; while in a committee, a majority of those present is sufficient to pigeonhole a bill into a lingering death. This phase of the committee system, in my opinion, is one of the less democratic of our legislative practices.

As a Senator, I have a responsibility to make my actions here a blend of my own best conscience and my honest analysis of the wishes of the majority of all my constituents. That to me means, among other things, that I will continue to vote for committee approval of some legislation, but on the Senate floor I may vote in opposition to that same legislation. This practice I have followed in the past and intend to pursue in the future.

A legislative program will better represent the majority consciences and majority views of the constituents if the legislative decisions are made in this open Chamber rather than in the closed committee.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 23, 1957, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 4:02 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, April 23, 1957, at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, April 10, 1957

The House met at 10:00 a. m.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend Ralph Newell, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, in the quietness of this historic Chamber we pause to acknowledge Thee as the Giver of every good and perfect gift. As we seek to meet the many obligations that crowd in upon us, may we act as those who sense God's hand of commissioning upon us. Give strength to our bodies for the physical tasks, and sight to our eyes that we see the problems of those we serve. Above all, make us willing to give of ourselves that the people of our state may enjoy the best possible government. Enable us never to forget that when we fail, we fail not only our constituents, but we fail Thee.

In Jesus name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, April 9, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. RIGBY, MOSCRIP, VAUGHAN and ANDREWS. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 78.

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1957.

Pupil transportation is the subject of vital interest and concern throughout the Commonwealth, and is a matter of importance to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania concerning which it requires comprehensive factual information; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate school transportation costs and the probable cost of the transportation of all public and parochial school pupils; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the transportation of children within one and one-half miles from school, along congested highways, where there are no sidewalks, and where there is involved a problem of safety of pupils; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. WOOD, DAVIS, HAUDENSHIELD and SNIDER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 79.

In the House of Representatives, April 9, 1957.

The General Assembly, in 1945, authorized the erection of a William Penn Memorial Building in the State Capitol group in order to signalize the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Founder of Pennsylvania, and likewise in order to provide the Commonwealth with a modern and adequate historical and museum building, worthy of a State with the rich historical heritage of Pennsylvania, and proper to house the valuable treasures of relics, manuscripts and records, which trace the story of the Commonwealth from William Penn's day to ours.

This intended memorial to William Penn remains an unfulfilled promise, and there is still no adequate and proper memorial to the wise and good Founder in the capital city of Pennsylvania.

The museum, archival, and historical collections of the Commonwealth are still housed in the dangerously unsafe State Museum Building and in three small crowded rooms of the State Education Building, under conditions which detract from the proper display and use of the historical treasures of the Commonwealth, and which even threaten their safekeeping.

This year, 1957, marks the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of William Penn's landing in Pennsylvania and of his calling the first General Assembly into session to establish free representative government, and thus provides a fitting occasion to proceed with the already expressed intention of erecting a William Penn Memorial Building, therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly hereby urges that prompt and favorable action be taken by the General State Authority to ensure the erection of a William Penn Memorial Building which will adequately recognize the contributions of the Founder to the freedom and well being of Pennsylvanians, and provide proper housing for the historical, archival, and museum treasures of the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 454, Printer's No. 173
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 501, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949," approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) increasing maximum limits on per capita taxes with certain limitations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 501 amends the public school code by allowing an increase in the per capita school tax for school purposes by increasing the maximum from $5 to $10. The result of it is to allow an overall per capita assessment under the School Code, and Act 481 of the 1947 session, the imposition of $20 instead of the present $15. It limits the use for school purposes to a maximum of $15.

I am opposing this bill for the reason that all per capita taxes are the most regressive type we have. I think there are other ways of financing school affairs, and if there are not at present, we ought to devise ways without the use of these flat per capita taxes which apply to every taxable citizen whether he can afford it or whether he cannot afford it.

It puts the millionaire in the same class as the man earning a $1,000 a year as far as this particular tax is concerned. I am therefore, asking the membership to vote against this bill.

Mr. KELLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say just a few words in behalf of this bill.

It is true we are raising the overall taxing ability of school districts and townships to $20. However, under the present law the school district is permitted to assess a per capita tax of $5, that is, under the School Code. They are permitted to assess a $10 personal tax under Act 481.

A great many of our districts, in Bucks County particularly, are growing so rapidly that they are really in dire need of additional money to carry on their school districts, and that is also true as far as the townships and boroughs are concerned.

The maximum a school district may levy under Act 481 is 15 mills times the assessed value. Therefore, in some instances the school district is deprived of the personal tax because they exceed 15 mills times their assessed valuation.

In other cases the townships are in need of additional funds, and they under the law can take 50 percent of the personal tax levied under Act 481. Therefore, it deprives the school district of 50 percent of the $10 personal tax and leaves the school district with the $10, so-called, per capita tax.

A great many of our districts could survive and meet their obligations with a $15 per capita and personal tax, and that is the reason for this bill. It will help our school districts back home to finance their share of the load in order that we then will not have to come to Harrisburg to ask for a great additional increase in state appropriations.

Therefore, I ask the Members on both sides of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a few words in behalf of this bill.

From the standpoint of general policy what the gentleman from Berks says perhaps in theory is all right, that the per capita taxes are regressive, and so forth. But Act 481 has been on the books for some time, which is a practical matter with respect to the schools, from the taxpayers standpoint, as a result of his paying just about the same amount of per capita tax as he will pay if this bill goes through. Yet the only efforts I have seen which have had any real steam behind them have been to cut down the means used in Act 481, and I have seen nothing to really try to put across something to help the district out at the local level.

This question of school financing is something that is a difficult problem to us every biennium, regardless of party. The Governor recognizes this fact in his budget message when he indicated the Commonwealth must find the top dollar that they can pay to help our schools back home.

There are any number of moves, and they are shown in specific legislation this term, with the idea of putting the load back home on the local district.

This per capita tax is about the only means a local district has of reaching a large portion of the population in the given township that owns no property. They do not live in a trailer. They have large families they send to school. They live in out-of-the-way places so that we have to send buses out to get them. All they own is an old automobile and they pay rent. Yet they are getting a terrific service out of our schools. I feel that in all fairness they should help to support those schools.

I would request the Members to keep this in mind. If you are going to adhere to the reasoning that the local district should help pick up the check, then I think legislation of this kind should be acted upon favorably.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the particular bill which has been discussed on the floor here this morning, of course, carries the additional tax burden on the citizens of each of the respective school districts in the Commonwealth in which the school directors place that tax by their respective acts within the school board.

I think this is one time I can agree that we must pass legislation which will permit the school directors to have the right to find the answer to their financial needs as they continue to increase. This of course may not be the correct manner in which to do this particular job, but at least it is a stepping stone in that direction.

I realize there are many areas in which at the present time such legislation if enacted into law would not be used by the respective school boards, but again I am aware of the fact with the increased costs in school facilities, the cost of operating the school system, we certainly must give to the school directors the laws and legislation they need to find their financial answers to their tax problems. This legislation, of course, would be a stepping stone in that direction. Rightly or wrongly, it certainly would do that much.

On those grounds and on the ground we have continued to advocate that they have the right to help themselves such as we have done in previous Acts over many sessions, I would like to say those of us who believe in a sound financial education structure and in the right of the school directors to be able to raise the money should certainly take the position of supporting this legislation.

This is tax legislation, but it is enabling legislation for the school directors to place this tax. On those grounds I will support the bill and vote for it as it is on the floor here today.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, would the Minority Leader agree that under the present Act there are some school districts presently levying and receiving a $15 per capita tax?

Mr. READINGER. Many of them are doing so.

Mr. STECKEL. Then the enactment of this bill would not permit an increase of income to those particular school districts?

Mr. READINGER. That is right.

Mr. STECKEL. Would the Minority Leader agree there are some school districts which presently are unable to levy a $15 per capita tax because of the fact that the municipality has already taken a piece of the per capita tax under 481?

Mr. READINGER. That is correct.

Mr. STECKEL. Then the net result of the present situation is that some school districts are able to levy a higher tax than others on the same per capita basis?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, because they got in first.

Mr. STECKEL. The enactment of this bill would put all school districts on an equal level so far as the levying of a per capita tax, is that not so?

Mr. READINGER. No. I understand if the other taxing authority in the district wants to use a part of the available money from 481, they can do so, even though the school district has in the past been using part of it.

Mr. STECKEL. That is the way it exists now? That is the presently existing situation?

Mr. READINGER. My understanding of the present law is that if under the two Acts the school district is using the entire $15 and the township desires to take $5.00 of it, they can take it.

Mr. STECKEL. That is correct, but this bill would remedy that situation, would it not?

Mr. READINGER. By adding another $5.00, yes, and limiting the school to $15 so that it leaves $5.00 free for the other taxing authority.

Mr. STECKEL. But then all the school districts would have the same capacity as far as their authority to levy a per capita tax is concerned?

Mr. READINGER. That is right, they would be able to get another $5.00.

Mr. STECKEL. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader has touched upon the point which made this legislation necessary. The fact is that in many union districts, consisting of perhaps six or seven municipalities, where a $15 per capita tax had been levied by the union district, in some instances a small township or one part of the union district chose to take part of the $10 under 481, which they were permitted to do, with the consequence that the school district composed of five or six municipalities had to lower its per capita tax, not only in the district or the small borough which decided to take part under 481, but in all the other districts as well, resulting in severe damage to the budget of the union district.

If this bill is passed it will cure that defect without any resulting detriment to the taxpayers.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this bill will probably go rolling through. The majority has made a really significant discovery. It has discovered the miraculous power of the pennies of the poor. There are a lot of pennies of the poor because there are so many of them.

I would say for the benefit of Bucks County that if property were as valuable in Bucks County when the assessor comes around as it is when some state agency tries to buy some of it, Bucks County would not have any particularly pressing tax problems.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 222.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the Minority Leader requested me to interrogate the Majority Leader concerning his future plans for the coming weeks as to when will we be in Session?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. I voiced the interrogation.

Mr. JOHNSON. I have heard the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, and I will endeavor to answer it.

We are about to adjourn this House. The adjournment resolution will read we will return here at 4:30 o'clock, on April 23rd.

The question, of course, comes up in your mind, are we going to start our four-day a week Session that week? I am sorry we cannot say definitely we will be here four days that particular week which would mean we would be here on Friday. Although, if something comes up during that week which might require us to be here on Friday for any reason, we will announce it at the beginning of the week. However, subsequent weeks following that will be four-day a week sessions. We will be here on May 6th even though the Senate might possibly not be here on that day.

As you know we are having the inauguration ceremonies for the State Treasurer and the Auditor General here that week in the Hall of the House. We are going to be honored by having these particular festivities take place here in the House honoring two former House Members. So we will be here on the 6th whether the Senate is here on the 6th or not.

From then on, we plan to be here four days a week and possibly the last several weeks, if we finally can adjourn, five days a week.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to take this opportunity to extend birthday greetings to the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker. Will the lady accept the congratulations of the membership of the House?

The Chair recognizes the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, there are stages in one's life where we want to begin to think we do not any longer have birthdays; but being able to spend a birthday in this House among so many good friends and receiving the kind felicitations they have all extended to me, I know of no more pleasant place than this to spend my birthday right here.

I want to thank all of you for your kind felicitations and tell you that it shall be definitely and indelibly imprinted upon my mind as a very happy memory and a very happy occasion to have spent my birthday with you. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the youngster from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the lady should not regret the recurrent birthdays. She becomes more charming with each one.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is sorry he is not able to think of those real sweet things to say as is the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

The Chair recognizes the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know when Mr. Andrew's birthday is, but if I have the opportunity I certainly hope I may extend to him the same kindness he has extended to me. I thank him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE
HARRISBURG

April 23, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In addressing this special message to you, I am entirely mindful that the 1957 Session of the General Assembly is at mid-point, and that many members have expressed a desire for an early termination of the session. The content of this message is, however, of such importance to the people of Pennsylvania that I am sure the members will not wish to put convenience above the urgent needs of our people.

Substantially, we are proposing to the Legislature that it adopt at this session a comprehensive program for the enlargement of our opportunities for college education in Pennsylvania. We are placing that program before you in detail and suggesting a fiscal program which would finance it immediately and at its ultimate level of expense.

It should not take the Assembly a great deal of time to understand the suggested program, and to reach a decision to accept or to reject it. I most urgently hope that your choice will be acceptance.

In my judgment, these legislative proposals are the most important which will come to you in this session. If enacted, they will give Pennsylvania one of the most forward-looking programs of educational opportunity for college age students of any state in the Union.

This program has its base in the report of the Governor's Commission on Higher Education, which was submitted to me under date of February 15, 1957, following a study requiring more than a year by a group of competent educators. That report has been carefully analyzed. Its contents, as reviewed and developed, are embodied in the proposals now place before you.

In full operation, which will take approximately four years, the plan now suggested will be of direct benefit to 50,000 college-age Pennsylvanians during each academic year.

Over a ten-year period, more than 350,000 college-age students in Pennsylvania will benefit from the program.

Clearly, this problem vitally affects the hopes and the budgets of many thousands of Pennsylvania families.

I am sure that almost all of us know of many parents who want desperately to send their children to college—but simply can't accumulate the money to give them this important opportunity.

This common-sense realistic program will help many of these families to meet this urgent need.

It should be emphasized that in providing an opportunity for college education to those who otherwise would find none we are acting in accord with the democratic ideal of equality of opportunity. This has been recognized in higher education for about a century, since the first land-grant colleges were established in our Country.

We are, of course, helping an individual for his own sake. More than that, however, we are helping our society.

The well-being of Pennsylvania and of our Country depends upon our ability to train our young men and women for the increasingly complex assignments of this time and the future. The most precious resource we have is the potential skill of our people. We can no longer afford to waste the talent of our youth, any more than we can afford to waste water, energy sources, or essential raw materials of any kind.

This is a conservation program in its truest sense—a conservation program whose goal is the development and the utilization in Pennsylvania of the brains and abilities of the ablest of our young men and women.

It is a conservation program designed not only to avoid waste of our most precious resource, it is also a program designed to preserve our democratic institutions.

The blunt truth is that we are in a contest for survival of the democratic idea. We must have thousands upon thousands of additional technicians to maintain our defenses against totalitarianism. This program helps to give us those technicians.

In essence, these are the parts of the program:

1. Scholarships.

This program provides scholarships for Pennsylvania students attending Pennsylvania institutions. In each academic year beginning with the 1958-59 school year, the program will provide for the award of 5,000 scholarships, ranging in value from $200 to $800 annually, to students entering approved junior colleges, colleges, and universities. The student could enter any approved college of his choice whether sectarian or non-sectarian. Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of competitive examinations, held State-wide in the senior year of high school. The examinations will be required in the public high schools, and will be open to students enrolled in private and parochial secondary schools.

Students ranking among the top 5,000 persons taking the competitive examination will be awarded scholarships at a minimum value of $200 each year. The awards will range upward to $800 each year depending upon need, as determined by a system,—professional and impersonal—such as that now administered for many colleges and universities by the Educational Testing Service.

The scholarships are limited to undergraduate study, and may not exceed the total amount charged for tuition and fees by the institution.

The scholarship will continue for a full four-year period, provided the student continues to meet the academic requirements of the institution he attends. Consequently, the plan in full operation will provide 20,000 scholarships during each academic year.

2. Student Loans.

It is proposed that a revolving fund be created for the purpose of making educational loans to students on the basis of scholastic ability combined with need. The fund for the first year of its operation will be financed by an appropriation of $1,500,000. It will be administered under rules and regulations adopted by the State Council of Higher Education, which is created in these proposals.

The student loans would be available to graduate as well as undergraduate students, beginning with the school year 1958-59.

3. Junior Colleges.

To provide for full educational opportunity, regardless of economic status and place of residence, college education must be brought to those students who can combine their college studies with continued residence at home. This program therefore provides for a system of junior colleges which can be built and operated within daily commuting distance of Pennsylvania college-age men or women, where adequate college facilities and curriculum are not presently available. The program is designed to meet needs not now provided for; it will not compete with or replace existing college programs.

Through these junior colleges evening and night classes would be available to those whose economic needs require that they be regularly employed during the day.

These colleges would be established on the following basis:

A. Creation.

Such a college could be established by a school district of the first or second class or by a County board of school directors acting alone or jointly after the State Council of Higher Education had made findings of fact that the facility was needed and desirable, taking into account the availability in the area of the proposed curriculum, and the adequacy of existing institutions.

B. Management and Control.

The State Council of Higher Education would establish rules, regulations and standards concerning organization, curriculum, facilities, faculty, financing and control. Immediate administrative management would be vested in a board of trustees of eleven members, six appointed by the local school authorities and five appointed by the Governor.

C. Buildings, Equipment and Library.

Existing school facilities, including secondary school buildings during hours when they are not being used to capacity, should be put to use for instruction at the junior college level. Where adequate facilities are not already available, buildings, equipment and a basic library would be financed on the same basis as elementary and secondary school buildings are now constructed and financed, i.e. the creating school districts and the Commonwealth would contribute toward the carrying charges and amortization for these installations on the existing rental (or sinking fund) reimbursement formula.

D. Faculties.

Junior colleges would be authorized to enter into agreements with existing colleges or universities and/or other junior colleges to share their faculties in whole or in part.

E. Operating Costs.

The estimated operating cost of such junior colleges is from $500 to $550 per year per student. This estimate is based upon actual costs currently experienced in similar colleges now in operation in the State. It is proposed that the Commonwealth pay $200 each year per student to those institutions meeting the standards set by the State Council of Higher Education. The balance of the operating costs would be made up by tuition payments. The junior colleges would be authorized to accept payments from local tax sources or from private grants and endowments.

The junior colleges would not provide a full four year college course, although it will be the purpose of the program to make sure that their credits are acceptable on transfer to accredited colleges and universities granting bachelors' degrees.

The junior college would be expected to provide various two year technical courses of material benefit to the employment opportunities of the student and to the economic benefit of employers in the area served.

As a major employer of teachers, the State and its school districts could achieve very great benefits by offering the first two years of teachers' education in such junior colleges. It would be possible to virtually double the capacity of our present system of teachers' colleges if we arrived at an agreement that the existing teachers' colleges would concentrate on the final two years of instruction while the prospective teachers were encouraged to take their first two years work at junior colleges.

The junior college program, it should be made clear, is a voluntary one. The Commonwealth will not force it upon any group of local school districts. It will succeed only as it is accepted in the communities. If it is fully accepted, as I believe it will be, the junior college program will be built to a student body of more than 20,000 in a very few years. Since the total number of full time undergraduate students in the State presently is approximately 100,000, it is readily seen that the junior colleges would make a significant enlargement in our educational opportunity.

If we do not act promptly to provide effective State leadership in college education, we will find, sooner than we think, that our existing institutions are swamped by their growing student load. Quite literally, we will not be able to find room in Pennsylvania colleges for our sons and daughters.

4. Administration.

The program will be administered under rules and regulations set forth by the State Council of Higher Education. Accompanying legislation creates the Council, which will consist of fourteen members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, ex officio. The Council will plan and set policy; day by day administration will rest with the Department of Public Instruction and its Bureau of Higher Education.

5. Finance.

It is suggested that the program could be financed by the imposition of an excise tax on soft drinks at the rate of one cent on twelve ounces of bottled drinks and one-half cent per ounce of syrup or fractions thereof. The estimated biennial yield of such a tax is $35,000,000. Any other tax program which is adequate to finance the program and which is more acceptable to the General Assembly will be acceptable to me.

These tax moneys would go to a special fund, to be called the Higher Education Fund. All appropriation bills relating to this program would be drawn against the Higher Education Fund, and there would be no new costs whatsoever chargeable to existing State revenues.

The total appropriation bills under the program for the first biennium come to approximately $7 million. If the soft drinks tax were adopted, then during this biennium, but not thereafter, the fund surplus of approximately $28,000,000 could be applied to the budgeted appropriations made to the State-aided universities and medical schools. In subsequent years, the program would call for the full use of the revenues from the soft drinks tax, and the established State-aid program would again be fully payable from the General Fund.

The soft drinks tax, however, would completely finance this program at the peak of its projected expenditures.

I believe that most citizens of Pennsylvania will agree that one cent on a bottle of pop is not too high a price to pay for the college education of a whole generation of Pennsylvania youth.

During this session, leaders of the Republican party repeatedly have said that new State programs would be tested against a threefold formula: "Is it necessary? Will it work? Can we afford it?"

I urge the leaders of the majority party to test these proposals against their stated criteria for approval.

Is it necessary?

Only 20% of the college-age young men and women of this Commonwealth go to college. The reason is primarily an economic one. This program answers a very real portion of the economic need.

In Pennsylvania and in the Nation, we are, therefore, wasting much of the human material upon which our society should draw for its economic well-being, its defenses, and its happiness in terms of human values.

The pressure of our population increase creates another set of problems in addition to our failure to educate a larger percentage of our ablest young men and women. We must concern ourselves also with our ability to find college classrooms for the student body of the immediate future. The college population of Pennsylvania, graduate and undergraduate, is more than 117,000. It is projected at 138,000 by 1960, 180,000 by 1965, and 242,000 by 1970.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can help its educators plan for this future, or it can ignore the need. If we and other states ignore it, the whole pressure for action will fall upon the Federal Government, much as the current pressure for primary and secondary education now falls upon Washington. If there is sincerity in the demands for reduction in Federal spending and Federal control, it can be tested only by appropriate action in the States. We are either sovereign states because we meet the needs of our people, or we are "sovereign" only in the hollow sound of political oratory.

Will it work?

I can think of no good reason why it won't. The mechanisms suggested are practical. They have been approved by many of the State's most distinguished educators. Scholarships, student loans, and junior colleges in the communities are not innovations. All have been tested in the private and State-aided educational system of Pennsylvania. This program extends them to wider usefulness.

Can we afford it?

The tax program suggested finances it in full.

By the majority party's stated tests, this program meets every requirement.

I am aware that some people may raise this objection: Why should these proposed scholarships be made available when our colleges already are crowded with students who, one way or another, are paying their own way?

The answer is plain. All too few of our high school students with the highest marks now can afford to go to college. We are failing to develop and utilize the full skills of thousands of these outstanding students. Clearly, educational opportunity must be based upon ability to learn, not ability to pay.

A further question may be raised: Where will we put these students since our facilities already are jammed.

Again, the answer is plain. This program, as I have pointed out earlier in this message, provides for a substantial expansion of our college facilities by the establishment of junior colleges.

Pennsylvania should be among the first of the states in meeting the problem of extending college education on the basis of ability and need. We boast that America is the land of opportunity. Let us make Pennsylvania foremost in the Union in the educational opportunity which it extends to its young men and women. It is the best insurance we can find of a prosperous future; it is the best instrument we can fashion for the continuance and improvement of this free society.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 216, PRINTER'S No. 81,
RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

April 12, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 216, Printer's No. 81, entitled "An act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled 'An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employees in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employees of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined' empowering the chairman of the Board of Finance and Revenue to appoint a secretary and make certain rules and regulations."

This bill transfers from the membership of the Board of Finance and Revenue to the Chairman of the Board the power to appoint a Secretary and other officers and employees of the Board.

The Board of Finance and Revenue was established by The Administrative Code of 1929 and consists of five public officers of the Commonwealth sitting ex officio: the State Treasurer as Chairman, the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Auditor General and the Secretary of Revenue. Because the Board is made up of high ranking officials who must necessarily work together in the implementation of the board's duties and the exercise of its powers, I do not feel that power over appointments should be vested solely in the Chairman. For twenty-eight years this power has been exercised by the Board as a whole, each member of the Board having an equal voice in the Board's operation. I see no reason to disturb this equality.

I realize that the present tax appeal procedures are not what they should be and would commend to the attention of the General Assembly the recommendations of the Pennsylvania Commission on Governmental Reorganization in this regard. Action to modernize these procedures is long overdue. Since the creation of the Board, most of the Commonwealth's major tax laws have appeared on the statute books and accompanying duties have been heaped upon the Board without regard to the Board's capacity to handle these duties. Extensive review of the place and function of the Board of Finance and Revenue is what is needed, not the unwarranted piecemeal change attempted in the present bill.

Because I do not feel that this bill moves toward the major revision of the Board which its proper functioning requires, I cannot approve it.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

SENATE BILL No. 281, PRINTER'S No. 87,
RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

April 12, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 281, Printer's No. 87, entitled "An act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (Appropriation Acts page 120 Act No. 150-A) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Legislative and Judicial Departments of the Commonwealth for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five' decreasing appropriations to the Department of Revenue."

This bill reduces the appropriation made to the Department of Revenue of the Commonwealth by the Act of June 1, 1956, by $5,000,000. For several reasons I feel that this legislation is unwarranted and unwise.

The Executive Department through its budget office carefully oversees the expenditure of funds appropriated to the various executive departments. Where the existence of an over-appropriation is noted, lapsing of the excess amount is effected. This is done regularly by the budget office and should not be done by a legislative reduction in appropriations at the end of a biennium. Moreover, this function is undoubtedly an executive one and should remain in executive hands. Usurpation of this procedure by the legislature can only result in needless conflicts and difficulties in the administration of state government.

The proposed reduction in appropriations seems to have no reasonable basis. It makes blanket cuts and in no way represents an attempt to evaluate the true requirements of the Department of Revenue's finances. These requirements heretofore have been carefully reviewed by the budget office and, in fact, $3,100,000 of the Department's appropriation have been lapsed where specific instances of unneeded funds were found. In this bill, however, part of the reduced amount is for the work of the Sales Tax Bureau and, if allowed to take effect, would seriously hamper enforcement of that tax. Every dollar that is spent in tax enforcement brings in many times its amount in tax collections, and a reduction on the scale of the one proposed in the bill would cost the Commonwealth millions of dollars in reduced revenues.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GENERAL COMMUNICATIONS

RESUME PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 22

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS HARRISBURG

(SEAL)

Office of
Secretary of Highways

O. R. 214
April 18, 1957.

Honorable A. H. Letzler
Office of the Secretary
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Senator Letzler:

This will acknowledge your letter of April 3rd and attached resolution adopted by the Pennsylvania State Senate calling upon the Department of Highways to make a study in conjunction with the Department of Commerce for the purpose of surveying the area served by Route 219 with the prospect of rebuilding that road into a modern high-speed highway.

The following resume of recent developments of Route 219 is respectfully submitted:

In recent years considerable modernization has been done in southern and central Somerset County, southern Clearfield County, central and northern Elk County and southern McKean County. Currently, construction activities include approximately 8.5 miles of modernization in Elk County at locations north and south of Ridgway.

The foregoing improvements have been designed and are being constructed to standards providing for ample facilities to adequately serve present and future traffic on the basis of careful traffic analyses and as far ahead as can be determined for the foreseeable future.

In addition to the aforementioned improvements that are realities this Department is presently conducting an engineering study to determine the feasibility of an acceptable location for Route 219 bypassing Johnstown, and construction drawings are being developed for the modernization of this route between Mundys Corners and Ebensburg.

The foregoing is cited in an effort to establish the fact that studies for traffic needs are a continuous function of this Department. If the Department of Commerce is in receipt of information to the effect that any area served by Route 219 is suffering from lack of industrial expansion due to inadequate highway facilities, we shall be very glad to review this matter with that department.

Very truly yours,

/s/ JOSEPH J. LAWLER
Joseph J. Lawler
Secretary of Highways

The PRESIDING OFFICER. This communication will be printed in the Journal.

LETTER PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION,
SERIAL No. 23

The Presiding Officer laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

(SEAL)

Office of
Secretary of Highways

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS
HARRISBURG

O. R. 214
April 18, 1957

Honorable A. H. Letzler
Office of the Secretary
Senate of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Senator Letzler:

This will acknowledge your letter of April 3rd and attached resolution adopted by the Senate of Pennsylvania urging the Department of Highways to exert every possible effort to modernize and improve the portion of the Lincoln Highway between Fort Loudon and Ligonier.

In reviewing the resolution, we note it is stated that the portions of U. S. Route 30 between Philadelphia and Fort Loudon and between Pittsburgh and Ligonier are a credit to our highway system because of improvements made prior to this time. It is, therefore, assumed, by virtue of the foregoing statement, the standards used to develop the route in question are acceptable. This being the case, we will be very glad to give due consideration and take appropriate action to modernize U. S. Route 30 between Fort Loudon and Ligonier in a manner consistent with funds available to us for work on our primary system and commensurate with traffic volumes to be served.

As substantiating evidence that the above policy is being followed, we respectfully point out our current activities include the development of construction plans for approximately 5.5 miles of the Lincoln Highway between Everett and Juniata Crossing in Bedford County, providing for a multiple-lane facility. We anticipate placing this project under construction as promptly as possible after the construction drawings have been completed.

In addition to the afore-described section, this Department is also conducting a location study for Route 30 between Juniata Crossing and the Pennsylvania Turnpike at Breezewood. Development of construction drawings and initiation of construction will follow as promptly as financing and programming will permit.

We wish to assure you modernization of the Lincoln

Highway is a matter of constant and continuing study and will be given careful consideration in formulating future construction programs.

Very truly yours,

/s/ JOSEPH J. LAWLER
Joseph J. Lawler
Secretary of Highways

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, last week a man was released from prison after having served ten years of a life sentence for murder. He was convicted on perjured testimony and by a confession obtained from him by third degree methods. He was entirely cleared and released.

I am now introducing a bill to compensate that particular person. I think that if this bill will call attention to the loose administration and persecution of persons accused of crime without proper investigation, and to the lax investigation of our criminal enforcement officers, I feel that I will do a good thing by introducing this bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MULLIN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 622, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Justice for the payment of certain moral claims against the Commonwealth.

An Act making an appropriation to the Senate Committee appointed to investigate boxing for the payment of necessary expenses.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the bill which I am about to present provides for extension of the time for the enforcement of the Uniform Permanent Assessment Act throughout Pennsylvania, which is applicable to counties of the fourth to the eighth class. I might say that this project, in itself, is quite difficult and I have found in my contacts with county governments that quite a number of the counties will not have finished their program by the first Monday of January of next year.

I read in the newspaper the other day where over in Lawrence County they seem to have made a number of errors. It seems that they are going to have to re-do the entire county.

I say that we cannot jump into this thing quickly and work it haphazardly. It must be done perfectly; it must be done in order and we have to have the time.

Mr. President, I am asking for an extension of two years. The reason for that is that we will not be in Session, I do not believe, next year. Regardless of what some people say, I do not think there will be a Special Session. If I would just ask for an extension of one year, some of the counties might not be able to complete their work. Therefore, Mr. President, I am asking for an extension of two years in order to let them complete their work. I believe they will have the job completed within this two year period.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 630, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 21, 1943 (P. L. 571) entitled as amended "The Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law," extending the time for the establishment of a uniform permanent records system in each county and providing for the enforcement of the provisions of the act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 631, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594) entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Washington County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Messrs. BARR and WATSON read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 632, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code," authorizing licensed establishments in counties of the first and second classes to sell until two o'clock antemeridian on Sundays.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, the legislation that I am about to present is a proposal for a biennial appropriation for the one State University, Penn State. I present this with the full knowledge that two distinguished Members of the House have previously presented a basic appropriation for Penn State. I now want to point out some differences between this proposal and House Bill No. 1086 and some reasons for my proposal.

I first want to say, although it is probably already clear to most of this Senate, that my proposal has not been endorsed by the Senate Minority or the Majority; neither does it carry the endorsement of the Governor nor the official endorsement of the administration at Penn State. I have an idea if this body accepts this proposed legislation, the Penn State University officialdom will offer no objections. I do believe that my proposal carries the endorsement of a majority of Pennsylvanians who believe and trust in public education, and think that we should plan for the future and in that way not allow the future to overwhelm us.

Mr. President, the bill about to be presented calls for an appropriation of $1,280,000 above that requested in House Bill No. 1086. I want to hasten to add that while I am introducing this mainly because Penn State is the single University of the Commonwealth whose support rests wholly with the Commonwealth, and hence is in a category different than any other institution of higher learning, I am sympathetic to the entire general movement and would gladly co-sponsor similar legislation concerning our fourteen State Teachers' Colleges and will support similar legislation for State-aided institutions of higher learning.

I attended the public hearings less than a month ago, when the needs of the State-owned institutions were presented, and so was greatly disappointed when I saw House Bill No. 1086, which presumably is the official bill for the University, for House Bill No. 1086 makes no gesture towards any new program at the State University. It seems incredible, with the wave of population and problems that are now and will continue to confront this Commonwealth, that this Senate in its deliberation will not wish to have the University tackle some new programs in 1957-1959. At the hearing, a request was made for funds for such important programs as these, programs which apparently, unless this Senate does something about them, will be discarded; an extended program in counseling service, so badly needed, for $125,000; new programs in agriculture, $500,000; to push the frontier in labor education, $100,000; $50,000 for much needed research in teacher education; a similar amount for child development research; $50,000 for coal research, for an industry which all of us know needs research. These are some of the items not possible in House Bill No. 1086, but would be provided in this proposal.

Mr. President, I have no particular pride in authorship. Therefore, if when House Bill No. 1086 comes to the Senate, if the Senate prefers to amend the work of Messrs. Wood and Andrews to include the phases in the University's request that have been omitted, I would be happy to have that end achieved in that manner. Most Members will recall that, in the previous Session, the Senate in its wisdom increased the amount of the House Bill for the State University in the amount of $1,000,000, which also—and get this—was $1,000,000 more than was requested by the then President Milton Eisenhower. Milton Eisenhower had four years of the Penn State Presidency behind him at that time, as well as a longer period at Kansas State. If the Senate thought that he undershot the needed amount by $1,000,000, I think that serious consideration should be given to the complete request of the present forward looking President at Penn State, Eric Walker, who even without the magic name of Eisenhower did make a convincing plea for higher education before the Appropriations Committee. One of his predecessors used to say that the issue was not whether Pennsylvania could afford to support a State University; the question was whether the Commonwealth could afford not to support its State University.

It is inconceivable to me that this Senate would allow the magic name of Eisenhower to lose its spell so suddenly, because—get this—two years ago this Senate appropriated $1,000,000 more than Doctor Milton Eisenhower requested. Now, for the same institution, unless the Senate acts otherwise, through this bill or through an amendment to House Bill No. 1086, we will be cutting $1,280,000 from the justifiable request.

May I remind you, Mr. President, that Pennsylvania is forty-fifth in its support of higher education among the forty-eight States? The recent report of the Educational Policies Commission, as reported in the New York Times, is as follows and I quote:

"Now about 3 millions, the enrollments are expected to reach 5 to 7 millions in 1970. Industry has discovered that the Ph.D. is a productive fellow with the result that not more than one-fourth of those holding the Ph.D. join college faculties. The others go into industry. Half of the latter have starting salaries from $1,000 to $2,000 a year higher than the salaries of their supervising professors. This within a decade can really wreck us."

These are the stakes at issue. I am sure that, as Pennsylvanians and Americans, we want to carry our share of the load and get our institutions of higher learning ready for the influx that we are already hearing about.

The House proposal will admit but 632 more students in the next biennium than this year. As Senators, we will hear more about this as we learn or applicant after applicant who has been denied admission.

Before I close, however, I do want to make one point very clear. It does not solve anything for this General Assembly to pass increased appropriations and then fail to provide the tax measures necessary to support the appropriations. In order for there not to be any misunderstanding, I do not hesitate to say that I will support any reasonable tax measures. I will join with any twenty-five other Senators in a tax program to support a more adequate program of education in the Commonwealth; that is, all public education. However, just now I am thinking of higher education. If we really believe in education, as we say we do in commencement speeches and as we nod approval when our priest, rabbi or preacher endorses education, let us at this Session, by our votes, indicate our real feeling toward education.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. HAYS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 633, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of April 1, 1863 (P. L. 213) entitled "An act to accept the grant of Public lands, by the United States, to the several states, for the endowment of Agricultural Colleges," making an appropriation for carrying the same into effect.

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am about to offer a bill on behalf of Senator Barr, Senator Kalman, Senator Whalley, Senator Koprivier, Senator Mahany, Senator Lane, Senator Schmidt, Senator Sarraf and myself.

Mr. President, this particular bill clarifies certain sections of the Authority Act. It will be the vehicle which will allow the construction of the largest water aqueduct in the United States and probably in the world, at an estimated cost of approximately $260,000,000. It will affect Westmoreland, Fayette, Washington, Allegheny and Somerset Counties.

A few years back, under the Municipal Authorities Act, we created a water district in Westmoreland County. We thought at that time by creating this, the largest artificial lake in the State of Pennsylvania, known as Beaver Dam, that we were going to be set for our water needs for the next hundred years or so. However, we have discovered in Westmoreland County that the primary need of industry, and one of the prime factors considered by new and expanding industry, is the availability of good water. Industry has come into Westmoreland County at the fastest clip, and the fastest rate in our history. We had twelve additions, extensions and new plants built in our county in the last five years. There are five more waiting to come in as soon as we can tap water resources. This will help Fayette County which, for many years, since the decrease in coal production, has been a county very much in need of new, vital industry. It will help Somerset County, Washington County and Allegheny County.

Mr. President, I am going to ask that this bill be given speedy consideration by the committee, in that we hope to be able to complete this project within a period of two years. I want all of you to take note that now is the time to start preparing for the future in the field of industrial expansion, particularly by providing water resources. The greatest need today, all over this Nation, is a good supply of good water.

WELCOMING ROBERT BRISCOE, THE LORD MAYOR OF DUBLIN

Messrs. WEINER, MAHANY, DENT, CAMIEL, DONOLOW, SILVERT, MULLIN and STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 23, 1957.

In March of this year, a distinguished visitor from Ireland came to this Country. He is Robert Briscoe, the Lord Mayor of Dublin. Mr. Briscoe is on a tour of the United States for the purpose of further strengthening the friendship between the United States and Ireland.

On March 17, 1957, the Lord Mayor was in New York City to participate in the festivities of the highly colorful and traditional Saint Patrick's Day parade. On March 26, 1957, Mayor Briscoe was in the Nation's capitol paying his respects to the President and Vice-President of the United States. Mayor Briscoe visited Pittsburgh and on Tuesday, April 23, 1957, is scheduled to arrive for a visit to the City of Philadelphia; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth join with the City of Philadelphia in welcoming this distinguished visitor from Dublin and pay tribute to one who embodies the symbol of the foundation of American ideals. This symbol being the harmonious joining of diverse beliefs and backgrounds into a smooth working and spirited community, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of City Council.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO ENACT LEGISLATION ADMITTING ALASKA AND HAWAII TO THE UNION

Messrs. BARR and PECHAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, April 23, 1957.

The United States of America has become the greatest power in the history of mankind because it is a united nation of equal and sovereign states and not an empire;

The people of the United States devised a method and program of incorporating territories, which method, as a first step leading to the full privileges of statehood, imposes on the people of such territories the obligations of the citizens of the several states, while withholding from such territorial citizens, however, the basic rights of self government and full representation in the councils of the United States.

Alaska and Hawaii have been incorporated as territories of the United States for many years, and by the very act of such incorporation as United States Territories have been promised the full privileges of statehood with first class citizenship for the peoples of Alaska and Hawaii.

Both political parties have recognized that every consideration of fairness demands that the people of these territories be given the full privileges of American citizenship in their platforms and other policy declarations,

The granting of statehood to these territories will strengthen the United States immeasurably in human resources and in its foreign relations. Therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation admitting Alaska and Hawaii to the Union in this year 1957; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States, and that each of them be requested to make every effort to see that legislation to grant statehood to Alaska and Hawaii be promptly considered and passed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, this resolution which I am about to present has to do with the action which was taken by the Republican Majority some weeks ago when they arbitrarily voted to discontinue the one cent gasoline tax.

As most of you know, at that particular time the Republican Majority took the position that if that one cent tax was deleted or eliminated, it would be a saving to the motoring public. However, as spokesmen on this side have said time and time again, that was not the case because now, according to the public press, the various oil companies throughout Pennsylvania are advertising the fact that they are going to increase the cost two cents.

It seems to me that what they are trying to do is lull the people to sleep because, once the one cent gasoline tax goes off, they then might reduce their cost by one cent and still be ahead of the game. They are going to take the tax away from the people and use it themselves.

Now our local governments need this money to repair and maintain the roads, but you people on the Majority side refuse to go along with our thinking.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Dent, Senator Ruth, Senator Yosko and myself I present to the chair the following resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

DIRECTING A SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE INCREASING OF GASOLINE PRICES

Messrs. LANE, DENT, RUTH and YOSKO offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 23, 1957.

Whereas, the problem of highway construction, maintenance and planning is of primary interest to all the people, both users and non-users of our highway system; and

Whereas, this session of the Legislature has passed legislation removing the one cent (1c) emergency gasoline tax; and

Whereas, this unwarranted action of the Legislature will necessitate a drastic reduction in the appropriation to Pennsylvania local governments in the amount of $11,300,000; and

Whereas, if this action is not rescinded and the tax enacted, local communities will be further deprived of additional funds in the sum of $12,000,000 or a total loss of funds to our local governments in the amount of $23,300,000; and

Whereas, there appears to be a well planned conspiracy to fix prices between the various oil companies doing business within our Commonwealth by increasing gasoline prices by as much or more in the amount represented by the deletion of the one-cent (1c) gasoline tax; and

Whereas, there appears to be a direct relationship between the elimination of the one-cent (1c) gasoline tax and the increasing of gasoline prices within the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, if the House concurs, that a special committee of the JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION be hereby directed to make a thorough and comprehensive study of this matter; and be it further

Resolved, that this committee make a report of its findings together with recommendations for appropriate legislation at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this session of the General Assembly.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to object to the immediate consideration of this resolution for a number of different reasons, particularly some of the subject matter in the resolution. For example, a portion, as read by the Clerk, reads:

"Whereas, there appears to be a well planned conspiracy to fix prices between the various oil companies doing business within our Commonwealth."

For that reason and others, I object to the immediate consideration of the resolution and suggest that it be sent to the proper committee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being objection, the resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not happen to have a Titusville paper today. If you will remember a few days back, my good colleague, Senator Mahany, read from the Titusville paper—I think it is the Herald—and he reminded the Senate that I had made a statement to the effect that if the Senate removed the one cent gas tax, the oil companies would pick it up. He read very gleefully an article in the paper stating that a gasoline company—Sun Oil I think it was—had reduced the price of gas and, therefore, according to that article, Dent did not know what he was talking about.

Well now this same Titusville paper carried a story that gasoline was going up, I think it was, two cents a gallon. Now I think Senator Lane put his finger on the action that will probably follow in the next thirty days or so and that is that the oil companies have raised their price approximately two cents. When the gasoline tax goes off on June 1, they will put out all kinds of propaganda that gasoline is going down one cent because the taxpayers are going to save a penny on account of the great, magnificent gesture made by the Republican-controlled Legislature. They will forget to tell the people, though, that the gas prices have actually gone up considering the action of the past week end.

Now that one penny gas tax means fifty-six and one-half million dollars. When you consider the fact that only four and one-half cents of the five cent gas tax is used by the Highways Department and that better than one cent of that has been allocated for local communities, it leaves the Highways Department with three and one-half cents for all of its work. We have scheduled for this biennium something like 1,700 miles of road.

When I look at today's Calendar, I see many bills that are sponsored by Republicans, particularly for the taking, building and removing of bridges. I have one in, co-sponsored with Senator Fleming myself, removing bridges from the tolls and putting them back on to the highway system, and paying for the unpaid part of the bonded indebtedness out of highway funds. I realize that the five cent gasoline tax was put on in 1949 and this is the year of our Lord 1957. Unless you are absolutely devoid of any power of reasoning, I do not see how you can justify cutting the gasoline tax back to five cents.

Senator Lane also said in his resolution that this, unless we re-enact the one cent emergency gasoline tax, will cost the local communities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania $23,300,000 for much needed repair work, additional parking areas and widening of streets in the local communities.

For many years some of us have fought for a larger share of the State Highway Fund to go back to local communities because we realized although we were building large four-lane type, limited access roads between the cities, that we were creating bottlenecks in the cities and boroughs and townships.

I am pleading with you to reconsider your action on the one cent gasoline tax. I think that it is imperative that you do that. I think that the Highways Fund will suffer unless we do it. I think that the local communities will suffer unless we do. I think that every cent that we take off will be put on by the oil companies, regardless of what anybody says to the contrary. Just as sure as we are in this room this afternoon, the oil companies will not allow the fifty-six and one-half millions of dollars to be reflected in savings to the highways users of this Commonwealth because they will immediately attach it to their own incomes.

I, for one, am a little discouraged with the fact that we have to pay an extra two cents on gasoline to clear the wreckage out of the Suez Canal. I just do not believe it was our responsibility. I do not think that the roads in Pennsylvania ought to suffer because somebody bombed a few ships in the Suez Canal. I do not think, by helping and giving aid to the European nations in their hour of need, that the people of the United States ought to be made pay for it.

I think that the time has come when we face realities and look the subject squarely in the eye. We need that additional cent for highway purposes in this Commonwealth. We have the greatest road system on the face of the earth in Pennsylvania, but all of us know that our roads are getting old, they are becoming aged and they need more and more repair and costlier repair. Highway construction today is entirely a different matter than what it was in 1949 and 1939. It is now a matter of high cost per mile and it takes a great deal of money to build the new types of roads that we need to meet today's emergencies.

There are two things that I speak of today. Earlier I spoke about water. In my humble opinion, the two things that will entice industry into this State, more than any other gesture that can be made by the General Assembly, would be for us to provide adequate and good supplies of water and transportation facilities. We are being shortsighted when we do not reconsider our action and put back onto the statute books the one cent emergency gas tax to keep it out of the pockets of the oil companies who, I predict again and again and again, will take that penny for their own uses.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, Senator Dent has, under permission granted in introducing the resolution, gone somewhat far afield to tell us about our highway system and the price of gasoline. He even implied to the Senate that this Senate has the privilege and prerogative of setting the price of gasoline to the consumers in Pennsylvania. We all fully recognize that we do not have that privilege. We simply deal with the amount of tax to be levied on the product.

With his statements regarding our highway system I fully agree. We have a fine highway system and we are all anxious and desirous of keeping it at a high level, the level which it has enjoyed for many years.

Now he made certain statements about loss to the political subdivisions of our Commonwealth. Two years ago we set up a formula of ninety per cent of four and one-half cents. That is not entirely correct because it was a basis of twenty per cent of four and one-half cents, which is not affected by the one cent extra on gasoline we put on due to the flood conditions in Pennsylvania, an emergency situation. Now our floor for the two years, 1956 and 1957, was $30,000,000. By no stretch of the imagination could you arrive at the conclusion that the different subdivisions are going to lose any revenue at all this year because of the lapse of three months in that one cent emergency gasoline tax.

Then, again, let me inform Senator Dent, and I think he is already aware of the fact, that we are going to have a full hearing tomorrow, beginning at 9:30 a. m., on highway revenues and I assure you that the matter will be fully gone into at that time.

We are just as anxious on this side to keep our highway system up. The matter of whether or not the money has been judiciously spent and whether the Highways Department has been handled on a proper business basis has been questioned in the press; it has been questioned on this floor; it has been questioned many places. We are doing everything we can on this side of the Senate to help that Highways Department get into the groove and be handled on a good business basis.

Therefore, I suggest to Senator Dent that he attend that hearing tomorrow morning and offer his suggestions and add to his knowledge, which seems to be rather complete, on the highway funds generally.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade. Perhaps he can straighten me out on something.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Do you know how much money was contained in the Governor's Budget for return to the local communities?

Mr. WADE. I am not familiar with the exact amount set aside in the Governor's Budget. However, that amount has been set by law. It was passed by the House, the Senate and signed by the present Governor. Twenty per cent of four and one-half cents is to be returned to the local subdivisions with a minimum of $30,000,000 in the years 1956 and 1957.

Mr. DENT. Do you know how much twenty per cent of four and one-half cents is going to amount to in this next biennium?

Mr. WADE. I do not know the exact figures. However, I do know that we have a ceiling, as I have said for the third time. It is not a ceiling, but a floor of $30,000,000 for the years 1956 and 1957. Regardless of what the percentage amounts to, we have allocated that amount to the local subdivisions. We have bills in committee which are being considered now to continue that floor in the future.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we are not dealing with the years 1956 and 1957. We are dealing with the years 1957 and 1958, this biennium. We find that in this biennium, the Governor recommended in the Highway Budget $63,500,000 to be returned to the local communities. This was based on twenty per cent of five and one-half cents, keeping the emergency tax as a permanent part of the tax structure. We find that by taking the same computation of twenty per cent of the four and one-half cents remaining, even at the high yield of fifty-six and one-half million dollars, which is two and one-half million dollars more than the yield anticipated during the past biennium, the local communities will receive $52,200,000, or a definite loss to the local communities from the amount recommended by the Governor of $11,300,000; also a loss, under the $60,000,000 prescribed by the Act of the 1955-1957 biennium, from $60,000,000 to $52,200,000 or a loss of $7,800,000.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, the gentleman states that he has bills in his committee which are going to put the floor back into the law at $30,000,000. If you do that, do you not further reduce the amount of money that the Department of Highways will have for its own purposes to meet its funded debt, to meet the obligations of matching highway funds with Federal funds, to meet the cost of operating on our 20,000 miles of wholly owned and maintained State highway system which does not receive any subsidy from the Federal Government or anyone else? Does that not reduce the working capital in the Highways Department to its lowest point in many years?

Senator Wade said that they are trying to get the Department of Highways back into the groove of doing things in a businesslike manner. Who says they are not being done in a businesslike manner? Senator Wade is the only man whom I have heard on the floor charge that it was not being operated in a businesslike manner. He has been Chairman of the Highways Committee I understand since 1955, and I heard no complaints during the first two years of the Governor's Administration about improper handling of highway funds. Some newspaper out west, a small daily newspaper, decided to make a vendetta out of highways and, therefore, Senator Wade decided to jump on to the wagon with that newspaper and make an issue for himself. I do not know where he is going to ride on the vehicle he has jumped on, but I will guarantee him that if he does not put more money in that Highways Fund, he is going to have a rocky, bumpy road to wherever he is aiming to ride.

Mr. President, I also wish to assure Senator Wade that figures do not lie. You cannot just talk in circles. The facts are contained in the Budget Message. Every nickel which is appropriated is specifically spelled out as for what purpose it will be spent. This is the first time in our history that we have a line by line budget which tells exactly the number of employees, tells exactly the rate schedule of payments, tells how much is being spent for engineering firms, and names the engineering firms. It tells how much is being spent for matching funds, how much for maintenance, how much for rentals.

If anybody has taken the time, as I have tried to take myself, to study that budget and to study the breakdown of the Highways Department, they cannot help but agree that we need that extra cent. I will assure you that the people of Pennsylvania need it much more and they need it a lot worse than what the oil companies are going to need it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I call the attention of the gentleman to the fact that our law does not provide, in any instance, for twenty per cent of five and one-half cents. The law provides for twenty per cent of four and one-half cents. We, perhaps, could say that we had in mind, in our budget, to give these municipalities $60,000,000 instead of $30,000,000. You can write anything into the budget. However, our law never provided for anything more than twenty per cent of four and one-half cents. That is the present law and the law under which we are operating.

I repeat, we could say on our side that we had in mind introducing legislation to give these municipalities $60,000,000 instead of $30,000,000. However, that would mean nothing. We abide by the laws as they exist.

The gentleman also took further occasion to remind us that one small newspaper—I do not know the size of the Sun-Telegraph in Pittsburgh, but I have some twenty different releases making certain implications and accusations against the Highways Department, and in every one of them they imply that we do not use business methods currently in the Department of Highways. Whether those are true or not, we do not know. However, we do know that we cannot improve those business methods except by cooperation. We cannot improve them by accusing the Department of doing this or that, so long as they are not breaking the law, and so long as they are running it in a non-business like manner. That is not my statement; that is the statement of a large Pennsylvania newspaper.

I repeat to the gentleman that tomorrow we will have the best opportunity in the world to go over these figures in detail and find out exactly where our highway funds stand.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Wade objected to the immediate consideration of this resolution by virtue of the fact that it contained therein a statement that we believe there is a long-planned conspiracy on the part of the oil companies to fix prices. As a matter of fact, we believe that to be true primarily because we know that the one cent reduction in gasoline tax is actually germane to the oil companies' idea of increasing gasoline taxes by two cents per gallon. That will mean that here in the State of Pennsylvania the people will be gouged out of $100,000,000 by virtue of the fact that we have been lax in not passing this legislation. Had we re-enacted the one cent gasoline tax, I think the oil companies would not have put two cents on. They might have put one-half a cent or one cent on.

It seems to me that it is the responsibility of the Membership of this Senate to protect the motoring public. I believe that we should do something about this. If this resolution is not in order, I would say to the good Senator from Cumberland County that I will be glad to sponsor legislation which will meet with his approval whereby we will make an inquiry into this problem and find out just what the oil companies are trying to do. I would say to you here today that they are trying to gouge the motoring public here in Pennsylvania and we are letting them get away with it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I do not wish to prolong this debate, but I would like to clear the question about increases.

From my knowledge—and I pay quite heavily in gasoline bills and I am certainly for reducing them all I can—I think we should be honest and fair when we talk about reductions and increases. It has been mostly increases we have talked about.

Now within the last three months—I just do not have the dates at hand—gasoline was reduced seven-tenths of a cent per gallon and then on the fifteenth of last month it was again reduced seven-tenths of a cent per gallon, and just a few days ago they put on seven-tenths of a cent a gallon. Therefore, we have had an over-all reduction of seven-tenths of a cent per gallon of gasoline.

I thought that I should make that statement. I am for cheap gasoline, but I think we should keep the record clear. I am for good gasoline and cheap gasoline, Mr. President.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to clarify and make the record right. Unless every newspaper printed in the metropolitan area of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is wrong, the increase last week was two cents a gallon. That is contained in everyone of the local and metropolitan newspapers in western Pennsylvania. Therefore, if the Senator got away with seven-tenths of a cent down in Delaware County, it is because they happen to have some fairy godfathers down there.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair at this time requests the Lieutenant-Governor to return to the Chair.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to thank the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 399, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Department of Highways with the approval of the Governor to erect and maintain a high level bridge over the Allegheny River in Freeport Armstrong County and to provide the necessary approaches and connections with State highways empowering counties to pay certain damages.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, do you have any idea what the cost of this bridge is going to be?

Mr. PECHAN. There is an appropriation carried with the bill of $5,000,000.

Mr. LANE. Senator, you were one of those who voted against retaining the one cent emergency gas tax, is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. LANE. I see. Do you feel that the State has the money to spend $5,000,000, even though you will vote against taxes? Is that correct?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President—

Mr. LANE. I am asking you a question. Do you want to answer it?

Mr. PECHAN. I voted for all the tax bills. I voted for a lot more taxes than you did, Senator Lane.

Mr. LANE. I do not know about that. I am asking you about the gasoline tax. You are asking us to spend $5,000,000 and I want to know where you figure we are going to get the money.

Mr. PECHAN. From the existing tax money that is going to be available.

Mr. LANE. I see. You think we have the money available. Senator Pechan, may I ask you one more question?

Mr. PECHAN. You may.

Mr. LANE. I would like for you tomorrow to be at the highways hearing when we talk about taxes and the budget of the Highways Department. I want to bring home to you that, from my conversation today with the officials of the Highways Department, they are going to be sorely pressed for money. I would like for you to be at this hearing tomorrow, and then you will realize just what you have done in the past.

You want this $5,000,000 bridge and you want the various counties to pay for the approaches, which is also going to cost them money. On top of that, if we lose any portion of our gasoline tax money, by virtue of the fact that you people voted against this one cent gas tax, it is going to put your counties in trouble, too. I am going to vote for your bill, but I want you to be at the appropriation hearing tomorrow.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the bridge that the Senator referred to is certainly not something that is not needed.

The children that are attending the Freeport Area Joint Schools have to leave the bus and walk across the bridge, and the bridge is across the Allegheny River at Freeport. The children have to leave the bus and walks across the bridge because there is a seven ton limit.

Now the Senator accuses me of not voting for taxes. I have voted for every tax measure that has come before us. We had, for instance, a short while ago, the $480,000,000 Sales Tax Bill. Senator Lane voted against it, and I wonder if all the schools are going to close down and all the welfare institutions. I wonder how he expects those institutions to continue in business, yet he was going to shortchange the Governor almost one-half billion dollars.

This is only $5,000,000, and I think that if we are going to have a little bit of economy and do a little bit of scraping, we can find $5,000,000 in the Highways Department. From what I hear, I read the same papers as Senator Wade and you do, Senator Lane, and they tell me that the money that is in the Highways Department now cannot be spent because you do not have the personnel and you do not have the engineers to go ahead with the work that is before us now.

I do not feel one bit bad about not voting for the additional one penny that was levied last year as an emergency measure.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, as usual the distinguished gentleman from Armstrong is talking without the book. Let me say to him that I realize my responsibilities here and I, too, voted for taxes. However, I would not vote for a sales tax bill which exempted everybody except the people. He well knows that, also. He well knows the exemptions which are in that bill. That is the reason we did not vote for it.

Senator Pechan talks about not having the personnel in the Department of Highways. He probably has been reading some of the newspapers. I am requesting him to come over to the hearing tomorrow and hear the details in regard to the finances of the Department of Highways, and the grand and efficient job which it is doing here. I am not going to vote against this bill because I realize that probably they need this bridge.

Mr. President, I do want to bring home to Senator Pechan that since he asked for $5,000,000, which to my way of thinking is an awful lot of money,—I never saw $5,000,000 in my life and, therefore, it is a huge sum of money,—he should come over and listen to the Department of Highways hearing and maybe he will not make these ridiculous speeches on the floor of the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 579, entitled:

An Act requiring the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to change the names of certain interchanges on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time on behalf of myself and Senator Miller, Senator Yosko, Senator Harney and Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Dent, I was about to make a motion to place House Bill No. 579 on the Postponed Calendar. Would that change your plans any?

Mr. DENT. I would rather that the amendments be accepted if we can possibly do so and then have the bill go on the Postponed Calendar, after printing, in order for us to look at it.

Mr. PECHAN. Are these amendments similar to the amendments which we were going to lay on the table?

Mr. DENT. No, these are serious amendments.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, on April 10, we had before us House Bill No. 579, a bill which would change the names of several of the interchanges on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. The Minority Floor Leader offered an amendment that would have added to the interchanges in Lancaster County the names of some of our smaller but still well-known communities; namely, Blue Ball, Bird-in-Hand, Intercourse, Paradise and Peach Bottom. I do not know how much publicity this proposed amendment received over the State, but the Lancaster city and county newspapers gave it front page space.

Because of the prominence given in the local newspapers to this news item, I was honored by a visit from one of the outstanding citizens of the community of Intercourse. He was delighted that the gentleman from Westmoreland had taken cognizance of his village. He charged me with the pleasant duty of publicly extending to the Minority Floor Leader a warm invitation to visit the community and to see at first hand the prosperity and growth of Intercourse. He urged me to explain clearly how to get to Intercourse from Lancaster. He was fearful that the gentleman from Westmoreland, once it became known that he was in Lancaster County, might be enticed to go by Greenbank and wind up in Blue Ball or he might be seduced into heading south through the Buck and land in Peach Bottom. He wants to be sure that Senator Dent reaches the objective of his visit to Lancaster County.

Here are the directions. You leave Lancaster City by way of the Lincoln Highway, East. This is Route 30, the road to Philadelphia, and it is well marked. Just beyond the east end of the city there is a fork in the road; the right fork is Route 30 to Paradise and Philadelphia, and the other is Route 340, the road to Intercourse. It seems to me that this fork is significant; the traveler can go right to Paradise, or what is it the Bible says about wide is the gate and broad is the road?

Well, you take the left fork to Intercourse. A short distance beyond, you can make a quick detour to the right, if you want, and visit the little hamlet of Fertility. About five miles further and you reach Bird-in-Hand. After three miles more, you arrive at Intercourse which, incidentally, is in Leacock Township.

Should you want to go to Paradise, you have to travel a bit more. It is some distance to the south and east. As my good friend from Berks County, Senator Ruth, would say, "Paradise is a good piece from Intercourse."

So that you may not feel strange, Senator Dent, in this community, let me mention a few of the family names which you will find. There are the Kings, the Fishers, lots of Stoltzfusses, a whole chain of Smokers, many Lapps, some Planks and some Books, one family of Buzzards, a few Glicks and a good many Hellers. If you should need any silk stockings, hunt up Miss Rosie Beachey. She is some sort of a factory representative. Be sure to visit a man of some renown in the area, Mr. I. P. Offner. So far as I know, there is not a Wolfe in Intercourse.

Mr. Elmer D. Zimmerman, of the Intercourse Civic Association, wants to be sure that you will not forget this invitation to visit his fair village. To serve as a reminder to you, he asked me to present to you this commemorative piece, Senator Dent.

(Commemorative plate presented to Senator John H. Dent.)

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, then Jerry Lestz, a columnist of the local paper and the present Editor of John Baer's Almanac, which has been published regularly for 132 years, thought a copy of this very famous weather prognosticator might help you pick out a good, clear, sunny day for your visit. Here is the Almanac, Senator Dent.

Finally, the thoughtful people down there have a special map for strangers that should not only help you keep your bearings, but amuse you as well. Unfortunately the mails, through our good friend, Mr. Summerfield, have delayed the arrival of that map, but I will see that you get it as soon as it comes.

The newspaper sent me a few photographs of the Easter season, Senator Dent, which we thought you might like to have as reminders and souvenirs of the kind of lovely people you will meet down at Intercourse.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator Kessler and all the good people of Intercourse and those who reside in Paradise.

I had the pleasure of being in Blue Ball and Bird-in-Hand.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to thank the gentleman from Lancaster. I will never turn to the right again on my way to Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection to the offering of these amendments, they will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend House Bill No. 579, Printer's No. 256, on page 3 by inserting between lines 2 and 3 a new paragraph as follows: "The interchange known as the Donegal interchange shall be renamed the Donegal-Latrobe-Ligonier interchange and the interchange known as the New Stanton interchange shall be renamed the New Stanton-Greensburg-Mt. Pleasant interchange and the interchange known as the Irwin interchange shall be renamed the Irwin-Jeannette-McKeesport interchange." Amend House Bill No. 579, Printer's No. 256 on page 2 by inserting between lines 8 and 9 the following: "The interchange known as Perry Highway shall be renamed the Aliquippa-Ambridge-Rochester-Zelienople interchange." Amend House Bill No. 579, Printer's No. 256 on page 3 by inserting between lines 2 and 3 a new paragraph as follows: "The interchange known as the Lehigh Valley interchange shall be renamed Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton interchange." Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 2, by inserting after "interchange": "and the interchange known as the 'Valley Forge interchange' shall be renamed the 'Valley Forge Phoenixville interchange.'" Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 2, by striking out all of said line, and inserting in lieu thereof: "Reading-Lancaster interchange."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1040, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 5 of Title, by inserting after "definitions" "excluding from tax the sale at retail or use of coal"; Arend bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 12 and 13: "Section 2. Section 203 of the act, added May 24, 1956 (P. The tax imposed by section 201 shall not be imposed upon "(m) The sale at retail or use of coal"; Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 13, by striking out "2" and inserting: "3"; Amend Sec. 3, page 5, line 12, by striking out "3" and inserting "4"; Amend Sec. 4, page 7, line 6, by striking out "4" and inserting: "5"; Amend Sec. 5, page 7, line 15, by striking out "5" and inserting: "6"; Amend Sec. 6, page 9, line 3, by striking out "6" and inserting: "7"; Amend Sec. 7, page 10, line 4, by striking out "7" and inserting "8"; Amend Sec. 7, (Sec. 546.2), page 11, line 7, by striking out "FORM" and inserting: "from"; Amend Sec. 7, (Sec. 546.2), page 11, line 19, by striking out "prepaying" and inserting: "to prepay"; Amend Sec. 8, page 12, line 13, by striking out "8" and inserting: "9"; Amend Sec. 9, page 13, line 1, by striking out "9" and inserting: "10"; Amend Sec. 10, page 13, line 3, by striking out "10" and inserting: "11"; Amend Sec. 11, page 17, line 9, by striking out "11" and inserting: "12"; Amend Sec. 12, page 22, line 7, by striking out "12" and inserting: "13"; Amend Sec. 13, page 24, line 11, by striking out "13" and inserting: "14"; Amend Sec. 13, page 24, line 11, by inserting after "immediately" "and the amendment to section 203 of the 'Selective Sales and Use Tax Act,' shall be retroactive to March 6, 1956."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want it generally understood that at no time did we ever intend coal to be subject to the sales tax, but inasmuch as there is some question that has arisen in the Justice Department as to whether or not it is clearly excluded, we are putting these amendments, in so that there will be no question relative to this particular item.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RESOLUTION No. 81.

In the House of Representatives, April 10, 1957.

Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, will celebrate its One Hundredth Anniversary in 1958, and thus mark a century of useful service to its community.

Its goodly heritage had its beginning back on September 1, 1858, when it began as a "Missionary Institute." The founder was the Reverend Dr. Benjamin Kurtz, an eminent clergyman of the Lutheran Church of his day. Originally, the school was established to supply more ministers to the community, but its motive over the years has broadened to include the preparation of young men and young women for all honorable vocations in life, never ceasing to emphasize the necessity of the Christian ethic in all true education.

It was in 1895 that the corporate name was changed to Susquehanna University. The purpose of Susquehanna University is to provide for its students necessary and adequate educational facilities, and competent Christian scholars as teachers who shall create an environment and an atmosphere conducive to the production of Christian character. The curricular objectives include the offering of liberal arts courses that insure a deep, broad-based, well-rounded culture, and of courses presenting the opportunity for technical and vocational education in the fields of business and music.

It is impossible to appraise the results flowing from one hundred years of Christian testimony in the education of more than eight thousand young men and women who have gone into many vocations. The full harvest can never be known, for the harvest belongs to the great imperishables of life.

We do know, however, that Susquehanna University has written useful chapters in the field of overseas missions, of home missions, of ministers prepared for the homeland churches, of deaconesses and parish workers.

Susquehanna has made notable contributions to the ranks of Christian laymen and laywomen in the field of business, of countless teachers supplied to our public schools, of principals and superintendents in the administrative aspects of education, of men and women for medical science, the law, and for social welfare, nursing and public service.

The University occupies a beautiful campus of sixty-three acres on the western edge Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania. The physical plant is composed of seventeen buildings, nine of which are used for academic purposes. As an expression of confidence in the work it is doing for church and nation, a fund is now being gathered for the erection by the fall of 1958 of a new Music Building and a much-needed addition to the college library. The Endowment of the University is also being strengthened at the same time.

The University rejoices in the opportunity it has, through the added impetus released by the approaching Centennial, to carry forward its program of higher education where the elements of character are emphasized along with instruction in the Liberal Arts, Business and Music. The University affirms that dependable character is the hall-mark of true culture, and the urgent need of man; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulates Susquehanna University on its One Hundredth Anniversary and expresses its sincere appreciation and gratitude for its contribution to Pennsylvania; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to President G. Morris Smith of Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

ENLARGEMENT OF COLLEGE EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 23, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In addressing this special message to you, I am entirely mindful that the 1957 Session of the General Assembly is at mid-point, and that many members have expressed a desire for an early termination of the session. The content of this message is, however, of such importance to the people of Pennsylvania that I am sure the members will not wish to put convenience above the urgent needs of our people.

Substantially, we are proposing to the Legislature that it adopt at this session a comprehensive program for the enlargement of our opportunities for college education in Pennsylvania. We are placing that program before you in detail and suggesting a fiscal program which would finance it immediately and at its ultimate level of expense.

It should not take the Assembly a great deal of time to understand the suggested program, and to reach a decision to accept or to reject it. I most urgently hope that your choice will be acceptance.

In my judgment, these legislative proposals are the most important which will come to you in this session. If enacted they will give Pennsylvania one of the most forward-looking programs of educational opportunity for college age students of any state in the Union.

This program has its base in the report of the Governor's Commission on Higher Education, which was submitted to me under date of February 15, 1957, following a study requiring more than a year by a group of competent educators. That report has been carefully analyzed. Its contents, as reviewed and developed, are embodied in the proposals now placed before you.

In full operation, which will take approximately four years, the plan now suggested will be of direct benefit to 50,000 college-age Pennsylvanians during each academic year.

Over a ten-year period, more than 350,000 college-age students in Pennsylvania will benefit from the program.

Clearly, this problem vitally affects the hopes and the budgets of many thousands of Pennsylvania families.

I am sure that almost all of us know of many parents who want desperately to send their children to college—but simply can't accumulate the money to give them this important opportunity.

This common-sense realistic program will help many of these families to meet this urgent need.

It should be emphasized that in providing an opportunity for college education to those who otherwise would find none we are acting in accord with the democratic ideal of equality of opportunity. This has been recognized in higher education for about a century, since the first land-grant colleges were established in our Country.

We are, of course, helping an individual for his own sake. More than that, however, we are helping our society.

The well-being of Pennsylvania and of our Country depends upon our ability to train our young men and women for the increasingly complex assignments of this time and the future. The most precious resource we have is the potential skill of our people. We can no longer afford to waste the talent of our youth, any more than we can afford to waste water, energy sources, or essential raw materials of any kind.

This is a conservation program in its truest sense—a conservation program whose goal is the development and the utilization in Pennsylvania of the brains and abilities of the ablest of our young men and women.

It is a conservation program designed not only to avoid waste of our most precious resource, it is also a program designed to preserve our democratic institutions.

The blunt truth is that we are in a contest for survival of the democratic idea. We must have thousands upon thousands of additional technicians to maintain our defenses against totalitarianism. This program helps to give us those technicians.

In essence, these are the parts of the program:

1. Scholarships.

This program provides scholarships for Pennsylvania students attending Pennsylvania institutions. In each academic year beginning with the 1958-59 school year, the program will provide for the award of 5,000 scholarships, ranging in value from $200 to $800 annually, to students entering approved junior colleges, colleges, and universities. The student could enter any approved college of his choice whether sectarian or non-sectarian. Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of competitive examinations, held State-wide in the senior year of high school. The examinations will be required in the public high schools, and will be open to students enrolled in private and parochial secondary schools.

Students ranking among the top 5,000 persons taking the competitive examination will be awarded scholarships at a minimum value of $200 each year. The awards will range upward to $800 each year depending upon need, as determined by a system—professional and impersonal—such as that now administered for many colleges and universities by the Educational Testing Service.

The scholarships are limited to undergraduate study, and may not exceed the total amount charged for tuition and fees by the institution.

The scholarship will continue for a full four-year period, provided the student continues to meet the academic requirements of the institution he attends. Consequently, the plan in full operation will provide 20,000 scholarships during each academic year.

2. Student Loans.

It is proposed that a revolving fund be created for the purpose of making educational loans to students on the basis of scholastic ability combined with need. The fund for the first year of its operation will be financed by an appropriation of $1,500,000. It will be administered under rules and regulations adopted by the State Council of Higher Education, which is created in these proposals.

The student loans would be available to graduate as well as undergraduate students, beginning with the school year 1958-59.

3. Junior Colleges.

To provide for full educational opportunity regardless of economic status and place of residence, college education must be brought to those students who can combine their college studies with continued residence at home. This program therefore provides for a system of junior colleges which can be built and operated within daily commuting distance of Pennsylvania college-age men or women, where adequate college facilities and curriculum are not presently available. The program is designed to meet needs not now provided for; it will not compete with or replace existing college programs.

Through these junior colleges evening and night classes would be available to those whose economic needs require that they be regularly employed during the day.

These colleges would be established on the following basis:

A. Creation.

Such a college could be established by a school district of the first or second class or by a County board of school directors acting alone or jointly after the State Council of Higher Education had made findings of fact that the facility was needed and desirable, taking into account the availability in the area of the proposed curriculum, and the adequacy of existing institutions.

B. Management and Control.

The State Council of Higher Education would establish rules, regulations and standards concerning organization, curriculum, facilities, faculty, financing and control. Immediate administrative management would be vested in a board of trustees of eleven members, six appointed by the local school authorities and five appointed by the Governor.

C. Buildings, Equipment and Library.

Existing school facilities, including secondary school buildings during hours when they are not being used to capacity, should be put to use for instruction at the junior college level. Where adequate facilities are not already available, buildings, equipment and a basic library would be financed on the same basis as elementary and secondary school buildings are now constructed and financed, i. e. the creating school districts and the Commonwealth would contribute toward the carrying charges and amortization for these installations on the existing rental (or sinking fund) reimbursement formula.

D. Faculties.

Junior colleges would be authorized to enter into agreements with existing colleges or universities and/or other junior colleges to share their faculties in whole or in part.

E. Operating Costs.

The estimated operating cost of such junior colleges is from $500 to $550 per year per student. This estimate is based upon actual costs currently experienced in similar colleges now in operation in the State. It is proposed that the Commonwealth pay $200 each year per student to those institutions meeting the standards set by the State Council of Higher Education. The balance of the operating costs would be made up by tuition payments. The junior colleges would be authorized to accept payments from local tax sources or from private grants and endowments.

The junior colleges would not provide a full four year college course, although it will be the purpose of the program to make sure that their credits are acceptable on transfer to accredited colleges and universities granting bachelors' degrees.

The junior college would be expected to provide various two year technical courses of material benefit to the employment opportunities of the student and to the economic benefit of employers in the area served.

As a major employer of teachers, the State and its school districts could achieve very great benefits by offering the first two years of teachers' education in such junior colleges. It would be possible to virtually double the capacity of our present system of teachers' colleges if we arrived at an agreement that the existing teachers' colleges would concentrate on the final two years of instruction while the prospective teachers were encouraged to take their first two years work at junior colleges.

The junior college program, it should be made clear, is a voluntary one. The Commonwealth will not force it upon any group of local school districts. It will succeed only as it is accepted in the communities. If it is fully accepted, as I believe it will be, the junior college program will be built to a student body of more than 20,000 in a very few years. Since the total number of full time undergraduate students in the State presently is approximately 100,000, it is readily seen that the junior colleges would make a significant enlargement in our educational opportunity.

If we do not act promptly to provide effective State leadership in college education, we will find, sooner than we think, that our existing institutions are swamped by their growing student load. Quite literally, we will not be able to find room in Pennsylvania colleges for our sons and daughters.

4. Administration.

The program will be administered under rules and regulations set forth by the State Council of Higher Education. Accompanying legislation creates the Council, which will consist of fourteen members appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, ex officio. The Council will plan and set policy; day by day administration will rest with the Department of Public Instruction and its Bureau of Higher Education.

5. Finance.

It is suggested that the program could be financed by the imposition of an excise tax on soft drinks at the rate of one cent on twelve ounces of bottled drinks and one-half cent per ounce of syrup or fractions thereof. The estimated biennial yield of such a tax is $35,000,000. Any other tax program which is adequate to finance the program and which is more acceptable to the General Assembly will be acceptable to me.

These tax moneys would go to a special fund, to be called the Higher Education Fund. All appropriation bills relating to this program would be drawn against the Higher Education Fund, and there would be no new costs whatsoever chargeable to existing State revenues.

The total appropriation bills under the program for the first biennium come to approximately $7 million. If the soft drinks tax were adopted, then during this biennium, but not thereafter, the fund surplus of approximately $28,000,000 could be applied to the budgeted appropriations made to the State-aided universities and medical schools. In subsequent years, the program would call for the full use of the revenues from the soft drinks tax, and the established State-aid program would again be fully payable from the General Fund.

The soft drinks tax, however, would completely finance this program at the peak of its projected expenditures.

I believe that most citizens of Pennsylvania will agree that one cent on a bottle of pop is not too high a price to pay for the college education of a whole generation of Pennsylvania youth.

During this session, leaders of the Republican party repeatedly have said that new State programs would be tested against a threefold formula: "Is it necessary? Will it work? Can we afford it?"

I urge the leaders of the majority party to test these proposals against their stated criteria for approval.

Is it necessary?

Only 20% of the college-age young men and women of this Commonwealth go to college. The reason is primarily an economic one. This program answers a very real portion of the economic need.

In Pennsylvania and in the Nation, we are, therefore, wasting much of the human material upon which our society should draw for its economic well-being, its defenses, and its happiness in terms of human values.

The pressure of our population increase creates another set of problems in addition to our failure to educate a larger percentage of our ablest young men and women. We must concern ourselves also with our ability to find college classrooms for the student body of the immediate future. The college population of Pennsylvania, graduate and undergraduate, is more than 117,000. It is projected at 138,000 by 1960, 180,000 by 1965, and 242,000 by 1970.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can help its educators plan for this future, or it can ignore the need. If we and other states ignore it, the whole pressure for action will fall upon the Federal Government, much as the current pressure for primary and secondary education now falls upon Washington. If there is sincerity in the demands for reduction in Federal spending and Federal control, it can be tested only by appropriate action in the States. We are either sovereign states because we meet the needs of our people, or we are "sovereign" only in the hollow sound of political oratory.

Will it work?

I can think of no good reason why it won't. The mechanisms suggested are practical. They have been approved by many of the State's most distinguished educators. Scholarships, student loans, and junior colleges in the communities are not innovations. All have been tested in the private and State-aided educational system of Pennsylvania. This program extends them to wider usefulness.

Can we afford it?

The tax program suggested finances it in full.

By the majority party's stated tests, this program meets every requirement.

I am aware that some people may raise this objection: Why should these proposed scholarships be made available when our colleges already are crowded with students who, one way or another, are paying their own way?

The answer is plain. All too few of our high school students with the highest marks now can afford to go to college. We are failing to develop and utilize the full skills of thousands of these outstanding students. Clearly, educational opportunity must be based upon ability to learn, not ability to pay.

A further question may be raised: Where will we put these students since our facilities already are jammed.

Again, the answer is plain. This program, as I have pointed out earlier in this message, provides for a substantial expansion of our college facilities by the establishment of junior colleges.

Pennsylvania should be among the first of the states in meeting the problem of extending college education on the basis of ability and need. We boast that America is the land of opportunity. Let us make Pennsylvania foremost in the Union in the educational opportunity which it extends to its young men and women. It is the best insurance we can find of a prosperous future; it is the best instrument we can fashion for the continuance and improvement of this free society.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 734

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 18, 1957.
To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:
I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill

No. 734, Printer's No. 191, entitled "A Supplement to the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) known as 'The Administrative Code of 1929' regulating expenditures and commitments by administrative bodies boards and commissions from the General Fund during a portion of each biennium."

This bill is a supplement to the Act of April 9, 1929, P. L. 177, known as "The Administrative Code of 1929." It purports to regulate expenditures and commitments by governmental agencies from the General Fund during the last three months of each biennium by providing that such expenditures and commitments shall not exceed in the aggregate one-eighth of the total sum allocated or appropriated to it for the biennium.

For example, a department having an appropriation of $2,400,000.00 would be prohibited from spending more than $300,000.00 during the last three months of the biennium.

This bill is based on the false assumption that all spending in the last three months of a biennium in excess of one-eighth of the total appropriation is wrong, although governmental agencies may have planned their expenditures in this manner.

A few illustrations will demonstrate how impracticable, unrealistic and unworkable the law would be.

For years the General Assembly has appropriated from the General Fund money to the Department of Military Affairs for disaster relief. If a disaster should occur during the last three months of the biennium, only one-eighth of the sum appropriated could be used for disaster relief although the entire appropriation might be needed.

The Department of Property and Supplies will assume or has assumed in the final months of this biennium the maintenance of several buildings such as the Pittsburgh Office Building, Labor and Industry Building, Health and Welfare Building, and the Commonwealth Garage. This results in increased expenditures, but if this bill were law the department would be unable to fully discharge its responsibilities with regard to these buildings due to a serious lack of funds. As a matter of fact, the department would have insufficient funds to pay its bills for public utilities.

The Department of Welfare is charged with the maintenance and operation of the Eastern Psychiatric Institute. Should such an institution become available for the treatment of patients during the final three months of a biennium, would it not be tragic and wasteful to delay its opening because of such an arbitrary law as this bill could be.

Can we justify delaying aid to the physically handicapped in opening the new rehabilitation center at Johnstown by enacting such a law as this bill contemplates.

The Department of Forests and Waters receives an appropriation for the extinction and control of forest fires. It is obvious the expenditure of this sum cannot be regulated by law.

The State Teachers Colleges have for years deferred all replacements, improvements and repairs until the latter part of the biennium so that they would be assured of performing their major function: to wit, the education, boarding and housing of students. This wise program would be impossible under this bill.

Other departments likewise plan their expenditures. Some departments are unable to so plan and this is particularly true where building construction programs are under way and subject to unforeseen delays, weather conditions, and other difficulties.

For years departments of the government have followed the practice of refraining from spending the full amount of their appropriation until the end of the biennium in order to be prepared for any unexpected or emergency expenditures. The purchase of equipment, furniture and other replacements was deferred in order to guard against the necessity of asking for a deficiency appropriation.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

RESOLUTION OF THE BLUE VALLEY UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT

The PRESIDENT pro tempore laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

BLUE VALLEY UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT SLATINGTON, PA.

R. R. Baugher, Supervising Principal

RESOLUTION OF THE BLUE VALLEY UNION SCHOOL DISTRICT

Whereas, the Fourth to Eighth Class County Assessment Law, approved May 21, 1943, P. L. 571, provides a means for reassessing the real estate of the said counties and for choosing a percentage of the assessment as a base for tax purposes; and

Whereas, the counties of Lehigh and Northampton have concluded a reassessment program but have determined different assessment basis, namely 30% in Lehigh County and 60% in Northampton County, and

Whereas, the Blue Valley Union School District, together with two other School Districts on the Lehigh-Northampton County line, lies in both counties and is subject, by virtue of the School Law, to levy a tax uniform in rate; and

Whereas, such a levy would be grossly unfair to the citizens involved,

Now, Therefore, this 8th day of April 1957, Be It Resolved by the School Board of the Blue Valley Union School District situate in Lehigh and Northampton Counties, that the both bodies of the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania be commended for their interest in the reassessment program, particularly as it applies to schools and that they be further requested to support House Bill 1077, giving political subdivisions lying in one county the right to choose which county's pre-determined ratio it will use for taxation purposes.

And Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of the same be forwarded to the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg.

ROBERT D. EDWARDS,
President

Attest:

ROBERT H. SIEGER,
Secretary.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. This communication will be printed in the Journal.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEMS RELATED TO THE GRANTING OF THE RIGHT TO VOTE TO CITIZENS OF THE AGE OF EIGHTEEN YEARS AND UPWARDS

Mr. VAN SANT offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, April 24, 1957.

The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes that one of the most fundamental rights and attributes of citizenship is the right to vote. Living under a system of government which is democratic in nature, it becomes important to make available the franchise to as many responsible citizens as possible. Ever since the founding of our republic, the right to vote has generally been conferred upon adult persons attaining the age of twenty-one years. Several states of the Union have lowered this age requirement, and have conferred the right to vote upon citizens of the age of eighteen years. Today, it is a recognized fact that due to world conditions, young people have had to share greatly in certain of the responsibilities of their elders. The obligation of some form of compulsory military training and the training and employment of young people for many types of jobs in industry and in government is typical of the responsibilities the youth of the Nation are having to face.

It is evident that the right to vote is a necessary concomitant to the growing role which young people have had to assume in the life of the community; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission study all facets of the problems related to the granting of the franchise to citizens of the age of eighteen years and upwards. Among the topics to be studied are: the reaction and attitude of persons between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years with respect to their desire and ability to exercise the right to vote; the reaction and attitude of persons under the age of eighteen years with respect to the purpose of voting, whether or not such recognition of the increased capabilities and responsibilities of the teen-age youth would give this large body of young people new dignity or greater arrogance; the reaction and attitude of parents, educators and political scientists on the matter; and the quantity and quality of instruction in our schools on such matters, as United States and World history, functions and science of government, and obligations and duties of good citizens; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission submit a written report in the next session of the Legislature to the Senate and the Governor, stating therewith their findings and recommendations as to whether citizens of the age of eighteen years and upwards should be granted the right to vote.

SENATE RESOLUTION

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS TO MODERNIZE AND IMPROVE THE LINCOLN

HIGHWAY BETWEEN ST. THOMAS AND FORT LOUDON AND BETWEEN GETTYSBURG AND MCKNIGHTSTOWN

Mr. ELLIOTT offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 24, 1957.

The Lincoln Highway, which extends from the east coast of the United States to the west coast, a distance of over three thousand miles, runs through Pennsylvania and forms an important part of our highway system.

The importance of this highway cannot be over emphasized, as it is an excellent alternate highway in case one or more of the seven tunnels of the Pennsylvania Turnpike are made impassable by war or sabotage or otherwise.

In recognition of the importance of keeping this highway in a good state of repair and a credit to our highway system, the Senate of Pennsylvania by a resolution adopted April 2, 1957, urged the Department of Highways to modernize a certain portion of the Lincoln Highway.

There are, however, several other short sections of the Lincoln Highway which are in dire need of repair, and which will create bottlenecks unless such repairs are undertaken. These sections are between St. Thomas and Fort Loudon in Franklin County and between Gettysburg and McKnightstown in Adams County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania urges the Department of Highways to exert every possible effort to modernize and improve those sections of the Lincoln Highway between St. Thomas and Fort Loudon and between Gettysburg and McKnightstown, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Honorable Joseph J. Lawler, Secretary of Highways.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, a letter was placed on all of the Senators' desks, headed under the name of the Pennsylvania Horse Racing Corporation. It is signed by a Mr. Charles J. Schmitt. I would like to say to the Members of the Senate that I am not a sponsor of this bill, but I have talked to two of the sponsors and they asked me to make this statement.

Mr. President, I want to apologize to the Members of the Senate for having a letter such as this placed on their desks. It certainly is not the intent of the sponsors; they do not concur in the threats and the thinking of this letter. We consider it very much out of order. Tactics like those mentioned in this letter would do nothing except help defeat this bill.

I would like to inform the gentleman that the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania do not take threats from anyone. I feel as though this letter is completely out of order, and I ask that all of the Senators ignore it due to the fact that it is not the thinking of the sponsors of this legislation. With this intent, we feel as though the bill would have no chance at all. However, it is not our intent and we feel that the people of Pennsylvania, if and when this bill is called up for a vote, would not be prejudiced by a letter of this type.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Watkins, you will notice in the second paragraph of this letter that this proponent states: "Our organization has all the earmarks of becoming a million dollar outfit."

According to the way I read the letter, and probably you will agree, does he not take the position that there is about $1,000,000 back of this bill?

Mr. WATKINS. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. LANE. If you can read the English language, how does it read to you?

Mr. WATKINS. I just take exception to the whole letter. I think the letter is crude, I think it is ridiculous and I think it is a letter which should never have been placed on the floor of this Senate. Whether they are worth five dollars, $1,000,000 or $10,000,000 and what they intend to spend, I know nothing about.

Mr. LANE. However, there is an inference in the letter that there is $1,000,000 back of this bill. Is that not true?

Mr. WATKINS. I do not see the inference, if it is there.

Mr. LANE. Well, I see it. Thank you.

RECESS

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 4:00 o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus and a Democratic Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 4:00 o'clock, p.m.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, during the last Session I called the attention of the Membership of the Senate to the stark tragedy which occurred on an island in the Delaware, when close to 600 children were marooned during the disaster of August 1955. At that time, it was impossible to rush help to these children because nobody knew where the summer camps were located. There was no registration of summer camps.

To eliminate the possibility of a recurrence of such a tragedy in the future, Mr. President, Senator Lane and I are presenting the following bill.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE INEQUITY OF THE HIGH COSTS OF PER CAPITA MAINTENANCE ASSESSED AGAINST COUNTIES FOR PERSONS FROM SUCH COUNTIES IN STATE INSTITUTIONS

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. LANE and MILLER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 24, 1957.

Rising costs of maintenance at State institutions is a problem with far reaching effects. Existing law makes it mandatory on all counties to pay current maintenance costs at State institutions for county residents in such institutions.

Costs of maintenance at comparable county institutions and State-aided institutions have been kept at a much lower level of expense to the counties than the maintenance costs for which the counties are assessed for county inmates of State institutions.

The result has been an inequitable assessment of expenses against certain counties. Those counties which are able to have their residents sent to State-aided institutions have been able to do so at much less cost than the counties sending their inmates to State institutions. The item of credit for inmate labor is not considered in arriving at the per capita maintenance rate.

The time is ripe for a complete reappraisal of this question. The costs to counties sending juveniles to State institutions is double and sometimes triple the cost to counties utilizing the facilities of State-aided institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the inequity of the high costs of per capita maintenance assessed against counties for persons from such counties in State institutions; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

An Act further amending the act approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 343) entitled "The Fiscal Code," conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Board of Deposits and the Pennsylvania Tax Review Board.

Which was committed to the Committee on Finance.

They also read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 670, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," abolishing the Board of Finance and Revenue and providing in lieu thereof for the Pennsylvania Tax Review Board and the Board of Deposits.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

I have here a letter from the President Judge of the Lackawanna County Court, Judge T. Linas Hoban. Judge Hoban is not only an outstanding lawyer and jurist, but I think many of us know he has also been a great soldier. He is a man who served with distinction in Pennsylvania's 28th Division in three wars in which our Country participated. He is presently a retired Major General of the 28th Division. Judge Hoban wrote me a few weeks ago on behalf of this bill.

Since we are studying it and it is on our Calendar, I thought perhaps over the week end some of us might want to think more about it, and perhaps his views on it would be helpful to us all in arriving at a decision. The letter is addressed to me and reads as follows:

"My dear Senator:

"The Judges of the Court of Common Pleas have asked me to indicate to you our approval of and support for Senate Bill 376. This Bill is in form an amendment to the Act creating the State Employees' Retirement System and attempts to provide a reasonable retirement plan for the judges of the Commonwealth based essentially on the contributory system. The bill is formed to overcome some of the objections raised at the last session to the retirement or pension plans for judges then before the Legislature, and I believe has done so remarkably well. The Bill has bipartisan sponsorship and we are led to believe that in form it is acceptable to the Executive.

"The Bill if approved will go far towards strengthening the independence of the judiciary in the Commonwealth and will also help to clear the Bench of disability situations brought about by advancing years and financial insecurity.

"We recommend this Bill to your serious consideration.

"Sincerely,

"T. L. Hoban

"President Judge"

Mr. President, may I add, for whatever it is worth, that I likewise recommend to fellow Senators this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, during the Easter recess, a rather interesting article appeared in the Evening Bulletin. It might have escaped the notice of some of the gentlemen of the Senate. Therefore, for their edification, I would just like to mention it very briefly.

This newspaper article was in reference to the Darcy probe which is now going on. The editorial stated, in substance, that they felt there was a great deal of sound and fury, but that absolutely nothing had been brought out. They felt nothing had been done which was deserving of criticism. They felt there was no undue political influence, nor did they find anything which would lead anyone, looking at this thing from a nonpartisan point of view, to find any fault with what had taken place.

If the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin were a partisan newspaper or had some axe to grind or had taken some position in other matters, it might be looked at with a jaundiced eye. However, Mr. President, I believe that all of us will agree that the Evening Bulletin is far, far from being a partisan newspaper. If anything, it probably leans in the direction of the gentleman sitting on the other side of this aisle.

The reason for my mentioning this is not only because of what has not been found in the probe, but also due to the fact that we are talking about a large budget. I think the question which all of us must ask ourselves when we come to the appropriation bills is, are these expenditures necessary?

We have spent $20,000 of the people's money for this probe, and in the realm of things it is probably an insignificant sum. However, that, taken along with other expenditures of that type, when added together, comes out to a rather handsome sum which could be spent for important things and things which we really need in this Commonwealth and to aid people who need certain help from the government.

It is, therefore, that I am bringing this matter to the attention of the Senators and hope that they will think about this when we talk about probes and additional money and money for other things which we probably could do without and avoid going into great and full dress hearings. I am not saying that probes are not sometimes necessary, nor am I saying that this is an unnecessary look at a part of our government. If some good recommendation comes from it, it will be well worth the money spent. However, I think we should be somewhat critical of what we are going to spend our money on and in which direction we are moving, especially at a time when funds are quite tight.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am very pleased that Senator McMenamin has seen fit to make a few remarks relative to our bill, Senate Bill No. 376, which has been on our Calendar for some time now. The reason, as Senator McMenamin has stated, that this bill has not been acted upon is because of the reluctance of some of the Senators in voting for this bill before they found out about how much it would cost and what the relationship was to the setup under the present Judges' Pension Law, together with the changes that would be made if Senate Bill No. 376 becomes law.

We are all deeply indebted today to a very able attorney of the city of Harrisburg, a friend of mine by the name of George Hafer, who has spent a great deal of time in making a breakdown analysis of this bill, pointing out some of the features of the present law relative to the retirement of judges and also what would happen if this bill becomes law. I expect to take these copies of "Judge Hafer's" comments back home with me and read them over very carefully between now and next Monday. We will also take it up in our Caucus. I hope that similar copies of this Hafer analysis may be available to the Democratic Caucus in order for them to also discuss these comments. I believe, and I hope, that after we discuss this, we will see our way clear to vote favorably on Senate Bill No. 376 next Monday when we return to the Senate Chamber.

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO SENATOR THOMAS A. EHrgOOD

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I think this will not come under the "Department of Pop Tax," but I think when young men have achievements they should be recognized, especially when the young man is a Senator.

I understand that Mrs. Ehrgood has presented the Senator from Lebanon with a fourth heir in the last twenty-four hours. I think this day should not pass without our recognizing this achievement.

Mr. EHrgOOD. Mr. President, I am certainly very, very happy today. I am very happy that Senator Hays would take this opportunity to say something about this.

Now normally I do not like to indulge in politics but, you know, sometime ago Senator Miller had an heir. Naturally, I was aware that we were going to have a baby. Then the Presiding Officer I understand will have an addition to his family. Now there is one good thing coming out of this. On this side of the Chamber, the Republicans seem to be out-producing the Democrats and I believe, as President Eisenhower stated, we are the Party of the future.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I dislike very much to take issue with the distinguished gentleman from Lebanon County, but I might say that he is just talking through his hat.

I am away ahead of you fellows. I can say that I have reared two children and now have three grand children and expect another one pretty shortly. Therefore, I think we are doing all right, too.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, April 29, 1957, at 3:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The motion was agreed to.

O Lord, our God, have mercy upon us. We freely acknowledge that the men in this representative assembly, are but children before Thee. They do not know how to come in and go out before the people of this state.

Thou hast endowed these servants of the people with such wisdom as they possess. Enable them to discern the best interests of this Commonwealth, to be united in purpose, discharging with dispatch their several responsibilities.

May this day be regarded as a sacred trust from Thee, and the closing session of this day see some worthwhile achievements accomplished.

Today then, we pray for wisdom, discernment, dispatch and for accomplishment.

In the name of Him Who is the light of life, Jesus Christ, the Lord. Amen.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I hope the Speaker and the Members of the House will indulge me. Perhaps all I desire to say may not be exactly pertinent at this time, but I believe it will have reference to future action along the lines indicated in this particular bill.

I wish to point out to the Members of this House that it is incompatible with proper practice that there should be any employe of this House who, in either prestige or salary, outranks the Speaker.

The Speakers of this House have been for years placed in a difficult position and the House has been recreant in its attitude toward them. It was possible for me as a Member of this House to move out aggressively at the last session in defense of the principle of higher compensation for the Members. I could do that because that was something in which all the Members would join if our objective were achieved.

I would have moved out in defense of the Speaker had it not been for the fact that the Speaker would have been accused of operating in his own interest. No Speaker is in a position to make the moves which place the Speaker of this House in his proper position. The Speaker of this House ranks, indeed outranks in prestige, every department head on this Hill.

We do not owe it to the Speaker to increase his remuneration; we owe it to ourselves and to the dignity of the office the Speaker occupies.

Of course, the Speaker gets $500—I think it is that sum, if I remember rightly—for being Speaker. Under our Constitution, and so forth, we cannot increase his salary during the term of office. We can increase the salary of the next Speaker and we can increase the contingent account of the present Speaker, so that in matters of compensation he will occupy an office comparable to the heads of departments.

I think we must place this question entirely out of the keeping and custody of the Speaker. He may be entitled to speak for himself, but not for future Speakers. He probably would resist any increase in his present emoluments, but irrespective of his position, without reference to his desires, I believe we should take the situation of the Speaker in so far as compensation is concerned entirely out of his hands.

In reference to the major employes of this House, irrespective of present personnel, I say the Chief Clerk of this House has an office comparable in importance to that of a bureau chief. Indeed, there are many bureau chiefs who could not competently perform the offices which we expect the Chief Clerk to perform. So whether the increases in salary carried in this bill are in keeping with the proprieties, the office of Chief Clerk of this House should be placed in its proper perspective, in its proper place, that place being equivalent to a bureau chief.

The same way with the Secretary. And I say that the Parliamentarian of this House is entitled to as much as any consultant the Governor may care to call to his assistance.

I am glad I can speak now for what two years ago the office I held forbid me to speak. So I commend the remarks I have made to the consideration of the Appropriations Committee and, when the Committee has reached its findings, to the consideration of this House.

One further thing, these people who serve us are sometimes only as good as their secretaries and administrative assistants. I would suggest that the administrative assistants and the secretaries who see to it that their chiefs perform be placed upon a basis, as far as salary is concerned, comparable with the salaries that the female employes in the Governor's office, who perform similar service, receive.

I thank the House for its attention.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to make similar remarks, which are not proper on a motion to recommit, concerning the bill which is about to be recommitted.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears none.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I believe we made a pledge on economy and that we ought to keep that pledge. I want the members of the Appropriations Committee to take that into consideration and see to it that the line is held, because if we are going to raise salaries indiscriminately for everybody in the legislative halls we will never be able to hold the line concerning the other employes of the state. I say the rank and file are entitled to 35 and 40 percent increases if we give these increases to our legislative officers.

Mr. ANDREWS. This is not the time to indulge in a debate. I will only say that this House is certainly privileged to bring the rates of compensation paid to its employes up to the level established by this House and by the administration, and by past administrations, for other departments of the state government. We have lagged behind for years. The Members have been like the gentleman from Allegheny, who said, "Give to everybody else, but don't recognize the validity and dignity of the work this House does."

So all I say is, I do not want the Members of this House or its employes shoved out ahead of the rest, but I want to bring them up even.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, first of all I would like to ask someone whether or not this particular salary increase would apply to incumbents such as the present Secretary of the House?

The SPEAKER. Is the gentleman directing his question to the Chair or to some Member of the House?

Mr. McCORMACK. To the Chair, yes, Mr. Speaker. The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman restate his question?

Mr. McCORMACK. Whether these present salary increases embodied in this Senate bill apply to incumbents?

The SPEAKER. It is the understanding of the Chair, from the knowledge he has of the bill, that it does apply to the present officeholders.

Mr. McCORMACK. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, it is rather difficult to debate against the bill, especially since we have two fine men in this House as the Secretary of the House and the Chief Clerk.

I, therefore, do not want to proceed along those lines, but I do want to point out one fact. I see there is a provision in there to increase the salary of the Senate Librarian. I do not know how this practice came about, but, of course, we Members in the House have to go to the Senate Library or to a public library to look up laws. Oftentimes it is necessary to bring back the particular laws to this House.

Many times during this session I have gone down to the first floor and tried to get a book out to bring back to the House, and I was informed by one of the Assistant Librarians that you would have to get a Senator's permission.

It is inconceivable to me why there should be any discrimination between a Member of the House and a Member of the Senate. I certainly think, before we consider raising the Senate Librarian's salary, we should get that thing adjusted.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 39, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes * * *" prohibiting the imposition of wage income or occupation taxes on non-residents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 39, which would exempt non-residents of Philadelphia from paying the Philadelphia wage tax.

I would first like to draw to the attention of the Members of this House that if this bill in its present form should become law residents of New Jersey, mainly, but also of New York, Maryland and Delaware, would be entirely exempted from the payment of this tax.

I respectfully submit to you that I do not think it is unfair to ask persons who support their families and derive their entire income, in most cases, by means of work and business in Philadelphia to support in some manner all the services and facilities which render this livelihood possible.

For it is manifest that without the existence of such a city as a core of industry and without the existence of the manifold services and facilities, such a livelihood would be impossible. At the present time we ask non-residents and residents to render support in the form of payment of a wage tax.

I would like to briefly remind our friends from our neighboring counties of a few of the services and facilities that the city of Philadelphia supplies their constituents and, for that matter, in many cases the entire state.

In a normal day when over 100,000 non-residents come to Philadelphia to earn a living, they must travel by car over streets financed and maintained by the city, or by public transportation such as subways, trolleys, buses and elevated trains, all of which are in part supported directly or indirectly by the city.

During the day their businesses and themselves are protected by the Philadelphia police and fire force. In addition to this, the non-residents enjoy the absolutely necessary water and sewage facilities which are exceedingly expensive to maintain. If they become sick or injured, medical aid is immediately available. Also, non-residents benefit from parking facilities, playgrounds, libraries, traffic control and Convention Hall, to name a few.

Two items of major benefit to non-residents of nearby counties and also the state at large are the Port of Philadelphia and the Philadelphia airport, all maintained by the city. It is estimated by competent authorities that Philadelphia airport is used more by Pennsylvanians who do not reside in Philadelphia than by Philadelphians.

The city of Philadelphia also supplies businesses in Philadelphia owned by non-residents with numerous services, including a large pool of semi-skilled and unskilled labor vital to any industry.

In short, a non-resident worker in Philadelphia spends more time and uses cities services to a greater extent than he does the services provided by his own municipality, and we do not feel it is unfair to ask him to contribute to their support.

The Sterling Act of 1932 was passed by a Republican Legislature and it gave special consideration to the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh because it was recognized at that time that the larger metropolitan areas were faced with different circumstances and problems than other cities in the Commonwealth. Basically, this is due to the fact that the core cities in the metropolitan areas hold together the entire industrial and business complex by which the entire metropolitan area lives. Thus the cost of municipal services to maintain this complex system is much higher than other municipalities.

We of the Philadelphia delegation respectfully submit that this bill is not the answer to our metropolitan problems. It may be good politics in surrounding counties, and

I note bills of this nature are non-partisan because they have been introduced by both Republicans and Democrats in this House, but in the last analysis the short term political advantage may in the long run be detrimental to non-residents and the people of the state at large.

If this bill becomes law, it will cost the City of Philadelphia $12 million in loss of tax revenue. Somebody must pay this bill, or we must discontinue absolutely necessary services, which we all know is impossible at the present time, or we must ask for more assistance from the state of Pennsylvania.

Since the wage tax and the real estate tax are the only major tax sources available to the city, it will force a staggering increase in the real estate tax in Philadelphia, and this will have been effected by a Republican Legislature. This will fall most heavily upon the businesses that employ non-residents and which in many cases are owned by non-residents of Philadelphia. There are, indeed, several Members of this House who would find themselves in this category.

In closing I would like to point out that we do not force non-residents to work in Philadelphia. Non-residents are fortunate to be able to enjoy suburban living. We of Philadelphia wish them well, but we would caution that legislation such as this may kill or severely damage the goose that lays the golden eggs of income which permit them to enjoy such suburban living.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in favor of this bill. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, the bill under consideration this afternoon seeks to exempt those Pennsylvanians who live in the suburban counties from paying a wage tax to the City of Philadelphia. This does not apply to Pittsburgh, it applies to Philadelphia. This is not the same bill which applies to other municipalities in the Commonwealth, this is not, I repeat, Act No. 481 of 1947. This is the Sterling Act passed in 1932. Under Act No. 481 passed in 1947 where a municipality imposes a wage tax and non-residents work in that municipality, those non-residents can be exempted from the wage tax if their home community imposes a wage tax. I repeat, this is not an attempt to interfere with Act No. 481 of 1947.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Pomeroy, talked of the many hundred thousand or so employes who work in Philadelphia and live without the city of Philadelphia. May I repeat that in the suburban counties we have ten, and probably even as many as one hundred thousand employes who work in the suburban counties and live in the city of Philadelphia and are not paying any wage tax to the suburban counties.

Under the Sterling Act if a community in the County of Delaware were to impose its own wage tax on Philadelphians who work in that community, that same Philadelphian would be paying two wage taxes, one to the community in which he worked and one to the community in which he resided. That would be double taxation, and that is one reason why the communities in the suburban counties have not imposed any wage taxes, because one wage tax is bad enough, two would be too many, and the city of Philadelphia receives preferential treatment under the Sterling Act over the rest of the state of Pennsylvania.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has remarked as to the Delaware Countians, the Montgomery countians and other non-residents who use the streets of the City of Philadelphia. May I call to his attention that that is a two-edged sword. Philadelphia residents use our streets. We have quite a few of them who get in the courts of the suburban counties. They are afforded police and fire protection—the thing goes two ways. We are not demanding from Philadelphia residents tribute for the right to earn their daily bread.

I am not going to talk about the fallacy of a wage tax. I do not favor any wage tax. I join some of my brethren on the other side of this corridor who feel that a wage tax is a vicious tax, but I am going back to the beginning of this country, I am going back to the Boston Tea Party. I am not suggesting that there is going to be a Philadelphia Tea Party, but when we go back to the foundations of this republic we find in the Declaration of Independence one of the injustices which caused the revolution was “for imposing taxes on us without consent.” We find throughout the growth of this country the phrase, “Taxation without representation is tyranny.” The American citizen is taxed, but he is usually taxed through his elected representatives. By that means he can control the ways in which the money is spent. Let us come back to this Boston Tea Party idea. Down on the banks of the Delaware there is a tea party brewing which can be called the Philadelphia Navy Yard Tea Party. In the Philadelphia Navy Yard, and I have in my possession a letter, which was written to the United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, which relates an experience of the hospitality of the City of Brotherly Love. I have in my hands a letter which relates the hospitality of the City of Brotherly Love to a non-resident taxpayer. On Tuesday afternoon of a certain week this gentleman was advised in the Philadelphia Navy Yard that he would be called for by one of the local Navy Yard policemen. This was at 2:30 p. m. He was placed in a station wagon with five or six others who had not paid their Philadelphia wage tax. They were carted to the gate at about 3:30 p. m. where they, incidentally, were transferred into a Philadelphia police car—whether it was a sheriff’s van or not I do not know—and they arrived at City Hall. This gentleman had with him $300 in United States Savings Bonds, and I understand they require $300 cash bond in an arrest of this type, but they would not take the Savings Bonds and this gentleman was then removed to Moyamensing Prison. At Moyamensing Prison he was permitted one telephone call to his family. The family was out, and he was not permitted the use of a telephone again until Thursday. In other words, he was incarcerated in a cell on Tuesday and released on Thursday when one of his family found out where he was.

Ladies and gentlemen, I do not know what the custom is in other parts of this Commonwealth. I do not think they arrest a man who does not pay his income tax, they only arrest him if he falsifies his return. In my own district I know a number of people who have not paid income taxes to the Federal government, but they did not go to jail. Their property was liened. But under an old Act of the Assembly the hospitality of the City of Brotherly Love is extended to the non-resident by placing him in Moyamensing Prison if he does not pay his wage tax. I say that is not a proper custom.

The gentleman from Philadelphia mentioned the factor of business. Let me warn the city of Philadelphia that the County of Delaware, to my own knowledge, is acquiring quite a few industries and businesses from the city of Philadelphia because the non-residents who hold executive posts in those businesses are sore about this wage tax, and because of that factor they are taking their businesses out of the city of Philadelphia. Again, this can be a two-headed sword.

In conclusion, I would like today to condemn the practice of the city of Philadelphia of waging tribute on the right of a man to earn his daily bread. I ask that everyone join with us in voting in favor of the present bill.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 39, Printer's No. 259. After all this eloquent speaking from our good friend from Delaware County and also my colleague, Mr. Pomeroy, I wish to state that I will oppose House Bill 39. I feel that anyone, whether they live in the city of Philadelphia or live outside of Philadelphia, earning Philadelphia dollars should pay Philadelphia pennies.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, is it true, as Mr. Pomeroy put it, that this bill in its present form would not only exempt non-residents from neighboring counties, but also non-residents who reside outside of the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. BELL. I believe that is correct.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Does the gentleman think that is proper?

Mr. BELL. I think it would be just.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. In other words, the gentleman feels that a person who earns his livelihood in Pennsylvania, in the City of Philadelphia, whether he lives in New Jersey or whether he lives in Delaware County, should not pay any taxes here?

Mr. BELL. I think that a man who lives in Philadelphia should not have to pay taxes to the city of Camden, either.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that by agreement with the city of Philadelphia there are some townships out in Delaware County that have their sewage disposed of by the city of Philadelphia without cost to your county or the various townships out there?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if that is true, that is news to me. I recall very vividly in the last session a gentleman from Delaware County, who is no longer with us, was telling us how much they were paying for these services. It was my impression that they were paying through the nose.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, some of the comments by Mr. Bell might sound all right, but I just introduced a bill yesterday.

A man by the name of Clancy, who lives down in Philadelphia was treated very badly in Delaware County. He was convicted of forgery in Delaware County, served four years and was then exonerated after serving the four years because somebody else admitted he had committed the crime, not our friend Clancy. That happened in Delaware County, a case of mistaken identity.

But I do not chastise Delaware County because something like that happened. That could happen any place. The occurrence Mr. Bell spoke of, the gentleman from the Navy Yard who went to Moyamensing, might happen to a resident of Philadelphia who neglected to pay his tax.

So I think that is completely immaterial to the issue.

Some of the things we ought to know about the services that Philadelphia renders, we have a nice library in Philadelphia, we have a nice zoo in Philadelphia, we have a nice art museum in Philadelphia and we have many theaters in Philadelphia. I am sure, if I asked Mr. Bell the question, he has visited those free institutions on many occasions, as I am sure many residents from Montgomery County and Delaware County have, and gotten the same benefit out of those facilities as the taxpayers in the City of Philadelphia have gotten.

I think that is a very cogent and valid argument why the City of Philadelphia should be permitted to tax non-residents of the city who have complete use of all those facilities as well as the other items which have been mentioned by Mr. Pomeroy such as the use of our streets, the protection of our fire and police department and the ability to earn their livelihood in our city, which I think is extremely important.

Mr. TOLL. I yield to Mr. Silverman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silverman.

Mr. SILVERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if the gentleman from Delaware County realizes that the latest trend in urban thinking is that you cannot have strong suburbs without having a very strong city and that he is really speaking against the interests of his own community when he advocates this bill.

Let me state this, the airport of Philadelphia is used more by the suburbanites than Philadelphians. They come from all parts of the state and they use the facilities.

Again I might state, you cannot have a strong suburban community without having a strong city. As far as the philosophy of the wage tax is concerned, I think the gentleman should be cognizant of the fact that the party which introduced that tax had been very strong and victorious in Philadelphia.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, may I point out that the growth and the strength of the county represented by Representative Bell is largely due to the moving of the people from West Philadelphia and other parts of the city to Delaware County when the city supported the extension of the high speed line, the elevated which went to a place called "69th Street." Today Upper Darby township has, I think, 13 wards and over 100,000 people. In other words, the very growth of our city has contributed to the strength which exists today both in Delaware County and in Montgomery County.

Secondly, may I point out in connection with the problem relating to taxation without representation that the people who have summer homes, people who smoke cigarettes, people who buy gasoline, they are, are all paying taxes, but they do not have representation in the places where they have their summer homes, in the places where they buy their cigarettes or in the places where they buy their gasoline.

Furthermore, let me point out that in Philadelphia the budget for public safety is within one percent equal to the amount which is received from income taxes. We receive 26 per cent of the city budget from income taxes and we spend 25 percent for public safety.

Another argument which was raised by my friend from Delaware County related to the fact that his people may be subjected to double taxation. In other words, if Delaware County imposed a tax on incomes, they would have to pay the Philadelphia tax and the Delaware County tax. I want to call your attention to the fact that that is not exactly so for this reason, the "tax anything" law provides that if there is a tax imposed in a county which precedes the date of the "tax anything" law the county which imposes the income tax shall not impose the amount which is paid in the city of Philadelphia, for instance, under the Sterling Act.

Therefore, if Delaware County under Act 481 imposed the limit which is permitted under 481 of one percent on an income tax, no Delaware County resident who works in Philadelphia and pays the Philadelphia income tax would have to pay the Delaware County income tax.

I have here an opinion of our Department of Law which was rendered in 1953 to the Mayor of Philadelphia at the time when this same bill was debated in this same House, and in which I am glad to say I participated, when this House turned that bill down.

Let me finally conclude with this observation which was written in 1953 by John M. Cummings, that is "Cap" Cummings of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who lives in Horsefeathers, Montgomery County, maintains his home there and works in the city of Philadelphia. Let me tell you what "Cap" Cummings says and which he says is a bed rumor. Listen to this, this is very funny:

"As a bed rumor we should be delighted to spend the rest of our days at Horsefeathers. Unfortunately, the section in which this agricultural experimental station is located is devoid of a great newspaper plant where we could play on a typewriter with a fair prospect of seeing the end result in print. This being the case, we are downright happy to make our small contribution to the town in which we earn our daily bread."

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in defense of this bill.

I, too, represent one of the fringe counties which happens to border on Philadelphia. I was very much interested when Mr. Pomeroy made his statement that they do not force, meaning Philadelphia does not force, the people to come to work in the city of Philadelphia.

I would say in answer to Mr. Pomeroy, who stands to profit better by the labor that comes into Philadelphia from the surrounding counties than does Philadelphia itself? I think they contribute a great deal to the progress and the prosperity of the city of Philadelphia.

There is written in a law book, which is a far better law book than you, or I, or any of our predecessors have ever written, a sentence which says, "Every laborer is worthy of his hire." I think you all recognize the book about which I speak. That does not say where the laborer shall earn his hire nor does it say what he shall do with it in the way of taxation or what he shall be taxed.

I firmly believe that taxes are needed in the community in which the residents reside. Many of these surrounding communities of which I am especially thinking at the present time are in the lower end of Bucks. They are young communities with fantastic growth. They have many problems of their own and the taxes which come into those communities are very essential to maintain their facilities and to maintain their institutions. These communities are young and they are struggling with their own problems. They need all the taxaton that is obtainable. They have school construction, housing, sewerage, hospitals, and so forth, to maintain and they need this tax money, as I said before, back in their own districts.

I feel an income tax to be paid by them to the city of Philadelphia is unjustified and inequitable and I rise to ask the House to please, for the sake of our surrounding counties, support this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it is difficult listening to the debate pro and con on this bill to decide whether or not it actually is an inequity on the part of non-residents to pay the tax. I am not convinced in my mind that it is entirely equitable that they should pay to a city where they do not reside, but I must vote against this bill because, very frankly, the city of Philadelphia needs this $11 or $12 million in revenue without which it would have to curtail needed and essential services.

Therefore, I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. HEAVEY. Mr. Speaker, the sponsors of this bill are from Delaware County, I see. I do not know how old they are, but I would like to give them some ancient history.

Congressman Wolfenden was their Congressman and he sold the city of Philadelphia his ground for $1 million and the city of Philadelphia built the Cobbs Creek Parkway, also in Delaware County as well as Philadelphia County.

They built the elevated railroad to 69th and Market, when there was nothing out there but fields. Today that is a thriving, booming community, with the help of that elevated railroad. They built trolley and bus lines to Delaware County. They built an $8 million sewage disposal plant which can serve Delaware County. I do not see why the people of Delaware County should feel too bad about the people of Philadelphia. They have done a wonderful job for them, especially in my district. A lot of people in my district have moved to Delaware County. I didn't see them standing out there pushing them back or holding them back. They were glad to get them. Today they have a thriving community with the help of Philadelphia. I do not see where they have any gripe against Philadelphia.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a lot here this afternoon about roads, services, water and what have you. I might say in the County of Delaware I think we can match very favorably all those facilities with the County of Philadelphia and we have no disposition to impose a tax on any of their people who might work in Delaware County, and I am sure the other surrounding counties feel the same way. We have no fight with them.

I might say when this debate started I was afraid it was going to be strictly an intra-party fight between the Republicans. I am glad some of the minority have spoken. I might remind them they have a chance on the floor of this House this afternoon to be consistent on our tax bills which have become law. I do not recall a vote for one of these measures by the minority party from the city of Philadelphia.

This bill will take taxes off people from the surrounding counties and if the ladies and gentlemen from Philadelphia in the minority party want to be consistent, then certainly they will vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, brought out the fact that if this tax is removed, how will Philadelphia meet its budget?

First of all, this tax will not be effective until the end of this year. Now, a few words of sage wisdom if I may pat myself on the back, one way to balance a budget is to reduce spending.

I don't know how good Mr. McCormack's memory is but I have a very good memory of the present Mayor of Philadelphia proposing the construction of an ape house costing around $700,000 in the zoo, and at that time it was current talk in Delaware county how much of the money was coming from Delaware county non-resident wage taxpayers to pay for that ape house.

Fortunately there were other members in Mr. Dilworth's party that put a little more sense in his head, and I would like to suggest that if the present administration in the city of Philadelphia can not have a budet supported by taxes on their own people why does not the present Mayor stand aside because there are plenty of other capable Democrats, plenty of other capable Republicans in the city of Philadelphia who are certainly going to make a try at balancing the budget without the type of taxes that are imposed on nonresidents.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Isaacs evidently does not have as good a memory as Mr. Bell. I say that because the wage and profits tax of the city of Philadelphia, which was imposed I believe in 1939, was strictly a Republican measure, the so-called majority party who no longer are the majority party in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. Yes, sir, as long as they are not lawyer's questions.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I want to inform the gentleman that there will be no lawyer's questions because I am not a lawyer.

I would like to ask the gentleman what amount of the wage tax in Philadelphia is being placed on his people in Delaware county?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I cannot give that information to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett. I am willing to take any figure the Democratic Members from Philadelphia County say, because if they say it is a whole lot that makes it even worse. If they say it is very little, then they will not miss it.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, maybe the gentleman could answer the question if I changed it a little. What percentage of tax is paid by those in Philadelphia and those in Delaware County?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, if we may take a rather authoritative source, the Daily News, which is a very dependable newspaper, in this morning's edition they say it is $15 million a year paid by non-residents. I am sure that article is very carefully written.

Mr. LOVETT. I want to know, Mr. Speaker, what the limit is under the Sterling Act that they can tax?

Mr. BELL. One and a half per cent is presently imposed.

Mr. LOVETT. Then, Mr. Speaker, would it be possible for them to enact a wage tax for one per cent in Delaware County which would be deducted from that which you pay in Philadelphia?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, announced that in 1953 he had a decision or a ruling from the legal department of the city of Philadelphia that municipalities in Delaware County could so impose a tax, that was news to me. I am not qualified to give you a definite answer. I have never understood it to be such, and I think before I would be ready to admit it I would want to have counsel from some of the municipalities in Delaware County give a ruling.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The wage tax in Pennsylvania is a bad tax. Everybody knows it. It has us in a muddle and it will continually have us in a muddle as long as it exists.

This quarrel which has come before us today has been here many times. I have always voted to support this type of legislation. I have even gone so far in this particular session of the Legislature as to try to amend the Sterling Act and amend Act No. 481 to include not only earned income but unearned income.

If you want to make it fair, at least fair—you will never make a wage tax fair in Pennsylvania, not with the present system that we work under today, but at least you should trot out those amendments I have introduced and tax unearned income the same as you tax earned income. Those amendments were for Act 481 and the Sterling Act.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, very briefly I want to clarify my remarks on this bill. They seem to have been misunderstood by the lady, whom I esteem very much, from Bucks County.

First of all, we welcome all labor coming into Philadelphia and my remarks were not meant to cast any aspersions on their ability or our desire to have them in Philadelphia. We certainly do desire them, we just feel they should support some of the facilities that make a good living possible for them in Philadelphia.

Secondly, there is not a thing in this bill which will change the ability of the counties surrounding Philadelphia to raise additional revenue. If this is the case, let us get down to the cause and let us consider the Sterling Act and not pass an act such as this.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. McCORMACK, AMARANDO and McGEE.

HOUSE BILL No. 634 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 634, Printer's No. 226, on page 7 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 634.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 634, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "First Class City Home Rule Act" approved April 21, 1949 (P. L. 665) imposing limitations on the salary of members of city council or other legislative body.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 634, amends the Home Rule Act of 1949 and inserts a provision in it restricting councilmen of cities of the first class from raising their own salaries in office, and it also, in effect, requires the amendment to the city charter to go on the ballot at the next municipal election following the passage of the bill.

As you know, there has been a reform movement in the city of Philadelphia dating back beyond 1949 when through a series of acts and constitutional amendments the city of Philadelphia was consolidated by abolishing the county offices, and subsequent to that there was an adoption of the charter. All of that was with the idea of eliminating the many problems brought to the Legislature by Philadelphians. It was thought that this great city of Philadelphia should be given home rule because the Legislature was not competent to deal with the problems. When I say not competent, I mean they were not acquainted with the problems as the Council and the Mayor of the city of Philadelphia were. Everyone, I think, back in the sessions when the Acts were passed was in agreement that it was good legislation. Both sides of the fence supported it. I stand here and think to myself, why should I try to protect the Republican party from its own folly? During the last session of the Legislature I made similar remarks and I warned you of the dire consequences which would follow if you continued to meddle in politics in Philadelphia. I said to you Members of the majority party, who were at that time the minority party, that the issue in Philadelphia to be decided by the people in the ensuing elections for many years to come would be which party has given the city good government. It was on that issue alone that the people of Philadelphia elected the Democratic party.

I do not know whether it is significant or not, but the Republican party in the city of Philadelphia has been discredited time and again, and it is amazing to me that you Republican Members of the Legislature time after time come into this House and vote for legislation for which you know the people of Philadelphia will punish you on election day. You know they will support the Democrats. Despite that fact you go along with it. This bill which is on the calendar today was brought out of committee the day after Wilbur Hamilton, the Chairman of the Republican party in the city of Philadelphia, came up here. I do not know whether that is significant or not, but it seems to me that it has played a very large part. I know of the pressure being exerted on committee members to get legislation pertaining to Philadelphia—and when I say "legislation," I mean bad legislation—out of these committees.

It is commendable that the chairmen of those committees have resisted the pressure despite the laments of the politicians. They know the legislation these certain few individuals are interested in is legislation which is against the spirit of home rule which we gave to the city of Philadelphia. This legislation conceivably, if we did not have home rule, would be good, because there are very few organic laws or charters that do not contain the provision that during a term in office an officer, an elected official, cannot raise his salary. That provision is in the Constitution of Pennsylvania and it is good.

But, I submit to you, that is not the issue today. The issue today is home rule, and this bill is dramatically opposed to home rule. Who is in favor of this bill? Who is in favor of it? The League of Women Voters are not in favor of it, they are for home rule. I know that because they published a pamphlet, and I quote, inter alia, from page 6 of the pamphlet published by the League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania, November 1956, entitled "Everybody's Business—The State Constitution." They say:

"The work of our General Assembly might be greatly improved if it had fewer decisions to make concerning local government. At an earlier period the legislature perhaps had the time to consider in detail the affairs of local communities. As local government has grown both in quantity and complexity, the legislature is no longer able to do so. In the last legislative session, 1131 bills affecting local government were introduced. Three hundred and twenty-six of these became law, representing 39% of the acts of the 1955-56 session."

The League of Women Voters are against it.

The Citizens' Charter Committee which certainly by no stretch of the imagination can be considered Democratic, has published a pamphlet of March 25, 1957. It is entitled "Citizen's Business" and it is published by the Bureau of Municipal Research and the Pennsylvania Economy League. These organizations, these great civic organizations, are interested not in their own selfish motives, but in good government, and I say to you that this, gentlemen, is the issue. They say that home rule is at stake. I do not want to belabor you with this, but I want to tell you again that they are absolutely against this bill.

John Calpin, an astute political writer for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, and John, I say this in all sincerity, is by no stretch of the imagination Democratic in his thinking. John has been warning the Republican party for years about good government and how they are losing votes by not getting on the bandwagon. I do not know why I am telling you gentlemen this, because this means votes, voting against legislation like this has got to give you votes in the city of Philadelphia. John says, and I am going to take the liberty of quoting from a part of what he says:

Now, the Republicans who profess to be interested in good government, are working against home rule in the Legislature. They are trying to have the General Assembly whittle away powers clearly in the hands of the city.

For example, State Representatives Lee, Brucker, Miller and Carson, all Philadelphia Republicans, have proposed House Bill 634—which is the bill we are debating—seeking to amend the home rule act by inserting a clause banning councilmen from raising their own salaries during their term of office.

Regardless of the merits of the hassle over whether councilmen should give themselves a raise, which surely is debatable—and parenthetically I agree with that, it is debatable * * * it would seem that the charter gives them the right to do so.

To get around this, the GOP legislators would have the Legislature order a referendum in the city to put the question to the voters. They would amend a legislative act, applicable to all "cities of the first class" by having only the people of one city vote on it.

Of course, only Philadelphia is a city of the first class, but Philadelphia legislators don't even have control of the committee which deals with strictly city legislation.

It would seem that if the Legislature were given the right to order amendments, it would open the floodgates. The present clauses in the home rule act for amendments to a city charter are sufficiently strong—and complete—without adding a politically minded Legislature to the setup. No one has ever seen a Legislature, a Congress or a City Council which was not politically minded.

I have before me a release dated Thursday, April 4, 1957, from the Citizens' Charter Committee, which is another great civic organization in the City of Philadelphia, and again I emphasize that these men on this Charter Committee are not Democrats. As a matter of fact, one of the co-Chairmen was the Republican standard bearer against our present Mayor of Philadelphia, Richardson Dilworth, and I want to read to the House what he says about this legislation. Mark my words, Thacher Longstreth, the Republican candidate for Mayor of the City of Philadelphia, is a smart man and he is an astute politician, he is going places.

Let me read you the wisdom of his words:

"Three bills in Harrisburg would if passed, grievously damage the concept and operation of House Rule in Philadelphia.

House Bill 557 would fix the maximum hours of work for Philadelphia's police, firemen and park guards at 40 hours a week.

House Bill 683 would set a minimum salary of $5,500 a year, after 3 continuous years of service, for policemen, firemen and park guards."

This is Thacher Longstreth, the Republican candidate.

House Bill 634 would amend the Home Rule Act of 1949 so as to require Philadelphia to vote on an amendment to its Home Rule Charter regarding the salaries of City Councilmen.

Each of these bills seeks to force and compel the City government and the citizens of Philadelphia to do things which they could have done, but chose not to do, under the Home Rule powers granted many years ago to Philadelphia's government and citizens. "We therefore call on the General Assembly of Pennsylvania to defeat this legislation.

"The Citizens' Charter Committee has made no analysis as to how the City government could find the extra funds which would be needed, were these bills to be enacted into law. Nor have we studied the salaries and workweek of similar employees in other large cities. We suspect that individual members of our Committee would have varying views as to the desirability of the proposed wage increases, workweek decreases, and the proposals placing a limitation on Council's right to increase salaries of its own members."

Now this is the most important part of this message, ladies and gentlemen:

"Our opposition to the legislation is based on the precise and simple fact that the three bills deal with problems of Philadelphia's internal management, on which the Legislature of Pennsylvania has already granted Philadelphia the power to act. We, therefore, state as strongly as possible that the passage of this legislation would constitute unwarranted and unnecessary interference with Philadelphia's Home Rule powers and Home Rule Charter.

"Again, we urge the defeat of House Bills 557, 683 and 634.

"Robert C. White,
W. Thacher Longstreth,
Co-Chairmen."

Those are pears of wisdom which I think it would be foolish for you Members of the majority party not to adopt, because I guarantee you, if you pass bills like this pertaining to Philadelphia, you will never have a Republican administration in the city of Philadelphia. That is absolute. No question about it. I think even one of the sponsors, Mr. Lee, will probably admit that. So be careful in your vote.

I do not want to go into the constitutional aspect of this, and I think there are some serious constitutional objections. The first one is, under our Constitution the Legislature is not permitted to pass a law impairing the obligation of a contract.

It seems to me that a municipal ordinance is that sort of a contract. Since this bill would have a retroactive effect and apply, if the people of the city of Philadelphia pass it, it might violate that provision of our state Constitution.

I could go on and debate other aspects of this, but I do not want to take too much of your time. I want to caution you as a final wrd, if you want the city of Philadelphia to stay Democratic, then support this bill. If you want the Republicans in again, vote to knock it down.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I rise also to oppose the bill.

I am not going to go into many of the arguments that were presented by Mr. McCormack, but present a few other points which he has not mentioned.

We have in Philadelphia a city council composed of 17 members. Bear in mind that the population of the city is over 2 million. So we have a small city council attending to the needs of a tremendously large city with a population of over 2 million people. This city council sits every week throughout the year. The city councilmen attend committee meetings, and there are many of them, they attend caucuses, public hearings, they have many public appearances. They meet with department heads and are constantly reviewing the financial needs of the various city departments. Of course, very important is the fact that our councilmen, just like ourselves, are constantly meeting with constituents. I say to you that our city council is a very busy, body engaged in the public welfare.

Let us look at some of the other salaries. During the last few sessions we here in Harrisburg have been raising salaries of many of our local Philadelphia figures. Judges' salaries have gone up, the salary of the prothonotary, clerk of quarter sessions, and many of the local county offices in Philadelphia have gone up. Our city department heads each get $15,000 a year and upwards. Is it unreasonable to give our city councilmen $12,000? On this very calendar today we considered a bill, Senate Bill 377, which was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee, concerning the Chief Clerk and the other officers in the Senate and the House. The Senate passed that by 50 to 0. It seems to me that if you consider their work comparatively with the work of the city councilmen in Philadelphia, they are entitled to $12,000.

Last year the Philadelphia City Council had introduced 1100 bills. Of that number 700 went through. 700 bills last year passed by the Philadelphia City Council. That is a lot of work.

When this very pay raise was being considered in City Council at a public hearing, the Republican City Chairman, Wilbur Hamilton, got up and said he felt that city councilmen should get at least $15,000, with the President of City Council getting $20,000. Yes, that was the Republican City Chairman. But he takes the position today that $12,000 is too much. Why the about-face? Obviously, he thinks it is smart politics.

We hear sometimes the phrase that some of our councilmen are part-time councilmen. The finger was pointed at some of the councilmen who are businessmen, we have five businessmen on our City Council, some are professional men on City Council, we have six professional people, including one clergyman, and five others who have no other source of income. Let me say it is important that City Council in Philadelphia and every legislative body have a cross section of the entire community. It is good for the city, it is good for the state, to contain people from every walk of life.

When you bear in mind the tremendous population with the small city council and the tremendous burden on these people, if you care to take the trouble you can check and see, all these councilmen are putting in more than a day's work.

I would like to mention just a few of the significant ordinances that were passed during the last year, 1956, by the City Council.

City Council passed an ordinance which would end gouging on parking lots in Philadelphia and enforce the collection of the parking lot tax.

Also, City Council, after many, many hearings, gave consent to the State Department of Highways for the Delaware Expressway. Many routes were considered, many hearings were held, a great deal of consideration was given to this subject.

Also, the towing ordinance was passed. Because of the tremendous traffic in towntown Philadelphia the police have been authorized to tow cars away during rush hours. This was a very debatable subject which gave the councilmen a lot of work.

Also, Council passed a bill creating a Reception Center for the mentally ill, a subject with which we are vitally concerned today. City Council passed a bill creating an office of development coordinator.

City Council passed many other worthwhile bills, but I am mentioning only a few. I say to you that City Council is doing a job in Philadelphia. The Councilmen are entitled to $12,000 a year, a salary which is in keeping with the present trend of salaries which are being paid Legislators and the department heads in the city and the state.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make probably the shortest speech on record, just five words. This is a pinch bill.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak briefly, if I may, on this bill.

I do not think to the present time the bill has been discussed on the floor of the House. I do not think anybody has tried to explain what it does, and I would like to take the opportunity to do that, if I may.

In November of 1955 the City Councilmen in Philadelphia ran for election for a term of four years. That term commenced on January 1st of 1956.

It is important to remember that most of the present Councilmen were also members of the previous Council and the great majority of the members of the present City Council in Philadelphia have had four years prior experience at a salary of $9,000 a year as provided in the Philadelphia Home Rule Charter.

Most of these men ran for reelection and the others ran for election for a $9,000 a year job. They took office on January 1, 1956, and at their first opportunity, which was in November of 1956 when the budget for 1957 would be considered, they sat down in their caucus and voted to increase their own salary from $9,000 a year to $12,000 a year. There has been a lot of talk about how much work these Councilmen do in Philadelphia.

On the other hand, these fellows went into this thing with their eyes open. They knew the job paid $9,000 a year and I do not think there was any excuse for them to change their salary to $12,000 a year at the very first opportunity.

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, referred to the question of the obligation of contracts. I do not think the question of impairing the obligation of contracts has anything to do with this particular bill, but as long as contracts have been brought into it, it seems to me that if not legally, at least morally, there was a contract entered into by these councilmen to serve for four years at $9,000 a year and not go around behind the backs of the people in the city of Philadelphia and raise their salary to $12,000 a year.

The bill before us, House Bill 634, makes an amendment to the first class city Home Rule Act. That amendment is very simple. It provides that as to any future charter adopted under that Act the charter must contain the same limitation that is in the state Constitution as far as the Members of this Assembly are concerned, to wit, that they cannot raise their salary during the term for which they have been elected.

As far as that is concerned, that would only apply to another city charter which was adopted at some time in the future. The bill further provides that the question of the present raise should be submitted to a vote of the people of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. Speaker, in my mind there cannot be any better home rule than referring this matter to the voters of the city of Philadelphia. I think it is very interesting because, if the truth be known, Mr. Wilbur Hamilton and the Members of the Republican party in the City of Philadelphia would have much rather had city council agree itself to submit this matter to a vote of the people in the City of Philadelphia.

On January 17, 1957, Resolution No. 125 was introduced into the City Council of Philadelphia which would have provided exactly the same type of referendum which is provided for in House Bill 634. Despite repeated demands and all sorts of efforts to get consideration of this Resolution, or a similar Resolution sponsored by Democrats in City Council, City Council has absolutely and adamantly refused to place the matter on the ballot so that the people could have the opportunity of voting, as a result of which this legislation was introduced here in Harrisburg.

This bill is very simple, Mr. Speaker, and I think despite all the talk about some constitutional objections, and so forth and so on, and also the talk about the Members of this House not being able to pass upon the problems of the city of Philadelphia, there is one thing that remains clear.

The Members of this House have the ability to answer this question because this is not a great legal question, this is a very simple question in morals. If you are able to distinguish the difference between right and wrong, you can vote intelligently on this particular bill.

I ask all the Members on both sides of the House to vote to give the people of the city of Philadelphia an opportunity to say whether or not these Councilmen should continue to have the right to raise their own salaries. I have no doubt as to what the people of Philadelphia will say, because these Councilmen in Philadelphia have demonstrated that they are more interested in the emoluments of office than the opportunity of public service which they have been afforded by being elected to that high office.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, this bill represents another example of the Philadelphia Republicans coming up to Harrisburg to help after they have taken another licking in the city of Philadelphia.

Look at the kind of question they want to submit to the people of Philadelphia on page 3 of this bill. The question they want to be put on the ballot is, "Shall the Philadelphia Home Rule Charter be amended by adding the following thereto 'No member of city council or other legislative body shall during the term for which he may have been elected receive or continue to receive under any ordinance heretofore passed'—they are going back—"any increase of salary under any ordinance passed during such term or within ninety (90) days prior to the commencement of such term."

Obviously, they are trying to make it retroactive. They are trying to take away from poor Dr. Kolankiewicz, who served up here for 14 years and finally got elected to City Council, the $3,000 extra dollars he got. You fellows remember Kolankiewicz and how hard he worked in the Assembly. He works three times as hard down there in Philadelphia. He is a councilman-at-large.

Here is what I want to call to your attention. You know what the Republicans could have done if they wanted this considered by the Philadelphia people? They could have gone out and obtained 20,000 signatures. That is the way we can amend our charter: They could have gotten 20,000 citizens of Philadelphia to sign their names and put it on a ballot. They did not do it. They knew very well they only have three members on our City Council and the Democrats have 14. So do they submit a resolution to have our City Council make the change? They knew that they could not do it that way. The only possible way they could have done it was by going out and getting 20,000 signatures. That they did not do. Instead, they came up to Harrisburg, they challenge the principle of home rule, which is deeply imbedded in the hearts of every one of the rural Members here. If you challenge home rule now and knock it out of the box as far as Philadelphia is concerned, you are starting a war on your own home rule problems. You are going to bring home rule problems up here, you are going to have the Legislature once more delve into these questions, you are going to have your own county commissioners' and your own city council problems added right on the floor.

I think for your own self-preservation and the fact that the Philadelphia Republicans cannot get 20,000 signatures, apparently, to bring it before the people, you should vote against this bill.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I offer this clarification on the provisions of the Home Rule Act: It is true that you can go out and get 20,000 signatures on a petition to get one of these questions put on the ballot; but you can get 150,000 signatures, and unless City Council in Philadelphia passes the necessary legislation to put that on the ballot, it will not go on the ballot.

In this particular case we offered the resolution and they have vehemently refused to put it on the ballot. I think that it is a reasonable assumption if we went to the trouble to go out and get 20,000 signatures and submitted it to them, they would not put it on the ballot that way either.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, the last speaker, Mr. Lee, points out a certain resolution offered by councilman Hamilton. I have a statement here over the signature of James H. J. Tate, President of the City Council, to the following effect:

"Everyone in City Council knows that when the question of salary increases was being studied prior to the introduction of the measure, both Councilman Hamilton and Councilman Schwartz offered to co-sponsor the legislation. The Democratic majority refused this very kind offer because it preferred to take sole responsibility for the action as the majority party."

On the question recurring.
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. GELFAND, BRETH and TOLL.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 976, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) enlarging the jurisdiction of magistrates in cities of the first class for violation of summary provisions of the act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Lee, from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lee, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EILBERG. I should like to know the purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. The purpose of this bill, Mr. Speaker, is as a matter of good housekeeping to make an amendment to the Vehicle Code to eliminate in the city of Philadelphia the requirement for taking a traffic violator before the nearest available magistrate. It is in effect a companion bill to the Traffic Court Bill which was House Bill 165 previously passed by the House.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, does not House Bill 165 contain the provision that is set forth in this bill which is underlined on page three?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. The answer to that question, Mr. Speaker, is yes, it does contain that provision, and the section of the Vehicle Code would be repealed by implication as far as the city of Philadelphia is concerned. However, as a matter of good housekeeping, and at the suggestion of the Bar Association of Philadelphia, we have also made this amendment to the Vehicle Code so that someone looking at the Vehicle Code will be aware of this situation in the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. EILBERG. Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker, that you cannot amend one act by amending another act?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. That is correct.

Mr. EILBERG. So that the attempt to amend the Magistrates' Act and referring therein to the Motor Vehicle Code would be unconstitutional, is that not so?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. No.

Mr. EILBERG. Well then, why is this bill where it is now?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I do not want to repeat what I have already said, but it was introduced as a matter of good housekeeping. I think that in connection with the floor debate on House Bill 165 I said I was considering the matter, and if I felt as a matter of good housekeeping it should be introduced, I would introduce it. My recollection is that it was introduced the following day.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what is meant by "good housekeeping." I wonder if the gentleman would explain that to me?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. I would answer that, Mr. Speaker, by saying what I have said before, that anyone reading the Motor Vehicle Code would be put on notice of the fact that in the city of Philadelphia they need not be taken before the nearest available magistrate.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, this subject was brought up in the House debate on March 12th and brought to the attention of Mr. Lee. I am wondering at this time why a final vote had to be had on that date and why it could not be postponed until this time, until the matter of good housekeeping could be straightened out?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. There is no real internal connection between the two bills. There was no reason why that bill, which was in perfectly good shape when it was on the third reading calendar, should not have been passed at that time as it was.

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I should like to state at this time the reason this bill is on the calendar today is because it has to be done that way. You cannot amend the Motor Vehicle Code by amending the Magistrates' Act. This is a very important constitutional point that was brought to the attention of this House on March 12th, and apparently Mr. Lee and the other sponsors of the bill have not been convinced of it.

I would like to say at the same time that I am in favor of the bill that is presently before the House for consideration. I feel we want a legal traffic court in Philadelphia. I think anyone close to the situation in Philadelphia will observe that as many Republicans as Democrats receive special favors in Philadelphia as far as the traffic situation is concerned. There is no partisan advantage under the system that presently operates in Philadelphia, so there is no reason for the Democratic Administration in Philadelphia to oppose this bill.

Also I might say we cannot expect in this day and age in a modern city like Philadelphia to influence people in their votes. You do not buy a vote today by fixing a traffic ticket.

So I say to you, Mr. Speaker, there is every reason why we should have a legal traffic court in Philadelphia, and I say I am in favor of it.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHUSTER from the Committee on Law and Order, reported as committed, House Bill No. 408, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code," approved June 24, 1939, (P. L. 872), prohibiting certain worldly employment or business on Sunday.

Mr. GIBB from the Committee on Law and Order, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1150, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate with respect to legalizing educational, recreational and cultural activities on Sunday afternoon and evenings, legalizing on a non-professional basis, subject to State and local controls, the game of chance known as bingo, lotteries or raffles and horse racing with betting.

Mr. JOHNSON from the Committee on Rules, reported as amended, House Resolution No. 82.

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of House Resolution No. 82.

The resolution was read as follows:

RESOLUTION

FIXING LAST DAY FOR INTRODUCING HOUSE BILLS

In the House of Representatives, April 23, 1957.

Resolved, That Thursday, May 9th, 1957, be fixed as the last day for the introduction of bills in the House of Representatives during this Session, except bills raising revenue and making appropriations AND BILLS APPROVED BY THE COMMITTEE ON RULES.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to have the gentleman inform the House, if he can, what the probable target date is for final adjournment of this Session?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the target date we have been shooting for was June 1st and still is June 1st, and we are starting to do everything humanly possible to finish the work of this Session on that day.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman what the Majority's plans may be for subsequent meetings after this week? How many days and so forth?

Mr. JOHNSON. The plan is next week to be here Monday through Thursday. We will be here a minimum of four days from here on out and eventually, we will go to five days. However, in the week of the primary elections we will not be here on Monday and Tuesday, but will come back on Wednesday and work through Friday of that week.

Mr. READINGER. I suppose the gentleman knows there are 1160—some odd bills in the House History and quite a few in the Senate History. Is it the gentleman's thought that this House can properly consider all that legislation between now and June 1st?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I wonder what the gentleman thinks we have been doing?

In answer to the question, I would say the way this House is set up and the capable Committee Chairmen and the able Committee members that we have, I believe a capable job can be done between now and the 1st of June to end this Session. I am sure there will be no important legislation left by the wayside.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman for his political speech, but I would like to know whether he can give me any figures? Can the gentleman tell me how many of these 1160—some odd bills have actually been considered by any of the committees which hold them? Has the gentleman compiled a report of any kind?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would say our Committee Chairmen have been working tirelessly on the bills, and they are pretty conversant with what is in them and have digests in their possession as to what the bills do.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman state to the House whether or not he would agree to go along with a longer Session if it became necessary to adequately consider the bills before the House and Senate?

Mr. JOHNSON. That would be up to the House Caucus and the House in the adoption of a sine die resolution. I do not think anybody will criticize us for trying to end the Session by the 1st of June. Naturally, if we find the work of winding up the Session in an orderly, sensible way cannot be done by the 1st of June, nobody is going to cripple the state or any of its services by just being stubborn and adjourning sine die on that day.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask whether there is any particular magic about the June 1st deadline? Is there any particular reason other than that which has been stated by the gentleman for wanting to get this Session adjourned by June 1st?

Mr. JOHNSON. There is a lot of magic in the date. We will probably find that out on election day a year from now.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether any committee on the Majority's side has started to prune the budget with a view to balancing the budget?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes. When I came back on Monday from our recess, I was very pleased to learn that Members had been here during the interim and had done quite a lot of work in studying the budget with respect to revenue and so on. The appropriations Committee this week are hearing the Education and the Highway Departments. Next week it will hear Mr. Shapiro. I would say very soon thereafter the general appropriation bill will be on the floor for a vote and for a debate. Naturally, as soon as we have passed the general appropriation bill and the other appropriation bills that do not go into the general appropriation bill, it is generally the case that the Session folds up quite soon thereafter. But again I want to say I have been here long enough that I naturally say—and this goes for all the Members on this side—we are not going to just get out of here on June 1st, as you say, because it might be a date that we picked out of the air. I think if we get down to hard work next week and the following weeks we can do the job that has to be done by the 1st of June.

Mr. READINGER. Does the majority of that House plan to have its full membership here tomorrow.

Mr. JOHNSON. I have informed everybody who has come down to my desk that we expect to pass bills on third reading tomorrow just as on any other day.

Mr. READINGER. It will not be a consent calendar?

Mr. JOHNSON. That word is not in our dictionary.

Mr. READINGER. I am not speaking in opposition to the adoption of this resolution. I think it is highly sensible and advisable that we do have a deadline for the introduction of bills, and very likely there will be additional bills other than the revenue and appropriation bills which will have to be introduced after the deadline and I agreed that they should be passed, but the need for introduction after that date should be passed upon by the Rules Committee of the House. We have no representation on that committee, but it is quite obvious if that Rules Committee does not think a bill is important enough to be allowed to be introduced after that date, the bill itself would not have much chance of passage anyway because your Rules Committee to some extent does represent the collective thinking on your side.

I am asking the Democratic Members to vote for this resolution for the sake of having an orderly closing of this Session sometime. But I want to voice my opinion again that we should not rush things in this Session. There is no magic connected with the date of June 1 or July 1 or any other date. When we think we have adequately considered every bill that should be given consideration, then we should get ready to close up shop, and not before.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there are many matters pending before committees. For example the city of Harrisburg has a number of problems with which I sympathize. Has the majority party reached any agreement concerning the disposition of bills in which the city of Harrisburg is particularly interested as a city?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I can only say several of the Representatives from Dauphin County just this morning were in my office to see me particularly about the bill wherein they would like to have the Commonwealth contribute to the city of Harrisburg some form of compensation or taxes, shall I say, by reason of a large amount of state property within the city.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am familiar with the bill. I simply asked the Majority Leader whether an opinion had crystallized as to the disposition of those measures?

Mr. JOHNSON. The answer is, no.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, a further interrogation. How long does he think it will take the master minds to crystallize an opinion concerning measures of that importance.

Mr. JOHNSON. That question can be resolved before June 1st, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I regard that as a pledge. I desire to further interrogate the Majority Leader.

There is pending a highly controversial but highly important measure on compulsory insurance. Has that been studied and has opinion crystallized as far as that measure is concerned?

Mr. JOHNSON. Those bills, Mr. Speaker, were just referred to committee last week. The bills are being studied, and substitute measures are also being studied. They may or may not be introduced.

Mr. ANDREWS. Can the Majority Leader tell us how long it will take for an opinion regarding that type of legislation to crystallize?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say my mind is made up right now, but I do not know about the rest of the Members, nor just how long it will take them to crystallize an opinion I cannot say.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there are bills relating to retirement, and all that sort of thing involving millions. How long does the Majority Leader believe it will take to reach a crystallization of opinion regarding those measures? Have they been studied? Is the majority party prepared to act upon them within the next 10 days?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, yesterday we sent to the Appropriations Committee approximately 10 retirement bills. I realize there are other bills of that nature that we have sent to the Appropriations Committee. As I understand it, the Committee consists of Messrs. Wood, Barr and Andrews. They are going to sit down with the State Actuary and go over those bills and arrive at a sensible conclusion, how long it will take that Committee to do the job—I believe in the past you spent a full day on that one job alone. I believe that is right.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it is proposed that there will be offered to this House the general appropriation bill carrying a multitude of blanket appropriations, or are we to have an appropriation bill by specific purpose?

Mr. JOHNSON. In that connection the drafter of the bill, Mr. Wood, is here and I would prefer to yield to him for that question if the gentleman does not mind.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would be very glad to confer with someone who knows some answers to the problems involving the possible date of adjournment.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, yield to the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood?

Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOOD. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Did the gentleman from Lancaster hear the question addressed to the Majority Leader?

Mr. WOOD. Will the gentleman please repeat the question?

Mr. ANDREWS. I said is it the plan to present a general appropriation bill to this House littered with blank check appropriations for large amounts, or are we to have an appropriation bill drawn along the lines of a specific purpose?

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, we are in the process at the present time of getting a general purpose appropriation bill drawn up for the Legislative Reference Bureau, and it will contain no blank checks, I will guarantee you that.

Mr. ANDREWS. How long does the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee believe it will take to prepare a general purpose appropriation bill following a study of all of the departments of our state government and an analysis of their various functions so that specific bureaus can be given specific amounts of money and specific purposes deputized by government expenditures?

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I guess you realize that is a pretty big job because we are not getting very much cooperation from the budget department or the office of administration. We have to dig up all these figures ourselves.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I would say were I Chairman of the Appropriations Committee with the power of a majority behind me, there would not be any facts or figures in the possession of either the Governor or any department which were not furnish forthwith. If I failed to get the figures, I am sure I would have a way of requiring the persons affected to present them. To say that I had difficulty in obtaining figures which are matters of public record which belong to this House and which are essential to our functioning, that it is difficult to get them, is little defense in the matter of preparing the budget.

I would desire to further interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. We have pending before us various bills involving tenure and security in office. Has an opinion regarding them been crystallized?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say it is pretty generally crystallized. We expect to have an announcement with respect to that very, very soon.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. ANDREWS. We have heard a great deal about holding the line in a Commonwealth with an expanding economy and an ever-expanding need. If we had been holding the line always, we would be travelling now in oxcarts. The reason we are not travelling in oxcarts is because we have had men with vision, with faith, in the future. Anybody can hold the line. Any generation can camp where their forefathers pitched their tents. But no state and no nation can get anywhere or can raise to the level of the thinking of its people by simply holding the line. This is a matter of economizing where we are thinking in terms of specific purposes, specific institutions.

I have in mind a bill appropriating money for the state university. The state university is not the thing we serve. The state university can function after a fashion on the appropriation that we gave it last year or the year before. What we serve through the state university are the young people of this Commonwealth who clamor for the opportunity to take advantage of the facilities which the state university offers.

When we speak of economizing regarding our appropriations for the state university or our hospitals or our other institutions, we are not serving them. It is not the institution we are helping, it is the lame, the halt, the blind, the mentally ill and this eager crowd of young people reaching out into the future who are searching and struggling for the opportunities to equip themselves for the kind of a future this Commonwealth and this nation faces.

To hurry through because of some slogan, some saying, "a quick business-like session" is wrong. There is no glory in a quick business-like session unless the problems have been met. If we adjourn at the time the Majority Leader has in mind, we will not have solved the problem of education. There are things of purpose relating to our young people and to our schools that we have not even begun to tackle.

Many things that we were unable to do at previous sessions will rest on our door step. It would be a more glorious thing to remain here and complete the job in statesman-like fashion instead of rushing through and without standard striking down legislation irrespective of the months it required.

I want to remind the gentleman we are now full time employes in this House, full time employes. As long as there is a legislative need upon the part of any constituency in this Commonwealth, it is our duty and our privilege to be here to relieve that need.

I want to say further in my opinion a legislative body that deliberately assassinates its power to legislate is not faithful to the trust that the people have imposed upon it.

We are on a full time basis and we should remain on a full time basis and on a ready-to-serve basis. I am not disposed hurriedly to adjourn this House sine die and turn the future over to the departments and the executive branch of this government. If that is what the majority party wants to do, they can do it, but they certainly will not do it with my cooperation.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want, if I am permitted, to say this further in regard to this matter.

The way I look at it we were here for 17 months last Session. Each week we would see some new project thrown into the hopper of the Legislature, and the Session went on and on and on.

The people of Pennsylvania got so that they held the Legislature in thorough disgust. I was almost ashamed to go home each weekend and meet the people who said, when are you going to get out of that place, and who said you people are squandering the state's money, and so forth and so on.

I feel we have a mandate from the people by reason of the last election to have a short, business-like session. I do not believe the people are in the frame of mind for a lot of frills or a lot of added things that we just simply cannot afford.

I realize perhaps the Governor's plan of providing all these scholarships is a good idea, and perhaps it is not. Maybe it is an approach to the welfare state. I think perhaps we should do a good job on primary and secondary education before we start putting on a $35 million tax just for that one thing alone.

I say the people want economy. You walk up and down the streets of your community and they will say, you people are doing fine down there. We want you to go along just as you are doing and balance that budget the way you planned. I have told this House, and I have told the people, if $1.5 billion is not enough money to reasonably run the state of Pennsylvania for the next two years, I certainly will be one who will have the courage to stand up here and ask for a new tax for something we feel is vitally necessary to run this state. But a lot of these extra frills and a lot of these things that are new and are costing the people money at every turn, I see no reason for staying here in Session and receiving all those things because they are just merely devices by the Governor to get a platform on which he plans to run for the United States Senate.

I think the quicker we get out of here with a job quickly and well done, the better off the state will be and the better off the Legislature will be. I say we are raising ourselves in the minds of the people that the Legislature can do the job, do it well, do it sensibly, do it quickly, and cut a lot of things out of an ever-increasing budget.

I grant you that maybe progress would have us go into the American homes and sponsor this person for that and this one for the other, build all these dams and do all these things that are wonderful which bring in votes for you and me, but I am wondering whether the state can continue to do that. I think it is time the people back home tax themselves for a while for local projects, instead of our continuing to pour more and more taxes and more and more spending on the people.

Therefore, as far as I am concerned, if we can sensibly and safely get out of here by June 1st, we are going to do it. If we cannot, I certainly will be one who will say we were acting too fast we will slow down a little and stay here a few more weeks. That is the way I happen to feel about it at the present time and I am hoping it works out that we can get out of here by the 1st of June.

Mr. Andrews is right. There are many things that should be studied during this next month. I say I have an opinion as to voting on compulsory insurance. Maybe some of you do not feel the same way I do about it.

I know you probably want us to consider whether there will be more gasoline taxes or not. I have a definite idea about that, and I think all those things can be resolved very easily within the next 30 days just as well as staying here three or four months more to do it, because I find when the Legislature leaves town here on Wednesday the machinery of government as far as the Legislature is concerned ceases, and you do not pick up again until Monday. If you stay here practically the entire month of May and keep this ball rolling, you will get out of here by the 1st of June, and I am sure nobody will be hurt.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, before we took our recess, I asked the gentleman for a short period of time to have amendments drafted to a bill that we had before us. The gentleman informed me that bill was supposed to be on the Governor's desk on Thursday of that week.

I would ask the gentleman now, where is that bill today?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I know the bill that the gentleman is referring to. It is House Bill 1040, the Sales Tax bill. The bill that we first let out in skeleton form, to which amendments were added, had been agreed to by reason of conferences that had been going on for three days. It is true we sent the bill to the Senate. It is true it was referred to a committee on that following Monday and was not reported out as we thought it would be. I am sorry I had no control over that situation, and the bill is presently, I believe, on the Senate calendar.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I told you sometime ago that you were shortcutting democracy. Now if it is for political purposes and if you are doing this to put it into the newspapers that you are having a short, business-like session, all well and good, but you are not having that short, business-like session. The very legislation that you are talking about you are taking weeks to do which you were going to do in a few days. Now that is not a short, business-like session, in my mind.

I have no objections to adjournment, but I say honestly to you this House of Representatives, and the people of Pennsylvania should know it, is not giving the consideration to the necessary things that are needed for the state of Pennsylvania. If you can talk about a short, business-like session. I am afraid it will come back to haunt you when the next election comes up since you are bragging about the mandate of the people. The mandate of the people is to serve the people of Pennsylvania, and the right.

On the question recurring.

Will the House adopt the resolution as amended?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to state that he hopes this debate will not be a precedent that will be pointed to as to whether or not we confine ourselves to the business before the House.

The Chair tried to be as lenient as possible in this debate because the over-all question is very far-reaching. The Chair certainly hopes in the future the members will try to confine their debate to the question before the House.

PERMISSION GRANTED TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to hold a public hearing of the investigating committee on the Pardons Board at 10:00 a.m., tomorrow morning in the Senate Caucus Room.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Sunday morning, April 21st, the Philadelphia newspapers quoted our House Majority Leader, Albert Johnson, on the subject of the four bills in which the Philadelphia city government is interested. It seems House Majority Leader Johnson indicated he did not favor several of the bills which have been presented in the General Assembly.

The Major answered Mr. Johnson's statement, and the result seemed to be that there was a difference of opinion as to the merits of four of the proposals which are now pending before the House.

At any rate I think it can be said that the Republican Floor Leader represents the thinking of the majority party in the General Assembly and that the Mayor represents the thinking of the Philadelphia city government.

I would like to read the leading editorial in the Evening Bulletin—I would say possibly Pennsylvania's largest newspaper—of Monday, April 22nd, on this subject which should set at rest the differences which exist between the Mayor of the city of Philadelphia representing the city government and the Republican Floor Leader representing the policy of the Republican Party.

With your permission, it is a very short one, I would like to read it. I would also ask that the Members of the majority party give this some attention because it represents a challenge to your thinking. This is entitled, "Legislative Test."

The moment of truth is at hand in Philadelphia's relations with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This is the week when leaders of the General Assembly, with taxes out of the way and adjournment on the horizon, must decide whether this City is to be accepted as a part of Pennsylvania with full privileges, or once again shoved aside as not quite belonging.

Philadelphia has been asking a fair share of the appropriations which are about to be made. It has been promised careful consideration. And it has also been alarmed by familiar talk of taking care of "State functions" first. Philadelphia would like to be a part of these State functions. The test of the sincerity of legislative leaders will come when they decide on certain key items:

1. Including Philadelphia in the county health plan which now embraces every other one of the 67 counties. This would mean about $3 million a biennium to the City. It is up to the big cities committee of the House to endorse this simple bit of justice, which merely adds Philadelphia to a function of State government now helping all other areas.

2. Adding the Philadelphia General Hospital to the list of State-aided nonsectarian medical institutions, to rectify a gross omission which is not made right merely because it has been so wrong for so many years. This must be done in the House Appropriations Committee. It would mean $4.6 million biennially to the City to be thus included in the Commonwealth.

3. Putting Independence Mall under General State Authority financing to give this nationally desirable project clear sailing. The City contends that the present bit-by-bit land buying will cost more than a quick cleanup, even allowing for interest under GSA.

These and the other items of Mayor Dilworth's legislative package are absolutely non-partisan. It should not matter in the least that Republicans control the General Assembly and Democrats the City.

The question is whether Philadelphia may at last emerge from its stepchild position to be fully embraced as part of Pennsylvania. It asks its share; no more. Leaders of the Legislature are confronted with a test of good faith.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there is a maxim in the courts of equity of this state that he who comes into equity must come in with clean hands.

It is very fine for the city of Philadelphia to come here and want money out of this budget. The thing that I was naturally disturbed about—and I think we should all be disturbed about—is that the entire Philadelphia Democratic delegation numbering, I think, 34 strong voted solidly against the taxes that would have provided one-third of the budget or practically $500 million. I say that they committed a tactical political blunder when they did that. I am not saying that we of the majority are going to hold it against you because you made a blunder like that because you know that sales tax bill when it first passed the House was a simple bill. All it said was, we are keeping the rate at three percent and we are ripping out the stamp plan. How can you gain any political advantage by voting against it, I do not know. I think it was, again I say, a political blunder for you to have voted against money to run the state when you are here with your hat in your hand wanting us to be kind to Philadelphia.

As far as the demands of Philadelphia are concerned, I say they are reasonable, and I said in my newspaper release there was merit.

I think that the million dollars you want for that building that you plan to enlarge the Port of Philadelphia, is a highly sensible salutary thing and will mean a great thing to Philadelphia and to the State of Pennsylvania.

I think the food building down there—to take the food off Front Street and put into a very fine modern food building, too, is a very splendid project.

I am not so sure about money for the Philadelphia General Hospital, it being a city-owned hospital. I do not believe that we have a precedent in this State wherein we as a Commonwealth give money to a city-owned hospital.

If the money is available, of course, Philadelphia should be in the county health plan just like any other county. But it all takes money. It takes taxes. To do this job for Philadelphia it will mean new taxes or we are going to have to squeeze it out of somebody else to give it there.

All I can say is, before this Session is over, I am sure the majority side is hoping to do as much for Philadelphia as we possibly can within the realm of sound financing and fairness to everybody in the state.

I would certainly not say those four demands that have been made are unreasonable. But as I say, I believe you would be in much better shape had you stood up like men and voted for the taxes and said, we are voting for this tax program, now you come along and give us a square deal. But you did not do that. I was very disappointed on that day when you voted against the sales tax.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the position taken by the Majority Leader on the four items included in the newspaper articles is very commendable, and I hope he is able to carry them out as far as providing the necessary services to the people of the city who do contribute part of the taxes which the majority party expects to collect from the tax bill which they passed.

I cannot agree with the political philosophy of the Majority Floor Leader on the subject of the sales tax as a bargain, or as an item which could be traded for support by Philadelphia.

As a matter of honest belief, I for one voted against the sales tax and I suppose there are other Members of the Philadelphia delegation who voted against it because we do not believe in that kind of taxation. Had the majority party in the General Assembly been willing to give us the opportunity to impose the type of tax we believe in, we also would have raised the same kind of money, or perhaps more money than the Republican party expects to raise under the sales tax, and we would have had the burden of the obligation and the duty to provide the services for the people of Pennsylvania.

What kind of thinking is it that because we voted in a certain manner and because those who had the majority raised their funds in accordance with their tax philosophy, that they say you would have come here with better grace if you had supported our tax policy and given us an opportunity to raise the money which we want to raise we would thereby have supplied the money for the institutions of Pennsylvania and for the institutions of Philadelphia.

I think that is punitive thinking. That puts us in a position where unless you surrender, unless you decide to submit to the will of the majority party throughout, or unless you give up your right to oppose, unless you give up your right to be independent, unless you give up your right to think as you please and forget the type of taxes that you want, you are not entitled to help for your city.

If that is the policy then we know where we stand. Then we can tell the people of our city, the voters of our city, exactly what we can expect from Harrisburg. But I think we are submitting the matter to you in an entirely different manner. We are submitting it to you on a basis of justice, and I think the Evening Bulletin is not a paper controlled by Democrats. I think that this is an impartial paper which is trying to present the picture in its true light, and I think that they have submitted it to you on your honor. You have succeeded by reason of your votes and have voted the type of taxes that you think is correct. When you have obtained the money, it is your duty to spend it for the benefit of all the people of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the gentleman from Philadelphia very carefully. I would like to take his memory back to last November.

I think last November the people of Pennsylvania came out very definitely against his theory of taxation, trying to put on a state wage tax, a tax that gave no credit for dependents, gave no credit for the normal expenses. I think the people of Pennsylvania spoke, and they spoke very definitely.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. SHERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the Majority Leader to say the only difference between the sales tax as passed the previous Session and as passed by his party in this Session is that the amount was raised from two percent to three percent and that the stamp plan was eliminated?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not what I said. I said, on the day that Philadelphia voted solidly against the tax bill, the bill that was before them was the bill that originated in the House and merely was doing those two things.

I grant you that when the bill came back from the Senate there were amendments in it which perhaps, from a party standpoint, you might have been—I would not say justified in voting against the bill, but I am saying when the bill first left the House with two simple amendments in the bill and with the bill finally on the Governor's desk, it would raise $480 million, and I say that your delegation voted solidly against the bill—and I still say without justification, particularly when you do not have any tax bill in here that does exemplify your tax philosophy.

You put it in. I would like to see what it is. I would be very interested in knowing what the tax philosophy is of the Philadelphia delegation.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman consider a raise of 50 percent in the taxes to the citizens of this Commonwealth a simple bill?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I grant you that the present law was that we were paying at the time a three percent sales tax, and the bill said that it would automatically drop to two as of June 1st. So, actually, what we really did was merely perpetuate the status quo, and we did the other thing, what the merchants of Philadelphia wanted, and that was to rip the stamp plan out of the bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman not have in mind at the time of the passage of the Sales Tax bill in this House that the Sales Tax bill as introduced by the gentleman would be amended in the Senate?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say that I expected some procedural amendments would be offered in the Senate, but I certainly did not expect the amendments that finally were offered. I cannot see that is any reason for the Philadelphia delegation voting against the bill in its original form. There was a chance to vote against it when it came back for concurrence.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman agree with the amendments as passed in the Senate?

Mr. JOHNSON. I stood before this microphone and explained those amendments in detail and asked the House to go along on the amendments, yes, I did.

Mr. SHERMAN. One other question, Mr. Speaker. Would it have made any difference in the appropriations that you have in mind for the city of Philadelphia if the vote had been any different by the legislative Representatives of Philadelphia?

Mr. JOHNSON. Speaking for myself, I would say I always try to be eminently fair, and I believe I am reflecting the temper of the Republican House Caucus when I state they were plenty burned up by the way you voted.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is it the gentleman's idea that if we happen to be the majority party and because we do not like the vote that you give us on a certain measure, that we are to deny to a particular town or your particular municipality or township the relief that they absolutely need?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say any municipality with a powerful block of 34 votes which stands up and votes against $500 million worth of taxes comes here in very poor grace to ask for anything. I am not saying we are going to be uncharitable or anything like that. I did say I think that the requests of the city of Philadelphia are not unreasonable and as far as I am concerned whether you voted for the tax bill or not, if the money is available, I am for voting for them because I have been down there, I have inspected the situation and I know what is being done. I have seen the slum conditions and I am sold on your project. But it takes money.

As a matter of fact, I favor completing the Philadelphia Mall as quickly as possible because I feel the minute that is done, it will clean up that blighted area. You will then see some modern apartment buildings built there that will glorify the Independence Hall area. I am for it a thousand percent and have been ever since it came up back in the Jim Duff administration. We have been trying to finish that Mall, and I am all for borrowing the money to finish it and do the job because it is a very important job to be done down there. I agree with you, but I say the money has to be available. I never would say those are not worthwhile projects. They are just as worthy as any that we have in our Appropriations Committee today.

Mr. SHERMAN. Thanks a great deal.

With your permission, Mr. Speaker, as for me and as for other Members of the Legislature, we still consider the sales tax bill as enacted obnoxious. Were it before this House again, we would again be on record as disapproving it. When you have a proper bill submitted to this side of the House and to the state Representatives, we will be in full agreement and go along with you, but until that plan comes before this House, we would, if it were a similar plan to that, be against it.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. STIMMEL and GIBSON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 87.

Article 8, Section 1, Subsection 3, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania prevents a citizen from voting unless he resides in his election district for the sixty days immediately preceding election day.

Many of our citizens move their residences from one election district to another within this sixty-day period, and as a result of the Constitutional requirement they are deprived of any voice in the election of their representatives and public officers in local, State and Federal governments.

There has been initiated in the 1957 General Assembly, as House Bill No. 294, a proposed Constitutional amendment to remove this discrimination against those of our citizens who move their residence during the sixty-day period; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That if the Constitution shall be amended as proposed in said House Bill No. 294, it is the sense of the General Assembly that such amendment should be implemented by changes in the Pennsylvania Election Code to permit the following procedure applicable to any citizen, otherwise qualified to vote, who changes his residence from one election district to another during the sixty days preceding an election:

1. The citizen may present to the registration commission for his old election district an affidavit of the location of his old and new residences and the date when he will remove, or shall have removed, from one to the other.

2. The regulation commission shall thereupon endorse upon such affidavit a certificate that the affiant's name has been removed from the registration rolls for his old election district; that the signature upon the affidavit corresponds to the signature of the affiant in the registration commission's records; and that upon presentation of the affidavit and certificate to the judge of election in the affiant's new election district, and due proof of affiant's identity by further signature in such judge's presence, affiant shall be entitled to vote in the new election district at the election occurring within sixty days after his change of residence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WORLEY.

RESOLUTION No. 88.

In the House of Representatives, April 24, 1957.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a State where millions of people desire to reside because of its fresh clean air. The health and safety of these people is a matter of grave concern to all of our citizens.

Odors, smoke and dust from commercial enterprises within the State have always polluted the pure air our State is noted for. Because of the great interest of the people of the Commonwealth, notable advancements have been made to control this air pollution, but their emanating from commercial operations is injurious to the health and well-being of the populace; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and evaluate the progress made in eliminating odors, smoke and dust from the air, giving special attention to dust emanating from commercial operations as being a major cause of air pollution; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 29, 1957.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, D. D., Pastor of United Church of Aspinwall, Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, in Whom we have our very being, Who in Thy light hast revealed Thyself unto us, but Whom in our darkness we cannot fully comprehend, grant, we pray Thee, that all here assembled may think worthily of Thee as we ought to think and may renew Thine image in us according to the pattern of Thy Son, the risen Lord, Christ.

We thank Thee, O Father, for the good land Thou hast shared with us, and we pray that Thou wilt continue to bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, just laws and pure manners.

We earnestly beseech Thee, O Holy Spirit, that Thou wilt endue with the spirit of wisdom and discernment these to whom, in Thy name, there has been entrusted the powers of government. We pray that there may be swept from their hearts and minds all selfishness, malice and indifference, and that the public good, honor and justice may flourish.

May true wisdom and knowledge and sincere convictions, with courage, mark the stability of the deliberations of this Session of our State Senate. May our deepest trust be always in Thee, the Lord of Nations and King of Kings.

Now, O God, we ask Thy rich blessing upon each of these men, and as they sense the burden of their individual responsibility, may they share also in the bounty of Thy favor.

May the healing power of the great Physician be felt in the life of Senator Stiefel in this hour of his physical need. In our Redeemer's Name, we pray, Amen.

SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 25, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. RUTH, from the Committee on Rules, to which was referred resolution offered by Messrs. Berger and Stevenson on April 8, 1957, reported the same without amendment as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE ACT AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE FUND

In the Senate, April 8, 1957.

During the 1953-55 biennium, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expended $1,025,000 in occupational diseases compensation payments.

The amount so expended during the 1955-57 biennium, although not yet determined, appears to have arisen to more than $8,600,000.

The Governor's budget for the 1957-59 biennium suggests an expenditure of $15,000,000 for this purpose and the administrators of the Occupational Disease Act claim that figure to be grossly inadequate.

This sudden and tremendous increase in cost to the Commonwealth demands that the Occupational Disease Act and the administration of it be subjected to close and extensive study; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a comprehensive study of the Occupational Disease Act and of the administration of the Occupational Disease Fund, giving particular attention to:

(1) The system of establishing eligibility of persons receiving payments;

(2) The checks and follow-up procedures employed to determine the continuing eligibility of such persons;

(3) The adequacy of the protection of Commonwealth funds and the safeguards established for that purpose;

(4) The cost of operating the fund during the 1957-59 biennium for which a deficiency is forecast

(5) The estimated obligation of the Commonwealth for such payments during the 1959-61 biennium; and

(6) Any other pertinent matter which the commission deems appropriate to the study; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is directed, to make a report of its finding to the next General Assembly not later than January 31, 1959, together with its recommendations for legislative action.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 487, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 29, 1937 (P. L. 2423) entitled as amended "An act establishing a Pennsylvania State Police Retirement System . . ." changing the definition of "final salary" upon which certain contributor's retirement allowance is based.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am about to vote against this bill, and I wish to state my reasons for the benefit of any other Members who might be interested.

In the first place, Mr. President, what the bill does is, it changes the definition of final salary for retirement purposes, as far as the State Police are concerned, from the average of the last five years, which it has been previously, to the last year.

The first reason for my opposing this bill is because I think, regardless of whose retirement it is, it is not good for the persons who are prospective beneficiaries of retirement to have a last year provision because of the fact that their expectations of status are doubtful. If they have the last five years, there is a good chance that their salary would average off and result in a pretty good retirement status. If they made it the last year as the average, it could result that just before their retirement they might suffer a demotion which would take them into a lower salary category and they would suffer accordingly when they came to collect their retirement. It just does not seem a good principle of retirement to use the last year as the basis for computing the retirement.

The second reason why I am opposed to this bill is because I have some question in my mind about the desires of the rank and file of our State Police on this bill. I took a private poll and, admittedly, I used only a small sample because I did not have the time nor energy to make a large survey. However, I did ask four State Policemen, who are bona fide rank and file State Policemen, who had no special reason to be for or against and who were selected at random, and my finding was that all four of those whom I asked about it preferred not to have this change made.

Mr. President, I think a good amendment to this bill would be to substitute for the last five years, which has been the previous law, the best five years. That would bring it in line with other retirement systems for State Police, as I understand it, in similar surrounding States. I think the best five years would be a more fair definition of final salary and one which would protect the welfare of the rank and file members of the State Police.

For both of these reasons, Mr. President, first, because I think it is a bad provision in principle for anybody's retirement; and, secondly, because my own survey convinces me that this is not desired by the rank and file of the State Police force, I intend to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I yield to the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, and say to you, and the Members of the Senate that I wholeheartedly agree with most of the statements made by Senator Seyler, particularly because of the fact that this is not sound retirement legislation.

I thank the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I speak in favor of this particular bill as one of the sponsors.

First of all, I want it clearly understood that this bill was drafted after consultation with the membership of the State Police. The reasons given by the good Senator from York County for being against the bill do not jibe with the reasons given to me and my co-sponsor, Senator Pechan, by the membership of the State Police force.

The State Police is peculiarly an individual organization. If you will search back through the knowledge that you have of the membership of this organization, you will find that because of the limited advancement available in the service, since it is a semi-military unit, there are very few positions above those of common private. The noncoms are limited as to the make-up of the organization along military lines. Your commissioned officers are of a lesser number for the same reason. You will find members of this State Police force, who have been in that service anywhere from twenty to thirty years, who are still ordinary privates. Being such, when it comes to retirement time often, of recent date, they are advanced to a higher paid position, whether up the ladder as a noncom or up the ladder as a commissioned officer. Many of them have reached the age of fifty-five, sixty and over by the time that they get into a position where their salary is higher than it has been for, maybe, a generation or more. Therefore, this legislation is introduced to allow them to retire on the last year or the best year of five years of their pay schedule. This then saves them the necessity of staying beyond the time that they wish to serve and beyond the time, in many cases, when they are capable of serving in the State Police corps.

We all admit that even in the official family, the job is one of a strenuous character. Therefore, many of them, when they have arrived at the stage of serving twenty-five or more years, finally find themselves made a sergeant or a lieutenant or a captain or major, and if they can take their last year's base or their high pay base, they are more apt to consider retirement at that stage.

I believe, honestly, that the State Police knew what they wanted when they recommended this legislation. I have talked it over with their spokesmen and I am sure that the four men that Senator Seyler talked to do not reflect the entire thinking or the majority thinking of the membership of the corps. I would ask you, as Members of this Senate, to go along with this legislation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, as the co-sponsor of this bill, I want to say that I checked this bill very thoroughly with some members of the State Police, and I am not going to take too much time in saying why I am for this bill. I think we all realize that the State Police do have one of the most hazardous jobs that we have in the Commonwealth and they are a credit certainly to the Commonwealth. They are the finest State Police Force that we have in the United States.

One thing that has not been brought out is that, from foreign insurance or the casualty premiums that are paid by Insurance companies, the State Police annually get—or last year got—a contribution of $626,168 just from that one source. This is self-supporting. Their disbursements last year were only $388,000.

I want to concur in what Senator Dent has said. A great many of these men who are in the State Police may serve from twenty-five to thirty years and are still enlisted men. If he does get a promotion from a private to a corporal, in order to be eligible for a pension he would have to serve five years. Now all this bill does—his pension is no greater—is that it says we shall compute his last year's salary and at no time shall he receive more than one-half of his salary as retirement.

I did want to bring out that over $626,000 in 1956 was available toward the State Police retirement from the foreign casualty companies who are doing business in Pennsylvania. I say this. If all of our retirement funds were as solvent as this one, we would not be paying the million of dollars from the State Treasury to help these retirement funds.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I agree with my young friend on the other side as to the great job that the State Police do, and I think there is no one here who can take issue with that.

The mischief in this bill is based on the fact that the State Police—and I do not think this is rather well-known—are not under civil service and this could very well work to their detriment as well as to their benefit. They could be demoted, if they happen to invite the displeasure of one of their superior officers, with the result that they would receive a lot less money than they might otherwise receive without this piece of legislation.

One of the other problems involved here is that I think there is a slight question of this legislation being actuarially unsound. I think if that problem were ironed out, you might have a better piece of legislation than you now have.

As I understand it, the rank and file of the State Police are not for this bill and that would be the reason that I would be against the bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. I want to say to Senator Dent, Mr. President, that I presume he is aware of the fact that State Policemen are now available for retirement at age fifty. Is he aware of that fact?

Mr. DENT. That is right.

Mr. WADE. Secondly, I am sure Senator Dent is acquainted with the fact that we have had a number of bills in the Legislature giving this same provision to the employees of the State penal institutions who, according to statistics, are serving in equally hazardous occupations. Is he in favor of extending the liberal provisions of the State Police Retirement System to the employees now working in the State penal institutions?

Mr. DENT. Is that question directed to me?

Mr. WADE. It is, sir.

Mr. DENT. If you get the bill ready, I will talk to you about it.

Mr. WADE. The bill has been ready, Mr. President, on a number of different instances, and it, too, would add to the cost of the retirement.

Thirdly, I would like to ask the gentleman if he is aware of the fact that the enactment of this bill into law, according to the actuaries for the fund, would require an immediate additional reserve of $1,232,000. Is he aware of that fact?

Mr. DENT. I am not aware of that fact. That fact does not jibe with the information I received when I made inquiry of the actuarial accountant.

Mr. WADE. May I ask him further if the actuary whom he consulted is Mr. George Huggins, of Philadelphia?

Mr. DENT. No, I consulted our technicians in the Joint State Government Commission, upon whom I lean very heavily.

Mr. WADE. Let me inform the gentleman that we have no actuaries in the Joint State Government Commission.

Mr. DENT. I assume, sir, that they are intelligent enough, or we should not be paying the salaries that we are paying them, to inquire wherever the sources are available and correct.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman that I have no criticism of him whatever in referring to the Joint State Government Commission. However, the actuary for these funds, the State Employees' Retirement Fund and the State Police Retirement Fund, is Mr. George Huggins of Philadelphia, whom we pay as an actuary and on whose information we should rely.

I want to thank the gentleman and say further that Mr. Huggins has stated that we could take the method of paying this in installments over a number of years and, therefore, bring down the cost. Be that as it may, the actual cost to set up the reserve at the present time is $1,232,000, according to the actuary for the fund.

Now, Mr. President, several references have been made that interrogation was made to this State Policeman or that State Policeman. I want to tell the Members of the Senate that I was visited last Saturday by a Sergeant of the State Police, accompanied by three of his assistant State Policemen, and when they left the office they were perfectly satisfied with their retirement as it is now. I want to say further that we have one of the most liberal retirement systems for our State Police that there is anywhere in the United States.

We, on this side, are dedicated to economy, but we do not want economy at the sacrifice of any needed legislation or any needed provisions in our retirement system. I would like to say to the Members of the Senate, further, that if they will make a study of the budget for this biennium, there are requirements of some $119,000,000 in our current budget to bring up the necessary reserves and to meet our current obligations in the retirement system.

One of the evils I think was pointed out very clearly by Senator Seyler and it is a very good point. Others took the opposite viewpoint. For instance, there might be a member of the State Police who is about to retire and he is a good friend of the boss, so to speak. He goes to the boss and the boss gives him a substantial increase for that last year, and that will raise his retirement very substantially for the rest of his life. On the other hand, someone pointed out the fact that he might be penalized, his salary might be reduced the last year, and that is possible but not likely.

Senator Dent and many of the rest of us have been in this Senate and in the Legislature, and watched the provisions of the retirement system change by the Legislature in various, different ways. This is a one-way street. The courts have ruled that we have no right to take away any provision that a State employee, including the State Police, has at the present time. We have no right to take anything away from them, but time and again we are asked to give them additional benefits. Over the years, we have observed a retirement system based on the last ten years of employment. That was then changed to the last five years. Then, in a few years, it was changed to the best five years, and we all know that a State employee in good favor might receive a very substantial increase during his last year and then, because of that, be benefited very materially in his retirement system.

I, in closing, say to Senator Dent and others, there is no State employee retirement system in America or anywhere else, so far as I know, that takes as much of the taxpayers' money—be it foreign casualty insurance tax or whatever, it still comes from the citizens of Pennsylvania—and there is no system in any State in the Union as liberal as our retirement system is at the present time. That is a matter of record, based on American experience and based on existing legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, if my memory serves me correctly, on both occasions when the legislative retirement bills were up before this Senate, you voted against them.

Mr. WADE. No, I do not think that is a correct statement.

Mr. DENT. The records, of course, will tell. Will you say here that you voted for them?

Mr. WADE. Yes, I voted for them more than fifty per cent of the time.

Mr. DENT. Did you vote for the last retirement bill which was passed by the General Assembly?

Mr. WADE. What bill are you referring to?

Mr. DENT. In the 1955-1957 Session, which made it possible for retirement of Members of the Senate after twenty years of service and at the age of fifty.

Mr. WADE. I did.

Mr. DENT. You did?

Mr. WADE. I did.

Mr. DENT. Why would you do less for the State Police?

Mr. WADE. May I have the question again, please?

Mr. DENT. Why would you do less for the members of the State Police?

Mr. WADE. I am sorry, Mr. President, I am unable to—the question again, if you will, please.

Mr. DENT. Why would you do less for the State Police than you have done for yourself?

Mr. WADE. I am not doing less. The State Police now have the benefit, in their retirement system, of the best five years.

The system about which the gentleman inquired is not more liberal than their system is now. As a matter of fact, it is not possible for a Member of the Legislature to retire at fifty with full retirement.

Mr. DENT. It is not possible?

Do you know that the State Police have another pension system of their own to which they contribute, without any aid from the State?

Mr. WADE. I do not think you are correct, Senator Dent, in that assumption.

Mr. DENT. I think you will find that they have a dual retirement system.

Mr. WADE. I think not, I think that refers to a State Employees' Benefit Fund and not a retirement system.

Mr. DENT. It is the same as a retirement system.

Mr. WADE. It is absolutely not. It is not on an actuarial basis; it is not based on anything else except need.

Mr. DENT. However, there is a dual pay at the end of their retirement, is there not?

Mr. WADE. No, it is not a retirement system at all. It is a benefit fund.

Mr. DENT. Do they have two deductions from their payroll or one?

Mr. WADE. They have a voluntary deduction for that one.

Mr. DENT. However, it is a deduction, voluntary or otherwise?

Mr. WADE. That is right, Senator Dent. However, they have the option of contributing or not contributing.

Mr. DENT. Since, as I understand it, you are a retired insurance agent who has sold millions of dollars worth of annuities to individuals, would you compare the payments into our retirement system in Pennsylvania as being comparable to the amounts of reserve built up in private insurance companies?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in liberality, they are much beyond private systems. In other words, we are asking the taxpayers to pay a much more liberal benefit than could be purchased from private concerns.

I want to correct Senator Dent in the fact that I am not retired.

Mr. DENT. I am glad to hear that. However, would you say that the premiums paid by the individuals into your private insurance company funds are comparable to the premiums paid by individuals in the State system?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, they are not comparable. A man in private industry, or as a private individual, is required to pay much, much more to get the same benefits that the State employees receive from a much smaller amount.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, over the years—and you have been in public life for a great number of years—we have always heard and I think the facts have borne it out, and in recent years I think the Governor's statements to the effect that our employment situation is rather acute in the technical and professional staffs required on the Hill because of the fact of low pay. Has it not always been the argument to the schoolteachers, and to other employees of the Commonwealth, that their retirement system, being as liberal as it is, is considered to be part of their remuneration for the services rendered to the Commonwealth, since they are employed at a much less rate of annual pay or salary than a like position in private industry?

Mr. WADE. That is a very good question. I think, to extend the answer a little bit further, oftentimes our folks who serve so well in the schoolrooms fail to realize that they get an additional eight per cent by the simple fact that we ask the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to contribute out of tax funds in this biennium about $119,000,000. That State employee oftentimes writes that off and fails to take cognizance of the fact that he is receiving a benefit equivalent to eight per cent of his salary.

Mr. DENT. Then you are agreeing with me that the retirement system is considered part of the remuneration paid to employees of the State?

Mr. WADE. I am agreeing with you and saying further that oftentimes the State employee or the school teacher fails to recognize that they are receiving an eight per cent benefit beyond their salary.

Mr. DENT. Thank you.

Mr. President, the argument answers itself. If we consider that retirement systems instigated by the State are part of the remuneration paid to employees of the Commonwealth, then you cannot measure the benefits received from these systems in State employment as against the retirement or the pension benefits paid in private industry. Since their pension systems are entirely their own, it follows that they are paid more for the same amount or the same type of work in private industry than they are paid in direct pay by the Commonwealth.

This question resolves itself down to this particular equation. Do we or do we not consider the fact that employees in the State Police system can and do work at a specific grade level for periods amounting to ninety-nine per cent of their time in the service? We should consider that this bill is aimed at bringing them in line with a decent retirement pay after many years of service. The argument that they can be demoted does not hold water at all, because if that person has already served sufficient years to have earned retirement and if for personal, vindictive reasons, which I refuse to admit are part of the State Police system in this State, but if, by stretching the imagination, you do have vindictiveness step into the picture, then that person, when he is being demoted, at the time of retirement can immediately ask for retirement before the lower pay schedule goes into effect. Therefore, it does not hold water.

I may be doing an injustice to all of the State Police in the Commonwealth, but if you will remember, I was the sponsor of the original fifty year retirement basis for State Police retirement. Throughout the twenty odd years I have served here, I have worked to liberalize retirement systems. I do so because I have had a great deal of experience with the inability of men approaching the fifty year mark to find any kind of employment anywhere. I understand from the latest studies made by the Department of Labor of the United States Government that now you have difficulty in finding a position when you have approached or passed the age of forty. If you find industry and job opportunity closed to those who have reached the age of forty, do not worry about the fifty year retirement age. You will soon be compelled by economic conditions to retire them at much lower than age fifty, because you are going to be faced with a situation of finding persons of forty years of age unable to procure employment. They will either have to go on and earn in a contributory system of retirement or they will have to go on relief. In either case, the State must pay out money and the taxpayers will have to pay. That is why I am one of the persons who insists that industry pay its share toward all of these costs of government. I still say this is good legislation.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I have heard it said that there are two sides to every argument. This argument, however, has at least three sides. I find myself voting the same way as the gentleman from Cumberland, but for entirely different reasons. I find myself agreeing with the reasoning of the gentleman from Westmoreland, but I cannot follow him to that conclusion of voting "aye" for the bill. In other words, Mr. President, I am for liberal retirement. I recognize the fact that, in order to get competent people into a job such as the State Police, we must offer some job security and we must offer something at the end of a career which would attract them to come into that occupation. However, Mr. President, I believe that this bill offers a real threat to that person's feeling about retiring with an adequate retirement at the end of his career.

In the interest of getting together and making this a two-sided argument, I would like to offer a suggestion to the two sponsors of the bill. In fact, I would like to offer them two suggestions. If they feel the same as I, that the purpose of what they are doing here is to liberalize retirement for the State Police and if, at the same time, they want a system which will make the individual State Policeman, the rank and file, feel safe against any possibility of internal politics which might upset him in his last year, then I would offer to them this suggestion. Let us amend this bill to make it provide that it shall be the last year of service or the last five years, whichever shall be most advantageous to the officer, or alternatively, let us make it the best five years.

If the gentlemen feel as I do, that there should be a liberalization, it will not cost any more money, certainly, to say it shall be the last year or the last five years, whichever is better for the officer. This seems to me to be a fair solution, and it will probably suit everybody except the gentleman from Cumberland. We cannot have all three sides in on this. Therefore, if we can get two sides together, I think we would have a bill here which would be a pretty good bill. I offer this suggestion. Otherwise, for the same reasons that I mentioned before, I will reluctantly be forced to vote "no."

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I amend my statements before the Senate, too, and say, as Senator Seyler and Senator Dent have said, that the State Policemen are nice fellows; they are good looking, they do a good job at their work, but I do not want to be arrested by them either.

However, Mr. President, I still maintain that this is unsound legislation for the simple reason, if for no other, that we are taking some $119,000,000, if we meet the budget requirement, of the taxpayers' money and extending a retirement system beyond reason. There is a day coming ahead, according to laws now on the books, when State Policemen will become eligible for Social Security. For no other reason,—I am not against State Policemen—except that this is unsound legislation, I oppose this bill. If they consult the actuary of any life insurance company or any insurance department or any fellow actuary, he will carefully explain to them that this is unsound legislation.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, just by accident, I happen to have a retirement pension system here from one of the well-known firms in Pennsylvania, the Bethlehem Steel Company. It is peculiar, because they must not have the money nor care to bother with getting an actuarial approval of their retirement system. What we are doing today is what happens to be pretty much or exactly what the Bethlehem Steel Company does. I would like to read just one or two figures from this in order that we do not get the misunderstanding that we are doing something here in Pennsylvania that is so terribly unsound.

As I said, Mr. President, I happen to have this around just by accident. I notice that the average annual compensation for 120 months preceding retirement of an employee of Bethlehem Steel—this means the official family, of course. This does not mean the puddlers; they must go out and fend for their own and pay the premiums, which Senator Wade talks about, to private companies and which are a little higher than what these boys benefit from. If they have a $3,000 wage, at the end of fifteen years service they get $1,320 a year the rest of their lives. At the end of twenty years service, about which we are talking, they will receive $1,440 a year the rest of their lives. If they happen to be up at the top of the stack and they receive $500,000 a year, they receive $200,000 a year the rest of their lives. I do not know of any State Policeman who will reach that bracket. At least, I have not found out about him yet. However, I am sure that you will find many of them in the $3,000 bracket. I am positive that the difference between what employees of Bethlehem Steel will draw and what the State Policemen will draw, with the so-called unsound legislation which is before us, will be somewhere near the same figure.

Remember, too, that State Policemen do not receive overtime pay and they are called to do some pretty strenuous and oftentimes very nasty work. I think they are entitled to the consideration that this Legislature can give them in this kind of legislation.

Senator Wade, if you want this pension plan to study, you may have it.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would like to thank the gentleman. I would be very much interested, indeed, in reading that paper. However, according to the parts of it which he has read, he has not at all convinced anybody that their system is nearly as liberal as our present State Police Retirement System.

For example, he told us that after fifteen years the employee would be eligible for $110 a month. The sergeant of the State Police who called on me on Saturday, whose name I do not care to have in the record, said that his retirement would be in the neighborhood of $187 per month. Let me advise the gentleman that the single premium necessary to pay a given amount, at the age of fifty, is almost twice as much as the single premium necessary to pay the same amount at the age of sixty-five. There are many different things in the retirement system to which he quickly referred and this retirement system which would show him that he is absolutely wrong in maintaining that any private pension system that I know of—and I have been a consultant on a number of retirement systems—is nearly as liberal as our present retirement system for State Police.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 487, Printer's No. 133, on final passage, go over in its order so that amendments may be prepared.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

SENATE BILL No. 279 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 1 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 279 (Pink), which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 279, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1937 (P. L. 2051) entitled "Public Assistance Law" regulating powers of the Department of Public Assistance with respect to rules regulations and standards for eligibility for assistance.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to advise the Senate that the Department of Public Assistance has advised me, and I so told the Republican Leadership, that if this bill goes through, the Federal Government has notified the State Department of Public Assistance that Federal funds may not be made available to the Commonwealth on a matching base if the management of the Department of Public Assistance, and the control of the funds, is taken out of their hands.

I am only repeating that for the benefit of the Senate. I am not the authority for it; I am only the spokesman who is repeating it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that was not my understanding. I specifically asked whether or not this would affect our eligibility to receive Federal funds if this bill were passed. I was told that it would not.

In order for us to definitely understand whether or not it does, I would ask that the bill go over so that Senator Dent and I can get this straightened out. None of us want to pass any law which would affect our eligibility in any way whatsoever.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would not ask the Senators to vote for it. In fact, I would not vote for it myself if it does as Senator Dent stated. I want the bill to go over until tomorrow in order for us to straighten that out.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 279 (Pink), on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE BILL No. 366 CALLED UP

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 1 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 366 (Pink), which went over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 366, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 366 (Pink), on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, the Majority Whip.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Pechan, do you have any other reason outside of your own personal opinion, as to why this bill should go over in order?

Mr. PECHAN. I have been asked by two or three Senators to have the bill go over until tomorrow.

Mr. LANE. I see.

Mr. PECHAN. It is customary for me to go along, when two or three Senators come and ask me.

Mr. LANE. Is that indicative of the fact that probably they do not have enough votes to pass this bill? Is that why you want to wait until tomorrow? Is that the case?

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Lane, I do not have any idea.

Mr. LANE. I object, Mr. President, to this bill going over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 366 (Pink), go over in its order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I might add that Senator Lane seems to have lost his usual courtesy. We surely know that there are certain Senators on the Democratic side who want to vote one way or another on this bill. We understand that Senator Stiefel had expressed an inclination to want to vote on this bill. He told the Senator the other day that he did. Senator Stiefel has been injured in an automobile accident and, certainly, I do not believe that Senator Lane wants to take advantage of the injury of a brother Senator in order to railroad this bill through.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I say that those remarks were made in very poor grace.

Primarily, Mr. President, it is my understanding that they have the twenty-six or twenty-seven votes. Senator Stiefel happens to be a personal friend of mine, and Senator Stiefel has expressed himself both ways in regard to this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, we only allow them to vote one way.

Mr. LANE. I might say, Mr. President, that is the case. Senator Stiefel has expressed himself both ways and, therefore, I do not believe he has his mind made up entirely as to how he is going to vote on this legislation.

However, my thinking is that the bill is on the Calendar and as long as we keep carrying this bill over in order, there is going to be more fuss made on it. I think we should get rid of it today. I believe that we should vote on pari-mutuel betting rather than a referendum. I do not want to debate the bill and I do not mean to. However, it seems to me that I gave them the opportunity, and I was the one who held up the bill for awhile and I will admit that. Now everyone is well informed and I think we should resolve it today, instead of carrying this bill over because perhaps tomorrow I may not be here.

In the event that I am not here, will you carry it over, Senator Pechan?

Mr. PECHAN. If you were to request that of me, I am sure that I would. I want you to know, Senator Lane, that I am against this bill just as much as you are. I am against it, but I am doing it out of courtesy to Senators on both sides of the aisle.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell me how many more on your side are against it beside yourself?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not go into their business. I do not know what they are going to do.

Mr. LANE. I see.

Mr. PECHAN. Could you tell me what your side is going to do?

Mr. LANE. All I know is that I am opposed to it. I do not know what the other fellows are going to do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I withdraw my objection to Senate Bill No. 366 going over in its order.

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion that Senate Bill No. 366 (Pink), go over in its order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might make an observation that if this bill has as much trouble after it gets out on the track as it has getting out of the starting gate, it is going to be a slow race.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that this bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor
in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Watson, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Edward B. Watson) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, since we have been discussing Senate Bill No. 366 and I was not in a position where I could make a comment from the Chair, I would like it to be known to the Membership of the Senate that tomorrow or whatever day this bill is voted on, I will object to anyone being recorded either way who is not in the Senate to be so recorded.

I thought that should be a matter of record for the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as far as the record shows, there has been no time when any Senator has ever been recorded without being present on the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming)
in the Chair.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 596, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1933 (P. L. 1172) entitled "Borough Rural State Highway Law" adding a new route in Indiana County.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1040, Printer's No. 312, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before we go onto the Second Reading Calendar, I have a few bills I would like to present on behalf of practically all of the Democratic Senators, especially all of those here today.

By way of explanation, Mr. President, I would like to state that these bills deal with the recently announced program of the Governor which came about as a result of the studies made by the Higher Educational Commission. These bills tend to create in Pennsylvania a healthier atmosphere in the field of higher learning.

I believe that the Members of this Senate have heard myself and other spokesmen discuss this very important phase of our government in our everyday life on many occasions. Recently the Governor invited, on a very short notice, ninety-one of the outstanding educators in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to attend a conference on higher education. Eighty of them were able to be present, which is one of the highest batting averages yet achieved on a meeting called by any Governor covering such a wide field. Those who could not attend sent their regrets and had very valid reasons for not being able to attend.

At this meeting it was unanimously agreed upon by these educators in this Commonwealth that they would support or co-support a program as outlined by the Governor.

Early in the session, Senator Ehrgood and myself, and I believe that we had Senator Hays, Senator Kalman and Senator Pechan as sponsors of a bill increasing the number of scholarships in Pennsylvania and making them available at the liberal arts colleges. We had a limit of $800. There is a great similarity between this bill and one of the bills that I will introduce today.

Senator Kessler, of Lancaster County, sponsored Senate Bill No. 569, creating a State Council of Higher Education. That, too, is one of the bills in the package.

Senator Ehrgood, of Lebanon and Senator Mahany, of Crawford, co-sponsored with Senator Hays and Senator Dent, Senate Bill No. 256, creating the Higher Education Assistance Authority, and that, too, is part of the package.

I believe that Senator Fleming early in the game, early in the days of the Session, introduced Senate Bill No. 410, providing for the establishment of community colleges, including a substantial and extensive Commonwealth financing of such colleges. That, too, is contained in this group of bills.

This program, put in a nut shell, amounts to this. It creates 5,000 scholarships ranging from $200 to $800; the amount of the scholarship being based upon need, and the ability to receive a scholarship being based upon the ability of the student to pass a competitive test. No student in Pennsylvania is barred; all are eligible to take the examination, and every accredited college in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can be the recipient of the scholarship awards through the students.

One bill creates a State Council of Higher Education to manage the entire plan. It sets up a system of community colleges which will give those, who have no opportunity to go to college immediately after graduating from high school, a chance to attend night classes and the credits gained in these community colleges will dovetail into a college education at a degree college later on. The package sets up a system of making loans to the individual students to pay for their board and keep and buy clothes, where it is impossible for them to do so otherwise without aid from their families.

One of the lessons that we have learned over the past high tax years has been that the great backbone of this Country, in feeding into the business and into the industrial strength of this Nation in the management field, the middle-class Americans are finding it increasingly difficult year after year to provide the necessary funds to educate their children. This will be a great boon to them. Let no one say that what used to be a very prosperous, middle-class people in America has not looked upon better days. It is from this great reservoir that we must get the technicians and the professionals and the teachers of the future.

The State of California has opened up its colleges and universities absolutely free to any high school graduate without any competitive examination whatsoever. There is no such thing as a partial tuition. It is entirely open and there is no tuition to pay for a resident of the State of California, and residency is limited to only six months in the State of California.

The State of Ohio has ten State universities to take care of their requirements. We, in Pennsylvania, have three State-aided universities and only one land grant university. We have a backlog of sixty-six liberal arts colleges, second to none in the United States. However, nowhere along the line have we ever had the foresight to make it possible for these schools to expand and take within their confines the number of students desiring and seeking education. In the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, only twenty per cent of the high school graduates enter college. It is estimated that less than twelve per cent finish four years later.

We are in the position today of facing a hostile world. Let me say to you that I am convinced that the future will not be controlled by those who have the atomic bomb and control of the nuclear sciences. The future will still belong to that nation which takes care of its people to the extent that the individuals who comprise the population of that nation are trained to meet the ever mounding problems of an advanced civilization.

I say that we are short in this Nation. We are short on planning for education and we are short on facilities for education. Somewhere along the line, this kind of legislation must and will demand the attention of those who today pay little or no heed whatsoever to the crying needs of the future.

If the same attitude would have been taken back in 1863, there would not have been established in this Nation that great chain of land grant colleges which opened their doors for the first time to those of lesser means to acquire a higher education. The demand was made because a great many of the youth of that day were unable to attain an educated status simply because of financial difficulties. Today we are again faced with that situation. It is estimated that there are approximately 120,000 students in higher education today; roughly twenty per cent of our high school graduates. Yet, in Russia, they are today graduating more than that in the engineering techniques alone. Russia has created a school class known as the "technicom," in which they take the students from the twelfth grade and give them extensive two year training in the fields of technical craftsmanship, and they are creating more technicians today than all of the civilized world put together. These are the advanced agents that they send into the backward countries to help develop their natural resources and, at the same time, poison their minds against our kind of life in the democracies of the West.

I say to you that this goes beyond the present day cost to Pennsylvania. We do not hesitate to spend, we do not complain or quibble a bit when we are called upon to pass $130,000,000 for relief. We do not complain or let out any kind of a scream of anguish when we are called to pass $175,000,000 a biennium for the mentally disturbed and the mentally ill. We do not hear too much complaint, on the part of the Senators and the House Members, when we increase from $2,000,000 to well over $9,000,000 the State contribution for occupational disease compensation. We do not complain too much when we raise taxes to do many of the things that we do as part of our government, and yet this particular legislation, which will cost less than $4,000,000 to get it off the ground and into operation, seems to have run into a political stone wall.

I do not know what the opposition is except what I see in the papers. To say that this, as the Republican Leader of the House has said, is another step toward socialism, takes us back to the days of McKinley and the thinking of that particular reactionary group of that day. We are faced with a situation that does not belong to the Democratic Party; it does not belong to the Republican Party. It belongs to the American people.

We, in this Senate today, are the custodians of the future, just as our predecessors were the custodians of our day. Nevertheless, we have to face this situation whether we want to or whether we do not want to, whether we laugh at it or pooh-pooh it as a political gesture or not.

I offer to the Republicans the co-sponsorship of all of these bills. I want to make it as nearly nonpartisan and nonpolitical as it is humanly possible to make it. The Governor went way out on a limb. He even went so far as to suggest, at the risk of his political neck—and this is something that very few Governors have ever had the courage to do—the taxing and revenue-raising measures to support this program even when it reaches its climax.

Therefore, I say to you, I beg of you to consider this legislation in the light of the need. Today many of you sitting in this Senate, who graduated from colleges years and years ago when the only requirement you needed was a high school diploma and enough money to pay for your tuition and board, may not realize it but you cannot do that today. The schools are so small and the space so inadequate that they just reach up to the top of the list and take the cream or the so-called cream. Remember that high school marks are very seldom indicative of the kind of graduate you will get in college, and that many thousands upon thousands of the youth of this State of ours cannot even enter college today because of the lack of facilities. That is one of the reasons that this kind of legislation is necessary, to open up the opportunities, to create the facilities and to provide the necessary incentive to a greater higher educational standard in this State of ours.

We are faced with the same problem that Thaddeus Stevens was faced with when he faced a hostile Legislature, and to the everlasting credit of Thaddeus Stevens, he fought single-handedly for many years until he achieved the goal of public schools for everybody, regardless of ability to pay, in this great State of ours. The public school system, when it was originated, faced a much rougher road than what this program faces. Yet, as the need of today, this program is just as important as the public school program was in the days of Thaddeus Stevens.

So, I say to you Members on the Republican side, join with us, not in a partisan manner, but strictly in the manner of men faced with the responsibility to do that which has to be done. It will have to be done whether this Legislature does it or the next Legislature does it. This cannot be left undone. The future of this Nation, the future of this State, the future of the peoples of this Nation is at stake in the education of the people themselves.

Nowhere on the face of the earth is less attention being paid than we in America are paying today to the requirements of the future in our educational field. Somewhere along the line, enough men will get together who will have the courage to pass this or similar legislation in order to open up the great vistas of unproven wealth, prosperity and happiness that can only come from a Nation well educated and prepared to meet the problems of the future.

I ask that the committees, to which this legislation is referred, meet as soon as is humanly possible to give this legislation the kind of consideration that it deserves in the face of the needs of the Nation.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT, MAHANY, KOPRIVER, JR., LANE, KALMAN, WHALLEY, BARR, MCGINNIS, SCHMIDT and FLEMING read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 676, entitled:

A Supplement to the act of May 2, 1945 (P. L. 382), entitled "Municipality Authorities Act of 1945," granting certain powers to Authorities organized by a county or counties and engaged solely in the construction or acquisition and operation of water works, water supply works or water distribution systems with respect to the life of the Authorities, the issuance of bonds, the power of eminent domain, the laying of mains, the relocation and vacation of roads, the abatement of certain nuisances, the supplying of water to the public; conferring additional powers on the Secretary of Highways, municipalities, the courts of quarter sessions and courts of common pleas with respect to the Authorities; and removing jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission over certain contracts by the Authorities.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in listening to Senator Dent's presentation of the school bills which he introduced, he asked that it be done in a nonpartisan way and in that I agree with him thoroughly. However, I want to say to the opposition party that I have not really read any public comments made by any Members of the Senate. It seems that most of the comments have come from Mr. Norman Wood, who saw fit to increase the appropriation over and above the budget by about $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 for Penn State. I have no objection to that either if they borrow the money. Al Johnson inferred that we may be coming toward being a welfare State.

In any event, if this is not done in this Session of the Legislature, I fear that in the next gubernatorial campaign, I, for one, will take this issue to the public. If I were the candidate for Governor, I think I could win just on that one issue.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I realize that the Members of the Senate are anxious to leave here and my remarks will be short. However, I feel it is a matter of great importance, especially in view of the remarks made by the Senator from Westmoreland, John Dent.

Mr. President, this past week, the Philadelphia Committee on Higher Education received a report based on a twenty-five year study, whereby they made observations of admission practices of the professional schools throughout the State of Pennsylvania. They found one thing to be a fact and that was that the number of persons admitted was based, primarily, on ethnic groups, whereby the percentage taken in of these groups was constant. Therefore, you had a certain number of Catholics admitted at every session, a certain number of Jews, a certain number of Negroes, a certain number of persons of Italian extraction. Of the white Protestant Americans who were applying to the school, almost two-thirds of those were always admitted at every term. If these facts are in error, I would like to hear about it from the institutions themselves so that we can correct the record. However, when the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin heard of these statistics, it was quite amazed by them and wrote an editorial on this very problem. It closed its editorial by saying that if Doctor Jonas Salk had been excluded from medical school, who would have been the loser?

This is the problem which is facing us today when we have very few doctors in the communities. When you realize that every medical school only takes in 100 youngsters each semester, it is depriving our entire Country of proper medical help and medical skill, especially at a time when we are becoming more and more learned and cognizant of some of the killers of our society that are taking the toll of our population. This is a time when we need every single human being to help make this a better world in which to live. If we are going to continue this archaic practice and further it by not opening up our doors, by making it a policy of exclusion instead of one of inclusion of better students, we are going to be in great difficulty.

One of the things, Mr. President, which was most shocking in the entire study which was made was the fact that these students who were excluded were better than B average students. Therefore, we are excluding some of our better people and not just mediocre students. I would like to see persons admitted based primarily on merit and not on the basis of their race, color or creed. Unless we do this and wake up to the fact that we are hurting ourselves and preventing ourselves from obtaining the best possible minds that can possibly work on the problems which affect our society and our people, we are going to have a harvest to reap which will cause all of us great concern, including the generations coming after us.

These problems are important, and unless I hear within the next week or so from some of the universities that these statistics are absolutely false or are not based on the facts, I would like to ask that consideration be given to a study of this problem by this Senate.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 30, 1957, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

PRAYER

Rabbi Herbert Panitch, Kneseth Israel Congregation, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Gracious Father, Universal King:

We turn to Thee in prayer as we open this session today.

Grant that our thoughts and deeds this day be motivated by ideals of sincerity, forthrightness, and broad human sympathies. Banish from our hearts selfish considerations and narrow-minded endeavours.

Endow us with courage and determination to fulfill our responsibilities honorably to Thee, to our state, and to our fellow-men. Incline our hearts to pursue justice and mercy and to walk humbly before Thee.

Cause the light of Thy countenance to penetrate our lives. In hours of anxiety and confusion, grant us understanding and peace of mind. Amidst enveloping darkness, give us clarity of vision.

Inspire us to work unflinchingly and ceaselessly for the good of all men, and to perform good deeds and acts of piety before Thee. Speedily cause the fomentors of strife, intimidation, and conflict to fall.

Grant, O God, that the glorious example of our fathers may inspire us to meet the challenges of our day forthrightly and loyally.

May the precepts of our faiths ever motivate us to champion the rights of all human beings wherever and whenever they may be threatened. Amen.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order for the purpose of further study and amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like to ask the Majority Leader, Mr. Johnson, the reasons for the recommitment of this bill and whether it is going to come up again.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The reason for the recommitment is this, since we arrived here today there were three or four groups that had amendments to offer to the bill and there are more amendments being prepared. We thought it would be well to get the bill back to Committee so that all amendments could be given to the Committee for their perusal rather than take, the protracted time of this House, which would be the case with these numerous amendments.

Mr. PETROSKY. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Will the gentleman state whether or not further consideration as to the possibility of this bill being put in good legal form and coming out of the committee is possible?

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, I cannot answer the gentleman. It will be up to the Committee. As I say, a group of amendments were given to me just a few minutes ago and there are more being prepared. I suggest the bill go back to Committee and the amendments be offered to the committee, or a sub-committee, and then have the bill considered by the full Committee again. If they choose to release it for floor action, I would say that would be up to the Committee. I understand there are many groups that inadvertently have been included in the bill, and they would like to be able to present their amendments to the Committee so that they can be given thorough consideration.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to oppose recommittal providing it is done on the basis of trying to accomplish the means to an end that the original intent of the bill had.

I do not agree with it the way it is now written, and I will not oppose recommittal because I believe the Committee will be able to do a good job with it, put the bill in proper form and bring it back to the floor of the House so that we can take a position on it either for or against it.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. DALRYMPLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say to the House, that I feel some statement should be made about this bill, because in my opinion it is one of the most far-reaching pieces of legislation that has ever been on a House calendar during my career in the Legislature and therefore deserves an explanation as to the reason for recommitting the bill.

I know there are groups in Pennsylvania that would in all sincerity like to see a referendum on each of these four subjects. There are folks who would like to know whether we can have light opera, basketball games and things like that on Sunday, which is one of the first items in the bill. There are many who would like to know whether we should legalize lotteries and raffles. There are many proponents of bingo who would like to see that voted upon by the people; and of course, there is the never-ending argument in this state if we put in horse racing, it will balance, or help balance, the state budget.

Before we left last weekend, realizing the tremendous importance of this bill, we submitted the question to an able attorney as to whether a bill which covers so many subjects would be unconstitutional in that it would violate Article III, Section 3, of the state Constitution which says that all bills, except appropriation bills, shall pertain to only one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title.

We have an opinion to the effect that this bill is clearly unconstitutional in that there are at least two distinct subjects in the bill. One is whether we shall legalize educational, recreational and cultural activities on Sunday, and secondly, whether we shall legalize on a non-professional basis bingo, lotteries, raffles and horse racing. It is felt that there are clearly two subjects if not four subjects in the bill. We in the Legislature do not want to do a vain thing. We would not want to pass this bill and put it on the Governor's desk only to have it stricken down by the courts.

Therefore, it is felt the bill should go back to Committee for the Committee to do what they see fit with the bill with the idea that the bill is clearly unconstitutional. The referendum provided for is merely a means to an end and is not the real subject of the legislation.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL PASSED OVER

Senate Bill No. 116, Printer's No. 55
was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 145, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 19, 1931 (P. L. 589) entitled as amended "Barbers License Law" changing the required number of hours for schools of barbering.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 199, entitled:

An Act requiring the erection and maintenance of medial barriers or guards on the Pennsylvania Turnpike between the Donegal and Bedford interchanges.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. FILO offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by inserting after "Commission" or any successor thereto charged with the management and control of any turnpike.

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 4, by inserting after "direction" After erection of such medial guards or barriers between the Donegal and Bedford Interchanges not less than twenty miles of such medial guards or barriers shall be erected by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission or any successor thereto charged with the management or control of any turnpike each year along all other portions of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, until a medial guard or barrier has been erected along the entire length of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, these amendments are amendments to make a good bill a better bill. It is true when our Pennsylvania Turnpike was built it was called one of the greatest roads in the United States, if not in the entire world. With these amendments I propose, and I hope that you gentlemen see fit to go along with me, to make it one of the finest highways in the state and in the nation.

Actually, what these amendments do, the first part of the amendment is just a clarification. There has been quite a bit of talk about the Federal government taking over, or talk about financing by the Federal government, so that the Pennsylvania Turnpike would become a part of the Pennsylvania highway system.

If this were to be passed without this particular amendment referring to any other successor agency, this bill would have no effect.

If there is a possibility that the Turnpike may be taken over by the Highway Department and this bill passes as it is now designating the Turnpike Commission to build barriers from Bedford to Donegal, I am pretty sure the bill would have no effect upon the Pennsylvania Highway Department. Therefore, by adding the reference to any succeeding agency, I think the bill would have that effect.

The second part of the amendment is only an addition to the amount of barriers to be built on the Turnpike. Presently the bill states from Donegal to Bedford. That is all well and good, but there is not anyone in this Hall who can tell you, if we build barriers from Donegal to Bedford, that that is the only place on the Turnpike where they have these cross-over accidents.

Therefore, the amendment reads that after these barriers are built the Turnpike Commission shall add at least 20 miles of barriers each year along the entire length of the Turnpike.

I am sure if we vote for this legislation we may be helping one of our own Members or even ourselves.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am going to ask the House to vote down the offered amendments.

This bill is clearly an experiment. It is true the area in which the bill mandates the medial barriers has been a bad stretch as far as accidents are concerned. The thought is that if the bill passes and becomes law we will go ahead and build those particular barriers, and then we will have a chance to study its effect and when we come back in the next Session, if the experiment has proven satisfactory, we can then mandate 20 miles a year, or whatever that particular Session might want to do.

We feel that now we should pass this bill the way it is. It will cost $1,750,000, I have heard it estimated, to do the job this bill calls for.

Let us not tie the hands or overrule the discretion of the Turnpike Commission any further than this bill does at this time.

Mr. FILO. I would like to advise the Members of this House that we now have quite a number of miles of medial barrier on the present Turnpike. One has only to travel along this stretch of highway where they have these barriers and count the dents in that medial barrier in the center to learn how much it has helped.

I think we have experimented enough. I think we should protect the lives and property of the users of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The SPEAKER. The "nays" appear to have it.

Whereupon, A division was called for, seventy-seven Members voting in the affirmative and one hundred seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 19, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) directing the issuance of special registration plates for suburban motor vehicles and prescribing the fee thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill because I feel it will not solve the problem and is discriminatory. First against the family with a large number of children who use this type of vehicle for pleasure and all family puposes, second against the farmer or businessman who has to pay $16.50 or $26.50 for an R or S tag at the present time on a small type pickup or panel type truck. Those people such as bobtail bakers, cleaners, electricians, carpenters, television businessmen, florists and any number of businessmen now using small trucks and paying the proper license fee will change these trucks into station wagons and buy the station wagons because they will get a lower fee. They will have the dual use as a commercial vehicle and as a pleasure vehicle. There will be a resultant loss of revenue to the department, a $4.50 loss on the R tag and a $14.50 loss on the S tag. The R tag covers station wagons of the Plymouth, Chevrolet and Ford types at this present time. The S tag covers station wagons of the Oldsmobile, Buick, Chrysler and DeSoto types which are heavier vehicles.

This bill would partially recover that loss by raising the fee of the family man and charge him $12 instead of $10 which he now pays. You will say it is only two dollars, but it is a raise in fee. The Legislature at the present time is trying very hard not to impose any new taxes. This bill will do just that and on the motorist who is always one of the first to be hit.

I think there should be a difference in the fee and it should be spelled out. The person who wants to use the station wagon commercially should pay more. He is getting dual use out of it. I have not found anyone who uses his station wagon commercially who objects to pay the higher fee, but I have received a number of letters and complaints from the station wagon user who only uses it for his family pleasure.

We should have our Attorney General give a ruling to the police that is not arbitrary and more in keeping with what is intended regarding enforcement. If the police wanted to they could arrest many people for operating their pleasure cars for the same purpose and apply the section they are now using for arrests on station wagons.

We see many cars carrying ladders on the roof, wheelbarrows in the trunks and other mechanical equipment inside the car, hucksters selling from their cars, all of which are commercial, and the police do not bother them. Our Attorney General and Mr. Schreffler of the department have not issued instuctions for their arrest, and the police say they are not bothering these type of vehicles although they could.

New York State is now considering the reduction in license fees for station wagons. I can see no reason why we should impose an additional tax on the small family that uses its station wagon primarily for their own pleasure and to take their family on picnics and vacations.

I urge both sides of this House of vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is very similar to the bill that passed this House last session. About the only difference is, that bill bore an $18 tag and this a $12 tag.

I investigated to the best of my ability with the department, and they to the best of their ability tell me the registration stands about one to one.

The purpose of this bill is to protect the station wagon owner who is traveling with a $10 tag. There are many instances where farmers who have bought the station wagon for a passenger vehicle, came to town and decided they need a bag of chicken feed or a bag of grain. They buy it and throw it in the back of the station wagon and are picked up by the state police on their way home.

Likewise we have had instances where the average citizen with a $10 tag goes out into the country where they have these fruit marts along the road. They buy a couple of baskets of apples or peaches, put them in the back of their shtation wagon, and on the way home they are arrested for using it as a commercial vehicle. The only intent of this bill is to protect the owner of a station wagon with a $10 tag.

The gentleman mentioned the commercial end of it. I think it will be admitted that most of the commercial users are small electricians, plumbers and what have you. They are not the big operators. If we want to help them out and if we want to consider it in that light, all right. But the prime purpose of this bill is to protect the $10 tag owner from persecution by the state police. It simply puts all of the station wagons in one classification, the suburban classification.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support House Bill No. 19 and agree heartily with the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Strausser, inasmuch as this legislation is long past due. We need a suburban classification in the Motor Vehicle Department. I feel the rate at which it is being established in this proposal is very equitable and fair. It will tend to eliminate some of the practices that are going on today.

In many instances we have people who procure a regular passenger registration tag for $10, and they are violating the Act when they haul any material with that station wagon. We have others who classify the station wagon with an R plate and pay $16.50. So there is an inequity in the present system of operating this type of vehicle. This will remove that inequity.

It is good legislation and I suggest Members on both sides of the House vote "aye" on this bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

L. 468) entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner * * *" by changing the percentages of payments to be withheld by the Secretary of Highways pending satisfactory completion of contracts for the construction of State highways and bridges.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I shall Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman to explain the meaning of this bill.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, this bill does one thing, and that is this, on the final estimate of all these road building contracts it relieves the ten percent on the final estimate and brings it down to five percent.

The 10 percent on the final estimate of these road contracts causes a hardship to a lot of the contractors, as they have as much as $200,000 to $500,000 outstanding when the road is completed.

Naturally, they must pay their taxes, their labor and their material, and it is causing quite a hardship to a lot of the contractors, particularly as to the amount of the working capital. This bill reduces the final retention from ten percent to five percent.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether it is not now part of the law that when at least 95 percent of the work is completed the Secretary of Highways, for example, in highway work, can pay the contractor an amount in excess of 90 percent of the amount due?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. It probably is, Mr. Speaker, but they are not paying it at the present time in Pennsylvania. I might add that this is the only state in the union which has a final retention of ten percent on highway construction work.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman if he can tell me how long the law has been as it is at the present time?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, it has always been the law to retain ten percent when the final estimate has been given by the Department of Highways.

Mr. READINGER. Is it not true that this bill would repeal the provision in the present law in that it would provide that until one-half of the total work to be done had been completed the Secretary should retain ten percent of the amount due, but thereafter pay the full contract price prior to the actual completion of the required work?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. No. After the final estimate has been given, the Department of Highways may withhold ten percent of the final estimate until it has the final figures. We want to reduce that to five percent if it is at all possible.

The Commonwealth is amply protected by the performance, labor and material bonds for 100 percent completion of the job.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman say that the interpretation of this bill now before us which would allow contractors to receive full compensation for construction contracts without actually furnishing the full services they agreed to deliver is incorrect?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. It is incorrect because that is done in your labor, material and performance bonds and the Department of Highways cannot possibly lose a penny. This bill just relieves the financial burden on the contractors. Ten percent 20 or 25 years ago was all right, but today with the greatly increased cost of labor and material it is working a definite hardship on many of the contractors throughout the state.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask what difference there is between 20 or 25 years ago if the amount involved was a million dollars that was withheld? Was it any better then than it is now?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. How many miles of road do you build today for a million dollars as compared to what you did 25 years ago? It is the percentage.

Mr. READINGER. I ask the gentleman if a million dollars on any amount of work was withheld ten or 15 years ago, was it any better then than it is today, or any worse then than it is today?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. It is practically twice the amount, due to the increased cost of labor and material. As I stated before, it is working a definite hardship on many of the contractors through the Commonwealth.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether these contractors do not know when they bid these jobs that this is the law and that ten percent will be withheld until a certain time?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. They definitely do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. And the gentleman still says that is a hardship?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. It surely is.

Mr. READINGER. Then will the gentleman tell me why this is more of a hardship than the fact that the man must buy materials, equipment and finance the job until he gets his money?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Because of the fact that in the past six to eight months due to hard money rates of interest have gone up in all lending institutions and the contractors must pay more to borrow money in order to complete the job.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am not too familiar with this whole subject, but it seems to me if we have had a law on the books since 1911, which this bill would seek to amend, we should hear some better reasons for making this change than those which have been mentioned by the gentleman from Lancaster.

When a contractor bids a job, he must know what the law is and what obligations he is expected to fulfill. He knows he must have materials, he knows he must have equipment and he knows he must include certain costs in his estimate when he bids the job for bank financing for whatever carry-over period he will have.

No doubt it would be much better for every contractor involved if he could be paid the day an estimate of the amount of work completed was given. That would be fine, but suppose an inspection indicates that some of the work was not done properly. That is one of the reasons, and probably the main reason, for withholding a certain percentage as work progresses, so that there is always a cushion there for adjustment between the contractor and the state for the roads or whatever they happen to be building.

I say, unless somebody can produce some very good reasons for making this change in the law, I do not think it should be made. I do not see any particular hardship on the contractors, even though the gentleman says it is a hardship.

Of course, if a man bids a job and does not have proper financial backing, he will always have hardships. He ought to know before he bids a sizeable job that he has the necessary financial backing. He should have commitments on it so that when the money is needed to pay the suppliers and the employees he will have the money available.

I say we had better not pass a bill of this kind if we want to serve the people of Pennsylvania instead of some small select group.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I might say to Mr. Readinger that it causes quite a hardship on the smaller type of contractor, I grant you. The man who has a lot of money back of him bids a $5 million job, in which event the retention is only a half a million. However, you take a lot of road builders from whom you retain ten percent to build a million dollar road $100,000 is a lot of money.

It is just the same thing throughout. It is just the saving of the five percent. The Department of Highways is still protected by the performance, labor and material bonds.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman did not ask me a question but he phrased his statement in such a way that it sounds like a question.

In answer to him, Mr. Speaker, I would say since all of these jobs are protected by performance bonds, would the gentleman argue that there is no need to have any amount withheld? Why the five percent withholding if they are protected by the bond? We do not need to withhold anything. Let the bonding company worry about it.

Mr. P. K. MURRAY. The gentleman probably might have a point, Mr. Speaker, but that is not the way it is done.

Mr. READINGER. Then I suppose the performance bond premiums would jump way up and that would bring up the cost of a job for the state and the state would still lose no matter how you look at it.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. In fact the premiums on the bonds came down recently.

Mr. STRAUSSER. Mr. Speaker, I am not a road builder. I want to get that straight first.

The remarks of the gentleman from Berks are well taken, but let me first point out, I suppose the road contracts are the same as any other building contracts for state projects.

A contractor furnishes first the completion bond to guarantee the completion of the project, be it a road, a building or what not. He also furnishes a bond guaranteeing the payment of all labor and materials.

One point that the gentleman from Berks brings up is, are the contractors familiar with the retained percentage when he bids; and if he is smart, he will figure the interest on the money he has to borrow to finance the last ten percent of his job. That may be so. But if this is reduced to five percent and the same contractor takes that job, you can see that when he figures on borrowing money, he is only figuring on half of what he needs on a five percent retainer than he would on a ten percent. It sounds to me as though the state would benefit by reducing the retained percentage to five percent.

As far as defective workmanship and material is concerned that the gentleman brought up, again I want to point to the fact that this material bond guarantee that the state shall get a 100 percent job, and any defective work or material that turns up for a year after the completion of that job must be rectified or replaced by the contractor. If the contractor is defunct, the bonding company replaces the damage or the inferior part of the job.

I believe it is a good bill. I am not pleading for any road contractors but for economy in government in that you are liable and most certain to get lower bids on state projects if this bill were put through. I am in favor of the bill.

I might also point out that many road contractors have waited not one year but two years after the completion of a road job before they receive their final payment. This I do not think is fair and I do not think anyone in this House thinks it is fair.

I think when you take everything into consideration, this is a good bill not only for the contractor but for economy to the state.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to tell me if there is not another amendment also in this bill?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I did not get the gentleman's question.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Is there not another amendment besides the one we have been discussing also in this bill?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. That is the only one, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. The interest that is to be paid after 90 days, is that already in the law?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. That is bill 712, that is not bill 711.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I am sorry, Mr. Speaker, I was looking at the next bill, but it also deals on this same subject.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. That is right.

Mr. LOPRESTI. And in the next bill, if we pass this one, we are going to be asked to vote upon paying the interest to the contractor on the five percent that is being retained, is that correct?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. In the event the Department of Highways does not pay the final bill within 90 days after the final estimate has been approved by the Department of Highways, yes.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I am sorry, I read the wrong bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker. House Bill 711 of course must be considered in the light of House Bill 712. This bill unfortunately is a trifle cloudy. It needs clarification.

The gentleman from Berks is quite right when he says it would be possible under the terms of this bill for a contractor to receive practically all of his money before all of the adjustments have been made with the contractor. If he did not receive all of his money on what was due him, the Commonwealth would have to pay him five percent.

It happens that over the years I have had some contracts, direct and indirect, with a great many contractors. Having been for five terms a member of the various authorities, I have participated in the expenditure of more than $425 million.

I am perfectly acquainted with the fact when a contractor is in the clear and has no reason why he must negotiate with the Highway Department, he can drag the matter out and make it very, very difficult for the Highway Department—or in the case of the authorities with which I am acquainted—to compel the contractor to come across with the details of construction in accordance with the specifications. But where the contractor knows there is ten percent being withheld, he expedites his work; he negotiates with the party with whom he has the contract in good faith.

There are some contractors who do not always make money on their contracts. A contractor who is so disposed can find a way whereby the employer, either the Commonwealth or an authority, is required to turn to the bondsmen for the rest of its money.

This is a contractor's bill, written in the interest of contractors with the retaining of ten percent as the work progresses, the contractor getting the rest. If he is on the job he does not have to wait very long for his money, because if he is on the job, the deal can be closed and he is paid forthwith. If he has been dilatory and has attempted to cut corners—and it must be admitted many contractors do cut corners where there might have been a quarrel, such matters have gone to arbitration. A great many contractors could settle a great many of their disputed claims which now end up in arbitration. The contractor having no equity in the possession of the employer would find arbitration a very convenient expedient.

So this bill is a contractor's bill admittedly. The Commonwealth does not receive the benefits of this bill because it is drawn to favor the contractors.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether it is not true that at the present time the law as it now stands permits the Secretary of Highways to pay in excess of 90 percent of the contract price where 95 percent of the work has been completed?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, in all estimates, whether it be 10, 20, 30, 40, or 50 percent of the work completed, the Department of Highways retains 10 percent.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. The gentleman did not answer my question.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Mr. Speaker, I am giving the gentleman a case under the law as it now stands without this amendment.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, is it not true under the existing law where 95 percent of the work has been completed, although the law says that ten percent must be retained, the Secretary of Highways has discretion to pay in excess of 90 percent? Is that not so?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I cannot answer that question Mr. Speaker. I was always under the impression that the ten percent of the final was withheld.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Let me read it for the gentleman:

"The Secretary of Highways may at his discretion make payments in excess of 90 percent of the work done or of the contract price when at least 95 percent of the work under the contract has been completed."

That is in the existing law now, so that the 10 percent is not an absolute withholding. The Secretary of Highways, I suggest to you, does have discretion at the present time to pay in excess of 90 percent where at least 95 percent of the work has been completed under the contract.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. That might be correct, yes.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 712, entitled as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 33 of the act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 468) entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department * * *" by changing the percentages of payments to be withheld by the Secretary of Highways pending satisfactory completion of contracts for the construction of State highways and bridges and by providing for payment of interest on amount withheld and on final payment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to take much time on this bill because in addition to what Bill 711 has done this would provide that the state would have to pay five percent interest to the contractor on any amount retained over and above the five percent which House Bill 711 allows.

This bill is worded as follows:

"In addition to the payments herein authorized the Secretary of Highways shall pay to the contractor interest at the rate five (5) per centum per annum on the amount retained and on the final payment due the contractor beginning ninety (90) days after the work under the contract has been completed or after the work under the contract has been substantially completed and opened to public use. * * *

This bill does not even include the words "satisfactorily completed." So we might get a situation like this, the contractor might have completed his work but in a very unsatisfactory manner, so unsatisfactory that there could be a terrific offset against his total bill on the part of the state. The third might drag through proceedings in court for a year and a half, during which time the contractor would be entitled to five percent of the disputed amount.

Even if the Commonwealth was successful in having an offset on a claim for work done improperly, and so forth, the way this bill is worded the Commonwealth could still be liable for five percent of the amount it withheld because it did not get a decent job. All it says is that the work is completed.

A man can complete a house and the house can fall down in a year or two because of improper construction, and a road can crumble, or a road can do lots of other things even after it is completed if it is not done properly and according to specifications.

I say the House should emphatically vote this bill down.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is it not true that a contractor under this bill can be paid five percent on 30 percent of the work done when only 70 percent has been completed?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Will the gentleman repeat that question again, please?

Mr. SHERMAN. I will put it in simpler language. If the contract has been 70 percent completed, can the contractor under this bill still be paid five percent interest on the 30 percent yet to be completed?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. This bill says upon final satisfactory completion.

Mr. SHERMAN. Am I right in quoting that this bill not only says "completed," but it says if it is "substantially completed and opened to public use?"

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. This bill only pertains to work where the final estimate has been approved by the Department of Highways, road finally completed.

Mr. SHERMAN. Will you answer a simple question? Does the bill provide the payment of interest on the amount not paid when "substantially completed and opened" to the public?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. This bill only applies to the final completed job.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, may I read this particular part to the sponsor, "has been completed or after the work under the contract has been substantially completed and opened to public use."

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Where is the gentleman reading from?

Mr. SHERMAN. Page 11, lines 5 and 6.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. If this highway, the payment of which we are discussing, is open to the public, then it has been substantially completed.

Mr. SHERMAN. Therefore, when substantially completed, if the contractor is not paid, five percent on the amount due would run for 90 days after that date, is that correct?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. The final estimate has to be approved by the Department of Highways before the road is completed.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is there anything in the bill stating that? I would appreciate your reading it.

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. "In addition to the payments herein authorized the Secretary of Highways shall pay to the contractor interest at the rate of five per centum per annum on the amount retained"—that means final estimate—"and on the final payment due the contractor beginning ninety (90) days after the work under the contract has been completed or after the work under the contract has been substantially completed and opened to public use as the case may be and running until the date when such amount retained and final payment are tendered to the contractor."

Mr. SHERMAN. Under this bill, Mr. Speaker, if the contract has been almost completed, and some boards laid for the public to use that particular highway, either to go across or in any other fashion, and the contractor does not complete his job, would not the contractor be entitled to five percent on the amount retained?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. He would not.

Mr. SHERMAN. May I ask what the gentleman means by "substantially completed?"

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. Substantially completed, exactly what the bill says when it is "opened to public use." The Department of Highways will not give a final estimate until the road has been turned over to the Department of Highways by the contractor.

Mr. SHERMAN. Would the gentleman agree to an amendment putting in what he just said?

Mr. P. G. MURRAY. I think it is very plain in the bill. The bill calls for that as it is written right now.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is it the practice to pay the contractor in full if there are no items in dispute? It very frequently happens that there are items in dispute. The contractor says he has fulfilled his obligation, that he has built the road in compliance with the specifications. The Highway Department says, no.

On a substantial contract there may be $100, or $200,000 in dispute and they should go to arbitration of some kind.

This bill should provide that if as a result of arbitration or court action the contractor is right, then on the money which has been withheld he should have five percent interest. I agree with that. But if it develops that the Commonwealth is right, that the contractor has done defective work, and he says, the road is there, it is open to cars, it will take travel, but the Commonwealth says certain portions of it were not built in accordance with specifications and if it comes about that the position of the Commonwealth is sustained, then the contractor most certainly should not be paid five percent on the money which he said was owing to him. The position of the Commonwealth is, you fix it right and we will pay you.

If he has fixed it right and they dispute it, then he should have his money on delayed payment. If it eventuates that the contractor is wrong and he has to do some of his work over, then he should not be paid five percent because of the fact that he has done defective work.

That is exactly what this bill does. It would reward him with five percent on items in dispute when he proved to be wrong.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, apropos of what Mr. Andrews said, you can also envision the possibility of a contractor, a road builder, getting 11 percent. He would get this five percent, and in addition to that if he brought his suit against the Commonwealth, and he received six percent interest in the suit, that would be 11 percent.

I think Mr. Andrews tried to talk to the intelligent Members. I would like to talk to the crap-shooters for a moment. You notice that the first bill was 711; that bill went through. This bill is 712. I say this bill which is much, much worse than 711 should certainly be defeated because this is just a giveaway to the contractors of what they are not entitled to.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker I think I am on the right bill now.

This bill deals with two things. It deals with the amount retained and also the final payment. So we have two items that we are discussing, the amount retained and the final payment.

Now then, as was pointed out by Mr. Sherman, it also deals with two other things, completed contracts and substantially completed contracts opened to public use. All of us know many times the roadbed has been completed and opened to public use but the berms have not been graded, some of the bridges have not been completed, perhaps the guardrails have not been installed and many other things that could happen that the contract is not fully completed, but it could be termed perhaps "substantially completed."

The question arises in my mind, who is going to determine when the contract is substantially completed? If you have left off the guardrails and the roadway itself has been built, is that a substantial completion? If the berms have not been graded or some of the bridges have not been completed, would that be considered a substantial completion?

I believe this bill allows a lot of room for speculation. Such speculation in my opinion would become very dangerous and costly to the Commonwealth.

As was pointed out, I believe it to be the law if a contractor has an amount coming from the Commonwealth and he has to go into litigation and is awarded a verdict, I believe that verdict carries interest. The only time the contractor could lose here would be if he were wrong in a litigated affair, and then he would not get the interest and he would probably lose some of his last payment or probably some of the money retained. I do not think we should have a bill whereby it would be possible to reward a contractor who is derelict in his duty.

In addition to that five percent might be a pretty good interest rate and might constitute a temptation in some cases not to complete or not to agree to a reasonable settlement of a disputed claim. The five percent interest rate might be worth more to the contractor than getting his money right away. I think this would discourage claim settlements, and I think this is a very, very bad bill and should not be passed.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the request of the President pro tempore of the Senate, the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, the Chair is presiding at today's Session.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, D. D., Pastor of United Church of Aspinwall, Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

Let us bow in the spirit of prayer.

O God, the Fountain of life and the Sun of our Souls, we pause now to give Thee thanks that by Thy mercy another day of labor is added to our lives; for these Senators assembled, a day filled with hours carrying the burdens of responsibility, but also of high privilege in public trust.

For all we pray, that our eyes may be open to receive new light and our ears open to discern the truth from the voices that are calling, to make the world new by the power of justice, of righteousness and of love in action.

Fit us each, O Father, for the tasks that are ours and endue us with the spirit of that heavenly kingdom which is to come upon earth where all men shall walk and work as children of the highest.

We invoke now Thy blessing, O Lord, upon our land and its leaders in all the affairs of State; upon the President of our Country, upon the Governor of our State and upon all who shoulder, day by day, the load of decisions to be made in the best interest and well-being of all people.

May Thy spiritual Presence be so manifested in the deliberations of this Assembly that it will convince, convict and consecrate the labors of this day to Thy Name' honor and glory, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen

SENATE BILL No. 366 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 3 of today's Third Reading Calendar, Senate Bill No. 366, (Pink).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 366, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, today the Governor issued a release in which he stated that he would probably veto this bill if it reached his desk. I understood that a couple of weeks ago he had made a statement that he would sign it if it reached his desk. Therefore, it certainly shows once again that the Governor is certainly vacillating from week to week. He should have given this consideration two weeks ago before he made his original statement.

I feel it is also out of order for the Governor to deliver to our desks a statement as to his position in trying to influence the Legislature to vote one way or another on a bill which is pending before us. It looks to me as though the Governor wants to receive a standing acclaim at the Conference of Churches, to be called next Tuesday in Harrisburg. He is looking to his political future. He probably figures that he has the Democrats in the bag and that most of the Democrats are in favor of the horse racing bill. He is trying to cater to a few of what we call our "Bible Belt" area persons of the State of Pennsylvania by now taking a switch on this bill. It would appear to me that, in spite of what the Governor says, he is protesting a little bit too much when he states that he is not using this for political advantage. As a matter of fact, it might be to his political disadvantage. I do not think he would make it if he thought it was going to react to his political disadvantage.

Mr. President, to get back to the bill, I am speaking not as the Majority Leader of the Senate or as a representative of the Republican Party, but merely as the Senator from Crawford and Mercer Counties. There are many people in my District who tell me, when I go back home, that they would like to go to a race track in Pennsylvania and would like to have the opportunity of voting one way or another on horse racing legislation. They tell me that instead of having to get into their cars and traveling to Cleveland or some other part of Ohio, they would rather go to a track near Pittsburgh, if such a track were available.

All this bill does, Mr. President, is permit us to find out one way or another how the people of Pennsylvania feel in relation to horse racing legislation. It does not bind us to anything, but it merely is what you might call taking the public pulse as to how the people feel in relation to this type of legislation. If the people feel that it is good legislation and an overwhelming majority vote in favor of it, then some future Session of the Legislature may enact a bill which would provide for it with adequate safeguards.

I do not agree with the Governor that it would cost one-third of a million dollars to conduct this poll. I do not know where he got that figure. However, I cannot imagine that it would cost more than $25,000 or $30,000 at the most. I do not even know that it would cost that much. It would be a part of the ballot at the next election and it certainly should not cost a great deal of money on our part to present that question to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order for us to have some guide as to their wishes in relation to this matter.

For that reason, Mr. President, I expect to vote "aye" in favor of this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, like the Senator from Crawford, whom I have learned to know as a capable and honorable Member of this Senate, I speak, too, for myself.

The Governor of this State has every right to express an opinion of his own. He has the same right, too, to change that opinion as often as he wants to. If, at a newspaper press conference, he decided that it was proper to allow the people to decide an issue of such grave importance and, at this moment, has decided against that course, that, too, is his business. However, Mr. President, the obvious attempt to influence this legislation by presenting to us a statement, such as was found on our desks this afternoon, is one which goes beyond the duties of the Governor in that we operate under a Constitutional form of government. That government is made up of three distinct branches, each independent of the other. When one of these branches becomes subservient to the other, to the extent that a mere veiled threat of future action by one branch of this government against the action of another branch can determine the course of action of any particular branch of that government, we are deteriorating as a democracy.

I note here that the Governor said—and I would like to read it to be sure that I am right. I quote from the Governor's press release as follows:

"I have said in the past that I would not oppose a referendum on this question, though I repeatedly and publicly have expressed my opposition to pari-mutuel betting.

"Upon long second thought, after giving this problem deep and intensive consideration, I have decided that any approval of this horse racing referendum represents a side-stepping of responsibility.

"I don't believe in side-stepping responsibility any more than I believe in gambling."

Of course, Mr. President, the record shows that as a Member of this Senate, the Governor voted for a referendum.

At this time, it might be good to reflect a little upon the Constitution of Pennsylvania. This Constitution of ours provides that any change in that Constitution cannot be legislated nor enacted by the General Assembly, but it must be presented by referendums to the people of the Commonwealth. I take the inference from such a constitutional provision to mean that changing the basic law of the Commonwealth is a problem which the people must decide. Ever since I have been a Member of this Senate and House, it has been the custom and the procedure, under both Republican and Democratic control, when there was a change in the basic moral laws of the State, or dealing with the morals of the people themselves in their adherence to the so-called Blue Laws, or nonadherence to such laws, that it has been decided by the people in referendum.

It would be presumptuous of me to speak for three hundred and twenty odd thousands of people in my county in dealing with a situation that is purely a matter of personal inclination and desire. I have said publicly, and will say now, that at no time will I stump the State, the county or the District either in favor of or against this referendum. This is the same position I took when I voted for the referendum on Sunday movies, Sunday sports, Sunday fishing and liquor laws. I believe these are questions which the people themselves are best able to answer. I have a great deal of faith in the integrity, the honesty and the intelligence of the people. When any of us loses that faith, then we are tearing at the very vitals that constitute this great government of ours. The majority of the people must rule in a democracy.

There has not been any pressure put on me by either the opponents of this legislation, which is not the normal pressure, or any pressure whatsoever put on me for the passage of the legislation. I have stood steadfast through the years, standing always on that particular position that I would not inflict upon the people of my District my judgment when it comes to matters such as this. The record speaks for itself and the people have spoken for themselves. I say to you that the people will speak loudly and clearly in a matter of this kind. I have no quarrel with those who believe it is a question which they must oppose on moral grounds, but I do have a quarrel with those who believe that those of us who stand and vote for this legislation are side-stepping our responsibility or, by any stretch of the imagination, are immoral either in our action, our attitude or our characters.

Mr. President, I have known some good men in my time who have opposed vigorously the opening up of the Sabbath for sporting events or the opening up of the Sabbath for fishermen. However, I have watched these same men vote for the right of the people to make the decision. To those who oppose it, they can go out and tell their story of why they oppose it. To those who feel strong enough to favor it, they can go out and tell the people, too. Then, the people themselves will decide.

I have no idea how the vote will go; I have no idea of who will be the forerunners in the battle either for or against. I have some suspicion as to some of the motives that might be emanating from some sources, but they are the kind of suspicions that creep into the minds of all of us when we think deeply about a subject of this kind and without any standing in fact. Therefore, suspicions will just have to remain in the background and in the dark. However, as for a fact, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I would not hesitate to vote for this whether the Governor has decided again that he wants to exercise his perfect right to change his opinion. I do not know what he will do when this gets to his desk. As of this moment, I doubt whether the Governor knows. If it has only been a week or so since he changed his position completely, no man, including the Governor, can say what he will do next week.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the direction of the President pro tempore, the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, the Chair at this time calls the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have listened to the statements of both the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders, and I think that I can clarify a few points here.

First, I want to say to the Majority Floor Leader that according to the way the bill is written, it will necessitate an individual and separate ballot. I have checked on the cost and I find that for the ballots—that is the originals—the cost will be approximately forty dollars a thousand. Naturally, you will have to have specimens. Those costs will run about sixteen dollars a thousand.

I checked with the Secretary of the Commonwealth and I find that as of the last General Election, there were registered in Pennsylvania 5,422,150 people. I figured it out on an all-ballot basis because there is no way you can figure the cost as far as voting machines are concerned. So, I figured that the total cost of this referendum, as far as paper ballots are concerned, will be $303,640.40. Now that figure will not be that high when you take into consideration the voting machines and, as I said before, I do not know what the cost might be.

Issue has been taken here with the Governor of Pennsylvania, and I feel that I must stand on this floor and support the position he has taken. I feel that as Governor of the Commonwealth, he has the right to change his mind; he has the right to express an opinion upon this referendum.

I am opposing this referendum because, I am sorry to say, I do believe that we are dodging our responsibility. We are elected representatives of the people and I would be willing to take this floor and vote on the bill itself and not postpone a decision by a referendum.

When we speak of referendums, it seems that there is a divided opinion and that it all depends upon the circumstances. I, for one, feel that the referendum will postpone our decision because if everyone is so confident that the referendum will pass, it will mean that then we will have to face the decision. We will have to vote one way or another on pari mutuel betting in Pennsylvania.

In my lifetime in public life, I have served in many capacities. I am firmly convinced—as a matter of fact, I am profoundly convinced—that gambling is one of the chief causes for the breaking up of homes. An able horseman once said that the only way you can beat the horses is to whip them, and that seems to be true.

I feel that as far as gambling is concerned in this great Commonwealth, the majority of the people do not want pari mutuel betting. I do not believe any person who has any I.Q. at all could ever take the position that you can beat the horses. What is it going to do as far as business is concerned?

The State of Nevada, which legalizes all sorts of gambling, has the lowest, or almost the lowest, standard of living of any State in the United States because of the people trying to make a fast buck at the race tracks.

I feel my position is sound and I am speaking for all the people. I do not believe that the people want us to waste time on a referendum. I believe they would rather we would stand up here and be voted. I received a lot of correspondence on this legislation, and I will say to you that it is running about fourteen to one against. Most of it is from my county, so that is the reason I take this position. I voted this way before because, as I say, gentlemen of this Senate, we should not criticize anyone for the position they take, but we have here a moral obligation, an obligation to face the problems as they come before us and I do not believe that we should postpone such a major problem. I think we should stand here and vote on this legislation.

As far as the bill itself is concerned, I do not believe that we should spend $250,000 or $300,000 of the taxpayers' money in order to use this referendum as an excuse to get off the hook one way or the other. Therefore, I am going to oppose the passage of this legislation, and I ask the Members on both sides of the aisle to remember the letter we received last week, whereby I think it was a Mr. Schmitt said that he would fight to the death, or to the limit, any Member of this Senate who opposed this referendum. He also said that his organization was fast growing into a million dollar corporation.

I want to serve notice to him here today that as far as I am concerned, he does not scare me one iota. If I am going to go down in defeat as a public official for voting for what I think is right, I will then accept that defeat. I do not believe that the thinking people of Pennsylvania, the Christian people of this great Commonwealth, want us to waste their time on referendums. We should stand up here and vote on the bill itself and decide on the bill. If the bills wins, those who vote for it can take the credit. If the bill loses, those who vote against it can take the credit.

That is all I have to say. That is the position I have maintained in the past, and I will at this time also. I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise to oppose the passage of this bill. I certainly have no quarrel with anything that the Governor may have done. It has been alleged that he has shifted position and that is probably true, but I certainly do agree with the Governor of Pennsylvania when he says that we are shifting our responsibility. I think unquestionably it is the duty of every elected Member of any Legislative Body to decide in that Body what tax measures are enacted, what is legalized and what is not. I certainly do not think that we should take any refuge in the form of a referendum.

There may have been times when we have had State-wide referendums. I looked it over, but I can find no time when we had a State-wide referendum with the exception of Constitutional amendments. There may have been some, but I cannot find them. Certainly we have had referendums on local issues and in local situations, such as Senator Dent announced, on movies, on liquor licenses and so on, but not on a State-wide basis.

I would feel that we are undermining the representative form of government if we do not come here and vote our convictions. Certainly each and every one of us, in my opinion, should vote the way that he feels his constituency in his own Senatorial District believes. I am firmly of the opinion that of the some 350,000 that I represent in the Senate of Pennsylvania, the great majority of them would wish me to vote "no" on this measure were it in front of us strictly on the basis of whether or not we were to legalize pari mutual betting.

I think the only question before us today is whether or not we believe in legalizing pari mutuel betting. I am unalterably opposed, and will continue to be unalterably opposed, to legalizing gambling in any manner, shape or form as long as I am a Member of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania. The evils that can come out of legalizing gambling certainly will far outweigh any good that possibly could come to us. If any of us are laboring under any misapprehension of the great tax revenues that would come to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, certainly let me disabuse your mind on that.

In our surrounding States in 1956, the highest collection was in New York State where I think they took in a little in excess of $61,000,000. They have had racing since Colonial times. New Jersey took in $22,000,000; Maryland, $7,000,000; Delaware, slightly under $2,000,000; West Virginia, slightly under $3,000,000; and Ohio, about $6,500,000. Therefore, anyone who has any idea that we would solve any of the financial problems of Pennsylvania by the enactment of, and legalizing of, pari mutuel betting certainly cannot be thinking straight, when we are dealing with a total budget in the Highways Fund and in the General Budget of approximately $2,000,000,000. It is a drop in the bucket from that standpoint.

I know some of the proponents—and I do not mean any of the proponents in the Senate of Pennsylvania—on the outside have tried to say to the people of Pennsylvania that here is a vehicle by which you can finance a lot of the State's difficulties; here is the vehicle by which you can raise the extra revenue that you need to do all the things that we want done in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That absolutely is not so. We could not hope to possibly take in more than $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 a year for the first eight or nine years, which is the length of time it will take to get tracks established in Pennsylvania.

I think we would all be agreed that there are only about three places in Pennsylvania, if we were to legalize racing, where tracks could be established, and the take from the tracks' standpoint would certainly be infinitesimal when you compare it with the necessity of raising $2,000,000,000.

I repeat to you gentlemen of the Senate that we should not dodge our responsibilities as representatives of the people. We should meet this issue head-on. We should decide whether or not we are in favor of legalizing gambling.

I again repeat that I could not be in favor of legalizing gambling in any manner, shape or form in Pennsylvania. I have no quarrel with those of you who think that that might be the thing to do. You have every right to believe that if you so believe it. However, do not let us dodge behind a screen, if you please, which takes us off the hook of voting whether we shall be for or whether we shall be against gambling.

It would make just as much sense, gentlemen of the Senate, if we decided that we were going to submit to the people, by a referendum vote, the question of whether or not we should give the teachers of Pennsylvania a raise in salary, or whether or not we should supply new buildings for school children. We have every bit as much right to submit those questions to the people of Pennsylvania as we do submitting this question to them. I say that these questions are the ones that we are sent down here to decide. I think certainly that we should face our duty and decide these questions purely on the merits of the issues; decide them the way our conscience dictates to us, and vote whether we are for them or whether we are against them.

We could certainly, if we wanted to, drift into the trend of the old plebiscite whereby you submitted to the people any major question, but I do not think that is the type of government we want. That is certainly not the representative form of government. For that reason, I would urge every man here to vote according to the dictates of his conscience. If he feels that it is wrong to legalize gambling in Pennsylvania, then that man should vote against this bill. If he figures it is right to legalize gambling, then certainly it is his right and it is probably his duty to vote for it.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DONOLOW. Senator Fleming, I respect your views and the purpose of this question is not with the thought of embarrassing you or your opinions. However, I would just like to know whether, if the people in your District would vote overwhelmingly for the legalizing of gambling, would you follow their dictates?

Mr. FLEMING. That is purely a hypothetical question. I would presume that I would be swayed, yes, as the representative of those people. However, if I may say further, I am absolutely convinced, Senator Donolow, that the people in my District would vote overwhelmingly against it.

Like Senator Lane has said, his mail ran about fourteen to one against it. I do not know how much my mail ran against it, but I assure you that it ran heavily against it. We have about 300 names down in my office and I said to my Secretary this morning, "Just put them aside; I do not know when I am ever going to get an opportunity to answer them."

Mr. DONOLOW. Thank you, Senator Fleming.

Mr. President, I should like to very briefly comment on the statement made by His Excellency, the Governor.

Mr. President, I do not often disagree with the Governor, but I must say publicly that I certainly do not agree on the tactics used here in reference to this bill. I do not think that this Body should have, in any way, been pressured into coming to a conclusion as to how we desire to vote on this bill. If the Governor is interested in vetoing it, naturally that is a right which belongs to him. To issue this type of statement at this time certainly was not for the best interest of democracy in Pennsylvania.

I have heard discussion on the floor by both my respected colleagues, Senator Lane and Senator Fleming, in reference to the cost of balloting and in reference to the cost and trouble that this Commonwealth would go through in putting this question to a referendum. I sit here in a great amazement to think that democracy in Pennsylvania is being put on a dollar and cent basis.

As a younger Member of this Senate, Mr. President, I took great delight in the knowledge that I could serve in a Body in which I represent the people of a district, being interested in their welfare and in the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania. When the opportunity presented itself and I could feel the pulse of the people in my District, regardless of cost, every man in this room should jump at that opportunity.

I am not interested in legalized gambling and I am not interested in race tracks. I have attended a race track three times in my entire adult life. If I never go there again, I will never miss anything. However, to stand here and argue about depriving the people back home of the privilege of saying "yes" or "no" on something which belongs to them is certainly being impotent on our part, especially when we say that we do not want them to vote because we want to tell the people what is good for their morals. We are saying, "We will dictate to you what is right and what is wrong; leave it to us." Mr. President, I do not want that responsibility on something as important as a race track in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I will say publicly now that if the vote in my District would not be overwhelmingly for pari mutuel betting, I would not and will not vote for such a bill on this floor. However, if the people of my District vote overwhelmingly and present their sentiments as desiring a race track or pari mutuel betting in Pennsylvania, then I shall follow their dictates. It was their vote which gave me the voice on this floor today, and it is their dictates which I will continue to follow.

I am not voting for gambling today. I will never vote for gambling. I am not voting for a race track today, nor will I, unless I am directed by the people of Pennsylvania. I am voting to give the people of my District a right to vote.

You know, I have received letters from the people of my Senatorial District telling me that if I vote for this referendum, they will not vote for me to come back here next year. Well, Mr. President, if the practice of democracy in this State means that I shall be defeated, then I am going to practice democracy because without it, we have lost all in Pennsylvania. The people in my District are going to have an opportunity to instruct me how to vote on this bill. The day that I will turn my back on my people to instruct me, will be the day when they can turn their backs on me.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, may I say that I envy Senator Fleming. I envy him because he is convinced that the people of his District do not want horse racing. I wish I would know the answer in my own district. Honestly, I do not know what the answer will be in my District.

Mr. President, I think it is stretching it a bit far when we say that people who go to race tracks commit immoral acts; that they are immoral. If we stick to such a philosophy, then we are condemning the State of New York as being an immoral State, the State of New Jersey as being an immoral State, the State of Ohio as being an immoral State and the State of Maryland as being an immoral State.

Mr. President, as Senator Donolow said, he does not go to the track often and neither do I. I will confess here that I get some season tickets to one of the race tracks, and I do not have the time nor the interest to go. For two years straight, I have not used the tickets once. However, Mr. President, I do honestly and sincerely want the people in my District, a very intelligent District, to tell me what they want on this question. I am not going to call them immoral if they vote for a race track nor will I accuse them if they vote against it.

Mr. President, it is for these reasons that I feel this is a question which I should not decide here by my self when the opportunity is given to the people to say what they want.

The opponents had better not raise the question of money in this case. Even if it costs $300,000, supposing it does cost that, look at the answer they are opening themselves to. Those who want the bill can say, "You are talking about $300,000 when we could make $20,000,000 a year from this track." Therefore, that is not a valid argument.

The thing that I want to know is what do the people in my District want. It is for this reason that I am voting for this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I find myself at this time in the rather enviable position of being able to agree with both sides of the question. "

First of all, Mr. President, I want to agree with the proponents of this bill that the statement issued today by the Governor, in connection with his intentions toward it, was untimely and, in my opinion, an unwarranted and unjustified interference with the deliberations of a legislative body upon a bill which appears upon its calendar.

On the other hand, Mr. President, I find that I can be consistent in agreeing with the opponents of the bill because I feel that in voting against it, which I intend to do and would have done had this statement not appeared before the Members of this Senate, I am voting the sentiments of the people whom I represent in the Twenty-fifth Senatorial District. That does not mean, Mr. President, that there are not many people who have written to me in favor of this bill. However, the representatives of the various organizations and the individual members of organizations who have communicated with me in opposition to the bill are overwhelmingly numerous.

Mr. President, this type of referendum is a different type of referendum than those which we have previously submitted to the people of Pennsylvania. Those referendums are such that they involve matters of local self-government and are of the type that provide that the people of a community may vote upon whether or not they desire to have entertainment of various kinds on Sundays, such as movies, baseball and things like that. They are not State-wide referendums. This type of referendum is heavily weighted against the people in the rural areas because, unquestionably, the proponents of this type of referendum would make certain that the voters in those Districts, where the bill would find favor, would reach the polls; whereas, I question very much that a similar organized drive for voters would take place in the rural and agricultural areas.

Mr. President, as I said before, I certainly would have opposed, as would many of my colleagues, this bill without the Governor's statement. I am sorry that Senator Dent did not read further in the statement where the Governor said:

"I recognize that my decision may not be politically expedient, but I cannot permit this to influence my judgment."

Mr. President, had this statement been made at the time the veto was made of this bill, I would heartily agree with it. However, at this time, I believe it was untimely and unjustified.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in the heat of all these arguments I believe the thread or the real thought has been lost. I would just like to make this observation. The only question before us today is, do we let the people vote on this issue or do we not?

It is not a matter of whether we are for or against this bill or how we personally feel or how the people in our district feel. I think if we look over the record, we will find that the bonus bills, which some of us were for and some of us were against, were submitted to the people. Sunday baseball was also submitted to the people. Are we now going to say that we are not going to submit to the people this opportunity to vote what they feel will be right or wrong in this matter or just how they do feel about it?

I just feel that the only question before us at this moment is whether we are going to let them vote or not; not whether we are for it, whether our District is for it or how Mr. Jones or Mr. Smith feels about it. I think that is the only thing that we ought to concentrate on and concern ourselves with here.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I was pleased to hear the statements made here by both of our great leaders.

I have the statement of the Governor here and I cannot find in it any place where he said that he would veto the bill. All he says in his statement is that he is against it, but he did not say that he would veto it.

In my time, I have read a little bit of history. It always pleased me to read about the faith of animals to mankind. In my history, I read about the camel in the East. The camels plowed the fields for their owners. They carried the people on their backs, and their goods, over the deserts. They were the only animal that could cross the deserts of the East without water. Then, when Jesus of Nazareth rode into Jerusalem, he rode on this faithful animal of mankind, the donkey. I have the feeling and belief that all the animals on this planet, whether they be on the land or in the waters, were placed here by our creator for a purpose.

I am sure that when he placed the horse on this Continent, he did it to serve human beings and please them.

I know most of the men on this Senate floor have been on farms and have driven horses and plowed the fields, and if there was ever a faithful animal to mankind, it is the horse.

I am very happy nowadays to look at the television and everyday on the television I see horses, and the children love it.

I think this week is an appropriate time for this bill to come up, because we have a circus in town here. I have got a picture here of a horse that was in the Evening News last night, with two beautiful children petting the horse. If you go down to the circus this week, you will see the faithful camel there and the horses performing for you.

Next Saturday, there is the Grand Derby at Louisville, Kentucky. I am sure, as usual, there are Members of this Senate who will go on the special train. You know that train leaves Philadelphia, it stops here and at Pittsburgh and they roll into Louisville, Kentucky.

I am going to ask every lobbyist who is here against this bill, and the Governor, if they would dare to go to Louisville and drive the Kentucky Derby out of Louisville. I am sure they would not dare go to Maryland or West Virginia or Ohio or New York or New Jersey, and tell those people there that they are immoral and that we are better here in Pennsylvania than they are in the surrounding States that have the Grand Circuit races. They do not call them sinner races in those States, not sinner races, but the Grand Circuit.

Now I live in Western Pennsylvania. Underneath the western end of Pennsylvania, there are beds of coal which extend over into Washington and Greene Counties, and they extend down into West Virginia and Ohio. Hundreds of thousands of men work underground and many of them have told me throughout the years that they look forward to the days of their vacation when they can go to West Virginia and Ohio to see real horse races.

Senator Lane lives over in Washington County, which is underlaid with coal. I am sure when he runs for United States Senator next year that he could, if his car breaks down, go right with some of those miners down to West Virginia or Ohio to see real horse racing.

I think it would be a grand thing for Pennsylvania to have the Grand Circuit races here. I feel that this State has bred more great race horses than any other State in the Union. Man O'War, the greatest horse they say that ever lived, is from Pennsylvania. The Hanover Shoe people, who are located not very far from here, breed race horses but the horses do not race in Pennsylvania. They have to go to some other States around us to race in the Grand Circuit. I bought a horse years ago from the Hanover people. She was a little pacer and her name was Arion Silk. She had been on the Grand Circuit in other States. I bought her and raced her throughout the race tracks in Pennsylvania.

Last year, or two years ago, a similar bill was before us and the lobbyists called us sinners. I said then, and I am going to say again, I have searched the Bible from cover to cover and I could not find where it stated that horse racing or even betting was a sin.

A few days ago, Mr. President, I got a print here from some of these lobbyists, and it says:

"Senator Bernard McGinnis, of Pittsburgh, was also asked to apologize to the church people of the State for a statement reportedly made against them by the opponents of the bill."

Well, no minister ever said anything to me at home about it. This is the first time I ever heard that I was asked to apologize to anybody.

I am glad to know that in this Session they do not call us sinners; they call us gamblers. This is not a gambling bill, we all know that. Senator Fleming knows it; this is not a gambling bill. It is giving the people back home the right to have a say. I am sure that some day we will pattern our State after every State around us. I live near Ohio and I have been there often, and I am sure that those people who live there are just as moral and just as good as the people of Pennsylvania.

I ask anybody who is against this bill, and I ask the Governor if he would dare go to these other States and say that they are immoral. I read the other day in the newspaper that every one of those States around Pennsylvania are increasing their population faster than Pennsylvania. Therefore, let us vote on this referendum and let the people back home say whether they want to be pleased by one of the finest animals on earth, the horse.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate. I do, however, want to say a little about the matter.

When I was at this lectern yesterday, I said that I was going to vote against this measure. The Governor's statement today certainly did not influence me one bit.

I would be tempted, though, since he changed his mind, to probably vote for it. If the people in my District had not overwhelmingly, by letter, by telephone, by telegram, asked me to be against this bill, I certainly would vote for it. I received a great many letters from church people, from lay people, from people who did not belong to churches who were opposed to this type of bill. I said in reply to those letters that it might be a good thing for this matter to be resolved once and for always by letting the people express their viws. It would also give our churches a challenge to show what Christian education can do at a time like this. I also said that I felt certain that the proposal would fail overwhelmingly at the polls.

I just want to make a little reference to the Governor's statement. He said he did not believe in side-stepping responsibility any more than he believes in gambling. In talking about the referendum, he has changed his mind, as we all know. Last week, he said he would be in favor of the referendum; today, he tells us that he is against it. He is in true character, doing the same as he did in 1953 when we had House Bill No. 1 before us, which dealt with a referendum by the people on a constitutional amendment. If you will look up the History, you will find that the gentleman voted against the referendum. However, in a couple of days, he changed his mind and voted for the Conference Report along with the rest of us, the vote being 50-0. Therefore, the fact that he changes his mind is Governor Leader through and through. He is not changing his character, however, so far as I am concerned.

I do believe that it is unfair and unwarranted for Governor Leader, at a time like this, to give us a Huey Long tactic by trying to influence this Legislature when he knew that the bill was threadbare; that has a possible chance of passing and a possible chance of not passing. I think his lieutenants have told him that this bill is going to die today and that is the reason for his statement.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, as one of the sponsors of the bill, I feel duty bound to make a few remarks in favor of it.

I heard arguments this afternoon in which gambling, race tracks, horses and other matters were mentioned. However, none of the things that were mentiond—and I repeat, gambling, race tracks and race horses—are the issues before this Senate. There is only one issue before the Senate now, one question, and that is, as has already been expressed, shall we give the people of Pennsylvania a chance to express themselves on what I believe is a major issue. I say it is a major issue, Mr. President, because it is being debated in our schools and colleges. I know that because debaters, representing the negative and the affirmative sides of the debate, have called at my office and askd me for material which they could use in presenting their arguments. I supplied them with such material. I have spoken to service clubs and after the meetings were over, I was satisfied that enough people came to me and expressed a willingness that this question be placed on the ballot and be resolved once and for all.

Just last Thursday night, I spoke at a District Meeting of the Pennsylvania Education Society. It was represented by school teachers from all over the district. I touched on this subject at that meeting and after the meeting was over, I was satisfied that seventy-five per cent of the people who were there expressed a desire to vote on this question. There was a minister, who sat right beside me, and I asked him how he felt about it, and he agreed that the people should be given a chance to vote on this question. I have received letters from my constituents on the subject who expressed themselves against gambling. When I answered the letters and stated that this was not a bill which was meant for gambling or pari mutuel horse racing, that it would merely give the people a chance to express themselves on the subject, I received replies stating that if that is what the bill proposed, they would have no objection to it.

There was a survey made by the Allentown Morning Call on the subject in the Lehigh Valley area. An article appeared in Sunday's newspaper and the headline is: "Horse Race Bill"—and we are talking about the referendum bill—"Wins Backing." The opening paragraph reads as follows:

"A pending legislative bill that would let voters decide whether horse racing and pari mutuel betting should be permitted in Pennsylvania appears to have the backing of most citizens in Northampton County."

It is a long article, Mr. President, based on the survey, quoting people by name and relating their attitudes on the subject. Some of them said that if the bill appeared on the ballot, they would vote against it. Others said they would vote for it. However, they all said they would like to be given the opportunity to vote on the subejct.

There appeared an editorial in Sunday's Philadelphia Bulletin and the heading of it is: "Pennsylvania, An Island In Horse Racing Sea." That also discusses the subject and points out that this bill, upon which we are about to vote, is merely one which will give the people an opportunity to express themselves.

The Allentown Morning Call wrote on editorial on the subject and the title of that is: "The People Can Be Trusted." I will just read two paragraphs from it. It reads as follows:

"The people certainly know what they want in this and in other activities now under ban through laws which are recognized more in the breach than in observance.

"The people always can be trusted. There should be no fear in Harrisburg about giving them a chance to express their will."

There was a survey made up in Philipsburg, in a county which is outside my District. The result of that survey is under oath, and it was referred to me by Senator Hays who said he was referring it to me because I was one of the sponsors of the bill. The result of the survey indicated that 171 answered in favor; twenty-two answered not in favor; and eight had no opinion. That poll was on this referendum bill.

I say to you, Mr. President, that the Governor's statement, whether it will influence any votes in this Senate or whether this bill is defeated, will not make the people of Pennsylvania happy because I firmly believe they want a chance to vote on this question. The people whom it will make happy, Mr. President, are the race track owners who operate race tracks in the States that surround Pennsylvania, who are fearful that if this question get on the ballot, it might be approved and thus result in competition to the race track operators in the States which surround Pennsylvania. I sincerely believe that we should give the people of Pennsylvania a chance to vote on this vital question, and I hope that the Members of this Senate will approve this bill.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I wish to speak briefly, since the Senator from Northampton has opened my mail bag slightly. I think I want to expose a little more of it. It is true that a gentleman wrote to me from Philipsburg, in Centre County, and asked that I pass his letter onto a sponsor of this bill, and I was glad to pass it on to the sponsor whose name appeared first on the bill. However, in addition, I would like to say that the District which I represent has a population of over 150,000 people and to my knowledge, I have received by letter and telegram, but thirty communications on this particular topic. Maybe this is a new low; I do not know. The individual letters that I have received have been in favor of the bill. The people who have written, presuming at least that they represent organizations, have been opposed to the bill. However, I would also add that of the individuals who have written, ten were written on obviously mimeographed or duplicated letters.

I want to report this to the Members of the Senate because I think this one isolated case, which Senator Yosko had a perfect right to give, where this man did take his own private poll, does not represent my entire mail. I suppose the Members of the Senate would say, perhaps, that if this represents the pulse of this District, it is a rather weak pulse, when you consider that I only received thirty communications from a 150,000 population.

While I am on my feet, Mr. President, some wag said that one way to keep a clean mind is to change it from time to time.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to take exception to some remarks, concerning the Governor's message, which were made by the Majority Leader and the Majority Whip and others.

The first remark that the gentleman made was to describe the Governors' attitude in this matter as vacillating. Well, first of all, I feel that the remark, to carry conviction, should come from men who have ever vacillated. I am not going to review the record of either gentleman, particularly of the Majority Whip. However, I would like at this time to invite any person in this hall to rise, who has been so fortunately endowed by God that they were born with all the right answers and have never had cause in the course of their careers, by the presentation of good and sufficient reasons, to change their mind. When those people rise, we will then have a picture of very rare specimens of humanity, indeed.

I would like each person here to search his or her own conscience and try to recall whether, at any time, you have had an opinion which you thought was right and in the light of mature thinking and mature judgment, whether you have had the courage to publicly announce that you had changed your mind. Now I say, ladies and gentlemen and Mr. President, that this takes a certain degree of courage. It takes more courage in my mind for a man in public life to announce, as this message did, that he has changed his mind than it does to maintain a position which he might consider wrong simply in order that he may be considered as being consistent.

The second charge that was made was that, in some manner, the Governor, by this message, had exerted an improper influence on the Legislature. At least one of the gentlemen, who made this charge, I have heard say on this floor, in regard to another matter of legislation, that he and his group did not wish to vote on a certain bill because the Governor had not yet announced what position he would take if that bill were passed. It is certainly a peculiar idea of the leadership role of the Governor of the Commonwealth if people feel that it is improper for him to announce his position on pending legislation. As a matter of fact, in many cases, he should announce his position so that the Legislature has a clear and candid opinion of what the Governor's position is. If the Governor changes that position, he should announce that, too.

I see nothing improper in the Governor's action. If there is any person here who can rise at this time and allege that, in any way, the Governor has made an improper advance to him and attempted to influence his vote on this legislation, then I would like that person to rise. If there is no such person, then I would like to hear no more talk of improper suggestions.

My own position on this bill is that I am in favor of the bill. It does not agree with the Governor's. The Governor knew my position, I am sure, because it was in the newspapers. To this moment, the Governor has made no attempt to influence me or my vote. If there is anyone he has attempted to influence, I would like him to step forward. The Governor has announced his own opinion and I think it should be received as his own opinion. If it influences someone else's vote that is because the person, perhaps, respecting the position of the Governor, will rethink his own position. In my own case, I intend to vote differently from the Governor, but I respect the Governor's right to his own opinion.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the direction of the President pro tempore, the Chair now requests the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming, to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

HOUSE BILL No. 1040 CALLED UP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call up, from Page 4 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 1040, Printer's No. 312.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1040, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) entitled as amended "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" changing the procedure for the collection of the tax and the administration of the act providing appeals and refunds changing and clarifying definitions excluding from tax the sale at retail or use of coal changing and imposing penalties and providing for bonds.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to make a statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to say to the gentleman, there is nothing before the Senate at the moment but the calling of the roll. At the conclusion, the Chair will certainly recognize you, Senator, Yosko.

The Chair now recognizes Senator Dent. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. DENT. I would like to ask that the roll call be held up until I make one interrogation, please. I just want to clarify a situation for the Membership on this side.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair feels it would certainly be irregular.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not intend to stall the roll call. I want to clarify a situation. There might be some misconception on this side on the idea of the motives behind my questioning, and I want it clearly understood that the reason I am rising is to make sure of one particular fact and that is all.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if that can be done by the gentleman within the realm of parliamentary procedure, I would have no objection. I will leave that up to you, if that can be done.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, may I, at this time, rise to a question of personal privilege during the roll call?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would say that is not possible by strict parliamentary interpretation, there is nothing before the Senate but the completion of the roll. At that time, any Senator who would not be satisfied with it can ask for a verification of the roll. I had thought, Senator, that you might, by a few words, be able to straighten it out. I was clearly out of order in what I did.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Mr. President, I do not want to disrupt the rules of the Senate. The only thing is that the roll call might be slightly different if it were understood on this side that a certain fact, which I have just been acquainted with, is true. I did not want the men recorded on this side of the Senate on the basis of this roll call, which happened quicker than I could get over here from discussing the matter with the Majority Leader.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would suggest to the gentleman that the Clerk complete the calling of the roll. The Chair will not announce the roll call until such time as you have had an opportunity to speak to the Members on your side.

Mr. DENT. I agree that is the only legal way of doing it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Clerk finish calling the roll, please?

(The Clerk completed the calling of the roll.)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before announcing the roll call, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Is it your understanding, and you will so state if it is, that these are the amendments suggested by the Governor's office to clarify the enforcement and collection procedures in the bill?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, they are primarily that, with the addition of the exemption of coal.

Mr. DENT. As I understand it, is it also true that there was a question as to whether coal was or was not in the act, and that the Attorney General's office advised that we had better write it into the bill to make sure?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, that is my understanding.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Senator Kessler.

Mr. President, on the face of the fact that his is a bill which I understand has come about through agreement with the Governor's office on precedural amendments to the act, I find no opposition to it personally.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I would like to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will be recorded.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no," and I desire to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Northampton will be so recorded, and after the roll call is announced, he will be recognized in order to make a brief statement.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will be so recorded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Fayette will be so recorded.

Mr. MURRAY. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Luzerne will be so recorded.

The Clerk will read the affirmative roll, in order that there is no misunderstanding.

The Clerk read the affirmative roll as follows:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not challenge the right of the Majority Leader to call a bill up out of order. However, if I would have known that he was going to call up House Bill No. 1040 out of order, I would not have gone to the back of the Senate Chamber for a drink of water, because I had an amendment to propose to this bill. I informed Senator Mahany a short time ago that, when the bill did come up for final passage, I was going to present this amendment.

This amendment was sent to me and I was going to present it, at the request of the directors of the housing projects in both the city of Easton and the city of Bethlehem.

In order that this amendment gets into the record I will read it, unless I am given permission to make it a part of the record, together with the letter which I received from the Bethlehem Housing Authority. If that is agreeable, I will end my remarks here.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At the request of the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko, the amendments, together with letter from the Bethlehem Housing Authority, will be made a part of the record and printed in the Legislative Journal.

There being no objection, the amendments and letter were ordered to be printed in the Journal as follows:

AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL NO. 1040

Amend Title, page 2, line 5 of Title, by inserting after "DEFINITIONS" "and exemptions"

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 12 and 13.

Re: New Selective Sales & Use Tax Law
Effective June 1, 1957

Hon Joseph J. Yosko
State Senate
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Yosko:

While plans are presently being made for the drafting of new regulations pertaining to the new Law above, it might be well to point out one of the provisions in the present Law which should be considered for revision. I refer specifically to what is known as Tax Exempt Bodies such as Governmental Agencies, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or its Instrumentalities or Political Subdivisions, all as described in the tentative Regulations issued 7-16-56 under section TRa-205 and TRa-206 on page fifteen. It is generally understood that the tax on tangible personal property purchased by any one of these agencies, instrumentalities or political subdivisions, and the Commonwealth itself, need not be imposed. In other words, if this Authority purchases such property for its own use, which in some instances may be installed by the personnel of the Authority, we are tax exempt. If, however, the Authority enters into a contract for the furnishing and installation by a private contractor of any item defined as personal property under the Act, the contractor is required to pay the 3% tax, and obviously the total contract cost is increased by the amount of said tax. In effect then we are not tax exempt since we are paying it in another form. A recent communication sent to the Division of Sales and Use Tax verified these provisions, and we quote from the reply: "A contractor is deemed to be the ultimate consumer of all equipment, materials and supplies used by him in the fulfillment of a construction contract. The installation of a heating system is deemed to be construction work. * * * Your heating contractor is required to pay any sales tax due upon the purchase of equipment for the fulfillment of his contract with you." The following are a few excerpts from the tentative regulations:

TRb-101—Some of the items defined as Tangible Personal Property under (a) (3) All materials, supplies, and equipment used in the construction reconstruction, remodeling, repair and maintenance of any real estate.

TRa-206—Use of taxable property by construction contractors in the improvement of real estate (buildings, roads, structures, bridges, etc.) owned by an exempt body is subject to tax.

TRa-224 (b) Construction Contract Defined. The term "construction contract" as used in this regulation means a contract for constructing, erecting, altering, improving or repairing a road, bridge, building or other structure on land, and including lump-sum, cost-plus, and time-and-material contracts, but does not include contracts for the sale and installation of machinery, appliances or equipment.

(c) Taxable Incident. The contractor is a user of all property purchased, stored, used or consumed by him in the performance of any construction contract, and the tax shall apply at the time of purchase of such property by the contractor irrespective of whether or not his contract is with a governmental agency or other entity or person exempt as a user or direct purchaser from the payment of the tax.

We are of the opinion that if a body is to be considered tax exempt, it should be completely so. We are concerned especially for the municipalities and school districts within this Commonwealth and even for the State itself, in that a great deal of tax must have been paid by them. We are also of the opinion that a number of contractors may have misunderstood this rule and did not include the tax which they should have paid as a part of their contract, thereby creating an advantage over other bidders who understood or interpreted differently the provisions of the Act. On the other hand, we feel certain that there must have been contracts executed for installation separately which would obviate the necessity for payment of tax by either party. If such a contravention is possible, then why not remove the necessity for it by establishing a rule that tax exempt bodies are neither required to pay directly, or indirectly, any tax on tangible personal property purchased or installed for its own use.

A similar letter has been sent to Senator Van Sant, and to Representatives Francis W. Bucchin and Marion Markley, with the hope that a concerted effort would be instrumental in clarifying this situation.

We wish to express in advance our sincerest appreciation for any consideration you may give this matter.

Yours very truly,

Ralph J. Bartholomew

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. VAN SANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I would like to agree to the amendments which Senator Yosko offers from the Bethlehem Housing Authority.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I suggest to both of these gentlemen that they co-sponsor a bill, which would be an amendment to the Sales Tax Act and which would incorporate the amendments which they intended to offer to this bill. I assure them that the committee to which it would be referred will, no doubt, give it full consideration.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I have already introduced a bill in the Senate that would amend the sales tax, which is similar to the one that I was to present today. However, I was asked by the Directors of the Housing Authority to present this amendment to House Bill No. 1040, and it was my intention to do so. I repeat, if I would have known that House Bill No. 1040 was going to be called up out of order, I would not have gone to the rear of the Chamber for a drink of water. By the time I left my seat, went to the water cooler and got back here, the roll was being called on House Bill No. 1040.

I would suggest, in the future if a bill is going to be called up out of order, that the Members of the Senate be advised so that if they have any remarks to make in connection with it or any amendments to present, the opportunity would be there to do so.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of House Bill No. 250, entitled:

An Act amending "The Fish Law of 1925" approved May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448) excluding from the provisions thereof the operation of and fishing from temporary water tanks in connection with indoor sportsman's shows and providing penalties.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

MOTION THAT SENATE CONCUR IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 250, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to House Bill No. 250, recalled from the Governor.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to oppose concurrence in these House amendments, and would suggest to the Membership that we ought to have a Conference Committee on this bill, because the amendments that have been added place a very undue burden on those who participate in this particular sporting event.

If you will note, this only occurs on very rare occasions in the Commonwealth, and the only place that I know of where this particular sporting event takes place is at the Farm Show Building during Sportsman's Week. This entails nothing except the building of temporary tanks for prize fishing to create an interest in that healthful and very clean sport.

The burdensome amendments put in by the House make it almost impossible for anyone to comply with this particular Act. All of us want this, but we do not want to see it placed in such a position that it is almost impossible to comply with the law. A man has to tag the fish with his name and address and a picture of his wife before he can carry the fish out of the sporting arena. I say to you, that is a very poor place for a man's wife's picture.

MOTION THAT SENATE CONCUR IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO HOUSE BILL No. 250, RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR, WITHDRAWN

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I did not understand there was any controversy about these amendments. I was under the impression that these amendments were probably suggested by the Department of Justice in order for the Governor to act favorably upon the bill.

In the light of what has been said, I will withdraw my motion and ask that the bill go over in order so that we may have an opportunity of discussing it with the Justice Department to find out where these amendments came from.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 250, on concurrence in House amendments, recalled from the Governor, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE AMENDMENTS which was returned from the House of Representatives with amendments.

Said amendments having been twice read and printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

SENATE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY THE HOUSE TO SENATE BILL No. 35

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the amendments made by the House to Senate Bill No. 35.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi Herbert Panitch, Kneseth Israel Congregation, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, Divine Ruler of Heaven and Earth:

Unto Thee we turn our innermost thoughts as we commence the chores of this day.

Permeate our hearts with genuine concern for our fellowmen, regardless of race or creed. Help us be mindful of our duties to our country and state.

Enable us to realize that evil is the consequence of our spiritual frailties and moral deficiencies. Strengthen our resolve, therefore, O God, to establish the sovereignty of truth over falsehood, of righteousness over expediency, of human love over brutish envy.

Bless and strengthen the President of these United States, and cause thy divine inspiration to fall upon him so that he may continue to help restore to man the world-over, the rightful dignity with which Thou hast created him.

Bless the Governor of this state, and its legislators, and inspire them to continue with even greater zeal and determination their valiant and noble efforts toward making the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a forerunner of human rights and a source of justice and truth. Through their endeavors, may this state aid our country, which was born in a baptism of fire and blood, to grow from strength to strength in the cause of everlasting world peace.

May our eyes behold the coming of the Kingdom on Earth, when all men and all peoples shall be free and secure, with none to make them afraid.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. BRAND. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 89.

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1957.

Mr. Clarence W. Shearer has been a fish warden, under the Pennsylvania Fish Commission during the last seventeen years. Since 1954 he has been division supervisor of the North Central Division of Pennsylvania.

The consensus of opinion among sportsmen and among the majority of other persons in a position to know, is that he is a man eminently well qualified for the post he holds; that he has the experience and knowledge of his work, required of his position; that he has the courage to administer his office without fear, favor or political consideration; and that he has so performed his duty while a supervisor.

At a meeting of the Fish Commission on March 31, 1957, the Commission demoted Mr. Shearer to the position of fish warden, effective June 1, 1957.

Inquiry at the office of the Fish Commission disclosed through the executive director, that Mr. Shearer was demoted because

(1) "He had allowed an undesirable personnel situation to develop" and

(2) "He had displayed a lack of traits of quality which supervisors must possess."

As proof of the first charge, it was stated that for a period of three months he did his own typing and filing work rather than use the services of a stenographer with whom he was in disagreement and as proof of the second charge it was stated that he had failed to visit or personally call upon two members of the Fish Commission from his division who were appointed since July of 1955.

While the job of only one man is involved in this particular case, the matter is of paramount importance to the Commonwealth. If a competent man is demoted for such light transitory and capricious reasons, the entire administration of the Fish Laws is in extreme danger therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurrin) That the speaker appoint three members of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore appoint three members of the Senate, who together shall constitute a joint legislative committee to investigate into the actions of the Fish Commission, of determine whether the action in question or any other action of the Commission with regard to personnel has been taken with justification or for reasons which jeopardize or would frustrate the purposes of the Fish law and destroy public confidence in the Fish Commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to this General Assembly.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. WALSH. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 90.

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1957.

Political subdivisions located in counties of the second class have for years relied upon the different items of realty upon which to levy taxes. Among the most important taxable items in this category of realty have been such forms of fixtures as machinery, tools, appliances and other equipment contained in any mill, mine, manufactory, or individual establishment. In certain of the political subdivisions in counties of the second class, the amount of money derived from these taxable items has accounted for as much as fifty percentum of all the revenue received in a taxable year. It is obvious from these facts that any alteration of the ability of political subdivisions to levy taxes upon the above mentioned machinery and equipment will seriously affect the tax structure of these communities and will compel them to resort to other items to tax in order to make up the loss of revenue, therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to make a complete study of the effects that there would be to the tax structure of political subdivisions located in second class counties in the event the power to tax machinery, tools, appliances and other such industrial equipment, should be taken away from them. In addition, a study should be made of the various types of new taxes and new items, or activities that could be taxed in order to make up the loss of revenue that would result in removing machinery and other industrial equipment from the taxing power and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission, report to the next regular session of the General Assembly, its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. JOHNSON. RESOLUTION No. 91.

In the House of Representatives, April 30, 1957.

Resolved, That all bills reported from the Standing Committees of the House, as committed, be read for the first time on the day reported, during the remainder of this session.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. COMER, O'BRIEN, BOIES and REIDENBACH asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 29, 1957.

The members of the House of Representatives deeply mourn the death of Joseph A. Scanlon, the clerk of the Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia and a former member of this body. His departure from this life at the age of 54 inflicted a great loss upon the citizens of our state.

Born in Philadelphia and a lifelong resident of that city, Mr. Scanlon was graduated from Ascension Parochial School in 1915, attended night school at Northeast High and then studied at Temple University Commercial School. Prior to his 27 year career in politics he followed the trade of machinist and purchasing agent.

Mr. Scanlon was elected to the Legislature in 1934 and his long record of service to the State spanned 18 years. During his term as a representative of the 25th district he held the position of the Democratic whip. In 1951, after devoting so much of his life in the service of his people, he decided to run for the position of clerk of the Quarter Sessions. Realizing the great ability and unbending loyalty of the man, the people elected him to the clerkship in 1951 and again in 1955. This year 1955 marked Mr. Scanlon's 25th year in politics, a record that was recognized by his friends and associates at a testimonial dinner on May 16, 1955.

He was one of the organizers of the 33rd Democratic Club and later served as the recording secretary and as ward committee chairman. He rose through the ranks of the organization and was later made chairman of the executive committee eventually being elected president of the club.

Mr. Scanlon's wife, the former Mary Fallon passed away in 1942. Five children survived him, three sons, Joseph J., James and Thomas and two daughters, Mrs. Donald McKeown and Mrs. Gerald Dougherty.

Joseph A. Scanlon's public spirited activities and long devoted service to the people of our State showed his true character as an exemplary citizen whose memory will be long cherished by those who had the pleasure of knowing him and benefiting from his association, therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives extend their personal sympathy to the children of Mr. Scanlon upon their recent loss and bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his children and Sister Margaret.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday I introduced a resolution calling on the Joint State Government Commission (with permission of the Senate) to make a study of the problem of the machinery tax in Allegheny County and to report back at the next session of the Legislature their findings and recommendations as to how this machinery tax could be eliminated without ruining the financial structure of the three third class cities and the 20 or more other municipalities in Allegheny County which depend largely on the tax from machinery to run their school districts and their local government.

I represent the people of the 13th Legislative District, the city of McKeesport, the largest political subdivision in Allegheny County, with the exception of the city of Pittsburgh, and I am vitally interested in the effect the removal of this machinery tax will have on the taxpayers not only in McKeesport, but the heavily industrial area in the Monongahela and Youghiogheny River Valley.

Rankin, for example, will lose $6,841,485 in assessed valuation, or 54.2 percent of its total assessed valuation. Rankin now has 13 mills municipal tax and 22 mills school tax, or a total of 35 mills. If this tax on machinery is removed, it will necessitate an additional 34.5 mills to make up for the difference.

The same problem presents itself to a smaller degree in West Homestead, which will require an additional 23 mills; North Braddock, 32 mills; Neville, 18 mills; Homestead 21.75 mills; down to the Borough of Harmar, which will require only 3.5 mills.

The third class cities will be hit as follows: Clairton will require an additional 19.25 mills; Duquesne 14.75 mills; and the city of McKeesport 6.25 mills.

I have in my hand a pamphlet entitled "A Problem of Alternatives," prepared by the Pennsylvania Economy League. I have no quarrel with the Pennsylvania Economy League, but I disagree with some of the findings in this study. I fully realize the Pennsylvania Economy League is subsidized by certain interests and naturally they are loyal to those interests.

The Economy League study proposes that the difference in assessed valuations can be taken care of by applying the numerous sources permitted by Act No. 481. A lot of these communities are already taking advantage of the per capita tax, the real estate transfer tax and the mercantile tax, so all they have left now is the wage tax, and the people of my area do not want a wage tax.

The League also states that some of this loss can be offset by gains from state reimbursements to school districts due to lower real estate assessments following removal of machinery as a taxable item. This again will necessitate the state providing additional subsidies, approximately a million dollars.

Ladies and gentlemen, this is a very serious problem not only to the people in the Monongahela and Youghiogheny Valleys, but to the people in the state of Pennsylvania as well.

The claim has been made that industry is moving out of Pennsylvania, and especially out of Allegheny County, by reason of the machinery tax. The facts do not support this claim. The National Tube Company in McKeesport, my home town, is contemplating spending between $83 to $85 million in the first ward of the city of McKeesport. They are negotiating with the Redevelopment Authority of McKeesport to purchase ground for $1 million and they will have to spend another $700,000 to tear down the buildings in this area and make the ground suitable for building. They intend to spend $83 to $84 million on additions to their plant and a lot of this $83 to $84 million will be in machinery.

As I said before, this is a serious problem and it should merit the consideration and study of our Joint State Government Commission. They can hold public hearings and get both sides of the problem so they can recommend measures which will be for the best interests of not only the people of these affected areas but the entire Commonwealth.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 116, Printer's No. 55 was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 44, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) providing special registration provisions for motor buses of certain common carriers of passengers for hire.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 44, Printer's No. 348, is an amendment to the Vehicle Code applicable only to passenger bus companies operating in interstate commerce or partially in interstate commerce and intrastate commerce.

This bill permits payment for bus registration fees on a proportionate mileage basis as the miles operated in Pennsylvania bear to the total miles operated in all states served by the carrier.

While this bill appears to be complicated in its provisions, it is not a new concept in Pennsylvania. Presently these same bus companies pay the gross receipts tax on exactly the same basis. They also pay the fuels use tax on that same basis. Therefore, it cannot be said this is an entirely new concept of bus registration licensure in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The need for this legislation has become more acute and has grown since the inception of the turnpikes and express highways running across the nation. It is necessary to make the handling of bus passengers easier and it provides better facilities for those people without the necessity of stopping a particular bus at one point, transferring the passengers to another bus and proceeding on to another point. This will make the payment of these fees more equitable and provide better transportation for the passengers.

To give an example of how this will operate, let us take for example, the situation in Pennsylvania today. A bus registration fee today is either $236 or $256, but the bus companies pay only that license for a bus which actually discharges passengers in Pennsylvania. If that interstate bus goes through Pennsylvania, uses Pennsylvania highways, but does not have rights in Pennsylvania for discharge of passengers, it pays no registration fee in Pennsylvania. By this method the entire fleet of a bus company would be registered. They would pay taxes on each bus and pay a license fee for each bus in the same proportion as the miles operated by each bus in Pennsylvania bear to the total miles operated by that bus in Pennsylvania bear to the total miles operated by that bus throughout the United States.

Going back to the example, if the normal fee was $256, if that bus operated half its mileage in Pennsylvania and the rest of its mileage to and from other points in the United States it would pay one-half of $256.

Will this result in loss of revenue to the Commonwealth? We think not. Our best estimates are that this will probably result in increased revenue to the Commonwealth for the reason that buses travelling in Pennsylvania, which heretofore did not have any registration fees, will now pay registration fees in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This concept is not new throughout the United States. Presently there are 15 states which have this concept embodied in their legislation, the most recently enacted one being in the state of New York, which adjoins us on the north.

Many other legislatures are considering this legislation and it is part of the recommended program of the State Council of Governments.

I, therefore, urge all Members of this House to support this legislation.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to interrogate the sponsor of the bill and then to speak against the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. First, may I know as to when the bill was passed in New York? As I understand it as of two weeks ago it was not.

Mr. BOWMAN. It is my best information that this bill was passed in New York in the closing week of the session. I have written for the legislation but I have not actually received a copy of it.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, to get the matter clear, is it not true that House Bill 44 therefore changes the cost of license fee formerly based on each bus owned to the number of miles operated by the bus in this Commonwealth?

Mr. BOWMAN. That is difficult to answer in the manner in which the gentleman phrased it. It changes it as to the buses which were formerly registered in Pennsylvania, yes. It will now register in Pennsylvania all buses, many of which were not all registered in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, do you have reliable figures showing the number of bus owners, not the number of buses operated alone, but the bus owners in this Commonwealth?

Mr. BOWMAN. I have reliable figures of the buses operating in this Commonwealth which are engaged in interstate transportation or partially in intrastate and interstate transportation.

Mr. SHERMAN. Will you accept the figures in the handwriting of the representative of the Public Utility Commission who is in charge of these things to the effect that there are 709 bus owners in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. BOWMAN. I certainly will not take exception to how many bus owners there are in Pennsylvania, however, this is not applicable to all bus owners.

Mr. SHERMAN. That will be brought out.

Is it not true with the exception of Rhode Island—and I dispute the fact that New York has passed it since it was reliably reported two weeks ago there was no law passed in New York—that this law is not applicable and has not been passed anywhere north of Washington, D. C. and East of the Mississippi?

Mr. BOWMAN. That is correct with the exception of Rhode Island and New York.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that this bill would permit a New Jersey owner in Camden, New Jersey, similarly applicable to a situation in Ohio, where buses are taxed on the basis of ownership where they could store from 300 to 500 buses from Camden, New Jersey in Philadelphia or from Ohio in Pittsburgh or Erie and not pay a cent of revenue to our state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. BOWMAN. I am afraid I do not understand the question, store buses?

Mr. SHERMAN. If I am a Greyhound bus owner if I may take an example, with no prejudice against Greyhound, and I take 500 of their buses from Camden, New Jersey, put them in the city of Philadelphia ready to operate whenever necessary or otherwise, I would not pay a dime of revenue to the state of Pennsylvania if this bill is passed?

Mr. BOWMAN. No, sir. That is exactly incorrect. They can do that under the present law; they could not do that under this proposed change.

Mr. SHERMAN. To be a little more detailed than that, Mr. Speaker. If this bill is passed and the revenue is only based on the miles operated by the bus, cannot bus owners store as many buses as possible in this state without paying a dime of revenue as long as those buses are not operated?

Mr. BOWMAN. As long as they are not operated? They would not pay a cent if they did not operate the bus, that is correct.

Mr. SHERMAN. Thanks for your reply.

Is it not true that 709, which is the official figure that I have obtained of bus owners in Pennsylvania—at least the majority of whom I am informed operate five or more buses in this state—is it not true that the Greyhound Bus Company, one of the many bus owners concerned, would benefit from $20,000 to $30,000 if this bill were passed?

Mr. BOWMAN. I cannot say how much any particular bus company would benefit or suffer. I can only say the total result, according to our best estimates, is that the Commonwealth would be yielded more registration fees than they presently collect.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, has the gentleman been in touch with the owners of the Greyhound Bus Company or any of the representatives thereof?

Mr. BOWMAN. Have I been in touch, did the gentleman say?

Mr. SHERMAN. Yes, for the purpose of ascertaining the profit if this bill were passed?

Mr. BOWMAN. I have been in touch with the representatives of the bus industry.

Mr. SHERMAN. Also, Mr. Speaker, is it not true, even though this bill seeks to change the tax to the bus miles operated within the state, yet in its computation on the basis of how much they should pay, it would include all of the buses owned in this state?

Mr. BOWMAN. I am afraid I do not understand the question.

Mr. SHERMAN. I will put it more specifically. Looking at the bottom of page 4, lines 18 and 19 of this bill, "the average miles operated by each bus to be determined by dividing the average number of motor buses owned during the base period into the total miles operated everywhere with motor buses during the base period."

Mr. BOWMAN. Exactly. You are paying your license fee on the proportion of the miles operated in Pennsylvania against the miles operated in every other place in the Union. That is exactly what this bill proposes to do.

Mr. SHERMAN. I am afraid, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman did not hear my question. Does it not say that it would consider the average number of motor buses owned? That is what it says at the bottom of page 4, lines 18 and 19, and the number of buses owned would be in the computation to figure the cost that would have to be paid by the bus company.

Mr. BOWMAN. Yes, the average number of buses owned throughout the entire year.

Mr. SHERMAN. House Bill No. 44 changes the cost of license fees which were formerly based on each vehicle owned in the state to the number of miles operated by the bus within the State.

It applies to all motor buses consisting of a fleet of five or more owned by a motor bus common carrier of passengers engaged either in interstate or partly in interstate and partly in intrastate. At present, according to my investigation, this law exists only in the western part of this country, west of the Mississippi and south of Washington, D. C., the only exception being that of Rhode Island. It does not exist in any northeastern state.

Pennsylvania in my opinion is sought to be made the guinea pig for this type of legislation. It is also my opinion that if this law is passed at present, it would constitute at least a "million dollar steal" from the treasury of our state of Pennsylvania. Bear in mind there are 709 bus owners in this state according to the official figures obtained by me from the Public Utility Commission.

It will permit bus companies to have a thousand buses in this state to operate six or seven hundred of these, and yet there would be no license fee whatsoever charged for any of the buses remaining in this state because they are stored and not in the course of operation.

It would also permit New Jersey or Ohio, which pays on the basis license fee per bus owned, to place in this state just across the border, whether in Philadelphia in Pittsburgh or in Erie or some other nearby point, thousands of buses and garage them in this state without any charge by our Commonwealth.

At the same time bear in mind in any proceedings before the Public Utility Commission or any hearing before the PUC these same bus companies can allege very easily in any proceeding that they have more than sufficient buses and means of transportation to take care of the transportation problem in this state, whereby the PUC would give full consideration to the number of buses owned and garaged in this state regardless of the fact they are not being operated here.

I contend that Pennsylvania should not lose this million dollars of revenue and be made a guinea pig for this type of legislation.

This bill is six pages in length and would take several hours to read and digest. It says in part it bases the cost or charges on operating miles, yet a more careful reading would show that though it desires no charges for buses owned in this state but not operated, yet in determining the cost per mile of operation it includes all the buses that are owned even though not operated.

I refer you to the bottom of page 4, lines 18 and 19 of the amended bill and the top of page 5, lines 1 and 2 of said bill which says: "the average miles operated by each bus to be determined by dividing the average number of motor buses owned during the base period into the total miles operated everywhere with motor buses during the base period."

I have taken this matter up as far as possible with the Public Utility Commission and those I have spoken to agree the loss in revenue is not a bit exaggerated when I say $1 million.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I think you will find that conversation with any of the PUC members will reveal what I have said is true. This is not a political measure but one based on common sense and honesty. Why this bill received the support it did up to the present time, I cannot say. I do say, on the other hand, in all sincerity I cannot stand by and permit our good state to allow a bill of this kind to pass and deprive our state of its revenue, especially at the present time and under present conditions. If the state has to lose revenue, let it not go to the poor unfortunate bus companies although I sympathize with a good many of them. I think it should go more to our maimed, our lame and those who are mentally ill and are handicapped.

Once again I say in good conscience don't permit this "million dollar steal."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. TOMPKINS.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 9, entitled:

An Act amending the "Vital Statistics Law of 1953 approved June 29, 1953 (P. L. 304) making it unlawful for unauthorized persons to copy duplicate or issue certificates of birth death or fetal death.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I have been trying to get a compromise bill worked out on this matter and I have not had an opportunity to confer with the people who have objections to it. I did not know the bill was going to be called up today. I am sorry, but I would like to have it postponed for another couple of days to give me a chance to work it out.

The SPEAKER. What is the pleasure of the gentleman?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Hamilton.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 268, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code," approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), changing the dues payable by the township for membership in the State Association of Township Supervisors

On the question, recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill concerning which the township brethren seem to be in considerable disagreement, unless I am mistaken on the number of the bill. I have here a personal letter received from one Thomas S. Stephenson. He is President of the Pennsylvania Home Rule Association, and here is the letter which he writes:

"The State Association officers,"—and he is talking of the township organization,—"instead of supporting legislation that would directly benefit the Supervisors and the citizens of the Townships, seem to be more interested in collecting more and more money from them for obviously political purposes.

"One example is House Bill No. 268, now on the Third Reading postponed calendar of the House. This bill would authorize the State Association to collect $50 a year from Townships instead of $20.

"The secretary of the State Association informed the Members of the House that the bill would only affect a few of the larger Townships, but what he did not tell the House Members was that, under this measure, if it is passed and approved, the State Association could assess every Township in the state $50 per year.

"Some Supervisors tell us that this is a part of a package deal. The State Association is setting up a group insurance scheme for Second Class Townships. Part of it provides for hospitalization for the Supervisors and other elected officials of the Township. The catch is that they are told they cannot participate unless they are dues-paying members of the Association."

He then goes on at some length about other matters, but I will read this much:

"In concentrating on this legislation, the officers of the State Association have ignored the introduction of bills that would increase the compensation of Supervisors, which incidentally is far below the pay received by others for the same class of work."

And so we find that is true, there has been no effort upon the part of the Association to benefit the condition and situation of the supervisors, but there is a pronounced disposition upon the part of the Association—as there is, I presume, upon the part of all similar associations—to increase the power of the Association, and give those who manage the Association more and more money to spend.

I have a high respect for this Association and the man who manages it, who controls it. I have faced that man for the last 20 or 30 years on the floor of this House over various pieces of legislation which I deemed inimitable to the interests of the people, and I think about 95 percent of the time he has been the one who won through, because he has an ironclad control apparently over a very powerful association.

I can see in this proposal now pending dreams of vigor and fire, of greater control, of greater influence over the Members of this House. I want to say if he is as powerful, this powerful "Cappy," if he is as powerful today as when I have faced him in times past, why there will only be one vote, my own, against his bill.

But there is a difference of opinion among the supervisors of the second class townships, and Stephenson and those associated with him speak the word of protest. Mr. Stephenson is quite right. While he said they are going to ask only $50 from the rich ones, it is possible to put the $50 assessment clear down the line. And if I know my "Cappy," that is exactly what "Cappy" will do when he has this bill safely signed by His Excellency, the Governor.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution

having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. KELLER.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 501, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) increasing maximum limits on per capita taxes with certain limitations.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KELLER. Mr. Speaker, I would very briefly like to discuss House Bill 501 and lay before the House the importance of its passage.

House Bill 501 does one thing, and that is to raise the limitation of the per capita tax under the School Code from five to ten dollars.

Under the present law and the School Code we are now permitted to levy a per capita tax of five dollars, and under Act 481 we are permitted to levy a personal tax maximum of ten dollars, or a total of 15 dollars. That maximum levy of 15 dollars is written in the law. That feature of the law would be retained, and under this bill we would be permitted to levy a per capita tax, under the School Code, in the amount of ten dollars, and we would then be permitted to levy under Act 481 a personal tax of five dollars, or a maximum of 15 dollars. That maximum would not be changed.

The reasons for changing it from under Act 481 to under the School Code are several:

First, that the amount of money levied under Act 481 is subject to the maximum of 15 mills times the assessed valuation. In some of our school districts we have several taxes levied under Act 481, and in quite a number of cases the amount of taxes received are in excess of the 15 mills times the assessed valuation.

A number of our school districts will become distressed school districts unless the people back home are permitted to raise additional funds.

For example, we of Bucks County have several school districts that have grown very, very rapidly. I will just cite figures in two instances.

In one township in 1950 the school population was 2198. In the 1956-'57 school year the population was 6810. In that same period the tax rate rose from 26 mills to 47 mills on real estate, and the budget rose from $418,000 to $3,796,000. The state reimbursement only increased from .636 to .755. Therefore, that particular township had to raise a considerable amount of money on its own.

Another case we have in my county is where the school population in 1950 was 634. In 1956-'57 it was 5,268. The tax rate on real estate increased from 35 mills to 50 mills and the budget from $157,000 to $2,659,000.

That just gives you a little idea of what problems have to be met by the local school districts. We feel this bill will help a great deal to help the local school districts help themselves. I believe a great many of us think our local school districts carry more of the financial burden for the cost of education on the local level.

We need this bill very much, and I would ask that all the Members on both sides of the aisle vote for this measure.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Keller?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Keller, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KELLER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Do you have a wage tax for school purposes in Bucks County?

Mr. KELLER. No, we do not.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, what this bill actually does in these municipalities and school districts where they do not use Act 481 is to allow them to increase the per capita tax from $5 to $10 due to the fact that they do not use 481.

The one fight I have had with 481, is that it is an unfair tax. Some people pay it, other people do not pay it.

So I say to the gentleman from Bucks that this is just another tax on the poor people.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking only for myself. When this bill was before the House formerly I opposed it. I have talked with the gentleman from Bucks and I have considered the matter carefully. I have decided that I will change my position and I will vote for this bill.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago we held a meeting of the Berks County Farmers Association. They requested us to vote "yes" on this bill, as it would help them to keep their home rule and finance their school taxes.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I spoke at some length on this bill when it was first before the House. While I am speaking for myself only, I want the House to know that I have not changed my mind. I am still going to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 75, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 P. L. 90 relating to the discretion of the Liquor Control Board to grant liquor licenses.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I am compelled to speak on this bill because it has reached my ear that there is a whispering campaign being conducted against it by certain interests and I wish to explain briefly the two-fold purpose of this bill.

First, it provides that where there are more than three restaurant licenses within a radius of 200 feet the Liquor Control Board shall have discretion as to whether to grant a license or the transfer of a license.

The reason for this provision in the law is because in the city of Pittsburgh in certain areas we have streets where there are eight, nine and ten licensees within the same block and the responsible businessmen of those areas have appeared before the Liquor Control Board and attempted to prevent the granting of licenses or the transfer thereof, and under the law today the Liquor Control Board's hands are tied.

The second provision of this bill is that where the application is for a license within a radius of 500 feet and the area is predominately residential the Liquor Control Board likewise shall have discretionary power. We have had instances in the city of Pittsburgh where the entire area is residential and an individual was able to get a location and establish a tavern in the midst of the residential area.

The necessity for this legislation arises because of a decision of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. In the Appeal of Obradovich, decided in 1956, the Supreme Court upset what everybody thought was the existing law. Everyone believed the Liquor Control Board had discretionary authority. All I am attempting to do now is to reenact what everybody thought was the law. The Temperance societies are in favor of this bill and those who are in fear of the return of prohibition are in favor of this bill.

I, therefore, ask support on both sides of the House for this measure.

Mr. FILO. I would like to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to tell the Members of the House whether this bill at the present time would affect the present operating liquor licensees?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. This bill will not affect the rights of any licensee today. However, if a licensee, for example, had a location in the city of Pittsburgh in a certain area, he could not transfer to an area where there are three or four more licensees within a radius of 200 feet. But the rights of any licensee, whether it be hotel, club or restaurant, will not be affected by this bill.

Mr. ISAACS. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN: I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will this bill in any way or in any wise affect clubs?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Under the existing law today the Liquor Control Board has absolute authority on a new license application on the part of a club to refuse a new license.

In my opinion, as the Act is drawn, it would have the authority to refuse the transfer of a club if it is within the provisions of this bill. A club cannot get a license today even though it is within the quota, and I will quote you from the bill, which says, "and in the case of a club may"—meaning the Liquor Control Board—"in its discretion issue or refuse a license." I believe this particular provision would have little or no effect upon the clubs.

Mr. SILVERMAN. May I state that in my opinion this is a very good bill.

In Philadelphia we recently had a very great crime wave along what we call the "Barbary Gold Coast." I believe the gentleman from Pittsburgh received letters from members of my Legislative District asking him to press for the passage of this bill.

We also have a great many taprooms in districts where a great deal of crime is committed and presently we have no method of curbing the granting of new licenses and it just adds fuel to the fire.

In my opinion this bill is a good bill and we should vote "aye."

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I was recently involved in a situation wherein the provisions of the Liquor Control Act were applied and I would like to give the Members of the House the factual situation.

I live in a "D" residential neighborhood in the City of Philadelphia and a Veterans Post made an application for a place-to-place transfer of a club liquor license. They received zoning under the Philadelphia zoning laws and applied to the Liquor Control Board for the transfer. The Liquor Control Board heard numerous protests on the part of residents in the particular block where the applicants sought to establish their club, which was predominantly residential.

The examiner for the Board heard the testimony and he ruled that in the discretion of the Board they should not approve the transfer. The club then took an appeal to the Common Pleas Court and the Court rendered a decision after this Obradovich case came down from the Supreme Court, that they had no discretion in the matter. So the net effect is that a club can apply for a transfer to another location in an area which is entirely residential, and, so long as the zoning laws do not prohibit it, the Liquor Control Board has no discretion except to authorize the transfer.

I just checked with Mr. Segelbaum, the Deputy Attorney General of the Liquor Control Board, and he confirms the opinion of Mr. Goldstein that this particular section does not apply to clubs and that the Liquor Control Board does have discretion in the matter.

But in so far as it applies to restaurants, I think it would be equally true that this is a good bill because the residents, the ones who have to live with these restaurants and these taverns, have a right to go before the Board and voice their protests. I think no one here would maintain that a restaurant should have a right to move into a residential neighborhood over the protests of virtually all of the residents in that block.

I, therefore, think it is a good bill and, even though the temperance society is for it, I am going to be for it, too.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Liquor Control Committee, I believe this bill was recommended to come out of Committee amended to just take in the restaurants. Is that the way it is right now, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has directed the question to me, and the way I read the bill as coming out of Committee is that the basis as to whether you shall have a license or not depends on whether there is an excess of three restaurant licensees within a radius of 200 feet. It would apply to every type of licensee in that manner.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Liquor Control Committee, we voted this bill out of Committee with a provision in it that it would be amended to take out the hotels and clubs for the simple reason that there was a statement made in the Committee that it would stop hotels who were now not in the quota from getting a liquor license. So it was recommended by the Committee that the bill be reported out to be amended to take both of those out of this particular bill.

Listening to these arguments it does not look to me as though the bill has been amended. The bill was supposed to be amended, and I do not know just where we take over from there on that particular question as to what happened with the amendments or how the bill was reported out. It was however reported out as amended.

I think Mr. Price might be able to answer that question. I do not know.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, the bill was reported out of Committee as amended. Clubs and hotels were to be deleted from the bill. I believe the previous Printer's No. was 231, then the bill was amended yesterday under the present Printer's Number.

It was my interpretation that the hotels and clubs were deleted from the original bill as presented.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the Members the present Printer's No. is 349.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order in asking to hold up the vote on this bill until we get the amendments to put into this bill that were recommended by the Committee?

The SPEAKER. That is a matter for the House to decide. If the gentleman desires to make a motion to place it on the postponed calendar, he may do so.

Mr. VAUGHN. Under the circumstances, I will make a motion to recommit the bill to the Liquor Control Committee for amendments. I think in all fairness to the Liquor Control Committee, that should be done.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the motion to recommit for amendments would not be in order because the bill had been agreed to on Third Reading. The motion would have to be to reconsider the vote.

The Chair would suggest the gentleman make a motion to place the bill on the Postponed Calendar if that is the desire of the House.

Mr. VAUGHN. I will make that motion, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett?

Mr. VAUGHN. I shall.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I just do not know what position we are in at this time. I do not know whether we are recommitting the bill or whether we—

The SPEAKER. The Chair will advise the gentleman. The question before the House is shall the bill pass finally, pending a motion to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

The gentleman from Allegheny has yielded to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, before making his motion.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, let's be fair about this thing. If this bill has not been amended to take hotels and clubs out of its provisions, then we are not being fair. Some method should be used to put the bill in the form the Committee ordered it to be when it reported it to the floor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein?

Mr. VAUGHN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I think the bill is in good shape as it is. However, I want to say this, that Mr. Price and the members of the Liquor Control Committee gave me permission to appear before the Committee. I know it was the intention of the Committee to exclude hotels and clubs from the bill. When I read the bill as amended shortly before I appeared on the floor and Mr. Vaughan asked me the question as to what it meant today, I gave him my interpretation.

I do not desire to take any technical advantage of anyone, and I wish I could have the same support when it comes out at which time it probably will be amended. I like the bill originally. As I told the Committee, half a loaf is better than none. If the Committee wants to make certain that clubs and hotels are out of it, I am perfectly satisfied.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan.

Mr. VAUGHAN. I will yield to the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman yields to the gentleman from Mifflin, Mr. Price. The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. PRICE. As stated previously by me the bill was released in Committee as amended. Mr. Foster had the amendments drawn up and Printer's No. 321 will show that the amendments were carried out because the hotels, restaurants and club licenses were deleted, which was the amendment. This applies entirely to tap rooms or restaurants under our present act.

I certainly cannot see why you are getting excited about this because the amendments were carried out.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield to me for a moment?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I will yield.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, yields to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I have before me the prior printer's No. and the present printer's No. of this bill. I see in the prior printer's No. hotels, restaurant or club licenses were deleted and it referred only to restaurants on page 4, line 2 of the prior printer's No.

However, if you go further into the bill, in Printer's No. 349, page 4, line 2, and read further it states "or whenever it shall appear to the board that in the case of any new application for license or the transfer of any existing license to a new location that the place proposed to be licensed is situate in a district or neighborhood which is predominantly residential within a radius of five hundred feet of the place proposed to be licensed that in either instance the board shall have the authority," so on and so forth. That section of the bill that deals with another item altogether. The hotels and clubs were not deleted.

I believe the amendments should be carried further in line with the suggestion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, to take in that situation as well.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I do Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, and ask him the precise reason why he is making this motion at this time. Perhaps we can clarify it right now.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAUGHAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Is the question why I brought this up?

Mr. McCORMACK. In light of what has been said, are you still anxious to press the motion?

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, yes, I am anxious to press it for the simple reason the Committee asked for these amendments. It was brought out in our Committee meeting that if this particular bill passed in its present form, that it would put hotels in the quota line. During argument pro and con in Committee it was decided the bill would come out amended to delete the hotels and clubs. Here it is on the floor with them in. I think at least the Committee should get the benefit of the doubt and have it come out the way it was intended to come out. If it is intended to be changed on the floor here, then let us change it on the floor.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman that the amendments did specifically exclude hotels and clubs.

Is it the gentleman's impression that they have not been excluded by Printer's No. 349?

Mr. VAUGHAN. That is my impression.

Mr. McCORMACK. Then I want to say that it is my firm opinion that the gentleman is not correct and that hotels and clubs have been excluded.

I want to say one thing more. The reason clubs have been excluded I do not quite understand, but I want to say it is a good bill because under the present law—and this is the opinion of Mr. Segelbaum also—it is not necessary because the Board definitely has discretion as to whether or not a transfer of a club liquor license should be made. So that it is only necessary in the case of a restaurant transfer from place to place.

It is my firm opinion that both hotels and clubs are excluded from House Bill 75, Printer's No. 349.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I agree with Mr. McCormack that this is good legislation, but I still think there is a question of doubt here and that this bill should be postponed until tomorrow.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The majority required by the Constiution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 242, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) changing the requirements regarding use of different types of danger and caution signals.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, thousands of words have been recorded in the Journal of this House on the subject of highway safety. In fact, our Journal is packed with bills, resolutions and discussions on the subject of saving or preserving human life.

House Bill 242 which I have the honor of co-sponsoring with my distinguished colleague, Mr. Amarando of Philadelphia, is a bill designed to save lives—to save them, moreover, in an area which has too long been left literally in the dark.

Hunters, [Mr. Speaker, are required to wear red clothing when they venture into the woods in search of game so that their fellow Nimrods may see them and not mistake them for game. Even policemen in the comparatively bright lights of city streets wear white capes and sometimes reflectorized materials to protect them from inattentive motorists. We require veritable Christmas trees of lights on trucks and buses for the same reason. Trucks and buses are also required to carry flares and to place them at safe distances in front of and behind their vehicles when they break down or stop for any reason on the highway.

Why have we neglected the safety of the individual motorist?

Mr. Speaker, I do not know the statistics on this matter and I doubt that anyone else does, but I do know from reading the newspapers and from discussing the matter with safety experts that not a few but many human lives are lost every year because motorists who are forced to stop along the road to change a tire, or make temporary repairs, or await assistance after an accident, are killed because their fellow motorists cannot see them.

The insignificant investment required for the purchasing of the warning flares required in this bill is a small price to pay for the safety and for bettering the highway safety record of Pennsylvania. If it is good sense to require lights and flares on trucks and buses, if it is good sense to require red patches on the clothes of hunters, if it is good sense to preserve human life, then this bill is good sense and should be passed by this Legislature.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, we debated this bill during the last session of the Legislature, if I recall.

The trouble I find with the bill is that the people who are killed while changing tires and who did not have these lights in their cars are more or less responsible for that condition. They should have had those lights.

The other bad feature of the bill is that you start the local police snooping around every automobile to find out if there are flares in it. If there are not flares in it, they will arrest them. I think that is the intent of this bill.

I agree that the protection is greatly needed, but the person being protected is the very person who does not have the flares in his car to use when he gets into trouble or has to change a tire.

When we are talking about trucks and buses, that is a different proposition. The protection there is for the average motorist who might run into a truck or a bus, that is a little different proposition.

So I say again, the only bad feature I can find here is that we will have the local police snooping around to find out if you have flares in your car, and we have enough snooping without that.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, there will be no reason for cops to snoop around looking for flares. Upon inspection, the semi-annual inspection of the cars, the Motor Vehicle Code under this bill would call for flares to be in the car, otherwise it would receive no inspection sticker. So the cops cannot search your trunk, Mr. Lovett.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 611, Printer's No. 267 and

House Bill No. 612, Printer's No. 268

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 802, entitled as follows:

An Act requiring the Secretary of Health to rename the Charles H. Miner Sanatorium located at Hamburg, Berks County Pennsylvania the Hamburg State Sanatorium.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I rise to object to the passage of this bill on the ground it is detrimental to the character of the individual, to the profession and to our great American heritage.

We all realize that Dr. Charles H. Miner as an individual was one of the founders of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, and only last December this state saw fit to bestow upon him an honor and to name a sanatorium in his name. Then just in March he received another dedication to the cause that he has fought for over 60-some years. Now to come before this Pennsylvania Legislature just a few months later and say, we are sorry Dr. Miner, you are not deserving of this—and that is what we are doing when we strike his name from this hospital—and say to him we are sorry but you do not deserve this honor, I believe is an insult to him and to the profession he represents.

A good many memorials and institutions have been named and dedicated to men of greatness in this state and in this nation. I fear if we open these flood gates to change the name from the Miner Hospital think of the ramifications should we next week have bills on the calendar that would change the name of the Harvey Taylor Bridge, the Benjamin Franklin Bridge in Philadelphia, or so many of the other great mementoes and monuments which have been dedicated to individuals across this great state and across the nation. I believe we are going to destroy some of the things, such as initiative and inspiration, that have been built up over the many years as dedicated symbols and monuments to individuals who have served their country and served their state and their communities well.

I believe it is discriminatory to say that at the same time this hospital's name was changed to the Dr. Charles H. Miner Hospital, that three other hospitals' names were changed; and to single out one of the four that were changed and say only one was a mistake at this time I believe would be detrimental to a man's character.

On June the 5th of this year Dr. Miner will become eighty-nine years old. I believe it would be crushing to his life's ambition and his life's work and his reputation to now take away from him an honor that he so richly deserves.

I oppose this bill and I am asking all my friends and all those who stand for humanity to do likewise.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, Members of this House, we have no bones to pick with Luzerne County. We are not casting any reflections on Dr. Miner. This Legislature did not change the name to the Charles H. Miner Hospital. This hospital was founded in 1914. It was known from that day on as the Hamburg State Sanatorium. It has been located in Hamburg. It has been helped by the people from Hamburg who worked in that hospital when they had a hard time getting help.

There is no reflection whatever on Dr. Charles H. Miner, believe me. We have no bones to pick with anyone. We just want back what rightfully belongs to Berks County, and the people of Berks County and Hamburg are requesting that. I do not think Dr. Miner ever practiced in the Hamburg State Sanatorium. I have no knowledge of it if he has, and our editor from Hamburg has not advised me of such. The hospital has been known as a tuberculosis hospital, true but I would like to point out to Luzerne County they have three other hospitals in Luzerne County and any one of them could be named the Dr. Charles H. Miner Hospital.

The first part of the name, "Hamburg," names the place where the hospital is. The second part of the name, "State," indicates the hospital is operated as the Hamburg State Hospital. I do not think anyone knows where the Charles H. Miner Hospital is. It has been known all over the eastern part of Pennsylvania as the "Hamburg State Sanatorium." This hospital's name was changed last December by the Administrator of the Health Department without consultation by anyone, and the name Charles H. Miner Hospital was imposed upon the institution. When the head of the State Health Department was questioned about the change, he is supposed to have said, we do not care what the folks in Hamburg or any other place in the state call the place, he was honoring Charles H. Miner, and that was that.

There is considerable expense in changing this name. You have the stationary, the signs and other advertising that goes with the hospital. The people of Berks County, and I for one, will be glad to assist and co-sponsor a bill by any of the Luzerne County Representatives in memorializing Dr. Charles H. Miner in a hospital in Luzerne County.

I would ask both sides of this House to vote "yes" for this change. Give us back what has been taken away by one man who I do not think, nor do any of you other people think, should be allowed to change the name of any institution, hospital, bridge or anything else without the consent of someone else. Therefore, I ask you to vote "yes."

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to get a few things straight in the minds of you people here.

First of all, it has been stated the state did not make this change, that was made by either an individual or by a commission.

Another statement was made in regard to the Harvey Taylor Bridge. Let me point out this fact, the Harvey Taylor Bridge was named by the majority of 208 Members of the House and 50 Members of the Senate. It was by Act of Assembly.

My personal opinion is this that there is no individual or no group of individuals in this state who had the right to make any changes in so far as naming any institutions especially so when the State Legislature by Act of Assembly through the Appropriations Committee supplies all the money for the maintenance and support of these various institutions.

I do want to point out to you that I am not opposed to the man whose name has been used in naming this institution. I have all reason to believe that the integrity and the qualifications of this man is at the high level.

I do want to point out a few things to you and possibly it may be a surprise to the members from Luzerne County. I have received several newspaper clippings from the Times Leader, The Evening News of Wilkes-Barre. I want to read some very short statements which appeared in the editorial. After this bill had been introduced by the Members from Berks County, this appeared in the Times Leader on March 14, 1957, as follows:

"Obviously this is a sop to local pride, although it is not clear what claim to distinction Hamburg has to justify the Legislative enactment.

We as Members coming from Berks County have a right to believe if we want to represent our people it is our duty to do exactly what they requested, and those people from Berks County have made that request to us to have this name changed to its original name.

Another statement which in my opinion is unjustified on the part of the editor of this paper appeared in the the editorial as a March 21, 1957, and that goes something like this:

"It is difficult to understand how an unselfish public benefactor of the statute of Dr. Miner could be made a target for such a shaft. The only possible explanation is ignorance. It is another of those instances where they know not what they do."

Let me say in answer to that editor, if he in his judgment—and I claim that it is only one man's opinion—claims it is ignorance on our part, I feel safe in saying that we have a number of things in common.

I wish also to read a few words that were in the same editorial.

He said, "To put it mildly, it was exasperating to individuals familiar with the career and achievements of Dr. Miner to have this awkward development occur. The sponsors are guilty of inexcusable ineptitude."

We are guilty of nothing other than trying to serve the constituents we represent in Berks County, and only in such manner can we try to represent our people.

Again let me say to you, I feel we are justified in taking the position we are taking through this bill. I feel we have the right to ask that the name be restored for the simple reason that the name "Hamburg" has existed for many, many years. It will take many, many years for people to know and to learn the name which was designated a few months ago. I therefore ask in behalf of the people of Berks County whom we represent to support the bill as we have introduced it.

Mr. YATRON. Mr. Speaker, as a Member of the House from Berks County I rise to ask both sides of the House to support House Bill 802, which would rename the Charles H. Miner Sanatorium, which is located at Hamburg in Berks County, the Hamburg State Sanatorium.

With all respect to Dr. Miner from Luzerne County for the excellent services he has rendered the state, I still feel the people of Berks County should have a voice as to what the name shall be.

Once again I ask both sides of the House for support for the passage of this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, the possibility or the suggestion that the M. Harvey Taylor Bridge might be changed is fraught with such great peril that I want to say just a word.

This morning's paper carried a story to the effect that Harry Truman considered some men as being great Senators, among whom was Henry Clay from Kentucky. Now, if I recall my history correctly, Henry Clay was a great compromiser and it seems to me that we could still protect local pride and also the excellent name and reputation of Dr. Miner by naming the sanatorium the Charles H. Miner State Sanatorium of Hamburg, or, of Hamburg, Pennsylvania.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to see our Democratic colleagues lined up with us on this question.

I am very much concerned about this name change in Berks County and pushing the people of Berks County around. I do not like it. Hamburg is in Mr. Piper's district, but Kutztown State Teachers College is in my district. If they get away with this, I do not know how long it is going to take until they change the name of this college.

I said before and I will say it again, let the people from Luzerne name a hospital in Luzerne County after this Doctor and honor him at home. I wonder how the Representatives from Luzerne County would feel if the shoe was on the other foot and we were trying to pick somebody from Berks County and name one of their hospitals after him.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker. I am happy to make the Berks County support of the bill before us unanimous.

I am not speaking as Minority Floor Leader now, I am speaking on behalf of our Berks County constituents who seriously and definitely do not want Hamburg Sanatorium named anything other than Hamburg State Sanatorium.

The gentleman, Mr. Post, has indicated that he thinks it would be a derogatory move if we pass this bill changing the name from that which has been given to it by the Secretary of Health and by no other person. I say that is not true in any sense. Nobody in Berks County to my knowledge thinks anything about Dr. Miner except good things. We all acknowledge he is a fine doctor and has been a great help to Pennsylvania's medical science and in the many phases of medicine in which he has been engaged.

But that is not the point. The point is that Luzerne County has some very fine institutions of its own, and Dr. Miner could be honored, and probably should be honored, by having one of those institutions named after him, but it should not be done with the Berks County institution.

I do not believe many people in Berks County know much about Dr. Miner. Perhaps they should know more, but I do not believe many of them do. If this bill is not passed, I am sure the sanatorium is going to be called by everybody in that area the Hamburg Sanatorium. Then we will have the situation of signs being on this fine institution bearing somebody's name and nobdy calling it by that name.

I think we should honor Dr. Miner in some other way and I would be very happy to vote for a bill, if it be necessary to pass a bill, to rename some Luzerne County institution or hospital the Dr. Miner Hospital. Perhaps the Secretary of Health cannot do in relation to the Luzerne County hospitals what he has done here, and I will be happy to help him do it.

I am asking all the Members to vote for this bill today so that the good residents of Hamburg and Berks County can be happy with the institution's name as they have been for many, many years.

Mr. POST. Mr. Speaker, I do not mean to dwell on this subject because I think it will stand on its merit.

We have not asked Berks County to move the hospital to Luzerne County. We merely have said that here is a man who has served not Luzerne County, but has served the entire state of Pennsylvania.

They are worrying about the hospital's name becoming popular. I am sure we all agree on the name of the Walter Reed Hospital. I am sure we all have known of such a thing as the common cold, which overnight became a virus. So you see that name-changing of things is very minor. It is minute. I think it will add to, not take away from the hospital in Hamburg. The Dr. Charles H. Miner name will add prestige to that great institution.

We also have another thing which we owe to Dr. Miner in that one of our Members, although he is not with us today, my colleague, Mr. Jump, owes his very existence to this great individual, this humanitarian, because he was one of the early doctors to learn and diagnose this horrible disease of tuberculosis. You know, a good many years ago to have tuberculosis was like having leprosy, and Dr. Miner's efforts have certainly eased that pain for all of us in this great and modern day.

I say two wrongs never made a right. It was wrong to change it, that might be one thing, but now I am sure it is wrong to change it back. I know that doing right is what this body is dedicated to, and in the words of that great poet, Ruskin, "Doing is a great thing, and if resolutely people do what is right, in time they come to enjoy doing it."

I know you will do what is right and vote down this legislation.

Miss DUFFY. May I interrogate Mr. Piper, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The lady from Philadelphia desires to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Piper. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PIPER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Piper, while I am deeply smypathetic with the feeling of the local residents, since this poor Doctor Miner is 89, he does not have very much longer to live, so would it be possible to do this act the next session?

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I do not know how poor the doctor is, but I have heard of people being 89 years old and living to 101, and I hope he lives that much longer. We are not trying to do anything derogatory to the doctor.

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it would be derogatory; however, it would be a blow to his pride. Don't you agree?

Mr. PIPER. I do not know. I have not asked the doctor, but I suggest you ask Mr. Post that.

Miss DUFFY. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PIPER. I would say, Mr. Speaker, it has been a blow to Hamburg to have that name changed, and that is why we are fighting so hard to get it back.

Mr. MUSTO. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to take any time of the House. I do not blame the people of Berks County for wanting to have the name changed back to Hamburg Hospital. I hope you do not blame Musto for trying to keep the name of Doctor Miner on this Hospital so I ask everyone to vote against this bill.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 852, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code," approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) authorizing recorders of deeds to appoint solicitors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill authorizes the appointment of a solicitor by the recorder of deeds of Allegheny County.

I understand in Philadelphia they have abolished the independent elective office of recorder of deeds, but in all of the other 66 counties of the Commonwealth they have a recorder of deeds, Allegheny County being by far the most populous county which has this office.

It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, only logical and sensible to assume that the volume of business which would be transacted in a recorder's office and, therefore, the number of legal questions and controversies which might arise would vary almost directly with the population of the county—the greater the population the more need, if you will, for a solicitor.

Yet in Allegheny County, with a population of 1.5 million people, the recorder of deeds is not authorized to appoint an official legal advisor. In every other county of the Commonwealth he is so authorized and, in fact, in 47 other counties of this Commonwealth, including some which have a population of less than 50,000, the recorder of deeds actually has his own solicitor.

Therefore, it seems to me only fair and equitable that we pass House Bill 852 and elevate the status of the recorder of deeds in Allegheny County to a position on a par with recorders throughout the rest of the counties in this Commonwealth.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill for one very simple reason. It is absolutely unnecessary to have a solicitor for the recorder of deeds in Allegheny County, in my opinion. I back that statement with the statement that I myself was employed in that office for a number of years and I know how many, if any, legal questions arise.

In addition to that, if a question should arise, they can take the matter up with the county solicitor's office, which is in the same building. We have a county solicitor with 11 assistants back there and their total salaries amounted to over $75,000 a year.

I ask all of the Members to vote against this bill. I ask for a slow roll call and only those answering to their names be recorded.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I think there is need now for a solicitor in the recorder's office. There was a time when not too many problems came before a recorder, but with today's real estate taxes and things of that nature there are many times in which the recorder needs advice as to whether a particular instrument is taxable.

That is not an obligation of the county. The money that is collected is state money and, of course, if you went to the county solicitor he might not be too much interested. I think the recorder of deeds today needs the protection of a solicitor when it comes to recording instruments and determining which require or do not require state tax.

There are many times when rulings of that kind are asked for by the attorneys when they present a deed for recording. I do not see any reason why Allegheny County should be the exception. I know in Cambria County many times we have gone to the recorder of deeds and asked the question, "Is this instrument subject to tax?" Then he would call on his solicitor to determine whether or not it was subject to tax.

I believe this is a proper bill and it is in order to give the recorder of Allegheny County a solicitor along with all of the other 66 counties.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, May 1, 1957.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. PAUL S. MONTGOMERY, D.D., Pastor of United Church of Aspinwall, Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, offered the following prayer:

Gracious God, our Father, as we enter upon another day of activity and the great adventure of living and of public service, we do not pray for immunity from difficult problems, but for the courage to rightfully face them. We do not ask to be saved out of the world; we ask rather for strength to ally ourselves with the Savior of the world.

Among the immediate and incidental problems that will come this day, grant us wisdom to face them without evasion or self-deception. Among the perplexities of daily life and labor, give us equanimity and self-control that we be not slaves of circumstances, but rather their masters, with the exhilaration of conflict and the joy of achievement.

We beseech Thee now, O Master, that Thy spiritual presence may be so manifested in each of us this day that the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts will be acceptable unto Thee, our Lord and our only Redeemer. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MULLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, the Municipal Court of Philadelphia is composed of fourteen judges. These judges have charge of domestic relations, juvenile and various other criminal and civil duties. Three of these judges are presently on juvenile matters which are taking almost their entire time and they are overworked. The domestic relations matters take up the time of at least three or four other judges. The balance of the judges in this court are so overworked, and they have been so overworked, that it takes approximately three or four months for a person coming in to have a court order to even get a hearing for the support of their children.

The juvenile cases are so far behind, and the list of the cases is so big, that approximately four minutes is allotted to a case.

The mortality of the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia is greater than in any other in existence. We recently had one judge who died at the age of forty-four, primarily from overwork in this court, namely, Judge Leonard Propper.

Mr. President, I have been asked by those judges to introduce a bill, increasing the number of judges in that court. I hope that the need for the increase in the number of judges in the Municipal Court of Philadelphia is not affected by the question of political matters over their appointment.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MULLIN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 718, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 12, 1913 (P. L. 711) entitled "An act establishing a court for the county of Philadelphia; * * *" increasing the number of judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Messrs. MURRAY and SEYLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 719, entitled:

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH

Mr. HARNEY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The present constitution of the Commonwealth was adopted in the year 1874. In accordance with the practice of the times, the provisions inserted in the constitution were wordy and sought to regulate in minute detail the functions and activities of our government. One of the consequences of this style of drafting is that the government is denied the flexibility of action necessary to cope with many new demands made upon it by the rising needs of its people. No better example of proper drafting techniques can be cited than those which were employed in drawing up our Federal Constitution. Although comparatively brief in word content, it has served adequately as a basis for permitting legislation capable of dealing with the never ending changes in the makeup of our nation and world at large. This type of foresight in drafting has generally been absent in state constitutions. It can be also noted that the means provided for amending the Commonwealth's Constitution provide for great lapses of time before proposed amendments may be submitted to the electorate for their approval. These are conditions which, in view of the vast changes that have occurred in our political, social, and economic structure since 1874 demand a thorough study into the adequacy and propriety of our organic law, therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the Constitution of the Commonwealth in light of the present and future needs of the people of the Commonwealth and to determine if the public interest would be more greatly advanced by merely adding certain amendments to the constitution, or by revising it generally, or by merely providing for a more expeditious and practical system of adding amendments to our constitution, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of proposed amendments or revisions together with all the pertinent data and information which would be of value to any official body selected for the task of revising the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Barr, Senator Miller and myself, I am presenting this resolution. I understand that I cannot ask for its immediate consideration and, therefore, I would appreciate your referring this resolution to the Committee on State Government.

This resolution, Mr. President, has to do with a request by the Manufacturer's Light and Heat Company to have another increase in the natural gas rates in western Pennsylvania, particularly in the city of Pittsburgh, the city of Washington and the surrounding communities. We feel that this request is unwarranted and, therefore, we are offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE VOICING DISAPPROVAL OF THE PROPOSED INCREASES IN NATURAL GAS RATES BY THE MANUFACTURER'S LIGHT AND HEAT COMPANY

Messrs. LANE, BARR and MILLER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The Manufacturer's Light and Heat Company request for a $6,473,720 annual natural gas rate increase will be aired by the Public Utility Commission at Pittsburgh on May 1-3.

Protests have been entered against the proposed increase by the cities of Pittsburgh and Washington.

The proposed increase in rates amounts to 12½ percent, and amounts to seventy-four cents a month for those who do not use gas for heating, and will average about one dollar and eighty-nine cent a month over a year's time for those who use gas for heating.

The proposed increase in rates is unjustifiable on the basis of certain increases in costs to the company; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby strongly voices its disapproval of the proposed increases in natural gas rates by the Manufacturer's Light and Heat Company; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Public Utility Commission.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING THAT THE AUTOMOBILE SAFETY FOUNDATION MAKE A STUDY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA HIGHWAY SYSTEM AND THE PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. BERGER, MAHANY and PECHAN offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The highway system of the Commonwealth is of the utmost importance to the general public due to its constant use and great cost.

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has been the center of much controversy in regard to its operation and methods of administering the State Highway System.

It is of the utmost importance to the public that an impartial and factual study be made of the Highway Department, and that the facts secured by such study be made available to the public; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Automobile Safety Foundation is hereby requested to make a study of the Pennsylvania Highway System and the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the report of the findings made by such study be published for the information of the general public and the General Assembly of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to take any necessary action to concur in the request made by this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Automobile Safety Foundation, and that the expenses of said investigation be paid out of the Motor License Fund.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. PECHAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, in view of the reaction we had here yesterday about horses and horse racing, and the fact that the Kentucky Derby is going to be run this Saturday, I would suggest to the people or the hunch players all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that they play "Bold Ruler" as a result of the statement which we received from the Governor yesterday about his change of pace.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator state the odds?

STUDENTS FROM SUSQUEHANNA UNIVERSITY, SELINSGROVE, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to ask special permission to introduce to the Senate a group of three beautiful, young ladies from Susquehanna University, the first being Stephanie Haase, Catherine Henry and my own daughter, Betsy Walker.

Now if you have not oriented yourself on Susquehanna University, it is a great school not far from here which has produced some great Pennsylvanians, probably the most prominent of which would be our own Senator Derk Blough, of the United States Steel Corporation, to say nothing of the junior Senator from Cambria County.

I take pleasure in introducing these guests, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Will the distinguished guests please rise? We are very happy to have such distinguished guests with us today, and we hope you have enjoyed your visit.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Mrs. Dent and I have a little parakeet at home and if he were here at this time when these lovely ladies stood up, this is exactly what he would have done (indicating by whistle).

Mr. President, I wanted to say to the Senate that when Senator Pechan arose, I thought perhaps he was going to invite us to be his guests to go down in the special train to the Kentucky Derby, but I guess we will have to be content with watching it on television. I would like to have the boys who are going down, though, wave at us once in a while while you are down there.

Mr. PECHAN. I want you to know, Senator, that I am not going. I am going to watch it on T.V., just like you are.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Mahany and myself, I am about to introduce a bill aiding the State-aided universities, and another bill, on behalf of Senator Pechan and myself, which has been requested by the Sportsmen's Clubs of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce bills at this time.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PRAYER

Rabbi Herbert Panitch, Kneseth Israel Congregation, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Omnipotent God, Author of Liberty:

We invoke Thy Divine blessings upon all Thy children, created in Thine image.

We thank Thee for this new day. Well do we realize that Thou art the Source of all light and all joy.

We pray Thee, grant us wisdom and guidance, so that we may ever pursue the paths of justice, democracy, and brotherhood. Help us to eradicate intolerance, prejudice, and malice in our midst. Enable us to comprehend that all men are brothers, children of One God, and that Thou didst create all.

Guard our beloved state and our blessed country from every enemy, pestilence and sorrow; from distress, anguish, and gloom. Keep our borders free from totalitarian ideologies, pagan philosophies, and anti-democratic concepts.

Watch over and protect the leaders of the United States, and the State of Pennsylvania, who give of their time, their energies and efforts in pursuit of justice and freedom.

Grant that our land may ever serve as a beacon-light for liberty-loving people the world over. May freedom and equality, brotherhood and peace fill our land as the waters cover the sea.

All this we ask in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Tuesday, April 30, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time wishes to make an announcement concerning the printing of the Journal.

So that there will be no criticism of the Official Reporter of this House for the fact that the Journal is not in print each day, the Chair would like to state that it is not the fault of the Official Reporter of this House nor his office. The copy of the House proceedings is ready to go to the Printer the same day, except in three instances when it went to the Printer before the following day's session.

The Chair makes this statement for the information of the Members of the House.

In the House of Representatives, April 30, 1957.

An organization well worthy of our praise has been formed in Allegheny County to combat the flow of indecent magazines flooding our newsstands. This outstanding organization of women, known as the Allegheny County Citizens Committee for Decent Magazines, has as its president the capable Mrs. Dwight H. Fee, who for years has devoted her time unselfishly to the furtherance of decency.

The adverse effect which indecent magazines have upon our youth is an evil of which we are well aware. When an organization comes forward to openly combat this filth it is our duty to express sincere gratitude to them and to encourage other women throughout the Commonwealth to follow the fine example which has been set by the Allegheny County Citizens Committee for Decent Magazines by forming similar organizations. It is also our duty to act favorably upon legislation which may be proposed by this Committee to carry out its program; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania commend the Allegheny County Citizens Committee for Decent Magazines and its president Mrs. Dwight H. Fee, for the services being rendered to remove indecency from the newsstands and give assurance that we will not permit these efforts to be in vain; and be it further

The first section was read and agreed to.
Mr. KAMYK offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, page 3, by inserting between lines 12 and 13 Section 2. The sum of six hundred thousand dollars ($600,000), or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to the City of Pittsburgh to pay the salaries and wages of additional firemen required as a result of the reduction of the number of hours of duty as provided by this amendment.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, these amendments are making an appropriation for the city of Pittsburgh to take care of the expenses that will be involved after House Bill 543 becomes law.

Each year the governing body of the municipalities throughout the Commonwealth must cope with the problem of raising additional revenue to pay for additional improved service to which the citizens are entitled. The city of Pittsburgh is no exception.

The governing body of the city of Pittsburgh, recognizing the increase in the cost of living, raised wages of municipal employes, beginning January 1, 1957 and also appropriated sufficient money to pay the employer's share of Social Security premiums for 1956 and 1957 so that its employes might benefit from Act 662 which was passed during the 1955 session of this Legislature.

In addition, there is presently in Committee in the Senate, three bills which increase the amount of pensions to be paid to retired municipal employes, retired firemen, and retired policemen. These bills were passed unanimously in this House during this session with the full approval and recommendation of the governing body of the city of Pittsburgh.

This program has been very costly and will have to be met in December of this year when budget requirements are considered. House Bill No. 543, sponsored and introduced by members of the party from the other side of the aisle, is an attempt to gain the political support of a special group, namely, the firemen of the city of Pittsburgh, regardless of the cost to the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh. We do not criticise the attempt of the sponsors to gain political support, but we are critical of the fact that they disregard the taxpayer and we seriously question the right of the Members of this House to regulate hours of employment for employes of the city of Pittsburgh, especially in view of the fact that the present law merely sets the maximum hours that a man may work and leaves it entirely to the municipality to reduce their hours should they desire. The cost to the city of Pittsburgh, should this legislation become law, is estimated at more than $600 thousand per year, and if this House passes this bill, we think the House should furnish the money. Hence, the amendment.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill as drawn up and as we explained to the Committee and the head of the fire department, that is, the head of the fire members that are here in favor of this bill, if they would go back into the setup they had in previous years, which they did have in operation for two years, this would not cost the city one penny, and we will prove on third reading and final passage of this bill that it will not cost the city a penny. So, for that reason I ask that the Members of this House vote this amendment down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny bring us face to face with an issue too long evaded in this House.

It has become the practice for political headhunters to use this General Assembly as an instrument with which to forge the weapons of local campaigns. Unfortunately, we here in the General Assembly sometimes evade issues of paramount importance, issues that lie at the very foundation of our democratic system of government. We pledge worthy allegiance to the doctrine of home rule and by our votes too frequently destroy the very foundations of home rule. We never can achieve healthy political life, a healthy sense of responsibilities at the grass roots of our democracy unless we say to the local municipalities we are granting to you full rights to operate, restrained, only by constitutional limitations.

There are pending in Committee, bills which would increase the expenses of Philadelphia by some $13 or $14 million by telling Philadelphia how long and for what wage its employes must work. We are told, I am told, members of my caucus are told, that labor is for this species of bills, and that, therefore, we endanger our political lives and the tenure of our party if we do not obey the decisions arrived at by the so-called "spokesmen" for labor.

I notice that the A F of L maintains autonomy of its local unions. That is the one doctrine on which they stand steadfast. Each local union decides its own policies under such general restrictions of the overall institution, the overall organization, and yet there are those who would deny to our municipalities the very rights to which labor itself and its own organization most steadfastly clings.

I do not have any idea that this House is willing to accept this amendment and accept the responsibilities which this amendment imposes. The majority of this House would very gladly, I presume, pass the problem back to Pittsburgh having created it ourselves. So I am pleading with this House to make the ultimate fate of this measure a yardstick by which to judge whether or not we are going to open the doors of opportunity to our municipalities by freeing their own genius for managing their own affairs, or whether we are still going to continue the practice of what I have termed "the political headhunters," who, when they see some particular way of ingratiating themselves with some particular constituency, come down here and pass a law increasing the taxes of the people back home, without giving the people back home any opportunity to defend themselves. We are either for the doctrine of home rule or we are committed to the policy that we will extend an open hand to government until it controls all the functions of our municipalities.

And so I commend this amendment and this measure to your conscience to decide whether the doctrine of home rule has any status in a democratic assembly.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, we believe in the doctrine of home rule as firmly as the gentleman from Cambria County. We also believe that the amendment proposed by Mr. Kamyk from Allegheny County is not sound because we feel this would be the beginning of "pork barrel" legislation, wherein the most powerful group from the various districts would come to Harrisburg and ask for the cost of operation from the Members of the Legislature.

I want the gentleman on the other side to know that even though practically all the Members who would benefit by this bill are of their party, I am not interested in embarrassing the Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh or city council. If they want to do the right thing by the firemen, that is their problem. I believe in home rule. I do not think we should interfere with the internal affairs of the city of Pittsburgh. I admire the firemen. I have nothing against them, but we should place this problem back in the city of Pittsburgh.

I say let us defeat the amendment because it is "pork barrel" legislation and tomorrow or whenever the bill comes up on final reading, let us defeat the bill, too.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would simply like to know whether the statements made by the gentleman from Allegheny are simply a threat or a promise?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I recall during the last campaign that the gentleman from Cambria designated me a "Prima Donna" and that was one of the big assets in my campaign, because I said at that time that I voted on a measure in accordance with what I thought was for the best interests of the people and I asked them to look at my record and see whether I ever made a promise and did not keep it. I will keep my promise, do not worry about it.

" On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman withdraw the remainder of his amendments to the bill?

Mr. KAMYK. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

other devices, plus the estimated cost of reasonable depreciation and maintenance of the same, except in such cases where the sum of such interest, depreciation and maintenance so calculated would be equal to or exceed the sum of six thousand five hundred dollars ($6500) per annum, then the annual payment shall, in all such cases, be six thousand five hundred dollars ($6500) per annum, to be expended by the board for the purpose of stocking with fish the waters of the pool above said dam, and for the purpose of propagating, rearing, and distributing the fish actually placed in said waters, and the acquisition of the necessary facilities therefor as well as for carrying out such other fish managing practices at or in said waters as are deemed proper for the improvement of public fishing opportunities therein. The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Goodling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOODLING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman explain to the House in clear, precise language just what these amendments do to this bill and what the bill will mean after the amendments are in, if they go in?

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering if an attorney can understand clear, precise language? All of these bills were written by attorneys and that is why I think we need other attorneys to interpret them.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am not asking for wisecracks. I would like an explanation though.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, these amendments change one provision in the existing law as it is today. As the law stands today, any time the Game Commission decides it is going to have an antlerless deer season, it can only do so by issuing special permits. These amendments will eliminate that provision so far as bow and arrow hunters are concerned. That is the entire purpose of these amendments. That is the only thing it will do.

Mr. READINGER. I notice these amendments strike out the words "both sexes." Does this mean that the bow and arrow hunters can shoot only male deer during the antlerless deer season?

Mr. GOODLING. It does not. The Game Commission has the sole authority to establish the season at the present time. We gave them that privilege a good long time ago and this does not change that at all.

Mr. READINGER. What does it do then?

Mr. GOODLING. I thought I tried to make it very plain, Mr. Speaker, that they may have an antlerless doe season for bow and arrow hunters without issuing the special permits which are now required under existing law.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 585, entitled:

An Act amending the "Local Tax Enabling Law," approved June 25, 1947 (P. L. 1145); further defining the taxing power of townships of the second class.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Ragot?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Ragot, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RAGOT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this proposal that is before us would enable second class township authorities to levy a wage tax upon their residents?

Mr. RAGOT. It would permit them the same privileges as the cities, townships of the first class and boroughs.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to ask whether that would also include a wage tax?

Mr. RAGOT. Certainly.

Mr. PETROSKY. I would like to further interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Would the gentleman tell me whether this does not enable them to increase the per capita tax, under this bill, from $5 to $10?

Mr. RAGOT. We already did that yesterday in another bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes, but that was an amendment to the School Code and for school purposes. This is an amendment that concerns the second class township authorities ability to increase the per capita tax from $5 to $10, is that not so?

Mr. RAGOT. Oh, yes.

Mr. PETROSKY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. RAGOT. Mr. Speaker, this is strictly a home rule amendment. This bill is to correct the inequity of taxing powers of second class townships as compared to cities, boroughs and first class townships under Act 481.

Due to the influx of population into second class townships from cities and boroughs, this is now need legislation. Under present law it amounts to taxation without representation. What is good for the cities and boroughs should be good for townships. Either repeal Act 481 or give all of the levels of local government the same privilege of using it.

Mr. FOX. Mr. Speaker, my only comment on the bill is this. I do not know what the effect or what the intent of this restriction in 481 as to the taxing powers of second class townships may have been. I do, however, know what the result of this restriction has been. It has reserved the exclusive right to use a wage tax to the school districts, the second, third and fourth class school districts, that exist in these townships. We have many townships that have these school districts in them. The school districts are now levying the wage tax and getting the entire one percent. If the second class townships are put on the same basis as the boroughs, cities and townships of the first class, then if the township supervisors desire to levy the wage tax they will have to divide this one percent tax equally with the school districts. In other words, the school district will get one-half percent and the township will get one-half percent. This will put many local school districts' budgets in serious jeopardy, and I believe if we do that we will be very sorry later.

In my particular township we have the wage tax. It is levied by the school district. It means the sum of about $30,000 to them. If the tax officials should decide to levy the wage tax, it would mean a reduction in our school funds of $15,000 and it would have to be made up by another tax which the school district would have to levy.

Mr. RAGOT. I would like to interrogate the gentleman, Mr. Fox.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lawrence, Mr. Fox, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FOX. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RAGOT. It is not a fact that in first class townships that they have the power to tax anything under 481 and divide the proceeds with the school district or the township?

Mr. FOX. That is true.

Mr. RAGOT. Is that the same as applied to boroughs?

Mr. FOX. That is true.

Mr. RAGOT. Does the same thing apply to cities?

Mr. FOX. Yes.

Mr. RAGOT. Well then why should it not apply to second class townships?

Mr. FOX. As I said before, I do not know why this restriction was put in but it will mean a hardship to the township school districts if the township supervisors levy the same tax. I think perhaps, but I do not know, that may have been the reason for the restrictions so that the school districts could have the exclusive use of this tax.

Mr. RAGOT. I do not think this bill will affect that, because under the amendment that is offered here the school district will be able to levy any tax they want anyway. So if they cannot make it up off of that, they will make it up off of something else.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 611, Printer's No. 267 and

House Bill No. 612, Printer's No. 268

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 695, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 7, 1917 (P. L. 600), entitled "An act providing that appointive officers and employees, employed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its civil service, or by any department, bureau, * * * shall not be deemed or held to have resigned or abandoned their offices or employments by reason of enlistment, enrollment or draft in the military or naval service of the United States * * *" including within the provisions of the act persons drafted or involuntarily ordered into extended active duty in the armed services and making changes to conform to existing law.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman explain to the House the reason for the elimination from the law which is set forth on page 5, of this bill, starting with line 11 and ending with line 18?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the bill before me but does that deal with the payments of money?

Mr. READINGER. Substitute salaries.

Mr. BELL. That was all declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. That portion cut out has been previously held by our Courts as unconstitutional.

Mr. READINGER. Apart from that, does this bill simply add the person who is in any of the armed services rather than navy or army services?

Mr. BELL. It goes a little further than that. It does extend the coverage presently enjoyed by members of the navy and army to all members of the armed services of the United States.

In addition, the present bill covers the re-employment right of state and municipal employes to go on active duty in time of war or threat of war.

Unfortunately our country has seen a period when we have people who have been called on active duty through the means of the draft. Even today men are being drafted. If we have a situation such as Jordan which boils over, which requires the calling to active duty any of the reserved components, without our country going into war or being threatened by war, the amendments would cover those men and women.

Under the present reserve program of the United States tremendous importance is placed by the Department of Defense on the ready availability of the reserve components.

Never before possibly two or three years ago was so much importance placed on the reserve components, including the National Guard, and that is now a reserve component by the Department of Defense.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I have been advised that the administration preferred not to see this bill passed since Senate Bill No. 249, which is somewhere in the Senate—it had been out of Committee and may be out now or might be back in Committee—expressed the ideas of the administration in this matter. But since that bill may never get to us and since I find nothing objectionable about this one, I am going to ask the Members to vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

			Yatron,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1097, entitled:

An Act amending the "Statutory Construction Act" approved May 28, 1937 (P. L. 1019) changing the definition of "physician."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have an explanation of the necessity for this bill, just what it is supposed to do, and therefore would like to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

This bill takes out of Section 101 of the Statutory Construction Act, three words, "in any or" out of the words "in any or all of its branches."

The point is this, the word "physician" is used frequently in our statutes and, of course, the Statutory Construction Act tells us what is meant when the word "physician" is used without other definition in the specific act.

The fear of the doctors and osteopaths who are intended to be taken care of by the phrase "physician" in the Statutory Construction Act feel that the word "physician" if read with that definition of physician with the words "any of its branches" in there, that phrase, "A person who is licensed to practice medicine in any of its branches would include, let us say, a drugless therapist because he is licensed to practice in one of the branches of medicine.

Hence, they want this Statutory Construction Act definition to read that to be a physician within the meaning of our statute you must be licensed in all of the branches of medicine as prescribed by either the Osteopathic Act or the regular physician's licensing act.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Then as I understand it, this bill is designed to prevent or prohibit a person licensed under the Drugless Therapy Act, which incidentally is under the Medical Board, I believe, from using the term "physician" or any other person calling them a physician. Is that the purpose of this bill?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. No, I do not think the idea is to prevent other people from calling them whatever they want to call them, but the idea is to keep them from taking advantage of other statutes by saying that they are a physician within the meaning of the Statutory Construction Act.

I do not know whether that is clear to the gentleman. Does he understand me?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I believe I do.

In other words, when an act refers to the word "physician" in its body the construction then will be to include only those people who are osteopaths or M.D.'s, as we know them?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. That is correct. Unless in the specific statute some other definition is given.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 331, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred forty-seven (P. L. 1335) entitled "The Pennsylvania Hospital Survey and Construction Act" by requiring that non-Federal funds be available before application shall be made for hospital construction projects to be owned or operated by the State.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman inform us what is intended to be accomplished by this bill and whether it is aimed at any specific instances?

Mr. JOHNSON. As we all know, there is money available called the Hill-Burton funds, which are Federal funds available for hospital construction in the state. The law calls for matching funds before you can use Hill-Burton funds. I believe the formula, as I remember it, is 50-50, although I could be wrong. Under the law the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can be an applicant to use Hill-Burton funds just as well as an individual hospital association can be an applicant.

There is a feeling among the hospital associations in the state that the money was intended to be used by and for local hospital construction and not by the Commonwealth with matching money to build new institutions.

In order to put it within the purview of this Legislature whether any funds are to be used by the Commonwealth in making application for Hill-Burton funds, we would have to pass an appropriation bill, as I understand it, in order to have the money available for the Commonwealth to apply for Hill-Burton funds, or the money could be allocated by the General State Authority to be used for matching money.

I believe, as I understand the bill, it is to prevent the person who has control over the funds, and I believe that is the Secretary of Welfare, from being both the judge and the jury sitting not only as the person doling out the money, but also being an applicant at the same time. If that is the case, we, the Legislature, would be the deciding factor.

Mr. READINGER. Do I understand this amendment means that the state, if it had a building program for welfare, a hospital program, could not through its Department of Welfare use any state funds unless we specifically by an act of this Assembly appropriated money for the purpose of contributing to the building of institution "A," we will say? Is that the meaning of the first part of this amendment?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct, as I understand it. If the Secretary of Welfare wants to apply for Hill-Burton funds to be used for construction projects of the Department of Welfare, he would have to come before the Appropriations Committee and say, I want "X" number of dollars to be used as matching money in applying for Hill-Burton funds towards this project. That is correct.

Mr. READINGER. If the Appropriation Committee and the Legislature grants an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for a certain biennium, including a certain number of dollars for construction of buildings without specifying the purpose of those buildings, would that money not be available for matching purposes with these Hill-Burton funds under the present law?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct. Under the present law, with the type of blank check appropriation we give to the Department of Welfare—I believe the appropriation last biennium was not earmarked money for construction, I believe it was just an outright appropriation—he could take his appropriation, without coming to the Legislature and asking whether he could do it, and use a portion of it in making an application to himself as the administrator over the fund to get Hill-Burton funds.

Mr. READINGER. So if this bill passes and should become law, this Legislature will have to agree on which specific buildings, if any, the state Welfare Department should be allowed to build with the use of Federal funds, is that correct?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct, as I understand the bill.

Mr. READINGER. Is it not true that there is a deadline sometime during each year when application must be made for these Federal funds and the state or the private hospital funds must be available? They must have been raised and be available at the time the application is made for the Federal funds?

Mr. JOHNSON. It could be, Mr. Speaker, that that is the requirement. I am sorry I cannot answer the question. I had investigated it quite thoroughly in the past, but I do not recall that there was any definite deadline to be met.

Mr. READINGER. If I may just enlighten the gentleman before we pass on to the next part of this discussion, there is a deadline under which the private hospitals making application must submit their application and other evidence of their ability to contribute their funds. They must submit that to the Secretary of Welfare by a certain date in each two-year period.

Also, the Federal funds which are allocated to Pennsylvania must be committed in some way by certain acts of state officials, and so forth, otherwise the allocation goes back to the Federal Government.

In connection with the General State Authority allocations, do I understand this amendment to mean that if the General State Authority is authorized to borrow, for example, $100 million before any of the General State Authority moneys can be allocated to any hospitals for the purpose of obtaining the Federal matching funds, this Legislature will have to pass a specific act designating the particular hospital and the amount of money involved?

I am now referring to the last line on page 2 and the first two lines on page 3 of the bill, which states "or by allocation by the General State Authority pursuant to an act authorizing such allocation for that expressed purpose."

Mr. JOHNSON. I am inclined to agree with the gentleman in my reading of it. This bill would contemplate that the Legislature in setting up its increase in the indebtedness or borrowing power of the General State Authority would state the purpose for which the money is going to be spent. I believe an act would have to be passed which would say that the General State Authority is authorized to allocate "X" number of dollars to be used in applying for Hill-Burton funds. I believe that is correct, that is about what this bill says.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I think the intent of this bill has been pretty clearly expressed and I am opposing it for the reason that I think we are unduly hamstringing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in its hospital building program if we pass this bill.

There are times and can be times in the future when the private hospitals interested in either expanding or building new buildings will not make themselves eligible to make use of all of the Federal funds available under this Hill-Burton act during a certain period.

For example, the Federal government requires that by a certain deadline a private hospital—I do not mean a profit hospital, but I mean a community hospital which might have had a fund drive and raised a certain amount of funds—must furnish proof that the funds are available, must get plans prepared, and all of those things, by a certain date in order that the Federal Government's funds may be committed to the building of that program for these community hospitals.

The state also has hospital needs. Where the line should be drawn between use by the state for hospitals, and how much of the money should be used for that purpose and how much should go to the community hospitals, is a matter which the Secretary of Welfare must determine.

The Federal Government, as I understand it, vests a lot of authority in some agencies of the states, and in Pennsylvania it is the Secretary of Welfare who must allocate these funds which are available from the Federal Government for the local hospitals. Unless I misunderstand the Hill-Burton act completely, the authority is vested in the Secretary of Welfare to determine which community hospitals are going to get Federal funds. As I understand the law, he is the one who must determine for the state, as the agent, in effect, of the Federal Government, how much of those moneys is going to be put here and how much is going to be put there.

I do not think this is a wise piece of legislation at all. I think any wise Secretary of Welfare will never keep community hospitals from participating in these Federal funds unless there is a deep-seated conviction that the state's needs for some of these hospitals is greater than, or at least equal to, the local hospitals' needs. We do not want any Federal funds to be lost, because if they are once lost after a certain period of time we do not get them back.

I think we might run into a situation where this Legislature could not agree which hospitals should and which should not be given any money.

We might run into a situation where no state hospital could be built in part with Federal funds because of the pressure brought from various communities throughout the state to get all the Hill-Burton funds.

I do not think it is the proper thing to do, I think it is a bad piece of legislation, and I am asking the Members to vote against it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, will the Minority Leader consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Are there sufficient Hill-Burton funds available as of today to take care of all of the private local hospitals' requirements?

Mr. READINGER. It is my understanding that there are more applicants now who could put themselves in an eligible position to receive these Federal funds than there are funds. I do not think these private hospitals, or local hospitals, have actually reached the point of qualifying themselves, but I believe if they were given sufficient time they might be able to become qualified.

Mr. BELL. Is the Minority Leader familiar with the fact that at the present time the Secretary of Welfare has established a priority system so that some local hospitals are getting the funds and some are not?

Mr. READINGER. I believe that has always been the system of allocating these funds ever since they have been available under the Federal act. The desirability, the community need, the area involved, and so forth, has always been a major factor in determining which local hospitals would get these funds.

Mr. BELL. Is not this priority system ample evidence that there are insufficient Hill-Burton funds to take care of local hospital construction that is already on the approved list?

Mr. READINGER. I do not think there has ever been a time when the requests by local hospitals has not exceeded the amount of Federal funds available. There are times when the local hospitals ask for funds, but they do not make themselves eligible by virtue of raising the amount which they must put up—I think it is one-third as against two-thirds.

Mr. BELL. Is the Minority Leader familiar with any time when we have not used up all the available Hill-Burton funds?

Mr. READINGER. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. BELL. Would not the utilization by the Secretary of Welfare of Hill-Burton funds in the construction of state hospitals hamstring the use of Hill-Burton funds in the construction of local hospitals?

Mr. READINGER. It would not hamstring anybody, it would simply be a matter of deciding whether the state hospitals were socially and physically as necessary as the local hospitals.

Mr. BELL. In other words, it comes down to a policy of whether we should support hospitals built completely with tax money or whether we should encourage the development of hospitals whose money comes from local sources other than state or federal taxes?

Mr. READINGER. I do not think I understand the gentleman's question. Will he restate it, please?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a statement on this bill.

It is quite obvious to me, perhaps not to other people, that when you have so many dollars to be spread so far and the state comes in and gobbles it up there is not enough left for the local hospitals. I refer specifically to the Crozer Hospital in the Borough of Upland, County of Delaware, which has all of its money raised, has all of its plans approved, and which was very unfortunately told there was a priority system and the money from Hill-Burton funds would not be made available.

I say we should encourage the development of private hospitals, private in the sense that they are not state owned but are supported by the donations of local citizens, perhaps by members of certain religious congregations. Therefore, I ask all of you to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think we should not get things confused here. It is not a question of whether these local hospitals are deserving and doing a good job. I think they are.

I happen to be a member of the board of a hospital in Reading which would have liked very much to have Hill-Burton funds some years ago. We did not get them. They had a priority system then, and they must have a priority system. When you have a state as large as Pennsylvania, you are bound to have some areas where your hospitalization is adequate and other places where it is totally inadequate.

Somewhere along the line a determination should be made whether it is more desirable, for example, to build some state hospitals for mental patients and to take care of a need which might have been neglected, in fact, might have been terribly neglected. Perhaps the state is not in a position to make the appropriation to build that hospital without Federal aid. So it is a matter of balance.

The fact that the gentleman refers to a certain hospital does not indicate we do not think well of that hospital. But what is the bed capacity of that county's hospitals? What is the population? How badly do they need the facilities? All of those things must be weighed against the question of how badly the state needs to put up a building to take care of certain people.

This is not a pure and simple matter of trying to keep money away from the local hospitals and give it to the state. I think the gentleman used the words "grabbed the funds," and so forth. It is not a matter of grabbing funds. We do not put up state hospitals just with the idea of putting them up, we put them up because we find a real need for them. If the need does not exist, they should not be built in the first place, either with state or Federal funds. But, I do think we are going to hamstring efficient, proper administration of these Hill-Burton funds if we pass a bill like this.

The gentleman might have in mind the particular Secretary of Welfare who is in there now, but I can remember other Secretaries of Welfare and their employees, or the people under them delegated to make these decisions.

Perhaps my hospital board was unhappy when we found we were not high on the priority list and could not get any funds. But I say you must handle these Federal funds in the way they are most useful to the state of Pennsylvania. Whether that is by giving them all to the local hospitals, or giving part to the state of Pennsylvania, is something which only the facts of the case can determine. This is still not a good bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I hope we do not obscure what are the facts and essential issues presented because of a multiplicity of words.

There are standards fixed by the Federal Government and administered by a board which has been in existence long before the present Secretary of Welfare was in office and which determined the private hospitals which met the Federal regulations, the Federal rules. So the priority list is not a list established arbitrarily by any Secretary of Welfare.

This bill, to my mind, is objectionable because, unless the General Assembly is in constant session, it would not be possible in every instance to take advantage of Federal funds.

I think we should establish as a method of procedure by which all private hospitals qualify, that have met the Federal regulations and have their money ready at the time they are supposed to have it ready, should have priority, should be considered at the top of the list. But many hospitals file their applications and they have a limited time in which to get their money and they do not raise their money.

Then there are other hospitals that for various reasons could get their money, but they are not in a district where the board decides—not the Secretary—there is a greater need for a private hospital than in some other place.

If we are not in session and Federal money becomes available and the private hospitals have not qualified, if we do not have the legislation in existence as provided for in this bill, we could very easily lose Federal funds because the time would have elapsed when these local hospitals could qualify under Federal regulations.

I think that this bill should be sent back to committee for clarification of purpose. I think we should state as a matter of policy upon the part of the Commonwealth that we give priority to local private hospitals which have qualified and have not surrendered their right by reason of failure to act, and then, if there are funds available that otherwise would lapse, they should be available for immediate use by the General State Authority and by the Department. But under the terms of this bill, if there were millions available which would lapse and not be available in a course of a few months, we would lose them.

I object to this bill because it does not strike to the meat of the matter. We should state the policy in the bill of priority for these local hospitals, and if they do not meet the qualifications and the money is to lapse, the state is to lose it, then it should be subject to the use of the Department of Welfare and the General State Authority.

The bill as it stands I believe is inoperative unless the Legislature is in constant session to take advantage of the time when Federal funds become available.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the operation of the fund from a state standpoint, the money is supposed to be paid to the state each year on the 1st of July. In other words, the money due for the year 1957 would be due July 1st. It amounts to about $6 million each year.

The state then has two years after that in which to allocate the money. So we would always be in session or be near a time when we would be in session and there would not be any emergency, as I see it. Then for the following year, 1958, we would get $6 million or $7 million and we would have two years in which to allocate it.

As I understand it, the Department at the present time has applications for $125 million worth of new construction by local hospitals. The state under the present formula will only participate one-third, that is, they will participate on the basis of one-third. Conceivably, with only $6 million and with $125 million worth of applications, the money is spread pretty thin.

To repeat, the idea back of this bill is to prevent the Secretary of Welfare, who is the person designated by the Governor to allocate the money, from taking any portion of the fund for a state project when the need in other parts of the state is so critical.

In our opinion, it is a good bill and we ask the House to support it.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader on just one point.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. The gentleman has given the House the total amount of applications. Will he tell the House the amount that hospitals as of this date are prepared to use for hospital construction in connection with the Hill-Burton funds?

Mr. JOHNSON. As I understand from the information I have, there are $125 million of applications upon which the state could act, the hospitals having raised their own money. Now, I could be wrong, but—

Mr. ANDREWS. The question is, how many of the hospitals have raised their own money within the time they should have raised it when they filed their applications?

Mr. JOHNSON. I am sorry I do not have that information, Mr. Andrews, Perhaps you have it.

Mr. ANDREWS. I do not have it at my fingertips, but that is the vital factor so far as this bill is concerned.

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to that, I cannot conceive of that being true in view of the tremendously large number of applications on file and the extreme demand for the money. I do not believe that an emergency could arise from the information I have received.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask one further question of the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Under the Federal Act, the Hill-Burton Act, a state is eligible to use Federal funds for hospital construction, is it not?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes. Our state act permits it and I believe the Federal law says a state can be an applicant as well as an individual hospital.

Mr. READINGER. Then will the gentleman not agree that it is a matter of decision to be made by this hospital council, or whatever the advisory board is called, as to how these funds shall be allocated between the state's needs and the private hospitals' needs?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is possible, Mr. Speaker, but I believe the proponents of this bill feel that the original idea back of establishing these Hill-Burton funds is to make them available to the local hospitals and not to the states. I believe the idea is to help out the local communities and the reason for this bill—I realize I am not answering your question, but the reason for this bill was prompted, as you know, by the action of our Secretary of Welfare, who two years ago appeared before us in allocating General State Authority money and also in allocating his appropriation bill, and promised he would free the Hill-Burton funds providing we gave him money in the General State Authority and also gave him the blanket appropriation which he was given.

The purpose of this bill obviously is to prevent such arbitrary action again. That is the whole thing in a nutshell.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, someone has said previous to this time that maybe it is true these independent locally operated hospitals do not have the money.

I am very sorry I do not have my papers here, but I did not expect this bill to come up this week. I have in mind a hospital, an independent hospital in my county, which has gathered together upwards of $2 million for an addition to their hospital and a nurses' home. They applied two years ago, they had this money, and up to this time they have never been able to get one penny of Hill-Burton money.

Now they do have this money. So I am inclined to believe we should spend a little more money on our independent hospitals who are financing themselves to a great extent, than to get this Hill-Burton money and apply it to Mr. Shapiro's hospitals.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. READINGER, CAPANO and ROVANSEK.

SENATE MESSAGE

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 644.

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), restricting the provisions relating to the limitations on size of certain vehicles.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

SENATE MESSAGES

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate:

Senate Bills for concurrence Nos. 239, 247, 249, 271, 640 and 668.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman prefer that we complete our calendar before he proceeds with the interrogation?

Mr. READINGER. Is the Chair referring to concurrence in Senate amendments?

The SPEAKER. That is correct.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to interrogate the gentleman before we go into the concurrences.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON, I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, a great many of the Members on our side of the House have inquired concerning the plans of the leadership of the House for the week of May 20th. I believe the Majority Leader has already announced we will not meet on Monday and Tuesday of that week because of the primary election on Tuesday, May 21st. Our Members would like to learn, if they can, what the plans will be for the balance of that week in view of the fact that one of the large hotels has informed us that because of a convention they cannot accommodate the Members who stay there. Can the gentleman enlighten us as to the plans for that week?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the inquiry, despite the notice from the hotel the plan would be to be in session on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of that week. I believe the Secretary of the House, Mr. Waterhouse, is trying to get lodging for the Members.

The Secretary of the House informs me that Members who are not able to get rooms in either one of the two hotels—I am saying that because some of you will be taken care of—should contact the Secretary of the House and accommodations will be arranged for them during those three days.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe the inquiry was as to the number on your side who are staying at the Penn Harris Hotel? Is it 11 of your Members who are staying at the Penn Harris?

Mr. READINGER. I do not know how many stay there.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is the correct number.

Mr. READINGER. I stay there usually, except when they do not save my room for me.

Mr. Speaker, I think I am speaking on behalf of the minority Members when I say we certainly would forgive you for not getting out of here on June 1st, if you decide not to meet at all during the week of May 20th.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 9 of today's calendar, Amended House Bills Returned for Concurrence, House Bill No. 205.

HOUSE BILL No. 205.

L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage-keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" changing limitations upon the operation of commercial motor vehicles for carriage of passengers.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the Title page 1, line 1, by striking out at the beginning of the line the words "repealing section 502.1" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "amending the"; page 2, line 12, by striking out after the word "re-funds" the word "removing" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "changing";

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 2, by striking out after the word "is" the word "repealed" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Amended to read:

Section 502.1 Use of commercial registration plates limited except for transporting authorized employes of the owner or lessee school children for school purposes [or] and to and from extra-curricular activities and children between their homes and Sunday School in commercial motor vehicles owned by any school district parochial school or private school and school children between their homes and school and to and from extra-curricular activities if the person performing the extra-curricular transportation has a contract with the school or school district in which the school is located for the transportation of its students between their homes and school and children between their homes and Sunday School in commercial motor vehicles operated under contract with any school district parochial school or private school it shall be unlawful for any person or political subdivision to operate any commercial vehicle for the carriage of passengers a copy of any lease or contract shall be maintained in the vehicle at all times.

For the purposes of this clause extra-curricular activities shall include athletic forsenic musical dramatic or any other similar event or exhibition held under the supervision of school authorities in which the school children are participants or spectators and in which the school is represented by a team or participating body

Penalty. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall upon summary conviction before a magistrate be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five ($25) dollars and costs of prosecution and in default of the payment thereof shall undergo imprisonment for not more than five (5) days.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am wondering if the gentleman from Bedford has made an examination of the amendments inserted in this bill by the Senate?

Mr. STROUP. Yes, I have, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Can the gentleman give us an explanation of the effect of the Senate's amendments on the bill as passed by the House?

Mr. STROUP. As I interpret the amendments inserted by the Senate to House Bill 205, which amendments have removed the repealer section which the House inserted in the bill as it left this body, the Senate has now spelled out the limitations placed upon contract school bus owners in so far as their service under those contracts with school districts for extra-curricular activities is concerned.

The Senate has also used a definition in this amendment as to exactly what extra-curricular activities shall consist of. They read, "For the purpose of this clause"—which means for the purpose of qualifying as a commercial motor vehicle—"extra-curricular activities shall include athletic forensic musical dramatic or any other similar event or exhibition held under the supervision of school authorities in which the school children are participants or spectators and in which the school is represented by a team or participating body."

While we who were vitally interested in the passage of this legislation this session are not completely and entirely satisfied with this limitation, nevertheless, we do feel it effectively grants to our school districts, our school administrators and to the children and parents that for which they have asked us? Does that answer the gentleman's questions?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the reason I interrogated the gentleman from Bedford was not because I am disposed to vote against concurrence in the Senate amendments, but in the last session when we amended these two bills and they were amended over in the Senate they came back and we concurred. At that time we found we were concurring in something which I believe the vast majority of the Members of this House would not have approved had they known the effect of those amendments which had been placed in the bill. At least, had we known that we certainly would not have concurred.

In order to make sure that the same type of joker was not included in this bill is the reason I interrogated the gentleman from Bedford.

Mr. STROUP. Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, I should make one further explanation.

There is a question in so far as this limitation which is impressed upon the use of the commercial motor vehicle, that is, a school bus by a school bus contract operator, as to whether he may be able and the school administrators may be able to utilize that particular service for trips to various exhibitions or on various sightseeing tours in which they might desire to participate. By reason of the limitation of the definition which says "and in which the school is represented by a team or participating body," it leaves it open to question.

I believe if the school administrators are sufficiently alerted they can handle such type of expedition by their students, that the extra-curricular activity can well be interpreted as a curricular activity of the participating body. That is the only limitation I see in this bill which has restricted us from that which we accomplished by our repealer section in House Bill 205 which we sent to the Senate.

Mr. LOPRESTI. In the bill as it now has been amended do parochial schools, private schools and public schools all have the same right, or is there any distinction made between the various classifications?

Mr. STROUP. There is no distinction, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 121, REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE AND LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. HARNEY, from the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. Harney on May 1, 1957, reported the same without amendment as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The present constitution of the Commonwealth was adopted in the year 1874 in accordance with the practice of the times the provisions inserted in the constitution were wordy and sought to regulate in minute detail the functions and activities of our government. One of the consequences of this style of drafting is that the government is denied the flexibility of action necessary to cope with many new demands made upon it by the rising needs of its people. No better example of proper drafting techniques can be cited than those which were employed in drawing up our Federal Constitution. Although comparatively brief in word content it has served adequately as a basis for permitting legislation capable of dealing with the never ending changes in the makeup of our nation and world at large. This type of foresight in drafting has generally been absent in state constitutions. It can be also noted that the means provided for amending the Commonwealth's Constitution provide for great lapses of time before proposed amendments may be submitted to the electorate for their approval. These are conditions which in view of the vast changes that have occurred in our political social and economic structure since 1874 demand a thorough study into the adequacy and propriety of our organic law, therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the Constitution of the Commonwealth in light of the present and future needs of the people of the Commonwealth and to determine if the public interest would be more greatly advanced by merely adding certain amendments to the constitution or by revising it generally or by merely providing for a more expeditious and practical system of adding amendments to our constitution, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of proposed amendments or revisions together with all the pertinent data and information which would be of value to any official body selected for the task of revising the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, one of the problems of modern living, brought on by the increasing use of the automobile, is the problem of preserving the beauties of our natural scenery. This is a problem not only in Pennsylvania but in many other States.

In Pennsylvania, we are concerned because Pennsylvania is noted for the great natural beauty of its forests, its streams and its fields and it attracts, for that reason, motorists from many parts of the Country. So, for the sake of these people whom we attract, as well as the aesthetic pleasure and relaxation of our own citizens, it seems to me that it is a very important problem to prevent the littering of our highways, our roadsides, our streams and fields with refuse material.

Now we have approached this matter in the Legislature to indicate our interest in the matter by a number of bills, but we have approached it very peripherally because we have assumed the way to do it, and the only way in which up until now we have thought of doing it, was to make laws penalizing people who, from their automobiles or when they stop at a picnic spot or while camping or hunting or fishing, drop refuse and thus litter and despoil our scenery. This has not been very successful. Although we have increased the penalties, we have not been able to get enforcement, and I suggest, Mr. President, that ultimately the way to have cleaner roadside conditions and to preserve the natural beauty of our Commonwealth is not going to be through law and the penalties of law, but rather it is going to be by persuading our citizens and other motorists, by education, to refrain from doing these things which in the aggregate result in spoiling our natural beauty.

In casting about for some way of meeting this problem, my colleague and I, who co-sponsor this resolution, were impressed by the fact that the oil companies, which operate in Pennsylvania and which sell gasoline and oil to these motorists, are uniquely and strategically situated to help in this problem. They have a stake in preserving the natural beauties of our scenery. They are uniquely situated because they have service stations to which every motorist in the Commonwealth comes to supply his automobile. The attendants at these situations are noted for the suggestions they make to motorists and for their courtesy.

These oil companies spend a great deal of money advertising their products, of course, and seeking to have good public relations with their potential patrons and, therefore, it was suggested to us that these companies are in a unique situation to take the leadership in a real movement to sell to the People of Pennsylvania, and the motorists who come through Pennsylvania, the idea of keeping our State clean from littering.

I think that government should not enter into any situation which can be handled better in a voluntary manner. I believe that if the oil companies which operate in Pennsylvania were to take up this matter and take the leadership and enlist under their banner the services of conservation societies, sportsmen's clubs and others, I believe we could put on a continuing campaign in this Commonwealth to end littering, which would be revolutionary in its effect upon the habits of our motorists.

In our resolution, when it is read, you will find that we make several suggestions to the oil companies. Let me give you a few of them. First, we suggest the provision of well-marked receptacles at all the gasoline stations and at other convenient places for motorists to deposit refuse; we suggest that part of the advertising areas, both in newspapers, roadside advertising and others, be used as a gesture of good will toward the public in advertising this drive; we suggest that each attendant at the gas stations, when he makes suggestions about oil, water, air in the tires and other services, add a comment in each case suggesting to the motorist that he is willing to take refuse accumulated from the car and deposit it in the proper receptacle. Perhaps the gasoline companies would even care to supply a bag which could be carried in the car for this purpose, and we suggest they co-ordinate the efforts of all the people in the Commonwealth who are interested in this.

Some may feel, "Well, this is an improper thing for the General Assembly to make a suggestion to a private agency, such as the oil companies," but I disagree. I think that if the oil companies know such a plan has the support of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, it may be a suggestion to which they might be willing to harken. I am certain that the oil companies, by doing this job and doing it successfully, as I am sure they could, would earn the acclaim and good will not only of the Members of this General Assembly who realize the importance of this problem, but the good will of motorists everywhere and of all the citizens of Pennsylvania, for whom our natural beauties would be preserved.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleague, Senator Jo Hays and myself, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

SUGGESTING THAT THE OIL COMPANIES OPERATING IN PENNSYLVANIA URGE AND REMIND MOTORISTS AND OTHERS USING OUR HIGHWAYS TO REFRAIN FROM LITTERING AND SO PRESERVE THE NATURAL BEAUTIES OF OUR STATE

Messrs. SEYLER and HAYS offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, May 2, 1957.

Not only the citizens of Pennsylvania but also motorists and visitors from many other states find aesthetic pleasure and recreation from enjoying the scenic beauties of the fields, forests, and streams of Pennsylvania.

In order to preserve these pleasures and beauties the aforesaid fields, forests, and streams must be kept free from the refuse which results from careless littering, especially along our highways.

Most of the citizens of Pennsylvania as they drive along our highways, and, also, the motorists from other states, probably, do not deliberately litter our roads and fields. Nor do they deliberately violate our laws to restrain littering. They simply fail to remember the aggregate effect of their careless acts.

The oil companies which operate in Pennsylvania have a real stake in keeping the scenic beauties of this State attractive to motorists. In addition these companies are noted for the public spirited services which they extend to motorists and others at their service stations throughout Pennsylvania. The courtesy and helpfulness of their employes is proverbial.

The citizens of a free nation can accomplish much voluntarily if leadership is provided. Both from the standpoint of our tradition of government and of the dominance of free enterprise in our society it is probably better to use the sanctions and resources of government only if voluntary action is unavailing, therefore be it Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly suggests to the oil companies operating in Pennsylvania that they are in a strategic position to perform a service to the Commonwealth and win the good will and acclaim of this General Assembly and all citizens of Pennsylvania, who are interested in preservation of the beautiful scenes along our highways. We suggest that these oil companies, singly, or in association, devote some of the resources now employed by these companies for advertising or public relations to put on a continuing program to urge and remind motorists and others using our highways to refrain from littering and so preserve the natural beauties of our State.

We suggest the following items as the beginning of such a program:

1. Provision of well marked receptacles of all service stations and other convenient places for disposition of refuse.

2. Use of part of their regular newspaper advertising and other advertising space to remind motorists of the law, its penalties, and their duty as citizens to use the receptacles and so avoid littering.

3. In addition to the traditional good service and usual helpful suggestions of the employes at gas pumps and other facilities, an additional reminder and offer to each patron to relieve the car of refuse.

4. Sponsorship with the Highways Department of the Commonwealth in a "Clean Pennsylvania Week," with statewide inspection of highway roadsides, streams, fields, and bodies of water. Awards with appropriate ceremonies might be made to the cleanest and most attractive areas.

5. Solicit and coordinate the cooperative efforts of other interested agencies; automobile clubs, sportsmen's clubs, conservation societies, local government units, etc., toward the common goal of eliminating the litterbug, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, to the chief executives of very oil company operating in this Commonwealth, to the Secretary of Highways, and to the Governor of this Commonwealth.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 26, Printer's No. 148, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 28, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight section one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania permitting citizens eighteen years of age or over to vote.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 28, which is co-sponsored by Senator Wade, Senator Elliott, Senator Ehrgood and myself, has in my own mind fulfilled a long ambition. I came to the Senate in 1949 and during the 1951 Session, I introduced a similar measure which was Senate Bill No. 43. In the 1953 Session, I introduced another bill, Senate Bill No. 1. In the 1955 Session, I introduced it as Senate Bill No. 2, and in this Session, it is known as Senate Bill No. 28.

Mr. President, I have long been associated with the schools. I have been on the Board of Education in Ford City since 1929. I have been associated with young people and, I know that they are trying, all over the Commonwealth, to teach them problems of democracy and civics. Most of these boys and girls are taught a great deal about our government. However, when they are about eighteen years of age and have graduated, they are neither fish nor fowl; they cannot participate in our government. Consequently, when they become twenty-one years of age, they are not interested.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am very happy that this bill is now up for final passage and I am sure that it is going to pass.

Back in 1873, when our Constitution was adopted, the age was set at twenty-one. If you look back to 1873, you will find that we certainly did not have the percentage of boys and girls graduating from high school as we have today, when they now have the benefit of an education to learn about their government. Most of their information was given to them around a cracker barrel in a country store. Perhaps there were only three or four families in a community who had the benefit of reading a newspaper, and someone would set himself up as a leader and talk about our government. They did not have the benefit of television, magazines or radio as we have today.

We also have another class of people who are naturalized citizens and who have the right to vote. A great many of us know that some of them come to this Country and are unable to speak the English language. They are tutored and in five years they are made naturalized citizens. I am sure that these children, who have been going to school from the age of six until they are eighteen years of age, certainly know a great deal more about the history of our Country and our present government than do some of these people who come from foreign lands.

Again, Mr. President, I want to say that I am very happy that this question is being resolved. I hope it gets like treatment over in the House, and that the Governor will sign the bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to join the Senator from Armstrong County and his co-sponsors and say to them that the Democratic Caucus has endorsed this bill unanimously; not for the first time, but for probably the fifteenth time in the past twelve to fourteen years. I might say that the original sponsor of this legislation is now a Congressman, a former Member of this Senate, Congressman Elmer Holland. When Senator Holland first introduced the eighteen-year-old voting age bill in this Senate, I can remember a slight ridicule which came from certain Members of the Senate and from the public and, in some instances, from a great many members of the press.

It was thought in those days that a lad or a young lady eighteen years of age would not have the proper requirements to be able to make decisions in the matter of elections. Suddenly, we had a war and we found that eighteen year olds could carry a gun alongside of those twenty-one years of age and, in some cases, could use judgment which was even superior to that of those older than themselves. A new thinking seemed to start to prevail on the part of the people and, therefore, this legislation now is being accepted unanimously; not as an unusual piece of legislation, but one which is a matter of course in this day, in a demand for justice on the part of these youths.

Senator Yosko, a Member of this Senate, was President of the Young Democrats back in 1940, and I remember very vividly that they held their State Convention in the city of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, which is in my District. One of the items on the agenda for debate, in open forum discussion, was the eighteen year old voting. At that time, they passed a resolution, which later led to the adoption of eighteen year old voting by the Democratic State Committee into their platform year after year, and year after year.

Mr. President, I am happy that this is nonpartisan today and that it has become a matter in which all of us take pride in reaching another milestone in modern thinking. I am also happy to report that the Democratic Caucus will vote for it unanimously.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have here a page of amendments which I am about to offer, and I would like the Senate to understand exactly what the amendments are so that if you agree, I would like to have the bill amended and passed finally today.

This is exactly what they do, Mr. President. They amend the title by striking out the word "the" and putting in the word "such." These are typographical errors from the typewritten sheets to the copied bill. They strike out the little letter "a" and put a capital letter "A" in; they strike out the numeral "3" and put the numeral "2" in. In other words, they are just transcription errors and I would like to have the amendments accepted, if possible, and the bill passed finally today.

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer these amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 7 from top of title, by striking out "the" where it appears the second time and inserting: "such"; Amend Title, page 2, next to last line of title, by striking out "the" where it appears the first time and inserting: "such"; Amend Title, page 2, last line of title by striking out "the" and inserting: "such"; Amend Sec. 1, page 3, line 4, by striking out "3" and inserting: "2"; Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 7, by striking out "a" and inserting: "A"; Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 16, by striking out "b" and inserting: "B"; Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 17, by striking out "sale" and inserting: "sole"; Amend Sec. 2, page 3, line 20, by striking out "b" and inserting: "B"; Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 10, by striking out "a" and inserting: "A"; Amend Sec. 5, page 4, line 19, by striking out "3" and inserting: "2"; Amend Sec. 7, page 6, line 4, by striking out "bureal" and inserting: "burial"; Amend Sec. 11, page 8, line 11, by striking out "and"; Amend Sec. 11, page 8, line 14, by striking out "may" and inserting: "shall"; Amend Sec. 17, page 11, line 4, by inserting after "acts" where it appears the second time: "are".

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, before we close our Session for the week, I think it might be well for us to call to the attention of the Members of this Senate that this is Mental Health Week. It is the time for reappraisal of how the mental health program, which started several bienniums back, is progressing in the Commonwealth.

On Tuesday, April 30, with many of the other Members of the House and Senate, I attended a hearing on the budget of the Department of Welfare. The Joint Appropriations Committee was told by the Honorable Harry Shapiro, Secretary of Welfare, that he could not possibly operate the mental health program if he does not get what he asked for at this particular hearing, which is $21,303,000 more than Governor Leader recommended. Does Mr. Shapiro mean to imply that Governor Leader has no interest in mental health? Is he defying the boss; the boss, who when he determines his course, stands fast on that decision? Is Mr. Shapiro forthright in his statements?

Any man charged with the administration of this very important program, for which our taxpayers are asked to pay many millions, should make clear his financial plans and not confuse them to the point of jeopardizing the entire program. Secretary Shapiro said that his program includes no new employees and no increases for present employees. He says if he does not get what he asked for, he will have to lay off employees.

He particularly said he would have to lay off thirty employees at the Allentown State Hospital. Now what is he requesting for the Allentown State Hospital, and what did Governor Leader recommend?

Secretary Shapiro requested $6,868,466 which is $1,280,446 more than was recommended by the Governor, or so he says. However, when I went to the budget and looked up the Governor's recommendation, I found that instead of $5,608,000, as Secretary Shapiro listed the Governor's request, the budget actually requested $6,014,220, or $436,220 more than was appropriated in the current biennium. I have come to the conclusion that either Secretary Shapiro does not know what he is talking about or that he is trying to confuse the Legislature. Why does he say the Governor recommended $5,608,000, when he actually requested $6,014,220 for Allentown State Hospital?

What budget is he working from?

Now the thing I cannot understand is this. We were told by Secretary Shapiro that his program of mental health has been working so well that he has been able to reduce the number of patients in our mental institutions by 2,200 since he took office. He apparently was able to do so on the funds he now has in this biennium.

He informed us he is going to lapse more than $60,000 of that appropriation which he could not spend.

How are we going to reach any right conclusions with all these different figures thrown at us? Which are the official figures, the ones in the budget or the ones Secretary Shapiro put in a statement for the hearing committee? This problem of mental health is too important to the people of Pennsylvania to be bandied about in this very careless manner.

Now there is still another set of figures which I am inclined to believe are more accurate than either those given by the Governor or those delivered to the Appropriations Committee by Secretary Shapiro.

In February of this year, after the Governor presented his budget, the Appropriations Committee requested some additional information from the Secretary of the Welfare Department. We asked the Department of Welfare to tell us what was the actual number of employees, their salaries and wages, and how much these salaries and wages, paid on January 31 of this year, would total if extended throughout the twenty-four months of the current biennium. We got some very interesting answers which show an entirely different picture than what we get from the Governor's budget.

Again, let us take Allentown State Hospital where Secretary Shapiro says he will have to dismiss thirty employees unless he receives $6,900,000 or $1,400,000 more than was appropriated in this current biennium.

On January 25, the nearest pay day to January 31, 1957, The Allentown State Hospital had 560 employees, which was only sixteen more employees than they had on May 31, 1956, eight months earlier. The biweekly payroll of these 560 employees, reclassified and all that, if extended through the 1957-59 biennium, would amount to $3,968,224.

Now what is Secretary Shapiro requesting for salaries for the next biennium. In the request he submitted to the Budget Office, from which the Governor made up his recommendation to the Legislature, Secretary Shapiro asked for $4,781,852 for salaries during the same period. He told the Appropriations Committee at the hearing that he was not increasing personnel or salaries. If he is not doing that, what is he going to do with the $800,000 extra he asked for salaries?

Now let me point out another fact. On May 31, 1956, there were 546 employees at Allentown, according to the Department of Welfare. On January 26, 1957, there were 560, or fourteen more, again according to the Department. However, last October, halfway between those two dates, when the Department of Welfare submitted its request for a new appropriation to the Budget Office, it was stated in this official request that the number of employees was 636 or almost 100 more than were actually on the payroll at that time.

On January 25, 1957, the amount paid out for salaries in this biennium to that date was $2,754,484, with the estimate that it would require another $686,808 to go until the end of the biennium, or a total of $3,441,292. Last October the Department estimated that salaries in this biennium would total $3,505,695, and that it would require $1,276,164 more in the next biennium because it was going to add eighty-six employees at Allentown.

In my opinion, Secretary Shapiro was just a little mixed up when he said he would have to lay off employees at Allentown and other mental hospitals if he did not get what he was requesting. What he meant to say was that he would not have the money to add another 100 employees at that institution. He should have known that he could not use that dodge again to get money out of the Legislature because we now have the report of the survey he had made, which shows that it is virtually impossible to get professional people until more are trained or willing to give up their private practice. He has plenty of the other kind of employees and cannot use any more of them efficiently.

Therefore, what it all simmers down to is that Secretary Shapiro is trying to show the people that he is bigger than both the Governor and the Legislature. He may have plans to spend this extra money, but he appears to have no intention of telling the Legislature what those plans are.

He wants a lump sum appropriation. Since we have revised the budget, he again insists on a lump sum appropriation, and then when the Legislature has gone home, he will go ahead with his real plans and spend the money in the way he wants.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I do not know whether or not Mr. Shapiro wants a lump sum appropriation. I attended the budget hearing for a short period when Secretary of Welfare Shapiro testified.

Whether he wants a lump sum appropriation or whether he does not want it is immaterial because this Legislature has the right, if it so desires, to make appropriations by object classification and restrict expenditures in the amount appropriated. That was one of the suggestions I made at the budget hearing, and I hope when the appropriations are made, that will be the fashion in which they will be made.

I may, before this Legislature adjourns, prepare a bill to set up a Legislature Budget Committee so that during the next biennium, this Legislative Budget Committee can act as a watchdog over the appropriation and expenditure of State funds.

Senator Wade gave us a lot of figures here. I am assuming—and my assumption may be wrong—that this statement was prepared by the publicity man for the Republican State Committee. I have not had a chance to check the figures, but I now reserve the right to make answer to the statements that are made in Senator Wade's statement of today.

It is not my purpose to defend Secretary Shapiro if he is wrong. However, I do propose to defend the operations of the Department of Welfare so that it does not deteriorate and go back to where we were prior to two years ago, down at the bottom of the list of States having an effective mental health program.

The Allentown State Hospital is, in part, in my District. Since it is the target in Senator Wade's statement, I want to say, for the record, that the statements which were made by Mr. Shapiro, so far as the Allentown State Hospital is concerned, I will substantiate on Monday from facts and figures that were given to me by the Members of the Board of Trustees of the Allentown State Hospital.

I would advise Senator Wade that, as a matter of fact, if the facts and figures are not agreed to, I am going to put in a resolution. Because of the large appropriation that is being requested by the Department of Welfare,

I am going to request, and if my verbal request is not complied with, I am going to do it by resolution, that the Superintendents and representatives from the Members of the Boards of Trustees of each institution under the jurisdiction of the Department of Welfare be called before the Joint Appropriations Committee to substantiate their appropriations and to submit such figures as they have compiled, based on need for the next two years. It is only in that way that we can get an accurate statement of the needs of these institutions for the next biennium so that they can operate efficiently.

I think the Senate ought to know that I was told by the doctors, Members of the Board of Trustees and others affiliated with the Allentown State Hospital that if their appropriation is reduced to the extent where they cannot creditably operate the institution so that proper care and cure can be given to the patients, they will resign because there is no need of my telling you that the responsibility of operating that hospital is upon the Board of Trustees and the doctors who are affiliated with it. Because of the many scandals that we experienced over the years in the mental institutions, these very fine, decent, respectable citizens who are now serving as trustee members and as doctors do not want an adverse reflection on them if the institution is not properly operated.

Mr. President, I again say I reserve the right to make answer to this statement next week. If Senator Wade is right in any respect, so far as his figures are concerned, I will be the first one to join him. I will be the first one to go along with he or anybody else in this Senate to see that the Department of Welfare or any other department only gets the amount of money which it can prove is needed, to the satisfaction of this Legislature.

I do not believe and I never have believed in giving any department more money than it needs. I shall continue in that policy as long as I am a Member of this Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, my purpose in bringing this matter before the Senate at this time was the fact that this is Mental Health Week in Pennsylvania.

Secondly, Mr. President, I want to apologize to Senator Yosko for not being prepared to give him a copy of any statement involving as many figures as this one does. I sent him a copy just a few minutes before I gave the statement on the floor.

In these hearings, I want to compliment Senator Yosko because he has been very helpful, indeed, in bringing out many of the facts, not only for the Department of Welfare but for the other departments as well. I want to say that I certainly hope he continues his present intention of asking, by resolution or in person, that the request be made to these superintendents so that we may have available the latest figures from every institution in this Commonwealth in order for the figures to be carefully studied and that economies, which must come, are not practiced at the expense of the suffering of humanity.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I gathered one figure from Senator Wade's statement. He said that due to the new processes they have developed in the care of the mentally ill, we have a reduction of 2400 in the number of mental patients.

I just multiplied that figure by the number of meals the State is saving, and find that it is 2,628,000 meals in one year. That is an awful lot of meals and a great amount of money.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the figure as contained in my statement is 2200, a slight difference, I believe.

Mr. BARR. Well, the saving would be over 2,000,000 anyhow.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, May 6, 1957, at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. DERK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

PRAYER

Rabbi Herbert Panitch, Kneseth Israel Congregation, Kittanning, guest Chaplain and guest of the Speaker, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, Judge of the Universe:

We offer prayer unto Thee as this week's session draws near a close. We pray that the decisions we have made during this week find favor in Thine eyes. Through Thy divine guidance may the outcome find a path of truth and justice.

Lead us we pray Thee, to our homes in safety and grant us the ability and health to return with strength renewed so that we may continue to fulfill the will of our constituents and the needs of our Commonwealth.

The great King Solomon when granted one wish by Thee asked not for wealth and fame but for a wise and discerning heart. So do we today pray for a heart which may discern good from evil and which will guide us in carrying out Thy will.

May we always remember that although we may be divided in the details of our work, in the major issues of life we must stand as one, for in unity there is strength.

We thank Thee Oh God for the gift of Thy law which Thou gavest to humanity. May we ever cherish it, learn it, protect it, advance it, for it is life and the length of our days. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Wednesday, May 1, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS, VARNER and DENNISON.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 96.

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1957.

Transferring the Clarion River from pollution and discoloration to its natural clear state is not a short task; not a matter for a year; for a biennium, nor even for half a decade. Short of complete termination of various industrial enterprises along the Clarion, no honestly, realistically conceived program could be based upon so short a period.

Yet the polluted condition of the Clarion River for years has been a matter of concern to residents of the Allegheny watershed, especially among the first two tiers of counties east of the Allegheny River. This concern is but a slice of the Nation's increasing and anxious interest in water scarcities which threaten many communities.

It follows, therefore, that it is an item of consequence to the National interest that the Clarion River be progressively cleaned up at an improvement rate whose advancement is based upon what is practicable and in harmony with promoting a healthy industrial economy.

This pollution of the Clarion River, in the beginning, stemmed primarily from the processings of waste products of the wood pulp industry. In recent years, notably since 1949, a sustained effort has been put forth by the paper manufacturers, directed towards correcting both the pollution and discoloration.

Although substantial progress in this quarter has been achieved, the overall picture of a blemished Clarion River still remains a matter of concern. While the techniques and work of removing wood pulp waste products has advanced, still during recent years new and harmful materials have been found upstream from the paper mills; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State

Government Commission be directed to study and investigate the pollution and discoloration of the Clarion River, and to determine how this situation can best be remedied, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a statement regarding the second reading bills.

At a quarter to ten the bills were not available for consideration on second reading. The bills that were amended were not in print. I understand it is the agreement that these bills can be amended on third reading, but unless there is some imperative reason why we should be asked to take on trust all of the bills on second reading, having no opportunity to acquaint ourselves with them or acquaint the membership with the contents of the bill to get some notion of the contents and some notion of the amendments which might properly go into the bill in order that our Members might discuss proposed amendments with their constituents when they go home, I most seriously question the wisdom of the procedure. I do not think it makes for speed and I do not think it is fair to the leadership on either side of the House that we should proceed with a calendar concerning which the membership at large knows absolutely nothing since they have had no opportunity to read the bills, and they have no opportunity to acquaint themselves with the amendments that were put into the bills yesterday.

I question the wisdom of the precedence but I am conscious I can do nothing more than object to it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I realize a word of explanation is in order at this time. I think what the gentleman has said is a point well taken.

However, in conference with the Minority Leader yesterday we held a caucus wherein we discussed the bills that were on second reading yesterday, and are on third reading today. We have had an opportunity to go over those bills.

At that time it was understood with the Minority Leader the bills that are on second reading today, because of the long weekend, an opportunity would be given to everybody to read them over the weekend. They then could be moved from second reading today to third reading with the understanding that motions to recommit, and amendments, can be offered on Monday without any objection.

With respect to the bills on second reading today, none of them have been amended. They came out of Committee as committed. Those which came out of Committee as amended are of necessity on first reading because you cannot read for the first time, when a bill comes out of Committee, one which has been amended. So the first reading calendar contains bills which came out as amended and will be on second reading next Monday.

We followed this procedure last Session, as I remember, when the minority was in power and we of the majority went along with it. We called frequent caucuses during the day during the Session to caucus on bills on which we had not caucused. I am sure we do not want to take advantage of anybody, yet we would like to proceed as we have agreed with the Minority Leader so that we can have a windup of this Session.

I realize Mr. Andrews says no time is saved, but actually we are gaining a Legislative day getting these bills over to the Senate.

I would ask the House to go along on moving these bills to third reading today with the understanding that you have the whole weekend to look them over. You can amend them on Monday, or move to recommit if any of them are not satisfactory in your own individual opinions.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, some time during this Session I will ask the Chair and the House for permission to make a statement. As I said I recognize the fact that I cannot govern procedure, and I was simply voicing my own individual protest in the matter.

If it were later in the Session I would be in perfect agreement with it. In my opinion we have not yet arrived at the point where this undue haste is justified. I am voicing simply a personal opinion.

Later on at the Chair's convenience I would like to make a statement.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order at this point, I would like to make a request that this bill not be called up because it makes a rather serious change in our law of torts.

The subject matter of the bill is very worthy. It is a bill which should be considered by this Legislature. However, it does require considerable investigation, considerable thought, by our people back home because it is, actually, a basic change in the fundamental law of torts as we have known it ever since the days of the common law. I think, perhaps, we need a bill of this type, but I believe it ought to be laid over for a week or so in order to give the members of the bars of the various counties an opportunity to discuss it.

I would like to request that it be passed over but I want you to understand I am not opposed to the bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I should like to join in the request that this bill be held over which was made by the gentleman from Cambria, so that those of us who are vitally interested in the bill—

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that the gentleman make a motion to put the bill on the second reading postponed calendar.

Mr. STROUP. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) relating to the discretion of the Liquor Control Board to grant liquor licenses.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill be passed over. There are some gentlemen from Philadelphia who are interested in the passage of the bill and I am requesting that it be passed over.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to pass the bill over?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, are we operating under a consent calendar?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, we are not operating under a consent calendar.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I believe we should proceed with the business of the order of the day and I would like to debate the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection to the bill being passed over, and unanimous consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, this would just be another move to operate on a consent calendar basis and I ask the Members of both sides of the House to vote down the motion.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the motion be passed by both sides of the House, especially in view of the fact that so many Members from Philadelphia are interested in the passage of this bill, but due to certain circumstances are not here today. Mr. Petrosky knows as well as I do that we are here with a short count today and the calling up of this bill and the defeat of this motion would mean taking advantage of a short House.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, with relation to the gentleman's motion to delay action on this bill, does that mean he condones and desires to have consent calendars on Thursday of each week?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not condone anything and that is not the issue here today. If you want me to state the fact as it is, I am stating that the opponents of the motion to place it on the final postponed calendar are trying to take advantage of the situation. They do not want the 209 Members of the House to have a chance to vote on this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we were definitely informed that this would be a working day. May I ask the gentleman a further question?

Will he agree to place on the postponed calendar every controversial bill on the calendar today in addition to this one?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will act on each issue as it comes up. I will call the attention of the Minority Leader to the fact that the defections in so far as attendance is concerned are predominantly on his side.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote eighty-seven Members having voted in the affirmative and forty-two in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the bill was placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 304, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 4, 1925 (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act relating to Adoption" authorizing the filing of foreign adoption records in the orphans' court and information relating thereto with the Department of Welfare.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. HOCKER. For the purpose the Chair is about to mention, Mr. Speaker.

I have had my doubts as to a quorum being present. I did not want to take the time to call for a quorum, but with this roll call it will answer the same purpose. It will show very definitely the people who are not interested in passing legislation in this House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, if the practices and traditions of the House are followed, it will come about that following this roll call various Members having recorded their presence will retire from the Hall of the House and go about their business. For that reason, in order that we may maintain a quorum, I shall ask for a slow roll call on all third reading bills.

I also want to sympathize with the Speaker and express my regret that so many Members on this side of the House have chosen to be absent, also to express my regret that so many of the Members on the other side of the House have elected to be absent and to say that the Speaker will find as long as this House is inclined to give blanket leaves of absence to Members who are absent, the Chair will be unable to maintain a working quorum on various days. I sympathize with the purposes of the Chair, but the record shows in times past, unless the House is less generous with its leaves of absence, neither the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader nor the Chair can maintain in this House the proper number of Members who should be here because in times past, as every Member knows, when there has been a call of the House and absentees have been uncovered, it has always been almost invariably the practice to move that further proceedings under the call of the House should be dispensed with.

This House inherits the tradition of sanctioning and approving and supporting absenteeism, and until the Members of this House reach the state of mind where they are inclined to be less generous with the absentees, the leadership of the House is powerless to keep us functioning as a body as we should function. So much for that.

I wish to call the attention of the House to the fact that this Legislature cannot approach pressing problems and bring them to the attention of the public by sweeping important legislation under the rug. That is just exactly what our present practices amount to.

There are various bills pending which, perhaps, should not be enacted in this Session of the General Assembly, but there are bills which should be brought to the attention of the public and a foundation laid for their future enactment.

I am greatly interested in the problem of tax-exempt properties. You can evade that problem as much as you like, but with the encroachment of municipalities, with the encroachment of churches, with the encroachment of the Commonwealth upon the foundation of our municipal plan of government which is the land we have, the land is gradually shrinking in size for taxable purposes, we are approaching a time when our municipalities face a problem with which they cannot deal.

Whether or not the bill which would make some concessions so far as Harrisburg is concerned should be passed at this Legislature, I do not know, perhaps not. Perhaps the bill is not in the form in which it should be passed. But the people of this Commonwealth should have their attention drawn to the problem, and I say the Harrisburg bill affecting tax-exempt properties should be trotted out of Committee, given a public hearing, and then committed into the keeping of the Appropriations Committee, I say we are sweeping things under the rug.

Many of our problems present two horns of the dilemma. One is a matter of policy; the other is the amount of available money.

The Appropriations Committee should properly have a deciding word upon the amount of money available for various purposes, but the Appropriations Committee should not be established as a policy-making body. If the Harrisburg bill is not to be brought out, that should be the decision of this House and should not die in Committee without a hearing before the Appropriations Committee.

As I say, whether that bill should be enacted at this Session, I do not know. I do not know whether I would vote for the bill in its present form, but I do say sooner or later we must face that problem, and the way to face it is to bring the bill out of Committee for a public hearing so that the people of this Commonwealth may have their attention directed to that problem. Then after the public hearing, send it to the Appropriations Committee.

Bills like compulsory insurance are in the same category, admittedly a controversial question. They should be trotted out of Committee for a hearing and then sent back to Committee.

I could go over bill after bill that raise important issues that should be brought to the attention of the public, and all we do is sweep them under the Legislative rug and divert attention from them.

Now is the time we should begin to lay the foundation of an informed public opinion regarding many of these controversial measures. I do not want to take the time of the House to refer to other important measures which we are evading by sweeping them under the Legislative rug. I shall in future sessions call the attention of the House to these issues, these problems, which we are deliberately evading and think we can dodge by delay. They do not solve the pressing school problems which we are evading by delay.

This Legislature, this General Assembly, may imagine it will be able to create a party record that will endure it in the affections of the people, but I say to you as a result of my experience over the year that parties are not restored to power nor maintained in power by the issues they evade. They are established in power and maintained in power by the issues which they boldly attack, prudently and with reference to public opinion.

My criticism of the present administration is that it has conceived the unhappy notion that in the course of four years a program should be enacted which in the ordinary course of events should take at least six years or perhaps eight. What we should do is place ourselves in a position where we inform the public concerning the problems of tomorrow which we cannot solve today but which we are prepared to place upon the doorstep of public opinion and proceed to act on those problems when the financial horizon is more happy, perhaps, than it is today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Andrews' getting up reminds me of a story they told about Daniel Webster. When Daniel Webster would get up and clear his throat everybody would sit up and take notice because they knew something was coming out of the throat of Daniel Webster that was worth listening to. I commend the former Speaker, the present Minority Whip.

I think what he said is a point well taken. I would say that when he was our Speaker he did an awful lot for the General Assembly, such as giving us our salary program and our retirement program. We should heed to his words well and we should all be here today to do business.

Many Members came to my desk yesterday and said, I cannot be here tomorrow; I will not be here tomorrow. Personally, as Floor Leader I did not excuse anybody. I have had a report from the desk that there are 107 Members present on the Republican side. That means we have a working majority here this morning, and, therefore, as far as we are concerned, we are going to go through the third reading calendar.

There are two bills which I have agreed in advance would be passed over. The first one is the next bill reducing the number of hours in Pittsburgh on the promise that on Monday they are going to bring in figures as to how much it will cost the city of Pittsburgh if this bill passes. I think that is an important measure, and as long as the information would not be available this morning I did agree that the bill go over until Monday. In fact, the agreement was made several days ago when the question came up.

The other bill is the "bow and arrow" bill which was amended yesterday. That is an important bill to sportsmen, and I do not believe we are ready to vote on it today because it was just amended yesterday.

There were Members this morning who wanted to have a quorum call, and they were discouraged. This is the first time at the tail-end of a session that we have had urgent requests for a quorum call. However, I believe in subsequent weeks in our real, sincere desire to end this session in an orderly way, when it is obvious that there is not a quorum, a quorum call will certainly be in order. That is the only way to do business and get this job done.

Right now we have a number of bills on the calendar. Some of them are important to Members, some of them do not have too much importance statewide. But it is true during the remainder of the session we are going to consider the Governor's Reorganization Commission bills, they are going to be put into the hopper next week. We are going to consider the education program. Mr. Wood will bring out the appropriation bills and we will debate that particular program within the next several weeks.

I want to assure all of you that nothing is going to be swept under the rug. We are going to give every measure before us serious consideration before we finally adjourn. That is going to mean a lot of hard work between now and our target date of June 1st. It means everyone should be here, be in his seat and attend committee meetings. Let us on our side accept the challenge of the other side which was laid down to us a week ago Monday, you cannot do it by June 1st. Let us show them we can do it. The only way we are going to be able to do it is for everybody to be here, attend committee meetings and have serious discussion in our committees on the important matters before you so that we can leave here June 1st. Then in July or August they cannot say to us, there is something you glossed over.

I believe the job can be done, but we can only do it by having everybody here on the job.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not know where the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, was the last several days. There was a bill out on the calendar pertaining to this Harrisburg land he was talking about. It was out on the calendar for several days and was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee. He said it had not come out of committee yet.

I do not consider the Appropriation Committee a policy-making committee. This bill was reported back to the Appropriations Committee to find out if there was enough money, and that is just what we are trying to do now. After we get the appropriation balance, if there is any money, we will act on it.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 543, Printer's No. 363, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 551, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Fish Law of 1925" approved May 2, 1925 (P L 448) further amending revising and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. If the Majority Leader is in a position as the various bills come up to assure us that he has 106 Members, that they have not gone out, then I am willing to take a fast roll call. But unless the Majority Leader is in a position to say he has maintained a quorum on his side of the House, I shall request on each third reading bill a slow roll call.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the only way of course, I could guarantee that 107 Members are here would be to post monitors in the rear of the House and see that they do not leave. I am sure no one on this side is going to leave.

The clerks at the desk have counted those on our side and, when Mr. Metz came in a few minutes ago, there were 107. So we do have that many here today. I am sure none of them have left.

I believe you can take the word of this side that we will maintain 107 Members throughout the day.

Mr. ANDREWS. I thank the gentleman.

The majority unlike the minority has a very capable and diligent Whip. I would always rely upon his judgment and his recording. I am not so confident I can place reliance upon the opinion of the Majority Leader in matters like this because he is inclined to be a trifle optimistic. So just as each house bill comes up, if the Majority Whip will raise his hand that he has them in command, you can sweep as far as you want to.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I assure Mr. Andrews that we have 107. Mr. Cooper from Allegheny just asked permission to go and make a telephone call. I think we can take his word that he will be back. I will be glad to raise my hand on each bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 611, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P L 177) creating the State Board of Examiners for Water Well Drilling Contractors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Thomas H. W. Jones.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Montgomery whether well drillers are not now licensed?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. They are not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOPRESTI. They are not?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. No. They have a registration system and they are required to get permits, but they are not technically licensed.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the registration permits are granted by whom?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. By the Water and Power Resources Board, I believe, in the Department of Forests and Waters.

Mr. LOPRESTI. That could be correct.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I am not sure, honestly, Mr. Speaker. I had thought this bill was going to be passed over until Monday.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, the reason I inquire about this bill is because there is some question in my mind whether we should create a board to license well drillers outside the scope of the Water and Power Resources Board.

We have in the Commonwealth a Department of Forests and Waters whose chief function is to inquire into the water situation in the Commonwealth, and I presume the Department of Forests and Waters through the Water and Power Resources Board maintains all of the information concerning the water levels, and various things dealing with water, in the Commonwealth.

My question is would taking it out of the Department of Forests and Waters, in the opinion of the gentleman from Montgomery, be an advantage to the Commonwealth or a disadvantage?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I do not think it makes a great deal of difference which Department has the duty of carrying out the intention of this bill.

My colleague on the right has given me a copy of the bill which refreshes my recollection a little bit and perhaps will enable me to answer the gentleman's questions better.

House Bill 611 and the next bill on the calendar, 612, are companion bills. House Bill 612 for the first time really licenses water well drillers.

In order to license them, standards are set up under which the water well drillers are tested by a written examination, and so forth. To do that they must create a licensing board which has not heretofore been in existence. Under the legislation which we passed at the last session they merely write in for a permit and anybody who engaged in the business of water well drilling could apply for this permit.

In other words, there was no licensing function. There was no effort to examine people. It was just a question of writing the Water and Power Resources Board and getting a permit and also sending in reports later to that agency.

This House Bill 612, if you will permit me to speak on that for a minute and get ahead of 611, embodies the provisions of the legislation of the last session within 612, but it goes a little further than the existing legislation in that it sets up this licensing function. To do that we create this new agency within the framework of the Administrative Code, as with any other examining board.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I notice in reading the title to 612, in addition to setting up the board under the Department of Public Instruction, the Department of Internal Affairs also enters into the picture. Ordinarily a board is under the supervision of the Department of Public Instruction. A board is created and all of its functions then rest within that Department, but now we are bringing in an additional Department, which is Internal Affairs.

What would be the purpose of having the Department of Internal Affairs join in the administration of this Board or its duties?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. If the gentleman will excuse me, there is something in the title of 612 about the Department of Internal Affairs, but in the title of 611 I do not believe there is. Is there, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LOPRESTI. I am aware of the answer you have given me. However, we must discuss these two bills together.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Yes.

Mr. LOPRESTI. In the second bill, the Department of Internal Affairs is also given certain duties, or obligations, or responsibilities in connection with these well drillers and the board.

My question is, are we taking the Water and Power Resources Board out of this thing and turning it over to the Department of Internal Affairs, taking it away from the board which is perhaps the most able?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, this legislation has a long history. In order to explain all of the gentleman's question, if you will give me two or three minutes, perhaps I can go back and fill him in on some of the reasons why things are the way they are.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I am anxious to know. I am seeking information.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. In the Department of Internal Affairs there is a state geologist, I think the gentleman knows that, and naturally the state geologist has an interest in all the underground strata in the Commonwealth.

Hence the legislation passed in the last session requires as a result of conference committee efforts that various reports which are made in the course of drilling a well be turned over to the state geologists, who are actually the Department of Internal Affairs.

It also happens that the Water and Power Resources Board has an interest in all the waters of the Commonwealth. They are an agency under the Department of Forests and Waters. Hence they always have an interest in this type of legislation.

I might say it was reasons like that, Departments squabbling, industry which did not want any water sucked out of the ground, and so forth, and so forth, which have always given legislation of this type a big headache.

Last year it was part of the Governor's program to put through a bill very much like this, but because it has always been against the policy of the General Assembly to license anybody, that legislation did not go through quite the way it was introduced.

This bill is an attempt to get the program back, frankly, where it started a great many years ago.

Mr. Speaker, if I might, I would like to add one word for the gentleman's information. In our Republican Caucus on Monday, this bill, not suprisingly, ran into some opposition. I agreed with one of our Members in the back of the room in the presence of our Republican leadership that I would hold this bill over until Monday, which would be next Monday. I realize we have just had a hassle on this subject in the House, but it puts me in a position of somewhat breaking my word to the gentlemen.

Would the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, permit these two bills to be passed over until Monday?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to that. In fact, I have no objection to the bill except that I want to find out whether it is going to create a situation where we have a board, since the Department of Internal Affairs and the Department of Forests and Waters all are interested in this particular legislation? If it is satisfactory to the various departments and they feel we are not going to divide our authority all over the Commonwealth, I am not objecting to the bill. I am just trying to develop the thought whether it is agreeable to the various departments, that their duties shall be scattered throughout different areas. That is the point I am trying to clear up.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I am quite sure it is. I am told that Miss Blatt of the Department of Internal Affairs is happy with it. I am sure the Department of Forests and Waters is as happy as it can be with it. I think both departments would probably like to run the whole thing but that does not seem to be in the wood.

If the gentleman will permit it, I would like to move that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar. Perhaps that is the answer.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Montgomery one question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman desire to have an opportunity to give further information to this House in connection with these bills, or is he simply asking that no action be taken today because of a promise he made to somebody that it would be put over until Monday? If the gentleman desires to have more time to gather information to give to this House concerning the question being raised by Mr. Lopresti, then I would have no objections to putting it over until Monday, but I would like the gentleman to state that he does want that time to get further information to give to this House.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I will so state. I would also say both things enter into my thinking. I gave this gentleman my word and apparently he has some well drillers in his area who had questions about the bill, and he wants to go back and talk to them. Not only that, but I have been informed—and I admit that it is hearsay—Miss Blatt is in favor of this bill, but I would like to check on that feature.

Also I might say this bill is not my personal effort. I did not draw it up. I would like to get some more information about the licensing feature.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman report that information back to the House on Monday?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I certainly shall. I might say to the Minority Leader actually I have not a great deal of information on the background of this subject at the present time and I sort of hate to take up the time of the House today without the full picture on it under the circumstances.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in view of that, I would ask this side not to object to placing these two bills on the postponed calendar. I think a legitimate reason has been given for deferring action.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will withdraw its decision as to this bill having been agreed to on third reading. The Chair hears none.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. T. H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 612, entitled:

An Act relating to water well drillers providing for the registration and licensing of water well drillers conferring powers and imposing duties upon the State Board of Examiners for Water Well Drilling Contractors the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Internal Affairs providing for the revocation or suspension of licenses and prescribing unlawful acts and penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. T. H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the third reading postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1052, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) prohibiting the cashing of unemployment compensation or any other types of relief checks.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1107, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28, 1931 (P. L. 202), entitled "An act providing for the licensing and regulation of motor boats operated or navigated upon any public stream, artificial or natural body of water, or non-tidal waters of any river within the Commonwealth; * * *," to eliminate the requirement of license plates and to change the definition of waters by removing the limiting word "public."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the fundamental purpose of this bill?

Mr. STONER. This bill eliminates the motor boat tags.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, under this bill, if a man operating a motor boat, for example on the Allegheny River, is involved in a dangerous or fatal accident, how would you determine the ownership of the boat involved if it did not have a license on it?

Mr. STONER. The only means he would have would be his identification card which he carries in his pocket.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, suppose the owner of a motor boat, which is identical in appearance with the boat in question, with no number on it, disappeared from the scene, how would we establish ownership of the motor boat?

Mr. STONER. Well, you would have your engine number. Also all boats have some difference between the designs of them.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I do not think this bill is in the public interest. It makes the process of determining not only of civil responsibility but also of criminal responsibility difficult.

I can recall in Allegheny County, on the Allegheny River, we had some fatal accidents arising from the operation of motor boats, and in our case it was almost impossible to determine which boat, if any, was responsible for the fatalities.

I believe this bill is not necessary. It is no hardship upon a man who owns a motor boat to have a tag on it. It is for the benefit of the public to continue this law as it is today and to defeat the proposed amendment.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, we are about the only state in the Union which maintains a boat tag today. The Commonwealth charges one dollar per cylinder as a fee and two dollars for an electrical propelled boat and five dollars for a dealer's license. There are in the Commonwealth today about 44,000 motor boats licensed. It brings in $88,000 to the Fishing Fund of Pennsylvania. I understand in this bill we are about the only state in the Union which does not use the tag. In New York State the differential is maintained by painting the numbers on the boat.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I hate to quarrel with the gentleman from Cumberland but in my mind this a cute little way to compensate the Fish Commission and give them a little more money by not adding an addition to their fishing license. They will make a small amount of $16,000 out of this deal, and in my mind that is a small amount of money to give up what these plates give us.

I do not own a motor boat, but if I did I think I should be happy to have a number on it and a plate on it because if the boat is stolen, it gives a little chance of recovery.

I also do a lot of swimming in the river down along the Long Level section in the summertime, and regarding motor boats as well as cars you have what we call "hot rodders." Today they have motors of 35 horsepower, 30 horsepower, and they travel at a very rapid rate of speed. They continually cut in and out among these bathers. Of course, with the number on them, you have an opportunity to get that number and report them to the proper authorities.

There is another situation we had in Mr. Stoner's county that I am quite familiar with. In the Good Hope section there is a dam over there, and there is a limit placed on that dam as to how many miles an hour they can go because of destroying property along this dam. The wake of the boats wash away the lawns of cottages along there. The only method they have of identifying these boats is with that tag. They get the license number, and then of course the people are brought to task for destroying that property.

I wonder whether we are not trying to go a little far afield here and whether we are not being a little foolish in letting this money go into the Fish Fund, because $16,000 in my mind will only hire one more consultant or executive in that Fish Department.

I am going to ask my friends and the people who think the same way I do on this thing to vote along with me because I think it is a very foolish piece of legislation.

As far as the other states are concerned, if all of them do not have it, I still think that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in my mind is the greatest state and maybe that is all the more reason why we should have it.

Mr. IDE. Mr. Speaker, I own a motor boat, a powerful one, and it is not necessary to have tags. My boat is kept in one of the large bays of New Jersey.

There have been incidents along the shores of this bay where accidents have happened and out of these accidents have developed hit-and-run drivers. Some of them got away and some of them were caught, but they were caught because of faster boats.

It seems to me when you own an automobile or a boat and you are using these methods of transportation among the people, and you certainly do when you operate a motor boat, you must come ashore. If there are swimmers, you pass between the swimmers or among them, which has happened to me, fortunately without accident. It seems to me we are trying to dodge something when we permit boats to operate without tags, and it seems to me we are helping to destroy methods of identification of these drivers of motor boats.

It also seems to me we are getting a trifle penurious when we want to save some department a couple of thousand dollars and spend it elsewhere foolishly.

I urge all Members of this House to vote against this bill and you can possibly save lots of lives. It is just as important, it seems to me, to have tags on motor boats as it is on automobiles.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I too am an operator of a motor boat for 20 years. I believe this bill will remove one of the major means of apprehension of law violators and reckless operators of boats. I think it is a bad bill and I am going to vote against it.

Mr. POMEROY. I would like to ask just one question of the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand correctly that if this bill passes in its present form there will be no serial number, no printed serial number similar to Federal Coast Guard regulations?

Mr. STONER. In the present form, there would be no identification at all on the outside of the boat.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I too operate a boat and I agree with the Members who voice objection because of the lack of identification, but I also see some merit to saving $16,000 for the Fish Commission.

In New York State where I have my boat licensed they require the identification number to be painted on the boat and the number is in a size large enough that you can easily see the numbers.

I would suggest, if possible or if agreeable, that this bill be amended to permit the owner of the boat, or to require the owner of the boat, to paint in a conspicuous place on his boat the numbers and letters in a dimension that is large enough to be seen at some distance, and then do away with the tag that is in controversy.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I disagree with the gentleman about painting the numbers on the boat. This Fish Commission is getting $88,000 from these motor boat operators and it is increasing all the time. The small sum of $16,000 goes to provide these tags.

In my mind, if they were going to save the people of the Commonwealth the money they are going to cost, that would be a different story, but every man cannot paint a number on his boat that can be seen and that can be read. They are not all gifted that way, and they are going to have to hire someone to put that number on there. That is going to cost those people some money.

Why are we not a little sensible and quit thinking about the Commission and think about the people?

Mr. MOODY. Mr. Speaker, in regard to painting the license numbers on boats, the motor boat license is issued on the motor, not on the boat. In other words, I know some people who have boats in different locations and they can take their outboard motors from here to there and not get another license. When I bought my license this year I specifically inquired about additional boats, and I was informed that the motor boat license is actually a license of the motor and you merely have to take your plates along and attach them to the other boat.

Mr. STONER. I just want to clear one thing and that is with reference to the boats in Cumberland County. At the special park the gentleman refers to they are 120 horsepower speedboats. Therefore, they throw up a lot of wash on the bank.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, there has been a lot said about licensing under this bill, but there is another point about which nothing has been said, the elimination of the word "public" as regards the waters in Pennsylvania.

It seems to me a man will no longer be permitted to operate a boat without a license on his own private waters. At the present time we enjoy a lot of freedom on our own private property, and I think this would be moving in on that freedom a little bit.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order to make a motion that this bill be recommitted to the committee from which it came?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state the purpose?

Mr. HOCKER. I think there is a lot of controversy and I think if you defeat the bill it will probably come up again. I think maybe it can go into committee and be amended in such shape—I do not know how, but I just had a conference with the Chairman of the committee and he thinks maybe it could be fixed up. He does not know how, but maybe.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman a motion to recommit is not in order at this time, the bill having been agreed to on third reading.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOPRESTI. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Would a motion be in order to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that that motion would be in order.

The Chair suggests, that probably the answer to the problem would be to place the bill on the postponed calendar.

Mr. LOPRESTI. I think, Mr. Speaker, I prefer the other method. After once having passed a motion to reconsider the vote, it would be returned then to second reading and a motion would then be in order to recommit for amendment. Is that correct?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.
Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make such a motion.

I have this to say, there possibly is some merit in putting numbers on the boats and also requiring the owner of the particular boat to keep a register showing who operated the boat at a particular time on a particular day. Then if a numbered boat would be involved, the owner would be able to trace back and find out who had it at that particular moment. In that way we might be able to amend this bill, but it should be done in committee.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.
Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.
It was agreed to.
Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, are we now in a position to send it back to committee?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is correct.
On the question, recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Fisheries for the purpose for further study and possible amendment.
The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1143, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12 1951 (P. L. 90) clarifying provisions of existing law

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?
Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1278, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "An act relating to the public school system etc. . . ." providing for the employment of professional and temporary professional employes of county boards of school directors regulating the employment dismissal suspension and demotion of such employes and providing for their rights and obligations.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for a slow roll call on this. I think it is a controversial bill and I think there is a lot of opposition to it. I hate to take the time of the Members but I think it is entitled to a slow roll call.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, on this bill, before having a roll call, I would like to discuss it a little bit, and also determine whether or not my impression of what the bill does is correct.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield for a moment to the Majority Leader?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this brings up another situation this morning of the sponsor of the bill not being here. However, the understanding I had with the Minority Leader was that the bill would move unless there was some prior arrangement. I believe this is an important measure. Mr. Auker has all the information on the measure. His absence at this time creates a delicate situation.

I submit to the gentleman whether he feels we should, in the absence of the sponsor, proceed with the bill. He has all the information. I believe under the circumstances, much as I dislike doing it, I will have to make a motion to place it on the final passage postponed calendar.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I am for this bill myself. Earlier in the Session I introduced a bill quite similar to it. There is the situation that exists in the Commonwealth that, in my opinion, should be corrected. Whether or not we are going to go through with the vote is not the question I want to raise, but if we are going through with the vote, I want to speak in behalf of the bill and for it.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the Majority Leader whether Mr. Auken had informed him that he would not be here today or had given an excuse for not being here?

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, I will have to say in defense of Mr. Auken that there was a meeting last night in his county, an annual meeting or something of that nature, of the Bar Association. He came and informed me that he would like to be home for that meeting and informed me he would not be here and would not return. He gave the usual statement that is given in a situation of this kind, "If you need me, send for me."

Mr. READINGER. Did the gentleman send for him?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, I did not.

Mr. READINGER. Did the House give him a leave of absence?

Mr. JOHNSON. He did not ask for a leave of absence.

Mr. READINGER. Then, Mr. Speaker, I oppose the motion made by the Majority Leader that it be placed on the postponed calendar. This bill should be acted on today in the absence of the sponsor who has neither a leave of absence nor an excuse for not being here.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, is the parliamentary situation cleared up?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is under the impression that there is no motion before the House. The only question. Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask a question. Did not the Majority Leader make a motion that this be placed on the postponed calendar?

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not understand the gentleman to say that he had made a motion.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I did make a motion to place it on the final passage postponed calendar.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in a very peculiar position. For once I must agree with the Minority Leader and oppose my Majority Leader.

I do not believe the gentleman from Blair has any more right to be absent today than I have or any other Member of this House. I see my good friend Mr. Erb from Blair down there, and on a good many occasions I know he goes home at night and is back the next morning. I want to oppose this motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER. The motion is to postpone.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, before voting on the motion to postpone, I might say I would be willing to act as a substitute for the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auken, in defense of this bill and request its passage. I do not believe the minority would be for the bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "nays" appear to have it.

Whereupon, A division was called for, twenty-four Members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred thirteen in the negative the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in our caucus yesterday, we discussed this bill and, unless I misunderstood the caucus, practically everybody on our side agreed to vote for the bill.

I am asking that they do so today.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, by the way of a short explanation of the purpose of this bill might I say that in recent years we have given to the county boards power to hire teachers for special educational purposes, teachers who are rather difficult to find, those who have had training in the teaching of mentally retarded children and situations of that kind.

The various county boards have then attempted to go out and hire teachers to do this particular type of work. In many cases they have discovered that the most able teachers are employed presently by smaller units, smaller school boards.

They have approached those teachers and asked them to take a job with the county board where their services could be spread over different parts of the county and do the most good for the entire county.

However, the teacher, having had tenure with her local school board over a period of maybe five or ten years and knowing she will continue to have tenure, refuses to take the chance of becoming an employee of the county board where she has no tenure whatsoever.

I feel when a teacher is employed in the teaching profession, whether she is employed by a local school board or by the county board, she should have the same tenure and the same rights under the law as those teachers employed by the local districts.

If we are going to utilize those persons having special training and special knowledge to best advantage, we must pass this bill in order to get those people into county-wide service rather than remain in the service of a particular school district.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, much to my regret I must vote for the bill. It is an idea that the gentleman from Cambria has long advocated. He was interested in this type legislation earlier in this session, was prepared to back it, and did I think.

It looked like a good idea, being the kind of bill which ought to make friends back home, so the majority leadership determined the person who ought to be placed in a position to reap any reward as a result of sponsoring the bill and decided to commit it into the keeping of the gentleman from Blair, who in a sense purloined it.

If the purloiner has goods of value, I presume those goods must be honored. Much as I regret the practice, which is reprehensible whether practiced on one side of the House or the other, nevertheless, notwithstanding the purloining, I must vote for the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 116, Printer's No. 153

was passed over temporarily at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 327, entitled as follows:

An Act authorizing the board of directors of railroad companies to constitute an executive committee from among their number and conferring such authority upon the committee as the board shall provide.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman explain the reason for this bill, not what it does but the reason back of it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentlemen wants an explanation of the bill, is that the idea?

Mr. READINGER. No, Mr. Speaker. I understand the bill. I want to know what the reason is for such legislation as this.

Mr. JOHNSON. As the bill has been explained to me and as I explained it in our caucus, business corporations are permitted to operate through executive committees, and this bill was just designed to give railroad corporations the same powers that are presently given other corporations under the Corporation Code of 1933.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman mean this provision that is inserted in this bill, or contained in this bill, is in the Corporation code?

Mr. JOHNSON. As I understand it, other corporations enjoy this privilege and we are only extending it to railroad corporations. I can see the reason for it. With the average large railroad corporation with a large Board of Directors, it is certainly expedient they be permitted to do business through an executive board.

Mr. READINGER. Do the stockholders of these railroads not elect the directors?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is very true.

Mr. READINGER. Does this bill not allow the majority of the board of directors to delegate the entire authority to act for that board to two or more persons?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would say, as I recall reading the bill, that is correct and I personally, in the field of large enterprise, cannot see anything wrong with a situation like that.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I think this bill should be voted down. The shareholders elect directors to run the corporation or the railroad and then have nothing further to say about what the board of directors or a majority of it will do as far as delegating to two or more of that Board all of the authority the Board has.

Despite the vehement protests of minority members on that board, this could still be done by resolution and those two people or three people could continue to carry on and do everything the Board had a right to do, and the minority members would have nothing further to say about it, except their redress to go back to the shareholders and try to get new directors elected.

I think this is bad legislation.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill is misunderstood. When the board delegates its power, it states the purposes and they are limited to those purposes. They are not permitted all the powers of the whole board. It is plainly stated just what powers are given to them. I do not see any reason for being afraid of the board delegating just simple powers, or perhaps one or two things for them to do rather than the whole board doing it themselves.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Tioga doubtless has overlooked the fact that the executive directors would be governed by the resolution and the resolution could be as broad or as narrow as the majority desired to go.

This bill is probably designed to affect some particular situation where on the board of directors there is a dispute between the majority and minority members regarding some particular phase of the company's business.

On the board of the corporation there could be, and frequently are, minority interest. And this is a move which could completely submerge majority interests on a controlling board. My experience in the past leads me to believe this type of legislation is invariably designed to cure some particular local situation that we know nothing about by reading the bill. If the stockholders delegate and then those who were delegated delegate, there is no telling how far the two or three members who are in control would delegate to their advisers.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I believe the fears and the suspicions of the gentleman from Cambria are unfounded. I know of no particular situations to which this bill pertains. In so far as my information is concerned, I believe it is an effort to bring the powers of the executive committee of the board of directors of a railroad company into conformity with that enjoyed by corporations under the Corporation Act of 1933.

There is sufficient protection on limitations upon the powers given to the executive committee by reason of specifications that are to be found in this bill limiting the powers of that executive committee to that which is delegated by the majority of the board. In any instance, the majority of the board would rule anyway. Therefore, it appears to me this is the type of legislation which moves in the direction of creating more efficient operation by our railroad companies, and for that reason I support the bill, and I ask the Membership of the House to support it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like a report from the Majority Whip concerning his present status as to Members present on the floor.

The SPEAKER. Does the Majority Whip desire to make a report?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the Minority Whip's request, I think we have picked up one Member.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is good. Then it will be a case for a slow roll call.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. It would like to know what became of the extra votes.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed that all of the extra votes are out talking on the telephone.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 559, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (L. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code" permitting liquor licensees to elect to operate under daylight saving time when such time is generally being observed in that municipality.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is there anybody on either side of the House who can explain the purpose of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Is there any Member of the House who will permit himself to be interrogated on Senate Bill 559, Printer's No. 155?

Mr. DeLONG. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill deals with municipalities having Daylight Saving time while other municipalities may have Standard Time. The Board handed down an opinion that you must operate your place of business according to whatever time is in your municipality. This bill asks that in a municipality where they have Daylight Saving Time the licensee be allowed to open up at 7:00 in the morning and close at 2:00. He can also take his choice, or preference, of opening on Daylight Saving Time at 8:00 and remaining open until 3:00. That is merely done in the places where there are a lot of factories running and changing shifts at 7:00 in the morning. A man has a right to pick up that little bit of business.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. DeLong, consent to be interrogated?

Mr. DeLONG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, under this bill is it not possible for one restaurant licensee, or club licensee, to open his tavern an hour before his competitors, or an hour later than his competitors? In other words, each licensee would determine the hour he opens?

Mr. DeLONG. Each licensee will post and notify the Board on what time he is going to operate, either from 7:00 to 2:00, or from 8:00 until 3:00.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, under this bill is it not possible for one licensee to open at 7:00 and the man across the street to open at 8:00? Will the gentleman answer that question?

Mr. DeLONG. He has his choice under this bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Under this bill is it not possible for the licensee to elect to be open at an earlier hour one week and change his mind and—

Mr. DeLONG. No, sir. He must notify the Board of that and he must continue until Daylight Saving Time goes out of existence.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will the gentleman from Lehigh point out that clause in this bill? I read it over carefully and I cannot see any qualification where a licensee who elects to go on one system cannot elect the following week to go on the other system.

Mr. DeLONG. "Any licensee who elects to operate his place of business in accordance with daylight saving time shall post a conspicuous notice in his place of business that he is operating in accordance with daylight saving time."

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, there is no provision there to say that he cannot change his election?

Mr. DeLONG. I do not think any licensee would change it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That is a matter of opinion. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, we think there should be an orderly opening and closing of licensees. This would lead to confusion in the law enforcement. In addition, I believe it is designed for the special interests of certain individuals who are anxious to obtain the trade of men coming out of mills. I believe these people who patronize these places in the early hours would do better by going home to their families.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am sure what has taken place on the floor here today should be an object lesson, particularly to those on the majority side, of what actually can happen by reason of absenteeism.

The thing I am particularly disturbed about, and apparently it is true, while we had 107 Members earlier in the Session here today, after giving an admonition to our membership to stay until the business of the day was over, nevertheless apparently five or six of our Members did slip out, or on that particular railroad bill at least they did not vote.

I am having the roll call checked to see who were on the roll call when we had 107 here and who were on the roll call when that particular bill went down. To me it is reprehensible, and I am sorry a thing like that should occur.

I know the other side can say "Revenge is Sweet"? I know last Session we did it to the majority week after week and made Mr. Readinger's life very, very miserable. It took him four months to get even with us, but I will say today he really did it and I hope the gentlemen is elated. I think he deserves it. He waited a long time to do it.

I am hoping next week, after the object lesson here today, we will all be able to be here, do the job we are elected to do and save embarrassment for all of us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I sympathize with the Majority Leader and I realize while he might weep secretly in his heart over the failure of a railroad bill, he really should not shed his tears in public.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader stated a moment ago he thinks I am quite elated by his present discomfiture because he is now in the same position I found myself in so often last Session, but I would like him to know and the Members of the House to know that I am not at all elated. I am depressed terribly by the fact that I find him in the same position I used to be in. I did not like it. I know he does not like it, and is not going to like it as long as he is a Floor Leader. I assure you I am not elated about it.

ADJOURNMENT

Mrs. MUNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, May 6, 1957 at 3:30 p.m. EST.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rabbi PHILIP DAVID BOOKSTABER, of the Reform Temple, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this our blessed land, America, and for the great gift that has come to us of freedom of assembly and the decent respect for the differences of mankind. We ask Thy blessing upon the Governor of this Commonwealth, his staff and all who deliberate here for the welfare of our citizens of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

On this day, which begins the week before Mother's Day, we implore Thy help to understand the Mother's universal spirit of welfare for children and for home. We pray for the home and the school and the church of one's choice, that we may come together in this freedom of assembly to thank God for His gift of motherhood, and in motherhood, ourselves, go back again to the boyhood days of our own origin and learn the simple lessons taught to us in the home.

May the deliberations of this week bring good tidings to homes where we go, and report that the welfare of the Commonwealth has reached another stage of happy reunion for the welfare of our citizenry.

We thank Thee for all Thy gifts unto us and for those who are sick of this august assembly, that they may return in health again to their family fold as well as to this deliberative body. We ask it all in Thy Name, Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I am presenting this bill, co-sponsored by my colleague, Senator Kessler, which repeals the Act of August 19, 1953, entitled "An act providing for the selection of suitable lands for Delaware County for the erection thereon of a new State Mental Hospital."

This bill, Mr. President, will repeal that Act, due to the fact that we have been advised by the Secretary of the Department of Welfare that there is no longer need for any additional rooms in the State of Pennsylvania to take care of the mentally ill patients.

We have been advised that at Embreeville they are adding 700 additional rooms and, at the present time, the Embreeville Hospital is only eighty-nine per cent filled. We have also been told that there is a hospital in Philadelphia which has been turned over to the Department of Welfare to take care of mental health patients. We have also been advised that in the State of Pennsylvania, under the new plan, the Secretary of Welfare intends to take approximately 1,000 patients a year out of the mental hospitals, due to the discovery of new drugs. Mr. President, I know nothing about that, but I hope he is right. I cannot concur nor can I say that this is possible. However, this is what we have been told.

Therefore, Mr. President, as deeply as I felt that there was a need for this hospital in 1953 when I fought for this legislation — I felt at that time there was a need because the Department of Welfare so said — today, to a certain extent, I feel that perhaps we could do away with some of the old hospitals which we have and build a new modern hospital which would give our patients longer lives and better health as long as they may live. I still believe that should be done. However, the Secretary of Welfare said there is no need.

Mr. President, as deeply as I feel, I cannot stand in the way of saving $19,000,000, which I understand has been stretched to maybe $23,000,000, and accordingly I am presenting this bill on behalf of Senator Kessler and myself.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. WATKINS and KESSLER read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 737, entitled:

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THE PENNSYLVANIA TURNPIKE COMMISSION TO EXAMINE ITS PRESENT POLICY AS TO INTERCHANGE NAMES

Messrs. ELLIOTT, DENT, MAHANY, PECHAN, WADE, SEYLER, WHALLEY, KESSLER and EHRGOOD offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 6, 1957.

Every year thousands of motorists travel over one of the finest highways ever engineered, the Pennsylvania Turnpike, conceived and constructed, not only as a safety measure to motorists in their trans-state auto trips, but also as a convenience to all those who desire quick access to the many cities and boroughs that the highway connects.

A great majority of those using the turnpike for intra state travel want to stop at one of the municipalities within the vicinity of the turnpike interchanges. Many of the interchange names now indicate the name of a mountain, river, or valley which in many cases does not appear on the auto maps, consequently the names do not help the traveling public. As a benefit to these people the signs located near or at the interchange should indicate the nearest municipalities instead of geographic features.

In many cases there is more than one municipality in close proximity to the interchange, yet the name only designates the larger ones. To the traveling public this if often confusing or of no help at all; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania respectively request the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to examine its present policy as to interchange names and take into greater consideration the traveling public who might be seeking out a community in the vicinity of one of the interchanges; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to each member of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 547, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article five section sixteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for election of judges of the Supreme Court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to know for my own edification, and that of my colleagues, the purpose of this amendment.

Mr. MAHANY. The purpose of this amendment, Senator, is to allow the people of Pennsylvania to vote for vacancies on the Supreme Court. In other words, this last time, we did not have much to say about it. When we went to the General Election, it was understood that Mr. Cohen was in for one vacancy and Mr. Jones was in for the other. Therefore, there was not much we could do about voting for anybody else.

This will allow, if there are two vacancies to be filled, two men to run from each party and whichever two have the highest number of votes, those are the ones who are going to be elected.

I think this is in line with the democratic process, which you so strongly espouse at times.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman. I want to ask him if he will allow himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, is it not true that if we pass this amendment and it is finally enacted, will this not do away with minority representation on the Appellate Court of this State?

Mr. MAHANY. Not necessarily, Senator. It might be that the Democrats will win one year and the Republicans the next. Certainly it has not done away with minority representation in the Senate by having an opportunity to vote for the candidates at the General Election.

This is the only office which seems to have it fixed so that when a fellow wins the primary, he is in without any opposition. Both Mr. Cohen and Mr. Jones had a pretty easy time of getting on the Supreme Court for twenty-one years. Neither one of them had any opposition in the Primary and neither one of them had any opposition in the General Election. We would like to have them run under the same rules and regulations that the rest of us run under.

Mr. WEINER. I want to thank the gentleman.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, my understanding of the Constitution, the way it stands today, is that either party is entitled to a minority representation on the Appellate Court. With the passage of this provision, we will wipe out that guarantee which has been set up to protect the minority parties and probably the minority groups in this State. I use that in a political sense.

Mr. President, I believe the only thing this will do is insure to the majority party the furtherance of their own candidates and their own people constantly gracing the benches, and setting up a reward for those people who have been the faithful in the party.

I do not feel that this is good legislation. I do not feel that this is the democratic process. As a matter of fact, I think it eliminates any possibility of the minority party being represented anywhere except where they might have a foothold in some of the counties or some of the county areas.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge my colleagues, and the Members on the other side who believe in the democratic process, to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I believe if this provision is adopted, it will only apply when we have two or more vacancies. If there is only one vacancy, both parties have representation at the General Election. However, it just so happens that when there are two, as there were in this last November election, the people have no choice. There were two nominees, one a Republican and one a Democrat, and the people had to take them in the fall election. That is not the way you and I are elected or anybody else who runs for office in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think it would do good to review a little here concerning this order of business, as we call it, whereby the Supreme Court has ruled that when there are two vacancies on the bench at the same time prior to an election, and both offices are to be filled at that election, if such vacancies be caused by resignation or death, each political party shall select their candidate at the Primary Election and each party then shall be entitled to elect one at the General Election.

If you will refresh your memories, this particular ruling by the Supreme Court in the matter of election to its membership came about during the late 1930's. We then found ourselves in the position where we had the first Democratic member of the Supreme Court in a period longer than my lifetime and longer than any other lifetime, I believe, in this room, including that venerable old man of the mountains, Senator Taylor. He has been here many long years and, God bless him, I hope he is here many more. However, at that time, there was fear among the leaders of the Republican Party that the Democratic Party's star was on the ascendancy. Out of a clear sky, a second vacancy came about on the bench. In order to insure that the Republican Party would at least get one of the positions, this order was promulgated by the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. At that time, we had succeeded in electing a President from the Democratic Party for a few terms and now that the Republicans have succeeded in electing a President for two terms, and feeling that maybe the Democratic Party might be on the slide and that they can again go back to the long, long years of tenure under the Republican banner, they want to change the rules again. They want to do it by law this time.

I remember sitting in this Senate when Governor James was elected. Up until that time, the rules in Pennsylvania were that whichever party elected the President at the previous National election, this party was always first on the ballot in the State of Pennsylvania for succeeding elections. They had elected a Republican Governor and we were still electing Democratic President. They put a bill in to change the rules, whereby the position on the ballot no longer dependent on the outcome of the National election, but upon the outcome of the State election.

At that time, as some of you will remember, I called your attention to the fact that this was not playing the game according to the rules and that you were changing the rules in the middle of the game. I said that there would be a day when it would come back to haunt you and that you would get paid in turn for exactly what you were bargaining for I said then, and I say now, that you cannot play this game of politics selfishly, though many try it and for the time being they appear to be successful. You will rue the day that you pass this kind of legislation today. The people no longer follow any particular party willy-nilly or wildly into an election booth. The scenes have changed; the winds have shifted, and the entire political atmosphere all over these United States is no longer as predictable as it used to be in years gone by. The party which thinks it is in solid today may find itself on the outside completely tomorrow.

Mr. President, I would suggest to you to think very seriously about this kind of legislation. I think the Supreme Court's ruling, when it was finally promulgated after many years, was aimed at trying to make sure that in the case of two vacancies at the same time, both major political parties would have a representative on the Supreme Court. It has not worked badly. In fact, if you will look over decisions and you will study the actions of the Supreme Court in the past twenty years, you will find that there have been many worth-while decisions handed down in which both Democratic and Republican judges were in the minority as well as the majority in the report.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say to you to consider wisely before you move in this direction. Today you are second place on the ballot in Pennsylvania, as I predicted so many years ago, simply because you changed the rules in the middle of the game. When I was a kid and we played sand-lot baseball, if a ball hit over a neighbor's fence was two bases for the one team, it was still two bases for the other team. We did not allow one team to make a home run on a ball hit over a fence and stop the other team at the second base line.

Therefore, I say to you that this is another time that you are flexing your muscles at the wrong time. This is the kind of legislation that does not seem to die. It comes back when you least expect it and hurts you in the worst places.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION,

SERIAL No. 121, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 121.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A THOROUGH STUDY OF THE THE CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMON-WEALTH

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The present constitution of the Commonwealth was adopted in the year 1874. In accordance with the practice of the times, the provisions inserted in the constitution were wordy and sought to regulate in minute detail the functions and activities of our government. One of the consequences of this style of drafting is that the government is denied the flexibility of action necessary to cope with many new demands made upon it by the rising needs of its people. No better example of proper drafting techniques can be cited than those which were employed in drawing up our Federal Constitution. Although comparatively brief in word content, it has served adequately as a basis for permitting legislation capable of dealing with the never ending changes in the makeup of our nation and world at large. This type of foresight in drafting has generally been absent in state constitutions. It can be also noted that the means provided for amending the Commonwealth's Constitution provided for great lapses of time before proposed amendments may be submitted to the electorate for their approval. These are conditions which in view of the vast changes that have occurred in our political, social, and economic structure since 1874 demanded a thorough study into the adequacy and propriety of our organic law, therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the Constitution of the Commonwealth in light of the present and future needs of the people of the Commonwealth and to determine if the public interest would be more greatly advanced by merely adding certain amendments to the constitution, or by revising it generally, or by merely providing for a more expeditious and practical system of adding amendments to our constitution, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of proposed amendments or revisions together with all the pertinent data and information which would be of value to any official body selected for the task of revising the Constitution of the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION,

SERIAL No. 121, ADOPTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 122, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 122, which was reported from committee today.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

REQUESTING THE AUTOMOBILE SAFETY FOUNDATION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE PENNSYLVANIA HIGHWAY SYSTEM AND THE PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS

In the Senate, May 1, 1957.

The highway system of the Commonwealth is of the utmost importance to the general public due to its constant use and great cost.

The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has been the center of much controversy in regard to its operation and methods of administering the State Highway System.

It is of the utmost importance to the public that an impartial and factual study be made of the Highway Department, and that the facts secured by such study be made available to the public; therefore be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Automobile Safety Foundation is hereby requested to make a study of the Pennsylvania Highway System and the Pennsylvania Department of Highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the report of the findings made by such study be published for the information of the general public and the General Assembly of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania is hereby requested to take any necessary action to concur in the request made by this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Automobile Safety Foundation, and that the expenses of said investigation be paid out of the Motor License Fund.

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if this procedure we are now going through is part of the great, short businesslike session we are having this Session of the Legislature?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would say this is completely routine. It is done frequently.

I believe in all Sessions we have been very generous in according Members the courtesy of having their bills reconsidered where they did not go down by too substantial a vote.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say I agree with the gentleman as to this procedure we are now following, it has been done for many years, but not in the haste we are now doing it. This short businesslike session is somewhat the cause of this procedure we are now having. I just wanted the gentleman to know that his short businesslike session is not so successful.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 192, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) providing Commonwealth reimbursement to school districts on account of migratory children attending their schools and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the Appropriations Committee have the power to amend the amount in a bill referred to them?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to inquire as to how the amount of the appropriation was put into the bill. Was it placed in the bill when it was reported from Committee or by amendment in the House?

Mr. ANDREWS. It was placed in the bill before it passed first reading.

The SPEAKER. It is the opinion of the Chair that the Committee has the power to amend the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. It was amended by the Committee.

The reason I inquired, Mr. Speaker, there was some doubt as to whether the amount as carried in the bill was sufficient to meet the need.

Therefore, I wanted to know whether the Appropriations Committee would be governed by the figure of $15,000, or whether they could raise it if they felt there was a need?

The SPEAKER. The only limitation upon the Appropriations Committee would be if the House itself had placed the amendment in the bill. The Chair understands that is not the case.

Mr. ANDREWS. The Committee amended the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Committee has the power to reamend the bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, what would be the parliamentary procedure if it was the opinion of the House that the figure listed in the bill was insufficient to meet the need?

The SPEAKER. The House could take one of two courses.

They could amend the bill on the floor of the House or recommit it to the Committee for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Further, Mr. Speaker, what would be the procedure if in the opinion of the Appropriations Committee it does not care to report the bill out of Committee and it was the opinion of the House that it is a matter upon which the House should act?

The SPEAKER. The House has the power to take the bill from the Committee if the Committee refuses to act.

Mr. ANDREWS. That has never been done but once.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. O'BRIEN. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. O'BRIEN. We have a situation—I do not know why they do not turn on the mike, but I do not need it.

We have a situation on page 3, House Bill 192—you say nobody can hear me?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman turn on the microphone?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I do not turn it on, I think the engineer turns it on. I can speak just as well from my seat.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman give the operator a chance to get the microphone turned on?

Mr. O'BRIEN. I can speak just as well from my seat, as you can see now with the enunciation, the Harvard accent and everything else.

Here we have House Bill 192, and I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

This particular bill was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee, and on page 2 House Bill 1095 was first recommitted to the Appropriations Committee and then all of a sudden you decided to reconsider. I say to you—look, he shuts it off. Whether you give me the works or do not give me the works, I don't need it.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please speak into the microphone?

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not stop talking into the microphone. I cannot help it if the engineer does not know how to operate it.

We have a situation, Mr. Speaker, on page 2 where House Bill 1095 was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee, and then all of a sudden we had a reconsideration of that.

I have only spent a few years here in the Legislature, but never did I see a procedure so, if there is such a word, "unparliamentarian" in all my experience here. We have a situation where on page 3 on House Bill 192 our former Speaker raised a question of parliamentary procedure, and then we have on page 2 of bill recommitted to the Appropriations Committee and all of a sudden it comes out of the Appropriations Committee. I honestly, Mr. Speaker, do not know how you can recommit a bill to Appropriations and then all of a sudden "re-uncommit" it from Appropriations. That is something new in parliamentary procedure so far as I am concerned.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, the two actions which have been taken have been entirely within the order of good parliamentary procedure and the Rules of this House.

Mr. O'BRIEN. How do you explain it—under what Rule do you recommit a bill and then "unrecommit" a bill, if that is grammatically correct or any other way.

The SPEAKER. The motion was made to recommit and this House can always reconsider a vote which it has taken. The bill was actually not within the possession of the Committee.

Mr. O'BRIEN. How could it not be in the possession of the Committee if you by the motion of the House already recommitted it to Appropriations, and I voted on it, there was a vote taken?

I am talking about House Bill 1095, Printer's No. 374?

The SPEAKER. The Speaker has answered the gentleman's parliamentary inquiry.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. O'BRIEN. The question of information is, how can the Speaker—will he point out the fact, even with the advice of Ed Moore—recognize a bill being already referred to the Appropriations Committee when it came out of another committee?

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not understand the gentleman's question. Will the gentleman restate it?

The House can by its action commit a bill to any committee it desires, regardless of what committee the bill came from originally. The Chair is sure the gentleman in his wisdom and vast experience is fully aware of that act.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I never knew of anything that was recommitted to a committee—how would you get it out of that committee without that particular chairman taking appropriate action on it? We have never had that situation in the Legislature in my experience.

The SPEAKER. The bill was not in the possession of the Committee. The Chairman had not signed for the bill nor taken the bill into his possession.

Mr. O'BRIEN. A chairman never has to sign for a bill being committed or recommitted to his committee. That is where I take that question of information.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels he has properly answered the gentleman's question of information.

Mr. O'BRIEN. No, it is a question of information and you just cannot simply dispose of me in that connection inasmuch as you recognized me under a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has tried to answer the gentleman as intelligently as the Chair knew how to answer him.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I did not hear you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has tried to answer the gentleman as intelligently as the Chair could answer the question.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I have to repeat, I have to iterate, I have to reiterate, in order to get an intelligent explanation of it, then.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels the gentleman is being dilatory in his action, wasting the time of the House, and the Chair will take up the next bill on today's calendar.

Mr. O'BRIEN. I appeal your decision of the Chair to the Floor of the House. If I am dilatory, it is not my question of being dilatory, it is a question of the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the gentleman is not in order, it is purely a dilatory action.

The next bill on the calendar is House Bill 208, Printer's No. 405.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, you will regret this.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 208, entitled:

An Act amending "The County Code" approved August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) limiting the nature of contracts made by the commissioners which do not require advertising.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STROUP. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I notice that this bill has been amended to exclude from its terms not only doctors and lawyers, but also registered engineers and architects? Does the gentleman now believe the bill has excluded all the proper persons who should not be required to bid on work to be offered by the counties under contract?

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I believe it does now exclude all those professional services which have such a degree of professional recognition as would warrant county commissioners in recognizing them without advertising and without the requirement of performance bonds.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask what a landscape expert is called? Is he an engineer or is he not? He is not a registered engineer, is he?

Mr. STROUP. No, I do not believe so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. So if a county wanted to have a considerable amount of landscaping done, it would require procedure under the law to advertise and ask for bids from the landscape men?

Mr. STROUP. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman feel reasonably sure that he has excluded the proper persons from those in the class who are required to bid?

Mr. STROUP. In answer to the gentleman's question, Mr. Speaker, it was the original intention in order to remedy certain situations which have arisen in our counties whereby certain counties have entered into contracts without the procedure of requiring advertising for bids and performance bonds. As a consequence, by reason of the fact that there were individuals with whom they entered into contracts who were not responsible people, the counties lost a considerable sum of money.

We now are trying to amend this particular section of the County Code in order to make a recurrence of that situation impossible.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I think this bill as amended is a good bill. I did not think so when I first saw it before these amendments went in it, because we certainly do not want any engineers or architects having to bid against each other for county work.

I think the objectionable features of this bill have been removed by these amendments and I am asking the membership to vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rabbi PHILIP DAVID BOOKSTABER, of The Reform Temple, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this our blessed Country, America, and this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, founded upon liberty and conscience. We ask Thy blessing upon the Governor and his staff of our Commonwealth, and upon our Senators who come here to deliberate. May they be imbued with the teachings of God and of the great Master Who said, "Inasmuch as you do it to the least of My brethren, you do it unto Me."

May we go forth in humility to thank God for living that we may be of service to our fellowmen, knowing very well that service is the rent we pay for living; that in that living, we give cheer and consideration for the least of our brethren that they may know that those who represent them from the various counties and institutions stand ready to carry out Thy benign beneficence of service to them.

We ask Thy blessing upon the Senators of our Commonwealth and the Presiding Officer, that they may carry out all that is within their hearts and minds with patience, with vision, with courage and with faith.

We ask it all in Thy Name, O Heavenly Father, Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, very briefly, the Senate Investigating Committee on the Turnpike Commission expects to file its final report next week. However, the members of the committee felt that this matter was of such great importance to the Commonwealth that we would offer a resolution concerning it.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of my colleagues, Senator Dent, Senator Harney, Senator Whalley, Senator Barr and myself, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REQUESTING THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES INVESTIGATE THE FEASIBILITY OF PURCHASING FROM THE TURNPIKE COMMISSION THE BUILDING ON SOUTH FOURTH STREET

Messrs. FLEMING, DENT, HARNEY, WHALLEY and BARR offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, May 7, 1957.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission now owns a building on South Fourth Street in the city of Harrisburg. Since the erection of their new administration building at the Harrisburg East Interchange of the turnpike the old office on South Fourth Street has been vacant.

The Commonwealth has a shortage of office space in the vicinity of the Capitol and the vacant office of the Turnpike Commission is only a few steps across Walnut Street from the Capital, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Property and Supplies investigate the feasibility of purchasing from the Turnpike Commission the building on South Fourth Street, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

RULE 39 SUSPENDED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in the past two years in Pennsylvania there has developed a practice known as Trade Stamps. They are given to housewives by all the chain stores throughout this Commonwealth. Recently, Mr. President, I read in a newspaper that a funeral establishment, in order to attract business, is also giving Trade Stamps to its clientele. I bring out this example to indicate the great proportions that Trade Stamps have achieved in our daily life.

Mr. President, we have found that there are many abuses which have arisen as a result of these Trade Stamps. First of all, it has become an unfair practice and unfair competition as far as the little businessman is concerned. Secondly, we have discovered that when the housewives who have accumulated these Trade Stamps go to the redeeming stations, they have found them to be ill-stocked and the merchandise which has been advertised is not on the shelves. We further found that a number of these companies in the past year have gone into bankruptcy. This means that the consumer has collected these stamps, the chain stores have paid for the stamps and when the redemption period was arrived at, these companies are no longer in business.

Mr. President, one of the most important abuses which we find today is that a great number of these stamps are unredeemed. This means that these companies are earning a great deal of profit and these profits certainly are unearned profits. In view of the fact that Trade Stamps have become so important in the everyday life of the housewife and in the everyday life of the consumers, I feel that we in Pennsylvania should undertake a thorough study in order to correct the abuses that are now present and those which may exist in the future.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am presenting this resolution, asking for an investigation of the entire stamp field for the purpose of submitting legislation to the next Session of the General Assembly.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

JOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE ALL MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE TRADING STAMP PRACTICE

Mr. DONOLOW offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, May 7, 1957.

Trading stamps in the past two years are being used by retail establishments on a tremendously increased basis.

The usage of these trading stamps is unfair competition to the small business establishments of this State.

The usage of these trading stamps has created many abuses in that those housewives who are saving them cannot get the merchandise in trade-in as advertised and a number of the premium centers are poorly stocked.

A great portion of these stamps are never redeemed in merchandise, and therefore the trading stamp companies are accumulating unearned profits.

Some of the companies which have issued trading stamps have gone out of business, such action being to the detriment of the stamp collectors.

This entire trading stamp field should be given a thorough investigation and study in order to pass legislation to correct the existing and future abuses; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House, who together shall constitute a joint committee to conduct an immediate investigation and study of all matters pertaining to the trading stamp practice; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings, together with recommendations for appropriate legislation to the next session of the General Assembly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we of the Monongahela Valley are very proud of an outstanding athlete, in the person of Mr. Gus Brickner, of Charleroi, Pennsylvania. Most of you probably know that Gus was acclaimed the National Cold Water Champion of the United States and in August of this year he plans an attempt to swim the English Channel.

The support of this program is mainly radio station WESA in Charleroi, and all of the valley newspapers of the Monongahela Valley.

Therefore, it is my pleasure, on behalf of Senator Scott, Senator Mahany, Senator Dent and myself, to present to the Chair this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO GUS BRICKNER ON HIS ATHLETIC ACHIEVEMENTS AND EXTENDING BEST WISHES IN CONNECTION WITH HIS ATTEMPT TO CONQUER THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

Messrs. LANE, SCOTT, MAHANY and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 7, 1957.

Western Pennsylvania and the Monongahela River Valley area have produced many great athletes who have brought the attention of the entire United States to this area. Now, a Charleroi steelworker will attempt to bring to the valley world-wide recognition.

No Pennsylvanian has ever challenged the English Channel, however, this August those standing on its shores will see Gus Brickner test the torrid currents and twenty mile distance of the channel.

Gus, a resident of Charleroi, Washington County, for the entire forty-four years of his life, has been conditioning himself for the swim for the past several years. He has been acclaimed "National Cold Water Champion" of the United States and rightly so because he takes a daily dip into the Monongahela River the year round. On numerous occasions, Gus has broken the ice with a sledge hammer to get into the water.

To prepare for such a feat as swimming the channel, a person needs a great deal of stamina and courage which Gus has shown by swimming from Arnold to Pittsburgh, a distance of twenty-five miles in 1956; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend its warmest congratulations to Gus Brickner for the great work he has done so far in bringing fame to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania extend its best wishes to Gus on his attempt to conquer the English Channel; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Gus Brickner in Charleroi, Pennsylvania.

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING,

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 39, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes . . .," prohibiting the imposition of wage income or occupation taxes on non-residents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since this is the Philadelphia bill which will exempt nonresidents from wage taxes, Senator Dent and I take the position that if we are going to exempt nonresidents in Philadelphia, we should also exempt nonresidents throughout Pennsylvania.

Therefore, on behalf of Senator Dent and myself, I am presenting to the Chair these amendments.

Messrs. LANE and DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 1 to 18, page 3, lines 1 to 19 and page 4, lines 1 and 2 by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof: "Section 1. On or after December 31, 1957, it shall be unlawful for the taxing authority of any political subdivision to impose any wage, income or occupation tax upon any person not a resident thereof. All wage, income and occupation taxes imposed by any political subdivision before the effective date of this amendment on persons who are not residents of the political subdivision are hereby discontinued and abolished after December 31, 1957 in so far as they apply to nonresidents of the political subdivision."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENTS BE ADOPTED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to oppose these amendments.

As we all know, the Philadelphia wage tax is unique. It is not like any of the wage taxes in the other political subdivisions which are levied under the authority of Act No. 481 of the 1947 Session. I feel that if we pass this bill and it becomes law, Philadelphia may make use of Act No. 481 and be able to tax nonresidents under the provisions of that Act.

If Senator Lane wants to do what I think he wants to do under the wording of these amendments, he should offer an amendment to Act No. 481 rather than trying to do it in this manner. Therefore, I object to these amendments and ask my colleagues to vote "no" on the same.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as the co-sponsor of these amendments, I assure you that there are many on this side who are in sympathy with the Philadelphia bill. However, we have discussed the matter with the legal experts and find that our amendments are correct and that by amending it in this manner, we stop what we believe to be a very evil thing.

The taxing of nonresidents by any community goes beyond the scope of the taxing authority of that community. I do not believe the argument put up by the Senator that Philadelphia would then be able to come under Act 481, because Act 481 specifically excludes Philadelphia. I cannot imagine the Republican-controlled Senate passing a bill allowing the city of Philadelphia to tax nonresidents when they are passing a bill to deny them the right to tax nonresidents. All we are asking is that the same consideration be given to Podunk Center as you are giving to Philadelphia, and that all nonresidents be exempt from taxation when such tax is levied by a municipality of government of the Commonwealth. Now the difference, Senator Mahany, is this. Under the Philadelphia Act, they are permitted by the Sterling Act to tax nonresidents of Philadelphia, and the communities surrounding Philadelphia cannot be exempt from the Philadelphia Act by passing an act of their own. Under Act 481, if a neighboring community passes an act which a municipality has on the books, then the residents of that municipality pay their tax to that municipality and not to the original taxing municipality.

What this Act does is puts the outside communities in a position where, if they want to take advantage of a tax for their own benefit, they will have to pass another percentage of taxation and, thereby, double the tax on their community residents who work in the city of Philadelphia. It is eminently unfair to do that.

I agree with the sponsors of the bill, but I further agree that if you think it is justice to stop the city of Philadelphia from taxing nonresidents, then you must agree that it is just as fair to stop the other communities from doing the same thing.

What can be your argument against restricting all communities to their own base of residence? Why do you say that Philadelphia shall be unique in this particular character and that they alone shall be restricted to taxation upon those who reside in the city, when nearly every other community in the Commonwealth has the right to go ahead and proceed and tax those who do not reside within the taxing authority?

Unless we have an understanding where all of us get the same justice, which you outside of Philadelphia are trying to hand out in the city of Philadelphia, then, of course, we cannot do other than protest by voting against this legislation.

I assure you that if you really want to relieve your Districts outside of the city of Philadelphia from taxation on nonresidents, I honestly believe that the only method you can employ is to accept our amendments because then all of the communities in the Commonwealth will be in the same position. Thus, when the bill reaches the Governor's desk, he will be faced with a situation affecting the entire State and not only the city of Philadelphia.

I believe that if you are sincere in trying to aid the counties and municipalities surrounding the city of Philadelphia, then you ought to accept the Lane-Dent amendments which mete out the same justice to all of the citizens of this Commonwealth rather than what you are attempting to mete out to the restricted counties surrounding the city of Philadelphia. I say that because I honestly believe if you amend this bill and follow the course of action that we are asking for in our amendments, on this side of the Senate you will find a great deal of support for your original bill.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am opposed to these amendments because I am opposed to House Bill No. 39. I am not going to debate the merits or demerits of House Bill No. 39 until it is up for third reading. However, I am explaining my position that I think House Bill No. 39 is wrong, and therefore, I intend to vote against the amendments.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not see how we can amend Act 481 by an amendment to the Act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45). It just does not make sense. A person who wants to know what he may or may not do under Act 481, certainly would not look up the Act of 1932 in order to find out.

I would suggest if Senator Dent wants Philadelphia to come under Act 481, he prepare an amendment to Act 481, certainly, to knock out the exclusion of Philadelphia from its provisions. I will be glad to co-sponsor a bill with him to do that, and I will vote for the same, Senator, so that Philadelphia may have the advantages of Act 481, the same as any other city in the State of Pennsylvania.

However, as you and I both know, many cities in the State of Pennsylvania, political subdivisions, depend upon the tax on nonresidents in their city to balance their budgets and so forth and, therefore, they are working under Act 481. The Philadelphia Sterling Act is different from that. It is an Act which taxes nonresidents regardless of whether the place where they reside taxes them or not. That is the thing which we object to. They are different from the other cities in the State of Pennsylvania, and I want to make Philadelphia the same as the other cities. They are all under the Cities League now; cities of the first class, cities of the second class and cities of the third class.

I think under the provisions of taxing ordinances, they all should be the same, and I will be happy to add my name to an amendment to Act 481 to accomplish this purpose.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, if we start to debate the many ramifications of Act 481 which, as most of you know, was sponsored by Governor Duff back in 1947, we will be here all night. However, I want to inform the Majority Leader that these amendments were prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau and that they are in order and correct.

Now you people over there on that side, who are endeavoring to eliminate the people residing outside of the city of Philadelphia from the wage tax, are not taking into consideration our particular problem because we, too, have tried for years to eliminate wage taxes on nonresidents in Pennsylvania.

I think Senator Mahany well knows that several Sessions ago, we attempted to amend Act No. 481 to eliminate wage taxes on nonresidents and the legislation was beaten down. Primarily, we on this side thought that if we put these amendments in today, we could probably get the bill through. I would say to you also that I believe the Governor is sympathetic to the problem of eliminating the taxes on nonresidents of Pennsylvania and we should pass these amendments.

If you pass the amendments, I can vote for the bill. If you do not pass the amendments, naturally I am not going to vote to eliminate taxes on nonresidents outside of Philadelphia and have my people in western Pennsylvania be taxed. I feel, Mr. President, that Senator Mahany must take the same position. He, too, lives in a rural area and his political subdivisions tax people who do not live within their communities. Therefore, I say to you that I think we should be consistent and support our own people.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might call to the attention of Senator Mahany that there is a very serious flaw in his argument. He said the reason you cannot take the wage tax off of the local communities, other than Philadelphia, is because they depend upon it for their budgetary needs. What do you think Philadelphia depends upon? As I understand it, it means $14,000,000 to the city of Philadelphia. However, what you have also failed to take into consideration is this. Even if you pass this bill and put it under Act No. 481, it would not relieve the citizens outside of the city of Philadelphia, because you are only exempting the communities outside of the taxing community in the amount of your own tax. Therefore, Philadelphia could tax nonresidents up to an amount which would be sufficient to meet the overage that is now being taxed outside of the city of Philadelphia. You really do not relieve them. The only way you can relieve them, and be sure we have a chance to have the bill passed, is to go back to fundamental soundness in taxation and restrict taxation in the community imposing the tax.

The next thing you will do is have barriers put up like they have in the Balkan countries. If a citizen wants to go into Philadelphia or into Delaware County, he will have to pay a toll or a duty to get into the city of Philadelphia to use their streets. This would apply in any community. You cannot do that in a democracy. The free movement of goods, without taxation, and the free movement of people without taxation is the basic fundamental strength of this Nation.

This is an important piece of legislation we are dealing with this afternoon. In my mind, it does not have anything to do with Philadelphia or Podunk Center. It has something to do with the fundamental belief of the democracy in which we live.
